Relieve Your Rheumatism For 25c.
NR does it by improving digestion, assimilation and elimination—the logical way.
NR Today—Relief or No Pay
There are three vital processes of human existence,—the digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment from it and the elimination of the waste.
Let anything interfere with these processes,—let them be interrupted or improperly carried on, and sickness of some kind follows.
Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.
Rheumatism,—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons,—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body.
Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain "cures"? A 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days,—must help you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing.
And Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of Rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the whole system. You'll feel like a new person when you've taken NR Tablets a week. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? Thief River Falls people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?

Mrs. Chas. Alexander, 216 Conley Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "I was suddenly taken with a bad attack of kidney complaint. Severe pains across my back kept me from doing my work. My head swam with dizziness, so that I was afraid to walk across the room. My kidneys didn't act as they should and I felt miserable all over. A neighbor suggested that I try Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought a supply at Bottelson's Drug Store. They entirely rid me of the trouble and I have felt well ever since."

The above statement was given Dec. 1, 1917, and on Aug. 8, 1921 Mrs. Alexander added: "I gladly confirm the statement I gave, praising Doan's. I use them occasionally as a preventive and they always give good results."

PAPERS IN NEW CASE SERVED ON OFFICIALS AND BONDING COMPANY IN EFFORT TO STOP PAVING WORK

H. M. Hicks Appears as Plaintiff in Action Brought By Objectors to Paving Attacking Validity of Bond Issue and Asking Court For Restraining Order.

Construction Work is Now Under Way and City Officials Express Themselves as Confident That New Action Will Not Interfere With Present Plans.

The objectors to the carrying out of the present paving program are evidently determined to do everything within their power to upset the plans of the city administration. It was thought that everything possible in the way of legal obstacles had already been thrown into the path of the city officials by the opposition in its frantic efforts to prevent the paving of the city streets under the contract with the Bitulithic Contracting company, but the serving of papers in a new action on Tuesday was convincing proof that the objectors are determined to go down fighting.

H. M. Hicks Plaintiff.

The new action, in which H. M. Hicks appears as plaintiff, attacks the validity of the issuance of the certificates of indebtedness of the city and asks the court for a restraining order to prevent their sale and delivery at less than par. The complete text of the complaint is as follows:

The plaintiff complains and alleges:

"That the city of Thief River Falls now is and at all times hereinafter mentioned was a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of Chapter 8, Laws of Minnesota for 1895, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

"That John Bratrud and A. H. Akre now are and at all times hereinafter mentioned were the regularly elected, qualified and acting mayor and city clerk of said city respectively, and that the defendants Ole L. Ihle, H. A. Brumund, Carl Froseth, Sever Brandon, John Dahl and Andrew Ness now are the regularly elected, qualified and acting aldermen of said city.

"That the Drake-Ballard Investment company is a corporation organized and existing according to law.

"That the plaintiff is a resident, citizen and taxpayer of said city and has been such for many years last past; that he owns large amounts of property within said city and pays large sums in taxes on property within said city every year, and that he brings this action for and on behalf of himself and other taxpayers similarly situated.

"That on or about the 14th day of June, 1921, the city council of the city of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, at a regular meeting, adopted resolutions wherein and whereby they determined to raise the sum of $292,000.00 for the purpose of paying for certain improvements about to be made, and for that purpose to issue and sell the negotiable certificates of indebtedness of said city in the aggregate amount of not exceeding $292,000.00; that said certificates or bonds to be two hundred ninety-two (292) in number, numbered from 1 to 292 inclusive, and to bear date the first day of July, A. D. 1921, and be of the denomination of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), and all of such certificates or bonds to bear interest at the rate of not exceeding six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, the first interest payment to be due on January 1, 1922, and thereafter semi-annually.

"That thereafter pursuant to said resolution and action had as aforesaid, the city clerk advertised for bids on said bonds to be received on the 8th day of July, 1921, at 8:00 o'clock p. m. at the council chambers in the city of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, but at the time set for receiving bids the city council did not receive any bids for such bonds and the said bonds were not sold.

"That thereafter, without readvertising for bids and without requiring any bond or security for the performance thereof as required by law and as particularly required by Chapter 8, Laws of Minnesota for 1895, the charter of said city, the city council did on or about the 15th day of July, 1921, enter into a contract with the Drake-Ballard Investment company for the sale of said bonds at an agreed price of 98½ per cent of the face value thereof, and plaintiff alleges on information and belief, that the mayor and city clerk of said city have entered into a contract to deliver said bonds and have delivered said bonds to the said Drake-Ballard Investment company without the same being paid for in cash as required by law, and without requiring any bond or security whatsoever from said Drake-Ballard Investment company, and agreeing that said bonds may be sold at a discount as aforesaid and that payments may be made at various times in the future without interest and without any security to the city whatsoever. That the defendants, the city of Thief River Falls and its officers, intend to carry out such contract and to sell and deliver to the defendant, the Drake-Ballard Investment company, said bonds at a discount of four thousand three hundred eighty dollars, ($4,380.00) besides permitting said Drake-Ballard Investment company to have the use of the funds which shall be realized from the sale of said bonds for many months without interest and without other compensation whatsoever, and that the said Drake-Ballard company intend to purchase said bonds and make use of said money on said terms; that thereby the property of the city will be lost, dissipated and reduced, and the plaintiff and other taxpayers will thereby suffer great and irreparable damage and that the plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law or in equity other than by injunction.

"That the defendants, city and its officers above named, arbitrarily and without legal authority or right, intend to sell said certificates of indebtedness or bonds of said city at less than par as above set forth, and intend to permit the use of the funds for many months by the said Drake-Ballard Investment company without interest and without compensation whatsoever, and arbitrarily and unreasonably refuse to comply with the provisions of law governing said city and other cities for reasons which to this plaintiff are unknown.

"Wherefore the plaintiff prays judgment that the defendants and each and all of them be in all things forever restrained and enjoined from selling or attempting to sell or negotiating the certificates of indebtedness of said city hereinbefore described, and in any amount whatsoever, and from delivering, receiving or negotiating said certificates, and from in any manner, either directly or indirectly, permitting said certificates of indebtedness or bonds to be sold at less than par, either directly or by subterfuge; that to conserve the interests of the plaintiff and said city, a temporary injunction pending the outcome of this action be forthwith granted by the court to the same effect, and that plaintiff have his costs and disbursements herein and such other and further relief as to the court may seem just."

The city officials do not seem to be in the least disturbed or alarmed over this latest development, and express themselves as confident that it will have no effect whatever on the carrying out of the work as planned. In support of their viewpoint they cite the fact that the city's certificates of indebtedness have already been sold and delivered to the Drake Ballard company of St. Paul and that the city already has the money, a part of which is on deposit in the local banks and the balance in twin city banks.

Move Was Anticipated.

This latest move on the part of the opposition was anticipated by the city administration and for this reason all preliminary arrangements for the sale of the bonds had been attended to before the rendering of the decision in the Streeter case by the supreme court, the sale being completed the same day the decision was filed. This would seem to eliminate any possibility of interfering with the sale at this date.

However, the opposition contends that the bonds have not actually been sold to the Drake-Ballard company, but that that company is merely acting as the city's agent under contract to dispose of them.

Construction Work Proceeds.

In the meantime the actual paving construction work is now under way and will evidently continue. A crew of men with teams started Monday afternoon, working south from Sixth street on Main avenue. According to statements of the contractors the grader and power loading machines will be at work in the next day or two and the work will then progress very rapidly.

The contract for gravel was let by the contracting company on Monday to Chris Engen and he has already started loading and shipping it here. P. W. Roark has been engaged with his outfit to do some of the excavating and grading and now has a crew on the job. The carrying out of the work this fall is going to give employment to a large number of local men and it is certain to have a decided beneficial effect on business in general. The contractors state that they will be able to complete the work this fall if they have two months of favorable weather.

Thief River Houses Bar Fatty Arbuckle Pictures

No more Fatty Arbuckle films will be shown in Thief River Falls theatres. Manager H. A. Brumund of the Lyceum and Princess announced this morning that in common with the best show houses throughout the country his theatres would bar any pictures in which "Fatty" appears. The famous comedian is under indictment at San Francisco, being charged with having caused the death of Virginia Rappe, a film actress. It is alleged that the crime was committed during a carousal in Arbuckle's rooms. Until some disposition is made of his case it is certain that but few, if any, pictures featuring him will be presented.

NORTH MINNESOTA PUTS ON REAL FAIR

Annual Event at Bemidji Will Be Second in Importance to to State Fair Only.

The Northern Minnesota Fair, to be held at Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 20, 21, 22 and 23, promises to be the best Fair ever attempted by any County, and is advertised as "second only to the state fair," which is quite a claim—but from the amount of livestock and agricultural exhibits already entered, and the amount of money spent for a program of sports and amusements, the managers feel warranted in making such claims.

Permanent Improvements have been made that run into large sums, and a building program for next year is already under way, that calls for the expenditure of thousands of dollars.

The optimism shown by the Fair management in these large expenditures is warranted because they have prepared a program that is bound to bring favorable comment from all who attend, which will assure success in future years also. A new grandstand has been built that will accommodate the crowd that Bemidji expect to entertain. The track has been put into shape for the big racing events.

To date nearly 1,000 head of livestock have been entered for exhibit. The five railroads running the Bemidji have granted a one and one-half fare rate from Sept. 19 to 25, a concession heretofore given only to the state fair.

IMPROVEMENT FOR JEFFERSON VOTED IN MARSHALL CO.

Commissioners Authorize Construction of Bridge Over Middle and Snake Rivers.

The board of county commissioners in Marshall county has authorized the construction of two bridges along the route of the Jefferson highway. These will be built over the Middle and Snake rivers and will result in a great improvement to the highway.

The construction of the bridges will do away with the numerous detours that have heretofore been necessary in traveling over the Jefferson highway through Marshall county and will thus provide a continuous route that will be passable in all kinds of weather. It is an improvement that officials of the highway have long been desirous of securing and one that will be appreciated by tourists and the public in general.

BUREAUS PLAN OWN FARM CREDIT FIRMS

Farmers in Middle West Working on Finance Corporations Along State Lines.

Farm bureau federations including several hundred thousand farmers in the principal grain producing states of the middle west are taking steps toward launching co-operative finance corporations and co-operative grain marketing corporations along state lines, as the best means of advancing the American Farm Bureau federation's national marketing program, according to C. E. Gunnels, treasurer of the national federation, who has been touring Minnesota.

"The national grain marketing plan worked out by the Committee of Seventeen after eight months of investigation is absolutely sound and practicable, in the opinion of the American Farm Bureau federation," Mr. Gunnels said. "The farm bureaus of the grain producing states are determined that the farmer shall have his own corporation through which he can put his grain on the national and the world markets in an orderly manner, at the lowest possible expense. The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., established as the first step toward putting into operation the recommendations of the Committee of Seventeen, has been confronted with tremendous obstacles. The organization of a finance corporation to provide credit for the marketing of the farmers' grain has faced even greater obstacles. Few states have passed legislation to put co-operative enterprises on an equal footing with other business projects.

"Many state farm bureau federations are taking steps to form their own farm credit corporations to provide better means of financing the production and marketing of farm products. Several are seriously considering the organization of the grain producers of their states into co-operative associations, so that these state organizations will be ready to fit into the national marketing program of the Committee of Seventeen as soon as it can be put into operation on a nation-wide scale.

"The co-operative marketing enterprise has been built from the bottom up. First came the local co-operative elevator, the local shipping association of live stock raisers, the local co-operative creamery. Then came state federations of these local units, such as the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation has just launched for the marketing of live stock and dairy products.

"The farm bureaus of the grain producing states take the unalterable position that they have a grave obligation to the farmers. They are determined that the farmer shall not be asked to invest his money nor contract his grain in any project until the farm bureau, the organization that launched and financed the Committee of Seventeen and is responsible for its plans, knows that those plans are being put into operation on a sane, sound basis. It is better to go slowly, and be absolutely right, than to rush into any project blindly. The farm bureau is the farmers' business representative. Its duty is to protect his interests. When we go before the farmers of Minnesota with a grain marketing plan, we intend to be sure it is right, and has a fair chance of success."

There will be no attempt to organize Minnesota farmers to market the 1921 crop under the plan of the Committee of Seventeen, Mr. Gunnels said. Some grain will be moved by existing organizations which co-operated in the formation of the U. S. Grain Growers, he said, but farmers will not be asked to contract their 1921 crop to the national organization.

Home Town Paper Week

It is very rare that the average newspaper boosts its own business, but gives quantities of space in boosting the affairs of others.

Somebody suggested that it was time for the newspapers of the country to adopt a week in which their own business should be given precedent, and The Times thoroughly endorses the idea.

The date set is the second week in November, from the 7th to the 12th, including that great world event, Armistice Day.

The official title for the week will be "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week."

Thousands of papers will join in this event, and our readers will hear more about it as time goes on.

Ever ready to help in any cause that is in the interests of a better community, better living conditions, and better government, we now ask the readers and the advertisers of The Times to turn in and lend a hand during "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week," and boost for us.

COMMERCIAL LAW COURSE ORGANIZER AT CLUB TONIGHT

Wm. C. Smiley of University Extension Service Will Explain Proposed Classes.

At a meeting to be held at the Commercial club rooms this evening, Wm. C. Smiley of the University Extension service will appear for the purpose of organizing a class in commercial law.

These classes are for the instruction of business men and are identical with the classes in business law given in the day school at the university. They have proven very popular in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth and it is now proposed to experiment with the establishment of classes in some of the smaller cities of the state, under local attorneys. Thief River Falls has been chosen as one of the first experiment stations.

HOME PAPERS TO BE GIVEN REAL BOOST

Week of November 7th to 12th Set Aside For Nation-Wide Endeavor.

"Subscribe to your home town paper."

This is the slogan of a new nation-wide movement backed by the National Editorial association and other agencies.

The movement has back of it far more than a selfish desire on the part of newspapers to acquire increased circulation, for it is, in effect, a step toward the perfect unification of America by the strengthening of ties that bind everyone to his native soil.

The campaign is, moreover, an excellent opportunity to boost the home town. The men and women who were born and reared here have, some of them, been away for many years and many important changes have taken place—changes in which they would be greatly interested. It is more often the case than not that private correspondence overlooks these changes however carefully one might attempt to write "the news" in a letter.

The newspaper, on the other hand, prints all the items of interest, large and small, and is the ideal medium through which to keep in touch with the old home town.

In order to stimulate this movement we are this week offering an extra copy of The Times to every subscriber who calls or writes for it. This extra can be sent, with a special subscription blank which we will furnish, to any member of the family who is away from home. Or, if preferred, we will mail a copy free of charge to anyone you designate.

Do it now.

HIGH AWARDS WON BY CATTLE AT STATE FAIR

Pennington County Exhibit of Guernseys an Object of Interest to Visitors.

Secure Fourth Place in County Groups, Winning Over Goodhue, Following Freeborn.

Exhibit Was Taken From F. B. Conklin, Albert Johnson and H. C. Woolson Farms.

Pennington has received another boost as a dairying county by reason of the showing of Guernseys made at the state fair. The cattle were in charge of Perry Johnson, who was assisted in looking after them by Eddie and Elbert Franklin. Mr. Johnson reports that the exhibit created a great deal of interest among visitors, being of a class that would have attracted attention anywhere.

In the Minnesota county groups, where it was necessary for three exhibitors from a county to show a total of 10 head, Pennington was awarded fourth place, winning over such well-known dairying communities as Goodhue county. Anoka county was second and Freeborn third.

An Excellent Showing.

In the three-year-old or over bull class there were five entries and the third place went to Robert's Boy of Minnesota (41524) owned by Mrs. H. C. Woolson. Albert Johnson was awarded third in a class of five entries on his senior yearling bull, Burr Oaks May King (61770.)

Cows Score High.

Perhaps the best and most important showing was made by the famous cow, Cifs (45096,) shown in the mature class and owned by F. B. Conklin. This fine animal was awarded second place in 19 entries. In the same class fourth prize was taken by Imported Myra of Oakley (73,781,) owned by Albert Johnson.

There were seven entries of cows three years old and under four, F. B. Conklin winning fourth place on Governor's Lady of the North (80688.) On cows two years old and under three, Cif's Pearl (90009,) owned by F. B. Conklin, was awarded first place. Mr. Conklin also won fourth place in 13 entries in the junior heifer division, his exhibit being Cherub's Diamond of Chippewa (108-538.) There were 22 entries in the senior calf class, in which Mr. Johnson won seventh position with Noble's Valentine of Burr Oaks.

Produce of cow—11 entries, in which Mr. Johnson's Imperial Brickfield Pride (31972) won the fourth Minnesota and fifth open dam, Mr. Conklin's Cifs was put in sixth place.

Was First State Showing.

While some of these cattle have heretofore been exhibited at county fairs in both this and neighboring states, it is the first time they have entered into competition at the state fair. The showing made is so unusual as to prove greatly encouraging to the owners as well as to the Pennington County Bankers association, which assumed all of the expense in sending the exhibit to the fair.

EASTERN MARSHALL ASKS FOR RAILROAD

Delegates From Grygla Country and Western Beltrami Hold Meeting at Bemidji.

The Bemidji Sentinel gives the following account of a meeting held in that city for the purpose of discussing the possibility of the construction of a railroad from Grygla to Bemidji:

"Residents of the Grygla country on the west side of Red lake want a railroad, and at the annual meeting of the Red Lake Northern Railway and Construction company of this city, which was held Tuesday evening, a petition was read which had been signed by about 200 farmers of the Grygla territory, asking that a railroad be built from that territory to Bemidji that they might have an outlet.

"The petition of the Grygla people is a part of a concentrated effort of citizens throughout the northwestern part of the state who want part of the Red Lake Indian reservation opened for settlement and a railroad built from Bemidji into the great agricultural territory west of Red lake. The opening of this part of the reservation would mean that a railroad could be constructed which would pass through this region and would develop the great territory west of Red lake. On account of the present situation in the Red lake reservation the construction of a railroad from Bemidji to the territory west of Red lake is not likely, as it would have to pass through a large area of lands which are sparsely populated and which will not be developed unless they are thrown open to homemakers.

"At the meeting Tuesday evening the Red Lake Northern Railway and Construction company elected the following as directors: J. J. Opsahl, Leo Opsahl, John Moberg of Bemidji, and A. J. Anderson and Oscar Peterson of Grygla. J. J. Opsahl was named as president, Leo Opsahl as secretary and John Moberg as treasurer. A delegation of nine citizens of Grygla village and surrounding country was present at the meeting and presented the petition setting forth the desirability of opening up and developing the Red lake reservation, the drainage of lands near Red lake and the necessity of providing transportation from the Grygla country. The delegation was composed of Guy N. Potter, J. R. Brown, A. O. Findeland, E. M. Mussey, J. U. Taylor, J. T. Peterson, L. J. Bressley, Gilbert Benson and J. P. Wilson.

"The people of the Grygla country are anxious to secure a direct route to the Twin ports of Duluth and Superior and they believe that a railroad through the Red Lake reservation to Bemidji would take care of their needs. The Grygla Commercial club is co-operating with the citizens of the entire territory west of the lake and throughout northwestern Minnesota, petitions are being circulated which will be sent to Congressmen Halvor Steenerson and Harold Knutson asking for the opening of the Red Lake reservation.

"In speaking of the railroad situation, J. J. Opsahl, head of the Red Lake Northern Railway and Construction company, says that the president of the main railway systems passing through Bemidji has assured him that as soon as the Red Lake development project is well under way and that the road can be made a paying proposition that his company will be interested in building a line through the Grygla country from Bemidji."

NATIONAL MAGAZINE COMMENDS PLAN OF LOCAL MERCHANTS

Two Pages in National Retail Clothier Devoted to Write-up of Market Day.

"The September issue of the National Retail Clothier, a publication issued in the interests of retail merchants, contains a two-page write-up of the market day campaign of the Thief River Falls Merchants association. Two of the pages used by the association in The Times are reproduced and the idea in general is reviewed and very favorably commented on by the publication. Particular mention is made of the evident spirit of co-operation that exists among the local business men.

Inasmuch as the National Retail Clothier has a large circulation going to every part of the United States, this city will naturally derive benefit and receive much favorable comment as a result of this highly desirable publicity.

SCHOOLS OPEN WITH LARGE ENROLLMENT

Records For Opening Day Show 1369 Pupils Registered in Grades and High School.

The doors of the Thief River Falls public schools swung open last week for the usual nine months' term, after three months of vacation. Everything was in spick and span condition, the schools having undergone a complete cleaning and repairing during the summer months.

School Opening Facts.

The total registration for the five city schools on the opening day was 1369, an increase over the opening date last year. There are 63 "baby" beginners.

The enrollment in the various buildings is as follows: Knox, 247; Central, 195; Northrop, 323, Washington, 219; Lincoln, 322. There are 53 instructors in the schools besides Supt. Simley.

All of the rooms and the high school are comfortably filled and more pupils are arriving every day as the fall work on the farms is completed.

Superintendent Well Pleased.

Supt. Simley and the principals of the various schools have been busy outlining the programs for the first semester and everything is now running like clock-work. The new superintendent expresses himself as exceedingly well pleased with the enthusiasm shown by the teachers in their work and the excellent spirit of co-operation that prevails.

MORE BARGAINS THAN EVER FOR BIG MARKET DAY

Fourth Market Day in Thief River Falls is Set For Wednesday, September 28.

Coupons to Be Given With Purchases and Prize List Along Same Line as Before.

Wednesday, Sept. 28, has been designated by the Merchants association as the date for the fourth of the proposed series of market days to be sponsored by Thief River Falls business men during the summer and fall months. The first three have been such decided successes that it is the intention of the business men to continue the plan indefinitely, and the fourth big bargain day is scheduled to eclipse all previous efforts. Much valuable information has been gained from the first three events and this will be used to advantage in making the next one particularly attractive.

Bargain Attractions.

The basic idea underlying the whole undertaking is to draw trade to Thief River Falls and to prove to people in outlying districts that there is no need in sending away for goods which may be purchased to better advantage nearer home.

Visitors on the previous market days have found to their satisfaction that Thief River Falls merchants mean what they say when they advertise bargains. Local business men intend to go even further in the matter of price slashing on Sept. 28 and visitors that day will have the opportunity of a life time to secure reliable and seasonable goods at greatly reduced prices.

Special Hourly Bargains.

A new feature for Sept. 28 will be the giving of unusual bargains at specified hours throughout the entire day. A number of the business houses will co-operate in this new feature and each place will have some extra special bargain for one hour. With about ten business places participating in this feature, these special bargains will be found at some place for every hour of the day.

Coupons will be given on cash purchases along the same lines as at the last market day and a large list of prizes is being prepared for distribution. The Times next week will carry complete announcements concerning every detail of the big bargain day. The paper will be found a useful aid in locating special offers and also in obtaining necessary information concerning special events.

"FLYING FROLIC" AT LOCAL FAIR GROUNDS

Airplane Stunts and Auto Polo Will Provide Entertainment Saturday Afternoon.

What is termed as a "Flying Frolic" is to be staged at the fair grounds in Thief River Falls on Saturday afternoon of this week. Airplane thrills and auto polo are scheduled to give the spectators an afternoon of real entertainment.

State Fair Attractions.

The promoters state that the feature attractions to appear here are some of the same that were at the state fair. "Daredevil Blackstone," advertised as "Locklear's only successor," is featured as a headliner. He will perform such stunts while in the air as standing on the upper wing while making a loop, hanging by his teeth and feet from a rope ladder beneath his plane, walking to the edge of the wings without the use of straps or hand-holds. Another feature will be a parachute leap from an airplane while traveling at the rate of 100 miles per hour.

Auto Polo.

Spectacular games of auto polo will be played between crack army and navy teams. This sport proved a great attraction at the county fair last month and it will undoubtedly prove a good drawing card for the event this Saturday.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FAIR ASSOCIATION

To Be Held at Commercial Club Rooms on Monday Evening, September 26th.

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Agricultural society will be held at the Commercial club rooms Monday evening, Sept. 26.

The report of the officers for the past year's activities will be received at that time and officers for the ensuing year will be elected. DEMONSTRATION OF ROAD MACHINE HERE

C. Gustafson & Son Will Show Advantages of Avery "Road Razer" in City Monday.

On Sept. 19, the Avery One-Man "Road Razer" will be publicly demonstrated on the streets of Thief River Falls for the benefit of all those interested in good roads.

C. Gustafson & Son, who have the sale of this wonderful machine, in telling of the work it does, said: "The Avery One-Man 'Road-Razer' is the best, most economical motor road maintaining machine that has yet been made for shaving rough roads smooth. It operates more easily and quickly, cuts more smoothly and does better work in less time than horse drawn outfits.

"By its use country roads and city streets can be kept smooth and in the best possible condition at all times.

"It is also an especially ideal machine where the road patrol system of continuous maintenance is in operation—a system which because of its merits is rapidly coming into use.

"With an Avery One-Man 'Road Razer' or motor road patrol, as it is sometimes called, you can accomplish for dollars the same work that will cost hundreds later. If the machine is used on the roads after each rain as it should be when the roads are in proper condition for maintaining, an immense saving can be effected each year in the cost of road work. And not only that, the farmers and the tax payers will get the real worth of their money for they will have a 'twelve months in the year' road at a minimum expense.

"The Avery One-Man 'Road Razer' will cover miles of country road or city streets in a day. Cutting off bumps and ridges here, shaving off high places there, and filling in the low places everywhere, it leaves behind it a smoothly finished road, all ready for traffic.

"The use of this machine is a real economy because of its greater speed and because it replaces two or three teams of horses and two or three men. It is operated by one man; any man capable of driving an automobile can, without previous experience, operate it successfully. The operator sits at the rear of the machine, the blade is in front and below him so that sitting in a comfortable and natural position, he can see exactly what work is being done.

"The blade attachment is swung at an angle beneath the machine on a subframe bolted to the main frame. The blade, made in three sections, is adjustable both to the curvature of the road and the depth of the cut. Springs are used at either end of the blade to absorb any shocks which might occur when the outfit is working on extremely rough, rutty roads or streets.

"This machine," says Mr. Gustafson, "may also be used for hauling loaded wagons, scrapers and other road machines used in highway maintenance. And it can be equipped with a belt pulley for operating a small rock crusher or other belt machines if desired."

The demonstration will be on Sept. 19, and all good roads boosters are invited.

We will eventually have all hard roads, but our job and the farmer's job is to boost the continuous system or road patrol maintenance to make our dirt roads twelve-months-in-the year roads.

50 NEW CREAMERIES JOIN CENTRAL BODY

Solid Organization in Twenty Counties Predicted Within Three Weeks.

Every co-operative creamery in at least 20 Minnesota dairying counties will be a member of the new state marketing and service association within the next three weeks, officers of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation predicted this week.

The farm bureau federation announced that every co-operative creamery in Mille Lacs and Brown counties had joined the central agency. In Pine county every co-operative creamery but one has joined, and many other counties are close to the 100 per cent mark, the federation said. One hundred and fifty creameries already are members of the central body.

"The Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Association, Inc., was organized to serve all the co-operative creameries in the state," H. B. Nickerson, president, said. "The time is coming when every co-operative creamery will be a member. The expense of maintaining a central service organization and terminal marketing agencies, as well as the cost of operation for the individual creamery, will decrease as the membership of the state organization increases."

POINTERS FOR THE HUNTING SEASON

Would Be Good Plan to Cut This Out and Paste in Your Hat—Season Open 16th.

This is the time of the year when the local nimrods are displaying interest in the open hunting season. New guns and hunting equipment are being purchased and old ones repaired and put in readiness for the annual hunt. Great air castles are builded and strings of ducks and chickens pass by the mental vision of the sportsmen varying in numbers in accordance with the enthusiasm of the individual hunter. Probably some will get out only a day or two during the season but the same plans are made, and the same amount of equipment purchased, as would be necessary if they were to be out every day in the season. In fact it looks as if the anticipation of what might happen brought about as much enjoyment as the actual time spent in the field.

The open season on prairie chickens this fall runs from Sept. 16 to October 1. Nine birds may be taken in a day but 18 birds is the full season limit. Ducks, coots and geese may be shot from September 16 to December 31. The day limits are 15 ducks and coots and 5 geese. The aggregate limit you may have in your possession is 45, of which not more than 5 shall be wild geese. Quail may be taken from October 15 to November 30, with 10 a day's limit and 30 for the season. Partridges cannot be taken this fall, the season being closed on this game bird until October 15, 1922. Squirrels may be killed after October 15, snowshoe rabbits also being protected until that date. Hunters must remember that it is unlawful to enter into any growing grain or to allow their hunting dog to do so, without permission of the land owner, and also that it is unlawful to hunt on the land of another after having been notified not to do so. Deer may be taken this year between Nov. 10 and Nov. 20 only, under practically the same other conditions as heretofore, except that a metal tag, to be furnished by the county auditor at a cost of 25c, must be attached to big game carcasses. The tag will be furnished with each license issued.

Young Duluth Pianist Scores Hit.

Recuperating from a strenuous season of study with Heniot Levy, the noted piano instructor of Chicago, Wyman Horr, whose professional name is Wyman Horr Carey, is home in Duluth for a rest.

Duluth has had every confidence in his future success, and it appears from his progress in Chicago that the confidence has not been misplaced.

His teacher, with whom he will continue to study another year before going abroad, expects much of him, and he has scored successes in several affairs. Notably he was accompanist on several occasions for Louis Kreidler, baritone, of the Chicago Opera company, and Mr. Kreidler urged him to continue in this capacity.

He was on the faculty of the Brail School of Music, in Kimball Hall, Chicago. He also won first scholarship out of a picked class of 12 musicians and refused two flattering offers to instruct in a well known institution as he desires to continue his own study before taking up work. Mr. Horr has appeared in concert in Kimball Hall and other places, with marked success.

Concerning a recent performance at a large event in Chicago, the Music News says of him: "He played with assurance, musicianship and style."—Duluth Herald.

Wyman Horr Carey is a nephew of Mrs. W. J. LaBree of this city and will be remembered as he played before two large gatherings under the auspices of the local Woman's club in 1919.

The Only Worthwhile Invention

Within the past twenty years in corsets is the P. N. Practical Front. It is the most remarkable front-lace corset ever designed, so far superior to ordinary other corsets that our government, after a thorough try-out of all makes, made it compulsory that every Red Cross nurse going abroad during the world war had to take along with her equipment three Practical Front corsets. And today every Red Cross nurse who served abroad is demanding Practical Front corsets and will take no other. That's why we have just unpacked a new case of these famous corsets.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Many Thief River Falls people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Thief River Falls citizen's recommendation.

Ed. Stukke, prop. of shoe repair shop, First St., E., Thief River Falls, says: "My kidneys weren't acting just right, due to sitting for such long spells at my work. There was a dull, steady pain across my back and I tired easily. My kidneys were disordered and I was troubled by their weakness. The timely use of Doan's Kidney Pills checked the trouble and made me feel fine again, so I gladly recommend Doan's."

ASK ROAD FUNDS TO HIRE MEN NOW IDLE

In a nation-wide movement to relieve the unemployment situation, reported to be steadily growing more serious, by continuing extensive highway work during the fall and winter months, Charles M. Babcock, a state highway commissioner, this week issued a statement asking for the active co-operation of the public spirited men and women of Minnesota.

Both individually and through organizations, citizens are requested to petition their representatives in congress to double the 1921 federal highway aid appropriation to enable the state departments to enlarge the plans and meet the emergency. Like appeals for public co-operation are being made by highway executives in other states, it was announced, in an effort to register public sentiment on this important subject before congress.

Herbert C. Hoover, former food administrator and now secretary of commerce, recently urged state highway departments to push plans toward employing maximum numbers of workmen and preventing a winter of want for their families. Later he was directed by President Harding to arrange a national conference on the unemployment situation.

Anticipating that Secretary Hoover's proposal to continue public road operations will feature the conference findings and appreciating the need for funds, the state highway officials are campaigning to impress congress with the necessity of passing the desired legislation.

To emphasize the serious aspect of the matter, Commissioner Babcock pointed out that although lumbering and other like industries in Minnesota this winter will afford little employment, the pending proposal in congress is for a federal highway aid reduction of 25 per cent, which would cut the Minnesota apportionment to $2,120,000.

"The public apparently is looking to state and other public departments to take the lead in this important matter," Commissioner Babcock said of the winter highway employment plan. "Much road work can be done with economy and to advantage during cold weather, and the highway officials of the several states are uniting in an effort to do their part.

"Several hundred men of families will be employed on Minnesota highways this fall and winter if funds are available. The highway department some time ago made plans in that direction, expecting that at least the usual $2,840,000 apportionment of federal aid would be forthcoming and that it would be able to anticipate the collection of state funds.

"In spite of the unemployment situation and the public demand for highway improvements adapted to winter construction, however, advices from Washington were that a 25 per cent reduction in federal aid was proposed.

"Then this movement to obtain necessary funds was decided upon. Relying on the public to assist and believing that members of congress will realize the far-reaching effect of the relief plan, we are hopeful of the result.

The commissioner said that a postal card giving brief reference to the unemployment situation and the fact that public necessity demands highway facilities much more adequate than are now provided, over the constituent's signature will answer so far as individuals are concerned but that a mighty flood of such petitions is expected. A suggestion was advanced that the appeals should be mailed to reach Washington just after Sept. 26, the end of the recess by congress.

Civic, commercial, farm labor and other organizations are expected to send resolutions to the same effect to senators and representatives from their respective districts. Stress was laid on the announcement that, because of the cry for economy and reduction of public expenditures a strong showing must be made.

"The highway officials believe that this movement is of such importance that it will rekindle the war-time spirit and being a ready response from all public-spirited citizens, men and women, housewives and all interested in public welfare and appreciative of the value of good roads," said the Minnesota commissioner.

Cancer in Lead as Cause of Deaths in Minnesota

Cancer has succeeded tuberculosis as the greatest curse in Minnesota and is the only important disease which is increasing year by year in the state, it was shown in the report of Dr. A. J. Chesley, executive agent of the state board of health on deaths from all causes in the state.

There were 2,285 deaths from cancer during the fiscal year ending July 1, and 2,054 during the corresponding period last year, Dr. Chesley announced. There were only 1,846 deaths from tuberculosis this year as against 1,861 last year.

Suicide is in the decrease with 252 in the last year and 315 the year before. There were 66 murders as compared with 72 the year before.

The automobile claimed 178 victims this year against 171 in 1919-20. In 1918, the fiscal year before prohibition went into general effect, there were 183 from this cause, although there were far fewer automobiles. In 1911, ten years ago, there were 23 deaths from this cause.

STRONG UNDERTONE IN LAMB TRADING

Prices $1 to $1.25 Above Recent Low Spot—Cattle Trade Mostly Steady.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates and Minnesota Department of Agriculture.)

Monday's Closing—Cattle 5,500. Market slow, beef steers steady to 25c lower, other cattle mostly steady. Calves 800. Market steady. Good to choice lights $9 to $11. Hogs 4,000. Market around 25c lower. Bulk $6.50 to $8.50, top $8.75. Sheep 3,500, market strong to 25c higher. Best native lambs $8. Good light and medium weight ewes $3.50 to $4.

South St. Paul, Sept. 12—With lamb values $1 to $1.25 above the recent low time a strong undertone prevails in the market and several traders feel that the season's low spot has been passed. Medium to good native lambs sold today at $7.75 to $8, with choice westerns quotable around $8.75 to $9. Choice feeding lambs brought $6.50. Better grade ewes went at $3.50 to $4.

Most markets had a considerable increase in cattle receipts today and local packer buyers were out to lower costs, but with a moderate Monday run and a fairly good country demand for stockers and feeders, met with little success, the general market being steady although spots in the beef steer trade looked weak to 25c lower. Well fatted dehorned Dakota steers of choice breeding averaging 1033 pounds sold to city butchers at $7.50, topping the market. Best horned rangers sold at $6.25 to $6.60, with bulk of beef steers at $5 to $6.25. Best heifers sold up to $6 or better, best load lot of Dakotas $5.40, and bulk of the butcher she stock $3.25 to $5. Canners and cutters went mainly from $2 to $3, bologna bulls $2.50 to $3.50. Good to choice light veal calves opened steady at $9 to $11, bulk under $10. Best heavy feeders selling to $6.50, bulk of this class going from $5 to $6. More desirable stock steers sold from $5.25 to $5.50 or better, bulk $1 to $5.

The fall of the year is the best season for doing your building

Harvest is out of the way and the farmer has marketed his products. He then has both the time and the money to make what repairs are needed on his buildings as well as carry out such new construction as may have been contemplated. The city house owner also finds many things needed in order to make his place snug against the cold blasts of winter, and he is generally in the market for something in the line of building material.

Conditions were never more favorable for the man who finds it necessary to carry on construction or repair work. Material costs are far below the price prevailing a few months ago, while the wages of labor are far more in keeping with general conditions. The best authorities on the building material situation maintain that within a very short time prices must advance as there will be a serious shortage of nearly everything that enters into construction work. The wise man will build now while prices are at their lowest point.

Get the most reliable materials when you do build. Even if prices are down there is no excuse for getting anything but the best. We have handled the very highest grade of materials in this section for the past quarter of a century and you have our guarantee with every purchase you make. Our service department will gladly assist you with plans for any building you may have in mind.

FOURTH MARKET DAY TO BE BEST OF WHOLE SERIES

Hour Special Feature to Make Liveliest Sale Event Conducted Up to Date.

Stores Employing Extra Help to Handle Crowd That is Sure to Be There.

List of Prizes Includes Large Number of Expensive and Useful Articles.

Wednesday, Sept. 28, is the date set for the next big market day in Thief River Falls. The stage is all set and the merchants are prepared with the largest and best stocks that the people of Northwestern Minnesota have ever had the opportunity to make selections from. Prices are down to bedrock and nothing can prevent this from being the most remarkable sales event ever staged in the Northwest.

Hour Specials a Feature.

Eighteen business houses are cooperating in a new feature that promises to be one of real merit. Each of the eighteen stores is offering some exceptional bargain for one hour only and in order to make it a real attraction, costs have been forgotten by the merchants. The public will do well to study these hour specials carefully, decide just what they want and be at the stores where it is offered at the appointed hour.

One hour is a very short period of time and the number of patrons that it will be possible for each store to accommodate will necessarily be limited. It will be strictly a case of "first come, first served."

Attractive Prize List.

Purchasers' coupons are to be given by all stores with cash sales on the same plan that was used at the last market day and a large list of attractive prizes has been arranged. All should see that they get their coupons, deposit them in the boxes provided at the First National and First and Peoples banks, and then be present at the First National bank corner when the prizes are awarded. Following is a list of the offerings:

Wilton rug, 9x12; chest Community silver, 26 pieces; pair shoes; Stetson hat; lady's handbag; Domestic clothes wringer; aluminum roaster; case tomatoes; thermos bottle; half dozen pair socks; suit wool underwear; case sugar corn; case Mason jars, two-quart size; 50 lb. sack Gold Medal flour; case prunes; Boston bag; casserole; case corn flakes; 2A Brownie kodak; man's shirt.

All should read very carefully every advertisement in this issue of The Times and be prepared to take advantage of the exceptional offerings of the merchants. The paper is filled with ads of merchants in all lines of business and no matter what you may be in need of you are almost certain to find it listed at a special price. Read the ads and be here next Wednesday.

Old Settler Dies.

Ole H. Brevik, pioneer resident, died on Wednesday, Sept. 14, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Olava Anderson, from a stroke of paralysis. Deceased had made his home with his daughter for the past 13 years.

Mr. Brevik was a man of exceptional physical strength, never having known a day of illness until three weeks before his death. He lived to the ripe old age of 89 years, 3 months and 14 days. He had resided in the district for many years. On his arrival from his birthplace at Romsdal, Norway, 40 years ago, he settled near Crookston. Some years later he homesteaded in the vicinity of Thief River Falls and resided on the farm until taking up his home with his daughter since the death of his wife 13 years ago.

Funeral services were held from the Zion Lutheran church on Sept. 16, with Rev. George Larson officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Deceased leaves to mourn his death three daughters and one grandson. They are Mrs. Thomas Kjorsvik of Drayton, N. D., Miss Bessie Brevik, of Los Angeles, Cal., Mrs. Olava Anderson of this city, and Alf. Anderson, also of this city. Miss Bessie Brevik was unable to be present at the funeral.

FARMER FIRM GETS DOUBLE THE TRADE OF NEAREST RIVAL

Marketing twice the quantity of livestock handled by any other commission firm at South St. Paul, the Central Co-operative Commission association has conducted its first four weeks of business at a cost of 45 ness, the farmer-owned company according to W. A. McKerrow, general manager.

The co-operative selling agency, backed by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, is charging commission rates 25 per cent below prevailing rates, he said, and has been able to pay 20 per cent of its earnings into a reserve fund.

Records compiled by the state railroad and warehouse commission and the bureau of markets show that in its first four weeks of business per cent less than current charges, handled 31,634 head of livestock while its nearest competitor handled 15,327 head. Companies doing the next largest business in this period handled 12,710 and 10,914 head respectively.

One of the most important services furnished by the new organization, according to farm bureau officers, is the transfer of stockers and feeders direct from farmer to farmer at a minimum cost. In four weeks the firm shipped 63 carloads of stockers and feeders.

Gymnasium Opens Oct. 1.

Manager G. A. Fallness announces that the gymnasium in the basement of the Citizens bank building will be open for the season on Oct. 1. It is necessary that those wishing to enroll see Mr. Fallness at once as only a limited number can be accommodated.

Auto Race Driver Killed.

The Minneapolis Journal on Monday carried the following news article: "Cy Cobb, Minneapolis, widely known dirt track driver, was fatally injured in a race at Kansas City today when the steering wheel on his car broke and the machine plunged through a fence. Cobb, still grasping the steering wheel, was picked up forty feet away. He was rushed to a hospital, where he died an hour later." Cobb will be remembered by local people as having participated in the auto races at the Pennington County Fair in August.

LOCAL BOY HOLDS FINE POSITION WITH STANDARD OIL CO.

Jorgen O. Nomland, son of Mrs. Marie Nomland of Rocksbury township, is spending the week here visiting his mother and sisters. He is now located at Ancon, Panama Canal Zone, from which place he goes to all parts of Central and South America in the interest of the Standard Oil company. His duties include the inspection and purchase of oil lands for the company, a position of great responsibility.

Mr. Nomland spent the early part of his life in this county on the farm of his parents in Rocksbury township. After completing his education in the schools here he attended the university of North Dakota, being enrolled at the same time that Senator O. A. Naplin was a student there. After graduating from that institution he attended the university of California, where he received his Ph. D. degree. He later entered the employ of the Standard Oil company and the responsible position he now holds with that concern identifies him as being highly successful.

KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH HOME TOWN

National "Subscribe to Home Town Paper Week" From November 7 to 12.

If everyone born and reared in this town had remained here to make his permanent home, we should be a city of many thousands more population than we now number.

On the other hand, cities and towns elsewhere that have attracted our youth would never have been founded, perhaps, and America would remain as it was in pioneer days—a great continent with a few scattered cities—all too large, all over-congested.

But the opportunity that calls men away from their native homes keeps the great movement alive, with the result that practically every corner of America has in it a representative of Thief River Falls.

However the home town always has its interest for the people who heeded the call to go elsewhere, and the news of its progress and the doings of its people is welcome news to the native and former resident, wherever he many now be located.

Correspondence, however faithful, cannot cover all the news and gossip, and seldom deals with more than family affairs. The perfect medium, of course, is the home town newspaper, which prints all the news of all the people. Some of these items, while of limited interest to you, might be of great interest to one away from home.

There is now a nation-wide movement on foot, sponsored by the National Editorial association and other agencies, in which this paper is taking part, looking to a stimulation of interest in the Home Town Paper.

To do our part, we are this week offering an extra copy of The Times to every subscriber with the request that he send it to a relative or friend out of town, with a special subscription blank which we will provide. This extra copy is free for the asking by writing or calling at this office. Or, if preferred, we will send free copies to such former residents as you may designate.

TRIBUNE'S SALE TO ST. PAUL MAN IS ANNOUNCED

J. S. Arneson, New Owner, to Take Possession of Plant October 1st.

Is Well Known Politician, Having Been Active in Recent State Administrations.

Was Engaged in Newspaper Work For Years Before Entering Political Life.

Announcement is made this week of the sale of The Tribune of this city to J. S. Arneson of St. Paul. The new owner will take possession of the plant Oct. 1. He comes to Thief River Falls to engage in the newspaper business after a number of years of active service in the political life of the state.

Well Known Politician.

Mr. Arneson is a politician well known throughout the state. He has for many years been closely identified with the state administration, having served in various capacities under Governors Eberhart, Burnquist and Preus. At the time of his retirement from active work at the capitol he was commissioner of immigration.

The last issue of The Tribune gives the following account of the change in ownership:

"A deal was consummated last Saturday afternoon whereby J. S. Arneson of St. Paul becomes the publisher and proprietor of The Tribune, possession to be given October 1st. Mr. Arneson is well acquainted in Thief River Falls and the news that he is to reside in this city will be received with pleasure by his many friends.

"Mr. Arneson is well and favorably known the state over. He has been engaged in newspaper work in Minnesota for several years past and also has been actively connected with affairs around the state capital for several years. He was formerly auditor of Grant county, this state, and served as immigration commissioner during the administration of Governor Burnquist. He also served as clerk of the house of representatives and was otherwise prominently connected with state administration affairs in a general way. During the recent presidential campaign Mr. Arneson was selected as one of the campaign managers for General Leonard Wood, who was considered excellent timber for the honor. During this time Mr. Arneson had charge of organization work in Minnesota, North and South Dakota. He also was right hand man in the Preus governorship campaign and was in this city when the keynote speech of the campaign was given last fall.

"Mr. Arneson is well acquainted among the newspaper men of the state and is rated a top-notcher among the pencil pushers. He has operated successfully several papers, both in the southern half of the state as well as the northern part. He formerly owned a newspaper at Chisholm and is by no means a stranger to this particular section of the state. He has many warm friends in this city who will be glad to know that he is soon to be numbered among the business men of the city.

"Mr. Arneson is a brother of Mrs. Lars H. Larson and coming to Thief River Falls will be a distinct pleasure for the Arneson family in many particulars."

ALL IMPROVEMENTS SHOW BIG DECLINE

Deflation Cuts Machinery Purchases, Handicaps Production, Survey Shows.

Sales of farm machinery have fallen 50 to 95 per cent below in Minnesota this year, and improvements on farms and farm homes have decreased "almost to nothing," the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation asserted this week, in announcing the results of a state-wide investigation into the effects of deflation on agricultural progress.

The federation's review of conditions as reflected in machinery purchases and improvements on Minnesota farms is based on reports from 69 farm bureaus. The reports of the county bureaus, federation officers said, were based on inspections of a majority of the farms in the counties reporting and on statements obtained from retail dealers in lumber, tile, fencing and farm machinery.

Three of the 69 counties placed purchases of farm machinery at 50 per cent of normal; the other 66 declared that decreased buying power had compelled farmers to reduce the machinery purchases to 25 or even 5 per cent of normal.

Only Koochiching and Mille Lacs counties estimated machinery sales as large as in normal times.

In 38 counties, the farm bureau reports predicted, inability to buy equipment will be a serious handicap in the planting and harvesting of next year's crop. "In many of the other counties farmers said the lack of new machinery would not hamper them because they are exchanging both machinery and labor, and repairing every serviceable bit of equipment with parts taken from castoff implements.

While five counties reported sales of farm machinery normal or at least 50 per cent of normal, not one county reported its farmers making usual repairs and improvements on their buildings. Reports from 11 counties estimate upkeep expenditures at more than half of normal; 50 report such expenditures are from 50 to 95 per cent less than normal.

"Decreases and increases in the purchase of the equipment necessary to produce crops, and in the upkeep of farm homes and farm buildings reflect the agricultural progress of the state as nothing else can," the federation said in announcing results of its investigation. "The fact that improvements on farm homes virtually have ceased, and that in half the counties of the state purchases of machinery have fallen off to a point where the efficiency of production is seriously threatened, is due solely to the absolute inability of the farmer to buy. The farmer will not deliberately curtail production. Reduced production, except in rare instances, means reduced income for the individual farmer. But unless the deflation that has brought the farmers' products to pre-war prices operate as effectively on the supplies the farmer must buy, he will be forced by economic processes over which he has no control, to produce less. That eventually means much higher prices for the consumer."

CREAMERY MEETING PLANNED AT HAZEL NEXT SATURDAY

Matters of Importance to All Interested in Dairy Development to Be Discussed.

A meeting of the patrons of the Hazel Co-operative Creamery and others interested in the dairy development of that community will be held at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 24.

This is a very important meeting for all the dairymen in the vicinity of Hazel. The by-laws will be re-adjusted so as to overcome some of the difficulties that have been encountered in the past. Outside speakers will be obtained so as to give an explanation of better dairying and better creamery practice in general. Everyone interested in the development of his own vicinity is invited to be present and boost for a better creamery.

PENNEY COMPANY STORES HOLDING DISTRICT MEETINGS

E. W. Hinrichs Left Last Evening For St. Paul to Attend Gathering of Managers.

The first of a series of sectional conventions of managers of the chain of J. C. Penney company stores was held in St. Louis on Sept. 16 and 17. Over a hundred managers were in attendance. Other conventions will follow at St. Paul on Sept. 23 and 23, Portland on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, and Salt Lake City on Oct. 7 and 8.

Manager E. W. Hinrichs of the local J. C. Penney company store left last evening for St. Paul to attend the convention of managers from the stores in this section of the country.

Prevailing conditions as they are generally understood to exist are not reflected in the financial report of this nation-wide institution, which shows that for the first eight months of this year the gross receipts were $4,700,735.76 in excess of the figures for the corresponding period of last year.

President E. C. Sams attributes this increase largely to the fact that the public nowadays is shopping around and buying merchandise of quality at the lowest possible price, which condition makes doubly effective the heavy advertising campaign consistently carried on by the Penney company stores.

SCHOOL INSPECTOR TO HOLD SEVERAL COUNTY MEETINGS

Will be at Goodridge, Mavie and District No. 54 to Meet School Patrons.

The state consolidated school inspector will be here next week for the purpose of conducting meetings at several places in the county, according to information received today by County Superintendent George M. Gunderson.

All meetings will be held at eight o'clock in the evening. On Wednesday evening he will speak in the Aubol school in District No. 54. On Thursday evening a meeting will be held at Mavie and Friday evening at Goodridge. All interested in the school work are urged to attend these meetings.

NORTHWEST WILL ASK MILLIONS TO FINANCE FARMS

Farmers and Bankers Join in Plan to Popularize the Farm Mortgage.

Wall Street Financiers Will Be Asked to Enlist in the Movement.

Salvation of Entire Agricultural Industry Rests on Success of Campaign.

Attraction of millions of dollars from the investment funds of the nation into agriculture by restoration of the popularity of the farm mortgage as a sound and profitable form of investment, is to be undertaken in a nation-wide movement, decided on at a conference of bankers and Farm Bureau federation leaders at St. Paul yesterday.

Confronted by terse declarations from experts that the salvation of the agricultural industry rested largely on the re-establishment of confidence in capital investment in farm lands, representatives of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank, the St. Paul Land bank, and members of the banker-farmer committee of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation pledged their full support to the undertaking.

Wall street financiers, in close touch with the investment market, are to be asked to enlist in the movement. The Minnesota Farm Bureau federation will ask J. R. Howard, president of the National Farm Bureau federation, to present the matter to the larger investment houses in Wall street.

Crisis Declared Near.

With more than $100,000,000 of farm mortgages maturing annually in the Northwest, and with investors reluctant to reinvest in farm lands when industrial issues of securities may be purchased at enhanced rate, representatives of the Federal Reserve bank and the St. Paul Land bank asserted that a crisis in farm credits of a serious character had arisen.

Stimulation of the farm mortgage market, together with the aid to be offered by the War Finance corporation, will bring about an immeasurable amount of relief to farming and live stock interests in their need for more credit, bankers agreed.

"Talk that the farmer is broke is driving investments out of the Northwest," declared Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve bank. "We are constantly receiving inquiries at our bank as to the solvency of the Northwest farmers. What we need is a restoration of confidence."

Dark Picture Painted.

E. G. Quamme, president of the Federal Land bank, painted an extremely dark picture of the financial condition of agriculture. Mortgage companies, in operation for nearly a century, are finding it difficult to sell farm mortgages, he said. There are farmers, he said, who are having mortgages mature this year, and find it impossible to have them renewed.

That funds for loans in Minnesota will soon be available, as soon as the War Finance committe in the Northwest is fully organized, was the statement made by Robert E. McGregor, vice president of the Northwestern National bank and chairman of the Minnesota committee.

Mr. Quamme questioned the advisability of this credit extension from financial standpoint.

"The farmers have gone behind and have been unable to pay their bills, that's all there is to it," Mr. Quamme asserted.

"The impression has gone abroad that the farmer hasn't been extended enough money. I believe the trouble has been that the banks have extended too much money.

"The farmers are helplessly in debt. Easy credit has almost ruined our farmers. They need money, but they must get it from the raising of crops, and not by borrowing more money. The most damnable thing that has come into the Northwest is the inflation of land values. It will take three generations to live it down.

"You can't hope to make up the credit losses the farmers have sustained by credit. No credit scheme in the world can save the man who has involved himself so deeply in debt on his farm that he cannot pay interest and current expenses.

"The banks are the trustees of the earning power of a community. No bank should loan beyond the earning power of the community, a fact that is plainly shown by the deposits. To loan more than deposits warrant is to borrow on future earnings, and this will bring difficulties.

Caution By Banks.

"I believe that banks, knowing this, will proceed very cautiously in obligating themselves in loaning funds, supplied them by the War Finance corporation."

The farmer is in need of a form of credit that is unobtainable either through the Reserve system or the Federal Land bank, Mr. Young said.

"It would seem," he said, "that the plan of the War Finance corporation will supply the agricultural and live stock interests with the very form of credit the farmers need. I think the War Finance corporation is going to provide an immense amount of relief."

Thos. J. Meighen, president of the First National bank of Preston, a member of the Farm Bureau committee, said that the principal financial difficulty of the producer was that while he could obtain credit for the planting, raising and harvesting of his crops, he is pressed to liquidate as soon as the crop is harvested.

"The inevitable result," he said, "is to throw the whole crop onto the market at once, and put it into the hands of men who buy at depressed prices."

Points Brought Out.

Points brought out by Mr. MacGregor, in regard to the plan of the War Finance corporation for loaning money, were:

Rediscount loans will be made banks for strictly agriculture purposes.

Loans will be made to extend up to one year, with renewal privileges not to exceed three years.

Agricultural purposes are defined as involving the production and marketing of live stock and crops, and not for improvements.

Small loans of from $100 to $200 will receive as careful consideration as applications for several thousand dollars.

The War Finance corporation will not advance money to any bank in excess of the loans actually made by the bank for agricultural purposes.

Twin City bankers attending the conference, in addition to Mr. Young, Mr. Quamme and Mr. MacGregor, were Curtis L. Mosher, assistant Federal Reserve agent of the Minneapolis Federal reserve bank; A. O. Nelson, vice president of the First National bank, St. Paul; and John Regan, president of the Citizens National bank, St. Paul, both representing the St. Paul Clearing House association.

Volstead is Present.

Others who attended were N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture; Representatives Andrew Volstead and Frank Clague, and Harry MacGregor of the City National bank of Duluth, representing the Duluth Clearing House association.

The farmer-banker committee of the Farm Bureau federation, which called the conference, is made up of Timothy O'Connor, president of the O'Connor Brothers' State bank of Renville, chairman; J. P. Cooper, vice president of the Southern Minnesota Joint Stock Land bank of Redwood Falls; Thomas J. Meighen, president of the First National bank of Preston; Thomas Cashman of Owatonna, president of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association; R. A. Wilkinson, Washington county director of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, and H. B. Nickerson of Elk River, president of the Minnesota Co-operative creameries association.

LIEBERMAN BROS. RAPIDLY DISPOSING OF CLOTHING STOCK

Owners Feel That Entire Stock Will Be Sold Much Sooner Than Anticipated.

Albert Lieberman, active manager of the Lieberman Brothers Clothing store, states that from present indications their entire stock will be disposed of much sooner than was anticipated when they first decided to discontinue business in Thief River Falls.

During the first two weeks of their sale they have sold a large amount of their merchandise and Mr. Lieberman feels that if weather continues favorable it will take only a short time to sell out the complete stock.

Mr. Lieberman is now making his plans for moving to California and says that inasmuch as he is to make his home in that state he is anxious to get out there before the real cold weather sets in here.

RURAL SCHOOLS WIN FINE PRIZE AWARDS AT MINNESOTA FAIR

School District No. 59 Captures Three Awards in Competitive Contests.

Superintendent Geo. M. Gunderson is well pleased over the showing made by some of the rural schools of the county with their exhibits at the state fair. The school exhibits made from this county made a remarkable showing and were the cause of much favorable comment. School District No. 59 was particularly fortunate in the drawing of prizes, having three to its credit as follows:

Tillie R. Fort of Erie, District No. 59, was awarded first prize for her booklet on bread making. Second prize for the best bird house was won by Louis Hruby of Erie and Kelvin Fjeld with his entry of a carved match box drew fifth prize.

There were a number of other successful prize winners from the schools of this county, a complete list of which will be available for the next issue of The Times.

Ernest Zeh and Leland Schuster spent the week-end on a hunting expedition in the region around Thief lake.

ASSOCIATION OF PUBLIC HEALTH OUTLINES WORK

New Officers Elected at Meeting Held at Farm Bureau Office on Thursday.

Nutritional Clinics to Be Held at Goodridge, St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls.

County Agent J. J. McCann to Have Charge of Sale of Red Cross Seals.

The Pennington County Public Health association held a meeting in the Farm Bureau office on Thursday, Sept. 15, to outline the work for the coming year. Officers elected were: President, W. W. Prichard, Sr.; first vice president, Mrs. J. J. Richter; second vice president, Mrs. Thos. A. Way; secretary, J. J. McCann; assistant secretary, George M. Gunderson; treasurer, Miss Effie Hamry; state director, Mrs. J. M. Bischop; seal sale director, J. J. McCann; assistant seal sale director, Miss Ruth Johnson.

Nutritional Clinics.

It was decided to hold a nutritional clinic in Goodridge on Sept. 28, St. Hilaire, Sept. 30, and Thief River Falls on Oct. 1. These dates were arranged with the Marshall county schedule so as to use the same director from headquarters in both counties. Children from Marshall county are welcome to attend the clinic both at Thief River Falls and Goodridge as their county is assisting with the arrangement. Nutritional clinics are for the purpose of finding cases of malnutrition among children who are under weight. Children five years old or over will be examined free of charge during these days.

The nutritional clinics do for the elder children very much what the baby clinics do for the babies, particularly in determining unnoticed causes of general run down condition, "lifelessness" and weakness, lack of energy, and so on, that often are found in children who are nevertheless not definitely ill of anything in particular.

In the majority of instances the nutritional weakness can be overcome and the children restored to normal by judicious diet, sleep and exercise, provided of course, actual defects such as diseased tonsils, etc., are corrected.

The nutritional clinics, which are conducted by specialists, members of the Northwestern Pediatric society, are primarily for children from five to sixteen years of age who are underweight. It will be necessary to have the children weighed and measured a few days preceding the clinic. Those who are ten per cent or more underweight will be selected for examination. The county nurse will take care of this feature of the clinic.

Mothers Urged to Attend.

It is extremely important that the mothers of the children selected for examination be present at the clinic. Much more can be accomplished if the mother is at hand at the time her child is being examined. She is able to get answers to any questions which may arise in her own mind. The real value of the clinic is lost unless the mothers are present.

Red Cross Seal Campaign.

Plans were made for the seal sale for the years of 1921 and 1922. The money secured by this sale is used for the purpose of holding clinics in the county, carrying on health crusades in the city and rural schools, and for bettering the health conditions of the county in general. Last year a very successful health crusade was carried on in the city schools, conducted by Miss Ruth Johnson, the school nurse. Twelve hundred students were enrolled in the 33 rooms of the various schools. The room in charge of Miss Trogan in the Northrup building won first place with one of the best records in the state.

This year Miss Johnson will conduct a similar health crusade movement with an enrollment of 1,500 students. A room premium will be given at the close of the school year as well as individual prizes for students who carry out a certain number of health chores. Miss Johnson looks for a very successful year in the health crusade work and believes that the high standard of last year can still be maintained during 1921 and 1922.

Continue Fair Over Saturday.

The management of the Northern Minnesota Fair, which is being held at Bemidji this week, announces that the fair will be continued one day longer than was originally planned, thus extending it over Saturday. A special program has been arranged for the day, which will include all of the regular features.

M. C. Burns Out Again.

After being confined to his home for several months with a broken hip bone and numerous other injuries which he sustained in falling from a ladder, M. C. Burns has sufficiently recovered to be able to come down town and attend to some of his business matters. He is still using crutches but says that if he continues to improve as rapidly as he has been doing he will soon throw them away.

Society

Girls' Community Club.

A large and enthusiastic attendance marked the opening night of the Girls' Community club at the meeting held at the Commercial club rooms Monday evening. Mrs. Theo. Tandberg, nee Marie Nelson, former club president, presided, due to the resignation of Miss Esther Gjortson, newly elected president. Other officers for the ensuing year are as follows: Vice president, Miss Ida Tandberg; secretary, Miss Anna Quale; treasurer, Miss Volberg Sandum. No matters of business were brought up at this meeting, the majority of the club members feeling it advisable to postpone the election of a president until the new members, which includes most of the new teachers, became better acquainted. Mrs. Tandberg made a very fitting welcome speech, making the new members feel that they were already a part of the club. She also briefly explained the purpose and work of the organization. A short musical program was given, which consisted of a vocal solo by Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, a piano solo by Miss Palma Langseth, vocal solo by Miss Thora Hanson, a piano solo by Miss Doris Richter and a vocal solo by Miss Meta Kiland. Light refreshments were served during the social hours which followed. The outline of club activities for the coming year has not yet been formulated, but with the aid of the efficient officers the success of anything undertaken is assured.

Lambert-Finberg.

Ed. Lambert, assistant cashier of the Citizens State Bank of Red Lake Falls, sprung a surprise on his friends Wednesday when he married Miss Rhoda Finberg of Thief River Falls, who was formerly employed at LaBissionaire's store here. The ceremony was performed at Warren at the Catholic rectory by the Rev. Fr. Lyons, at 5 o'clock.

The bridesmaid was Miss Effie Christelson of Thief River Falls and the best man was Dr. A. E. Lucian of this city. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. Quist, of Warren. The newlyweds made a brief visit to Red Lake Falls Wednesday but left the same night for Thief River Falls.

Upon their return to Red Lake Falls they will make their home in the apartments in the Citizens State Bank building recently vacated by C. L. Funk. The groom is one of the city's promising young business men and stands well in the community. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Lambert. The bride made many friends while living in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Lambert will have the best wishes of all.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Artists Give Fine Concert.

The Halvorson-Fisher company of Thief River Falls put on a fine recital at the Lotus theatre Friday evening and were well received by a good sized audience of Red Lake Falls music lovers.

Miss Doris Halvorson, pianist, is a graduate of the conservatory of music at Oberlin college and is an artist of merit. She has a very pleasing touch and is a thorough musician in every sense of the word. Her technique is excellent. She is unaffected and has none of that arrogance that detracts from the performance of so many musicians. Her renditions of difficult compositions by St. Saens, Gluck, Rubenstein, Chopin, Grieg and others indicate that she is a splendid pianist. Her numbers were enthusiastically applauded.

Vocal numbers were given by Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, who has a deep contralto voice, and her selections were likewise applauded by her audience. Mrs. Fisher is a pupil of some of the prominent voice teachers of Chicago and Indianapolis. Altogether the concert was high grade and those who attended showed their appreciation of it.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Frances Willard Day.

Preparations are being made for the observance of Frances Willard Day, Sept. 28, in the schools throughout Minnesota. The following, taken from Miss Rosette Hendrix's speech, which was read by Mrs. Josephine E. Sizer at the annual state convention at Crookston, will explain it more fully: "Two victories have come to us in Minnesota this past year, the closing of the state fair on Sunday and the legislature giving us a Frances Willard day in the public schools. This day is Sept. 28, Miss Willard's birthday. This day will give an opportunity to teach the children about our great chieftain and her work and what needs to be done now to carry out her vision of a world redeemed from the liquor traffic and the Golden Rule of Christ worked out in the customs of society and in the laws of the land."

Honoring Mr. Mix and Bride.

The following items taken from the Crookston Times will prove of interest to many local people as Mr. Mix, who formerly resided here, was prominent in musical circles: "Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Munch have issued invitations for a dinner at seven o'clock tomorrow evening, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mix, Jr., of Waukegan, Ill., who are spending a fortnight of their honeymoon with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mix, Sr. The guest list will number twelve." OPPORTUNITY FOR DISABLED VETERANS TO SETTLE CLAIMS

Former soldiers intending to appear before the "Clean Up" squad when it visits Thief River Falls on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, should bear in mind the following:

Affidavits should be prepared by persons who know of your disability during service and who have been with you since your discharge. Affidavits are also helpful from one or more disinterested persons (employers if possible) who have known you since your discharge and are familiar with your physical disability. In place of formal affidavits those giving details of the situation with dates are of great value in aiding officials to understand your case.

Any disabled service man desiring vocational training, with allowance for living expenses, must in addition furnish a statement from a former employer giving his occupation previous to service with reference as to his ability to perform the work, together with a statement as to his present unfitness for the work. This statement should give the nature of present disability and that, according to the employer's opinion, it was incurred in the war or is the result of service.

If witnesses accompany ex-soldiers in person their testimony can be taken in affidavit form and sworn to before American Legion or Red Cross representatives with the squad.

When in doubt as to procedure ex-service men are requested to apply for information to the nearest Red Cross chapter or adjutant of the local Legion post. They will be glad to advise and help in every possible way to secure all the compensation, training or hospital treatment to which former service men are entitled.

ONE MERCHANT'S VIEW.

The president of one of the largest merchandising houses in Thief River Falls does not regard the wheat failure this year as an unmixed evil. In fact, he is rather of the opinion that another season just like it might prove a good thing. And there will be such other seasons according to his way of thinking, until the farmers learn that this particular section is not a wheat producer in the same sense as the prairie lands of the Dakotas and Western Canada.

"During the past twenty-five years," said the merchant, "the seasons in which corn has been a good crop have been more numerous than the wheat years. A corn crop is never a total failure. Six years ago came the closest to it of any since I have lived here, and that happened to be an abnormal wheat season. You can always get something out of corn. If the ears do not ripen you still have the green fodder for ensilage. Feed this to cattle and the revenue is steady and growing all the time.

"A few years ago the conditions now confronting the Northwest would have spelled ruin to many farmers. Now it is different. They have learned that wheat is not to be depended on and have provided against a poor crop. It will take some time yet to break away from the old idea entirely, but it is surely coming."

And he is right. Go out into the country and the farmers you meet will tell you that their wheat crop did not turn out well, but they will tell you in such a way as to make you feel that they are through depending on it and are already changing their method of farming. Other more interesting and more profitable lines of work are taking up their attention and with many wheat is no longer the most important factor.

Herds of cattle, silos, fields of clover, fifty-acre plots of potatoes and corn, and other evidence of progress along the line of diversified farming are to be seen on all sides, convincing proof that this particular section of northwestern Minnesota at last is casting into the discard the "small grain" farming idea.

HOW ABOUT IT?

With the approach of time for the election of city officials comes the usual criticism of the present administration and the offering of suggestions for the betterment of civic conditions. With some it is merely an opportunity to express themselves as opposed to some particular official, against whom they have a personal grievance. The criticism of others is along constructive lines. The former should not even be accorded an audience, but the latter is the type of citizen who should be given a hearing.

With people who have given the matter of the city's business serious thought there seems to be a unanimous conclusion. That is that the charter under which the city is operating at the present time is entirely inadequate and does not in any particular fill the needs of the city as it is today. A different method of handling the business of the city seems to be imperative. Some favor the commission form of government, some the city manager, and other have still different ideas.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to give this matter serious consideration at this time and again make an effort at least to adopt a charter that will come nearer meeting the present needs of the city than to continue to labor along under the present arrangement?

And the paving work continues. With any kind of luck the contractors should be operating in front of the Hicks establishment in a few days.

Why all this noise from Twin City sources about replacing Senator Kellogg? Is it because of his record in congress or has the junior senator failed to serve the "interests" according to their wishes? What is the game? Who is their man? We are looking for information.

Governor Preus is quoted as feeling the immediate need of a state constabulary because of the alarming increase in lawlessness in the "smaller" communities of the state. The only thing we have to remind us of this lawlessness is the details of robberies, hold-ups, murders and divorce cases happening in the Twin Cities and other large centers which we get through the daily papers. We may need a state constabulary, Governor, but keep it in the Twin Cities.

Red River Valley Gets Good Boost in St. Paul Pioneer Press Editorial

(St. Paul Pioneer Press.)

An empire is awaiting development in the Red River valley country. More than 2,000,000 unused acres are to be found in this section of Minnesota, and there is a very great need of well directed effort looking towards the exploitation and proper development of these fertile lands.

For 30 miles eastward from the Red River of the North the valley is well settled and long has been famed for its production of wheat. This situation has led to the general belief that the whole territory has reached a high stage of agricultural development. This, however, is not the case. In Clearwater, Mahnomen and Roseau counties and in the eastern parts of Clay, Polk, Marshall and Kittson counties there is much waste land capable of being made productive with but little effort. All of it is adjacent to good markets and state highways rapidly are robbing the most distant sections of their former isolation.

The recently re-organized Red River Valley development association is doing a mighty good work in pointing out the needs and desires of the valley country. The association is composed of 11 county farm bureaus and 27 commercial clubs and has adopted a far-reaching and significant program. In addition to securing settlers for the vacant acres it proposes to stimulate the movement toward farm division. Up to very recently the Red River farms have been excessively large, and the operators were compelled to specialize on a single crop—wheat. Of late, however, there has been a tendency to split up the larger holdings, begun by the sale into smaller tracts of the great James J. Hill farm near Northome in Kittson county. With a smaller acreage to care for the farmer is enabled to diversify his income sources and to engage in such profitable lines as dairying and stock raising in addition to the growing of grains.

It generally is recognized that the day of the bonanza farm has passed. Large tracts under modern conditions cannot be economically operated by an individual, or even by a corporation. The larger the number of farms, and the consequent increase in intensive farming practices, the more prosperous the whole community. This has been demonstrated in Southern Minnesota, where the process of farm division is still going on, and now is fully appreciated in the valley country as well.

That this district is admirably suited for cattle raising has already been established. The Holstein herds at Warren and the Green Duroc pigs at Stephen are examples of what has been accomplished, and the winter livestock show at Crookston under the auspices of the Northwest school of agriculture will enlighten anyone who thinks that the valley is suited for wheat alone. The cheese made in Gentilly, Polk county, is nationally famous and dairying is rapidly coming to the front in other towns. Red Lake has many Guernsey herds and the inhabitants of this small county are advanced in their agricultural methods, and the same is true of Pennington county.

The problem of Roseau county is peat lands. However, the University of Minnesota experts are solving this satisfactorily as a visit to the Golden Valley peat farm, east of Holt, which the University operates, will demonstrate. By the simple addition of acid phosphates to this soil it can be made as profitable as any in the state. Corn nine feet high is not uncommon today in Roseau.

Those of us who are inclined to think of Minnesota as having reached its maximum in production should remember that the days of the pioneer have not yet ended in the great north country. In its efforts to make the unused valley acres productive and profitable, and contributors to the tax burden, and to modernize agricultural methods, the Red River Valley Development association is entitled not only to the thanks but to the co-operation and support of the state and nation. It is just such organizations which have led the way always towards community building and community prosperity.

American Legion Corner

It was at the conclusion of one of the sessions of the Spanish War Veterans National convention held recently in Minneapolis, which had just been addressed by the Minnesota Legion Commander, Dr. Arthur A. Van Dyke, that the chairman remarked: "Gentlemen, there are times when words will not express our sentiments. This is such a time. And so, in honor of the memory of our beloved former national commander, Carl C. Van Dyke, who died in the service of his people, and in memory of the men of the Legion who gave their lives in France, let us stand with bowed heads for one minute in silent remembrance." Carl C. Van Dyke died while representing St. Paul as congressman at Washington, D. C.

In addition to the ten obsolete rifles and equipment which are issued free to American Legion posts upon application on special blanks to be had from state Legion headquarters, they may purchase from the Chief of Ordnance, War Department, Washington, D. C., by sending request accompanied by postal of express money order, obsolete rifles at the following rates: Springfield rifle, $1.50; Krag rifle, $6; Springfield carbine, $1; Krag carbine, $5. These are suitable for use at the funerals of comrades or on patriotic occasions.

Among the posts which recently have had the honor of conducting military funerals at the final interment of buddies after whom their posts were named, are the Nels T. Wold Post, Crookston; the Austin F. Hanscom Post, Willmar; the Frank Indihar Post, Gilbert, the Luther I. Snapp Post, Marshall; the Arthur Calvin Post, Worthington, the William Roubideau Post, International Falls, and the Everett H. Hale Post, Spring Valley. Invariably they have reported that thousands have attended the services, the funerals being the largest ever held in the vicinity. At Willmar, six black horses pulled the caisson and 16 Legionaires fired the final salute. At Spring Valley the funeral of Everett H. Hale was attended, not only by Legionaires of the surrounding posts, but a delegation from the Everett H. Hale Legion Post of Chippewa Falls, Wis., named after the same veteran.

From every part of the state, Minnesota Legionaires are addressing state headquarters concerning reservations on the special train to Kansas City to attend the Legion National convention. Chisholm Post writes: "Keep places for 15 Legionaires from this burg." Willmar Post declares: "Members of our post plan attending the national convention in large numbers and are arranging for a special car, Willmar to St. Paul, to be attached to the Minnesota Legion Special from St. Paul to Kansas City." Second district officers expect to have one hundred or more in the second district delegation to join the special for Kansas City. All these buddies are going because of their interest, not as official delegates with votes, of which Minnesota expects to have 35 at the convention and about 25 at the Legion Auxiliary convention. While the regular fare to Kansas City is about $30, the low rate for the Legion convention is $10.61 from the Twin Cities, or 1c per mile from any point in Minnesota.

"Do it now!" was the slogan given to Minnesota employers at a meeting of state-wide importance Sept. 15, by State Commander Van Dyke, who is working night and day on plans to keep ex-service men employed during the coming winter. Already more than 50 per cent of all employes of the Minnesota highway department are ex-service men, and the department has promised Commander Van Dyke to give service men preference if plans for keeping road work in Minnesota going through the winter materialize. But the Legion is to give just as much attention to the small employers of labor, and if they can be induced to "do it now," thousands of service men will be kept busy until the emergency is over.

Fifty Legionaires from Duluth were among those who helped keep the forest fires under control in northern Minnesota until rain brought relief. Many other Legionaires were in the job in their capacity as National Guardsmen, among them being Legion State Commander Van Dyke and State Adjutant Stafford King. The latter with a little band of St. Paul guardmen was surrounded by a ring of fire, and only by covering their faces with handkerchiefs soaked with water from their canteens, and lying down in dense green foliage while the fire swept overhead, did they escape.

The big "Clean-up Drive" is on. Thousands of Minnesota veterans will soon be given the right to take vocational training. Many places will be needed in which to train these men. Legion posts are helping find such places by interviewing those in charge of county headquarters, where opinions in such lines as accounting, stenography, drafting, etc., are being found, and are reporting these to the district manager. Where the Legion has a county central committee, the committee is bringing the full influence of the county Legion body to bear along this line.

It is the hope of Minnesota's official Legion band from the David Wisted Post of Duluth to win both cash and honor for Minnesota at the Legion national convention, where a band contest will be staged, with a first prize of $1,000, second $500, third $250, in addition to many other prizes. The bands will be judged as they lead their home state delegations in the great convention parade. Legionaires of Minnesota will be proud to march behind their official band and are confident that it will come out on top, in spite of the fact that hundreds of Legion bands from every state in the Union expect to compete.

New Ulm is preparing to welcome delegates from the 75 Legion posts in the district Oct. 7 and 8, when the Second District Legion convention meets there. The second district has more than a thousand paid-up Legionaires, all actively interested in the welfare of their organization. State officers of the Minnesota Legion and its Auxiliary expect to attend. District officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

Same in Pennington.

(Bemidji Sentinel.)

Inflated values, which may truly be termed an economic curse, whether they be in a suit of clothing or in lands, have not affected Beltrami county as far as farm lands are concerned, but this part of the state with its rich agricultural lands offers to the prospective farmer real values at an exceptionally low price.

The fertility of northern Minnesota lands cannot be denied, and Beltrami county's record at the Minnesota State Fair is proof that no lands in the Northwest are more productive than the lands of this section.

Well knowing the fertility of the soil here, land men of this vicinity, contrary to the usual practice, have refused to boost land prices, which might mean greater commissions to them, but have endeavored to keep the price of land down that the development of this part of the state would not be retarded. The result has been that Beltrami county is now one of the few places where rich agricultural lands may be obtained at a moderate price and land men of the city believe this fact will help in inducing settlers to this part of the state.

The fact that land can be purchased here at a reasonable price means much to the prospective settler, who perhaps has no great amount of capital to place in an initial investment. A reasonable purchase price for the land also means that he will have a larger working capital with which he may clear his land or purchase stock and equipment.

Land men of this city are interested in developing the country and they believe that reasonable land prices will induce settlers to come here. Once settled, the land's fertility assures a rapid development of the agricultural resources here.

Railroad Rates.

(Crookston Times.)

It is said that the railroads intend to ask for permission to make another wage cut before long, and that if they get it, they will then lower rates.

If the roads are wise, they will reverse the process. It is not likely that the Interstate Commerce Commission, however generously inclined it may be, will consent to another wage cut while rates remain as high as they are. It is still less likely that the railroad employes would accept a second cut without a rate cut cut coming first, or that the public would support any such procedure.

The demand for lower rates is growing stronger right along. It has been given much impetus by the action of Henry Ford, in making big rate reductions on his railroad. It is observed that Mr. Ford not only did it without reducing wages, but accompanied the rate cut with a wage raise. There will be no general demand for the other railroad owners to follow Mr. Ford's spectacular business methods, but the lesson of his example is not lost on the public.

He is in the railroad business presumably to make money. He evidently expects to make more money from low rates, through increased volume of traffic. He is merely doing what many disinterested experts have long told the other railroads they ought to do, and what the public expects them to do.

As matters stand, they are holding back the country's prosperity by maintaining freight and passenger rates that act to a large extent as an embargo on business, and in doing so they are probably holding back their own prosperity.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user; which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from users have convinced me I was right, and that the user of Nature's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Nature's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to sit each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Nature's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.

It is a consoling thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, one has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Nature's Remedy (NR Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier people for it. I hope you will be one of them.

STEENERSON VISITS CANADA TO ACQUIRE GRAIN GRADE FACTS

Gives Out Interesting Information in Comparing System With That Used Here.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson made a trip to Canada last week for the purpose of securing first hand information relative to the grain grading system in use there. The following interview obtained from him by the Crookston Times contains a number of interesting facts:

"Congressman Steenerson, accompanied by two experts from the state grain inspection service, representing Mr. O. P. B. Jacobson, chairman of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, spent yesterday in Winnipeg studying the Canadian methods of handling and grading grain with a view to using the information gained in support of the Steenerson grain grading bill pending in congress. He is much pleased with the result of the trip.

"Through a letter written by Dr. N. M. Watson, of Red Lake Falls, to his cousin, Lieutenant-Colonel Watson, of Winnipeg, Mr. Steenerson was accorded every courtesy by the mayor of Winnipeg and by dominion officials and was enabled to get information that would have otherwise been difficult to obtain.

"Mr. Steenerson's object in making the trip was to get information upon the Canadian system of wheat grading to be used in support of his grain grading bill now pending in congress. In discussing the matter today he said:

"'The two principal changes in grade requirements in the Steenerson bill are: First, all foreign material in wheat, except rye, shall be classed as dockage, and all dockable shall be designated on the grade certificate, but shall not affect the grade. Second, all moisture in excess of 14½ per cent shall be designated on the grade certificate, but shall not affect the grade.

"'With us, over one-half of one cent of such weed seeds as wild peas or king head, degrades the wheat to No. 2, and three per cent to No. 5, a loss of 40 cents per bushel, although the wheat is No. 1 in every other respect. In Canada all foreign material is called dockage and deducted from the total weight. On a 1000-bushel car, 3 per cent dockage would be 30 bushels deduction, which at $1.50 per bushel would amount to only $45.00, but the difference between No. 1 and No. 5 grade is about 40 cents per bushel or $400 on 1000 bushels, a loss to the farmer of $355 a car.

"'Both excessive moisture and weed seeds can be taken out with modern machinery at terminal elevators and mills at an expense of from two to five cents per bushel so there is no excuse for thus grading down perfect wheat for these reasons.'"

PRESSURE TO SELL OPPOSED BY HOOVER

Forty Per Cent of 1921 Wheat Crop Dumped in 30 Days, Statement of Secretary.

Forty per cent of the 1921 grain crop of the United States has been dumped on the market in the first 30 days of the harvest season and has depressed the prices received by the farmer far below the actual value of the grain, Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, says in a statement prepared for the American Farm Bureau federation.

"Farmers this year are marketing wheat at an absolutely unparalleled rate," Mr. Hoover's statement said, "receipts at western primary terminals showing over 130,000,000 bushels during the first 30 days of this harvest year, as compared with 68,000,000 in the same period last year out of a larger crop.

"The proportion of wheat reaching primary terminals to the total amount sold by farmers varies. Assuming the maximum ratio ever known for this period, the terminal figures indicate that at least 265,000,000 bushels have already been sold. On an average ratio, a total sale of about 330,000,000 bushels is indicated. In other words, after deducting seed, etc., at least 40 per cent of the crop already has passed out of the hands of the farmer in 30 days.

"This is overmarketing, and has undoubtedly depressed the price. There is complaint from some sections that the farmer is being forced to sell by his creditors.

"There can be no sound reason for any such pressure in view of liberal provisions for marketing credit, both by federal reserve board and war finance corporation."

TOTAL INCOME TAX FIGURES IN STATE SHOWN BY RETURNS

Minnesota, Compared to Other Parts of Country, Pays Liberal Share of Taxes.

Federal personal income tax returns filed in Minnesota in 1919 reached a total of 123,914, which was 2.32 per cent of the entire number filed in the United States. The total net income reported by these returns was $383,920,683, while the tax paid on them was $15,696,465, which was 1.24 per cent of the total personal income tax paid in the entire country.

In the nation at large 5.83 per cent of the people filed personal income tax returns, while in Minnesota 5.10 per cent filed them. The average net income per return for the United States was $3,724.05, and in Minnesota it was $3,098.28. The personal income tax per capita for the United States amounted to $11.98, and in Minnesota it was $6.58. The average amount of the personal income tax per return in the United States was $238.08, and in Minnesota it was $126.67.

Minnesota's position in the order of magnitude as to all the states and territories in the union, in the per cent of population filing returns was 25th, and 39th in the average net income per return. Its position as to per capita income tax was 22nd and 20th in the average amount of tax per return.

WARNING ISSUED IN WAR ON PARALYSIS

Many Cases of Dreaded Disease Reported From All Sections of State This Summer.

Many cases of infantile paralysis meningitis are being reported from various localities in this state and many deaths have resulted. As far as we know no case has yet developed in Pennington county. In view of the danger, however, the following valuable information regarding precautions which should be taken against the disease, has been prepared by specialists on the state board of health:

1. Keep the children off from the streets.
2. Do not let them play with any children or associate with adults who are not entirely well.
3. Keep them as quiet as possible and be sure they get a full amount of rest and sleep.
4. Keep the house properly screened and swat every fly that gets inside.
5. Keep sick persons who do not belong in your house out of the house.
6. Be careful as to what goes into the mouth. Wash children's hands frequently. Cultivate the habit of keeping fingers and things not to be eaten out of the mouth.
7. Be careful as to food. Make sure that hands are washed thoroughly just before eating. Avoid eating uncooked foods and vegetables that have been handled by unknown hands or that have been exposed to street dust or to flies. Make sure that all fruit consumed is ripe and not over-ripe or decayed.
8. Use individual drinking cups and do not use your cup for a dipper or a dipper for a cup.

If one of the children or an adult in your family appears sick or complains of not feeling well, separate that person from the rest of the family and call a doctor at once. Do not allow any visitor to enter your house.

After waiting upon the sick person be sure to wash your hands immediately and again before eating or preparing food for others.

Collect nose and throat discharges in paper napkins or in small pieces of old cloth and burn immediately.

Bowel and bladder discharges must be disinfected before depositing in sewer or cesspool or elsewhere. To disinfect use 5 per cent formalin solution, or a 5 per cent carbolic acid solution, or such other disinfectant as your physician or health officer shall advise. Always use as much of the disinfectant solution as there is of the discharges to be disinfected.

Obey directions of your doctor and your health officer.

One-fifth of all persons sick with poliomyelitis die and that many who survive remain more or less disabled throughout their life-time.

Three-fourths of all cases occur in children under ten years of age.

It pays to be careful, first to the children, secondly as to the grown-ups.

Why Can't They Agree?

(Baudette Region.)

What is there about life on a homestead that so frequently makes people so bitter? One would imagine that with neighbors living at least a quarter of a mile apart they would be able to get along, especially in a new country, where co-operation means so much to everybody, but in many cases they fight like the well known Kilkenny cats. Take the Miller-Bowman case, for instance.

A year ago Robert Miller and Ellis Bowman, south of Baudette, quarreled over the ownership of a few dollars worth of hay, and note the events that have followed:

Archie Fenton, an innocent bystander, was killed, leaving a wife and child with no means of support.

George Miller had to undergo a gruelling trial for murder, which cost him hundreds of dollars.

Ole Hanson, another innocent bystander, was brutally beaten up, and Herb Hendry, who also had no interest in the original dispute, got a couple of black eyes out of it.

And on top of it all, the taxpayers of Beltrami county have had to dig up thousands of dollars in court expenses.

And the end is not yet.

"Clean-Up Campaign" On.

An opportunity will be given every veteran of the World war in Red Lake, Pennington, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties to receive assistance in the settling of claims for compensation, advice as to hospitalization of vocational education or information relative to any problems arising from this war service, on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, when the local "Clean-Up" campaign is on. The Red Cross and American Legion are participating in this work at the request of the government and a united effort is being made to help every ex-service man who needs assistance of any sort.

The "Clean Up" squad will make its headquarters in Thief River Falls. Its members include a medical examiner and a representative of the Rehabilitation Examiner, a Compensation and Insurance Claims Contact Examiner, and representatives from the Red Cross and the American Legion. They may be seen daily between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Persons who have made previous claims which they believe were not satisfactorily adjusted may apply for a reopening of their cases, as well as men desiring vocational training or awaiting claim adjustments.

An especial effort is being made to get in touch with every man who is in any way entitled to assistance. Where it is not possible because of illness or disability to present claims in person, the local Red Cross workers will endeavor to assist in getting necessary information to members of the squad.

As this is the most intensive effort which has yet been made to locate all claimants and adjust their claims satisfactorily, the co-operation of every resident is asked in reaching these cases. Additional information may be secured at Red Cross headquarters.

THAT DULL ACHING

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and achy backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Ed. Aga, 803 Horace Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I had a spell of kidney trouble that put me in a bad way. My kidneys were weak and caused me all sorts of misery. I got very little rest and mornings I felt all tired out. During the day if I stood for any length of time, my limbs would swell and pain me. I had such a dull, bearing-down feeling, too, and a dull, steady ache across the small of my back. My back gave out before my work was half finished. I had to go to bed finally and not until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills was I rid of the trouble. Two boxes of Doan's completely cured me and I have had no return of it.

—the HIGH-GRADE GAS

To illustrate the fallacy of the gravity argument: It is only necessary to remember that the gravity of gasoline can be controlled if the quality is not considered. You know, of course, that gasoline is not an elementary compound like water. It is composed of innumerable compounds.

But, you may be surprised to know that every component part of gasoline has a different gravity, and every component part of gasoline has a close relation to its efficiency.

It is the proper and scientific grouping, or adjustment, of these parts that makes good gasoline.

Gravity is merely the comparison of the weight of a liquid with water. What the component parts weigh in relation to water means nothing, but the heat or energy which these component parts give off mean a lot.

RED CROWN Has a Perfect Chain of Boiling Point Fractions

It has the low initial for easy starting, the correct range for quick get-away, smooth acceleration, and tremendous power and speed.

There isn't a gap in the chain of boiling point fractions in Red Crown for a gap in the chain means a gap in the power.

Red Crown delivers the utmost in service all the time. It never varies no matter where you get it, and you can get it everywhere, every few blocks in the city, and every few miles in the country.

GRAIN GROWERS PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR GRAIN POOL

Action Taken Despite Refusal of Farm Bureau Federation to Co-Operate.

Buying and Selling For Four States Will Be Directed From Minneapolis.

Organiganization is Preparing to Handle 25,000,000 Bushels—Starts Tuesday.

The United States Grain Growers, Inc., yesterday engaged a suite of offices in the Corn Exchange building, Minneapolis, for the establishment of headquarters for the Second district. Northwest directors announced that 40 organizers will be placed in the field in Minnesota next Tuesday to enlist grain growers in the grain selling organization.

This action, the directors said, followed determination to go ahead with plans to enlist Northwest farmers in spite of the refusal of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation to co-operate.

Headquarters For Four States.

The Second district, for which Minneapolis will be headquarters, will include Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Montana. Organizers have already been obtained and trained by B. H. Critchfield, who will be in charge of the Minneapolis offices.

The plan under which the United Grain Growers is to work, R. L. Harmen, secretary to J. M. Anderson, declared, is known as the "one year voluntary pool" plan. This replaces the original idea of a five year compulsory pool, which has met with the opposition of the federal government.

J. M. Anderson, one of the Northwest directors, has left for Washington to confer with Eugene Meyer, Jr., head of the War Finance corporation, concerning funds to aid grain growers of the Northwest. The only stipulation Mr. Meyer is said to have made is that farmers who pool their grain with the United Grain Growers shall agree that their product may be sold whenever officials believe the time is suitable. This agreement the government is said to insist upon, so that individual farmers shall not withhold their grain from the market indefinitely in the hope of a rising market.

The move to enlist Northwest grain growers in the United States Grain Growers is to be directed by J. M. Anderson, W. F. Schilling and U. L. Burdick of Fargo, N. D., Northwest directors.

Hope For 25,000,000 Bushels.

In a statement issued, the directors indicated that their organization hopes to handle at least 25,000,000 bushels of grain during the next crop year.

The principal purpose of the organization, it was stated, is to prevent speculators getting control of the wheat crop and to prevent too rapid a sale of this year's crop, keeping the supply in excess of the demand.

Because of business conditions, it was stated that farmers are marketing their grain at an unparallelled rate, altogether too rapidly for absorption. The farmers must liquidate their crops, it was declared, and in order to give them that chance without compelling them to sell their grain to speculators, finances have been arranged so that they will get an advance of about 60 per cent on grain which they put in the Grain Growers' pool.

The statement calls attention to a telegram just received from Herbert Hoover, pointing out that 40 per cent of the crop has been marketed in the first 30 days, as evidence of the danger to farmers in the necessity for selling all their product to speculators while the market prices are low.

Dennis has many friends here who will watch his athletic career at college with great interest.

DISABLED VETERANS HELPED BY AMERICAN RED CROSS

With the signing of the Sweet bill for the relief of disabled veterans of the World war, added impetus is furnished the "Clean Up" campaign being carried on by the national government with the co-operation of the American Red Cross and American Legion. In view of the fact that one of these "Clean Up" squads, which comprises a medical examiner, a compensation and insurance claims contact examiner, as well as a representative of the federal board of vocational education, also one from the Red Cross and the American Legion, will visit all the counties in every state, the work which the Red Cross is carrying on all over the country in behalf of the ex-service men is of especial interest.

Last year the American Red Cross spent approximately $10,000,000 in serving disabled ex-service men and their families. This one department of Red Cross activity cost nearly $4,000,000 more than the total receipts from last year's membership dues.

Of the men discharged from the army and navy and yet entitled to governmental medical treatment and aid, there are at present 26,300 men in government and contract hospitals throughout the country. This is eight times the number cared for in 1919 and the number of these cases needing treatment will undoubtedly continue to increase rapidly for several years. According to a statement from the surgeon general's office of the army, the peak of disability will probably not be reached before 1921 if it is then.

Always-Dependable Case Steam Outfits

LONG before gas tractors were thought of, "Case Steamers" were furnishing dependable plowing and threshing power for the farmers of the West. Case Steam Tractors have been rendering satisfactory service for more than forty years and are as popular today as ever. These are spring-mounted, rear-geared, double-drive engines, which, because of their proper distribution of weight, will pull maximum loads on grades without "rearing up" in front. Long flues and large fire box insure easy steaming. These tractors successfully burn coal, wood or straw.

Features of Case Threshers

Working hand in hand with Case Steam Engines, Case Steel-built, Galvanized Threshers have been giving good accounts of themselves on the toughest and biggest jobs of threshing. Turkey Red Wheat; rank, tangled straw; mouldy, wet, frozen or stack-burnt bundles—they are all one in so far as Case Threshers are concerned.

A sturdy, non-warping, rot and fire-proof frame that resists distortion from the heavy pull of the main drive belt; a large diameter cylinder equipped with big, annealed-and-tempered steel teeth that are interchangeable with concave teeth; a scientifically designed feeder that regulates volume of straw fed to cylinder and controls feeding in accord with proper threshing speed; a long, well-balanced straw rack, the violent agitation of which shakes every particle of grain from the threshed heads and straw; a noiseless, end-shake shoe and full-width underblast fan that cleans grain perfectly; a grain-saving wind-stacker that saves grain which may escape shoe because of faulty thresher adjustment by operator; these are some of the features that account for the fact that most threshermen prefer Case Steel-built, Galvanized Threshers. Case Threshers are unexcelled for flax threshing.

Case Threshers are made in seven sizes—20x28, 22x36, 26x46, 28x50, 32x54, 36x58, 40x62—and Case Steam Tractors are furnished in 40, 50, 65 and 80 H. P. sizes. We also make kerosene tractors with power rating of 10-18, 15-27 and 22-40 H. P.

Veteran of Civil War Still Hale and Hearty

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

"To say that I feel twenty-five years younger, twenty-five years healthier and twenty-five years stronger expresses what Tanlac has done for me better than any other way I can put it," said George D. Shaw, veteran of the Civil War, who now lives at 321 Walnut street, Springfield, Mass.

"I am now seventy-eight year old and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine to equal Tanlac. For fifteen years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I would have to lay up for a week or two. For a long time I lived on crackers and milk alone as nothing else agreed with me.

"When I started on Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and seventeen pounds and my days were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully built up, I now weigh one hundred and forty-three pounds and my stomach is as sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe I could eat the old army rations again without it hurting me in the least.

"I never miss a chance of saying a good word for Tanlac and I would like to urge the boys of the "Sixties" who are not feeling right to give it a trial, for I am sure it would put them in line again just as it has me. For a man of my age to have no physical ailment, to be well and strong and enjoy life as he did twenty-five years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS
Published by The Thief River Falls High School

(This issue is edited by the members left from last year's staff, together with a committee from the faculty.)

Salutation.

Greetings, friends, one and all!

With this issue the High School Progress makes its debut for the school year 1921-1922. In making this bow of greeting we are mindful of the high standard set by our predecessors. We are mindful, too, of the work and responsibilities shouldered upon us, for to maintain the high standard referred to is by no means a simple task. Yet it is our aim, ambition and resolve to do so. Whether we shall succeed, time alone will tell. Our keen realization, however, of what has gone before, together with a clear conception of the magnitude of our responsibilities as well as our determination to "Sail on" ought to bring the desired results.

That the High School Progress has been a source of both pleasure and profit to those both in and out of Thief River High School admits of no argument. It is a factor of our high school of which everyone interested in our school in particular and education in general is and ought to be proud. It is up to us, therefore, to give it our best. Let it be one of the resolutions of each and every member of our high school body to give it his material and moral support.

Getting Started.

You are back to school again, but do you know why? Is it because you feel there is nothing else to do, or, is it because you have firmly in your heart and mind a desire to accomplish something worth while?

Have you ever thought what it really means to get started?" You know there are two ways of getting started. They are the right and the wrong way. Certainly you want to start in the right way, so your ambition should be to make the most of your school career. "Get behind and push" should be your slogan, not "hang on and drag."

The Thief River Falls High School has no time to waste on ambitionless students. She must give all her time to the ambitious and social students, students that co-operate in their work and play. Your attitude toward your work will depend upon the aims or desires which you wish to accomplish. "Am I getting started in the right way?"—M. S. '22.

To the Faculty.

It is the opening of another school year. There is practically an entire new faculty. The students and the faculty are yet to become acquainted and to learn to know and to understand each other. It is the desire of the students that this acquaintanceship that must necessarily follow from the association and relationship as students upon the one hand and the faculty members upon the other will develop an understanding that will bring about a real and lasting school spirit.

The student body welcomes the members of the faculty to this school and community and wishes to and will co-operate with them in making this a most successful school year.—M. M. '23.

High School Organization.

The importance of good organization in the high school cannot be overestimated. The success of the high school depends largely upon the proper organization of the work just as the success of an athletic sport, of a business, or of a war depends upon the kind of organization that is used. In our complex life of today we fail in the sports, business and wars that are poorly organized; and succeed in those well organized. A foot ball team that is poorly coached and poorly organized cannot win; a business man who cannot organize and does not have a system today, is doomed to failure from the beginning. The Allies turned the World war in their favor only after completing a more perfect war machine than Germany had through co-operation and subordination. Good organization means a high degree of co-operation. It meant placing two millions of our American soldiers under the supreme command of a French general, but it gave the Allies the organization that was lacking and the war was won. May we have the same high degree of co-operation from students, teachers and parents in effecting the best possible organization in our high school in order that we may do the most efficient work.

We are living in the midst of hard times when the dollar means more than it has meant for years, so boys and girls and fellow teachers, let us help spend every dollar appropriated for school purposes in Thief River Falls to the best advantage by using every minute of our school time profitably.

If we are making changes, some of which may not even be to your liking, their purpose is to better our organization. However, we are only aiming to keep our high school on the same high plane on which we find other high schools of our size. We expect no more from our students and teachers than is expected elsewhere, and our system is not to be very different from any other good system.

To accomplish our aims certain restrictions are necessary. School rules should be looked upon from the same point of view as laws. Laws in society and rules in school are made not to restrict freedom, but to give the greatest freedom to the largest number. Would we have freedom without our laws? No, because the majority of us would continually be annoyed, hampered and abused in our peaceful pursuits of life by the unfair and lawless element.

Most boys and girls come to school to work, but they cannot accomplish good results without favorable working conditions. It is rude and unfair for a few boys and girls to be permitted to disturb the great majority of the boys and girls who come to school to work and to accomplish something. Even in play we cannot have unlimited freedom. In football or basket ball each member of the team must play according to certain rules laid down for his particular position. A player who cannot co-operate must give way to someone else. The same is true in business. An employe who will not co-operate with his fellow employes and with his employer loses his job.

The Allies won the World war through co-operation and organization. Let us follow their example by getting out to win everything that pertains to the Thief River Falls High School through the same successful methods.—M. P. Rapacz, Prin.

First General Assembly.

The first General Assembly this year was held Wednesday morning at 11:30. These meetings are to be regular weekly events hereafter. Class periods will be shortened five minutes on Wednesday forenoons so as to provide for such a period. This will give the student body an opportunity to get together for convocation purposes. Worthwhile local talent will be invited to appear from time to time.

The students were fortunate in securing an address by Dr. H. W. Froehlich for the first meeting. Dr. Froehlich, who is president of the school board, brought to the students first the greetings of the board, expressing their good wishes and their expectation of fine things to be accomplished in the school this year.

He then spoke to them of the advantages to be gained from their working together and of the importance of making the most of their opportunities. Knowledge gained from books should not be the only aim, but rather complete by physical, mental and spiritual development. In connection with physical development he referred to the detrimental effects of tobacco and of late hours. He expressed the hope that the school nurse would note a steady improvement in health standards during the year. Dr. Froehlich then mentioned the need of higher moral ideals, especially those—so much neglected these days—of kindness to and respect for our parents. Closely connected with these ideals should be a desire for spiritual well-being. He deplored the indifferent attitude toward the church shown by most young people today. He emphasized the close relationship of all sides of character and the impossibility of high development of one without the others.

The students appreciated Dr. Froehlich's interest in them, and hope to hear from him again at some future meeting.

Music This Year.

We consider ourselves very fortunate in having with us again this year Miss Maude L. Johnson as our music supervisor. "There's music in the air" already, and every indication points to a very successful year in the music department. The students are enthusiastic in the work. Last week we organized a Girls' Glee club with a membership of 25. A Boys' Glee club of 16 members and a high school orchestra with a membership of 12 were also organized last week. We are looking forward to an increased membership of the orchestra, especially in the violin section.

The Girls' Glee club meets every Monday afternoon. During the foot ball season it will be necessary for the Boys' Glee club to meet Tuesday evening instead of Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday afternoon was decided upon as the most favorable time for orchestra practice. The purpose of these organizations is for the musical development of the high school students and during the year their progress may be noted by their appearance on the several school programs.

Aside from the vocal and instrumental classes, the high school program contains a class in harmony and musical history, which is open to all students. Friday forenoons we have our general chorus period.

Much pleasure is expressed over the manner in which the grades have started their work in music for another year. Visitors are welcome at any time and parents are urged to come and see what advancement is being made in music as it acquaints them with the work of their children and encourages those who are conducting the work. Too often it is thought that music is simply "play work" rather than one of the studies, but the work which was accomplished last year and is being continued this year has proven the contrary to be true. Though this success is due in part to the supervisor, it is due principally to the hearty co-operation she received from the grade teachers.

Seniors Organize.

The following officers were elected at the first regular meeting of the Senior class: Johanna Wedul, president; Nora Lindquist, vice president; August Langseth, treasurer; Ruby Bennes, assistant treasurer; Gregory Werstlein, secretary. Class dues for the term were decided upon and other business attended to.

Juniors Organize.

The Junior class organized Friday night with the election of the following officers: Craig Halvorson, president; James Votava, vice president; Nella Knutson, secretary; Allison Stitt, treasurer; Mr. Stenhoff, class advisor.

Teacher Training Dept.

Too long has the idea been prevalent that teachers are "born," not "made." In accordance with this theory many times our rural schools have been taught by teachers with no professional training and oftentimes with but a grammar school education. This condition of rural educational affairs has been unfair to the rural public and hence has placed a premium upon the chance of birthplace and worked disaster to the rural school system.

We do not expect anyone to make a success of the medical profession or of law or dentistry without previous training. Why expect a leader of children to gather all necessary professional training through inspiration? True it is that some have made a success in this profession, even though handicapped by the lack of professional training. But who can measure the success they might have attained or the added service they might have rendered to society equipped with this training?

Leaders in education, who have been interested in giving to the boys and girls of the rural districts of Minnesota the best education which society can afford, have realized a need for better trained teachers for they have felt the truth of the statement, "as teacher, so is the school." In an effort to meet this need Teacher Training departments have been established in several high schools throughout the state. Such a department is maintained in the Thief River Falls high school and in the past has rendered efficient service to the rural schools of Pennington and surrounding counties and present indications point to continued service along this line. Thirty-one girls are enrolled in the department for the present school year. Only seniors and post graduates are admitted to the department as the requirements for admission are at least twelve high school credits. Their entire time is devoted to the work of the department, which includes instruction in the academic subjects, such as geography, arithmetic, reading, history, grammar, hygiene, etc., and professional training in pedagogy, child study, rural school management and practice teaching. In the academic subjects, subject matter and method are taught side by side. Opportunity is afforded for practice teaching both in rural and city schools. The success of the professional work of the department has been in a great measure due to the co-operation received from rural school officers and teachers and the grade teachers of our city schools, which is deeply appreciated by the workers in the department.

An effort is being made in the department to develop within the students enrolled a professional attitude toward the work of teaching, an appreciation for the work that is now being done in the rural field, a high standard of academic and professional training, an insight into present day educational problems, and foster the rural spirit, so that as graduates they may render their full measure of service to the rural schools and communities. Our purpose is to train "rural" teachers for rural schools, not "city" teachers for rural schools.—W.

Norse in Our School.

Though the board of education has hired a teacher and made a place for the study of Norse in the high school curriculum, there seems to be little interest manifested in the subject. Not a sufficient number can be mustered for the second year's work to warrant a class. Only five asked for it. In accordance with the rules laid down by the board for the purpose of efficiency in administration, the second year's work had to be dropped for the present at least. Should there not be a revival of interest in the subject it appears it will drop out altogether. There are many patrons and pupils who would dislike to see this happen. This is the time, therefore, to become interested if the course is to be be reinstated next year. There cannot be a class unless there are students to take it. Should there be an adequate number of those starting Norse this year sufficiently interested to complete the two years course provided, classes can be combined next year so as to accommodate those who took Norse I prior to this year as well as those who are taking it this year. In this way only can the second year's work in Norse be reinstated and maintained. Pupils who take Norse I ought to take Norse II. It is clearly up to the parents and pupils. If Norse, or any elective subject for that matter, is to be offered, there must be not less than ten wanting it.

Football Prospects.

After nearly two weeks of real hard practice the football outlook has improved considerably and is now far from discouraging. The various candidates who have so far reported are out every evening working hard learning the fundamentals and conditioning themselves for the grueling contests to follow.

Captain Charles Herron, the fighting tackle, is determined to make a good showing and is setting a pace for his team mates to follow. Backfield men of one or more years experience who have reported are Russell Anderson, Craig Halvorson and Stanley Sorenson. Ernest Barzen is expected out this week. Captain Herron, Melford LaBree, John Hendry and Roy Holmgren are line men who played last year. The first year men who have reported are husky and deserve to be watched as they are out to give the experienced men a battle for their positions.

There are still a number of husky men in school who would make good football material if they would only get out and try. The student body admires a man who will give his best to uphold the honor of the school in the line of athletics. Let's raise the value of our football stock sky high. All together!

Class of 1921.

The graduates of last spring are by no means resting on their laurels. Many of them are assisting their parents in their homes or on the farms, while others are undertaking positions in stores and offices. We have been unable to learn about each one but the following items will be of interest:

Clarissa Hornseth is bookkeeper at The Times office.

Eileen Herron is assistant at Dr. Booren's office.

Myrtle Krohn is assistant at Dr. Penney's office.

Betsy Ness is cashier at Oen's.

Olive Olson is a clerk at Penney's.

Vallierie Parenteau is a clerk at Mulry's Bazaar.

Doris Richter is high school secretary.

Esther Soards is clerk at Loken's.

Olga Svensguard is in W. J. Brown's office.

The normal girls are teaching in the various schools of the county.

Ernest Zeh will attend the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks.

The class will have three representatives at the University of Minnesota: Marguerite DeCremer, Clarence Knudson and Harold Smithers.

Jokes and Personals.

Mr. Jardine: "Are you a Freshman?"

Student: "No,—I am a Scandinavian."

Mr. Stenhoff, in General Science: "What are these spring balances used for?"

Student: "To weigh babies."

Miss Soule to Sewing Class: "I want you to supply yourself with a pair of scissors."

Freshman: "Why do we have to have two?"

Seen on an enrollment card: Address—West of the round house.

Mr. Jardine: "Have any of you pupils read 'Lorna Doone?'"

Student: "What! Lord o' Doom?"

Miss Johnson: "Is it raining?"

Small Grade Boy: "Yes, outside."

Teacher in Primary Room: "What is your father's name?"

Pupil: "I ain't ast 'im yet."

What happened to the happy romance between Sybil and Bernard?

Why did Buster come to school the other day without his raincoat? Raincoats are for rainy days, Buster.

Why the friendliness of Lillian and Nora?

Dramatic Club Organized.

A dramatic club with an enrollment of about 35 members which will take up the study of the modern drama and the great dramatists was organized last week by Miss Chamberlain.

Miss Chamberlain has taken special training in this line of work and she is very competent to make this course interesting and profitable.

In addition to the study of the drama, plays will be acted out. This will be good training and will make the selection of those who will take part in the class play easier.

A short business meeting was held Thursday at which it was decided that the club should meet every Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the high school auditorium, a suitable text book was decided upon and the following officers were elected: Helen Langseth, president; Milton Larson, vice president; Sybil McGinn, secretary; Paul Halseth, treasurer.

The club held its first meeting last Monday evening. The life of Oscar Wilde was studied and discussed.—M. L. '22.

Football Team Equipped.

At a recent meeting of the board of education the sum of $225 was appropriated for the purchase of football uniforms. When this action was announced to the high school, the applause fairly shook the building.

This greatly encourages the boys and a larger number is reporting for practice as a direct consequence. It will be a source of gratification to have one of the best dressed teams in the conference.

The entire high school thanks the school board for this contribution, especially the football players, who will show their appreciation by not only being one of the best dressed, but also the best playing as well as scholastically qualified teams in the conference.—F. E. R. '22.

First Annual Bulletin.

The intricacies of registration were materially lessened by the information set forth in the "First Annual Bulletin." Entrance requirements, a complete high school course of study, and the requirements for graduation were presented in such a way as to be of great assistance to the high school students.

A complete list of the members of the school board and the faculty facilitated the learning of so many new names.

General information on textbooks, report cards, home study, school funds, and compulsory school attendance all added interest to the bulletin.

"The First Annual Bulletin," we feel, was a success in giving the tax payers, parents, and pupils a slight acquaintanceship with their schools, and we hope that this meager acquaintanceship will instill the tax payers and parents with the desire for a more complete acquaintanceship to be gained only by personal contact with their schools.

STRICTLY UP-TO-DATE.
"I was a student at Aaker's Business College, Grand Forks, a year ago and found the instructors to be efficient and masters in their line. Their methods were thorough and their training qualifies a person for holding any office position. School equipment is up-to-date. I was placed in a position when my course was completed and I heartily recommend the school." Dorothy C. Tice. Send for free catalog by writing your

Administration's Corner

Under the above title it is planned to give readers of this paper from time to time information in regard to the schools that it is felt the public would like and ought to know.

A question that has been raised frequently of late is that of tuition for so called non-resident pupils in high school. For the information of both our own people and people who are not residents of this district but who would like to send pupils to our high school the tuition law as enacted by the last legislature is hereby given in full:

"For the tuition of non-resident high school pupils, the state shall pay to the school district furnishing such high school instruction at the rate of seven dollars ($7.00) per school month, or major fraction thereof, for each such non-resident pupil, for not to exceed ten (10) months in any school year; provided (1) that high school instruction shall mean instruction for pupils who have completed the eight years of the elementary course; (2) that such tuition shall be paid by the state only insofar as any pupil's residence district does not give high school instruction, but this provision shall not apply to non-resident high school pupils residing in unorganized territory; and (3) that the state apportionment for any such non-resident high school pupils shall be paid to the school district in which such non-resident pupils attend a high school. Provided that in all cases where such non-resident pupil is a resident of a state aided rural district, the amount provided by the provisions of this act shall by the disbursing board be deducted from the aid otherwise going to such rural district in all cases where such aided rural school does not levy at least four (4) mills or more upon the property of such district for school purposes."

A careful reading of the above law will disclose, first, that the tuition is to be paid by the state and not by the individual pupil; second, that the tuition will be paid only for pupils residing in districts that do not provide high school privileges; third, that in addition to tuition the state apportionment is paid to the district in which the pupil attends school and not to the district in which he resides; fourth, that in the case of a state aided rural district the amount provided by this act shall be deducted from the aid regularly going to the district unless the district levy is at least four mills for school purposes.

There should be no misunderstanding in regard to this law. It should be understood also that the tuition provided by this act does not pay the cost of maintenance in full per pupil in high school. The high school districts are not getting rich through this act. In fact it costs the district considerably more than $63.00 a year to educate a high school pupil.

A Two-Fisted Job

FOR many years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been perfecting an organization with the sole purpose of giving the consuming public a maximum of service at a minimum of cost.

To do this, four large refineries have been built and equipped; 3,700 bulk stations have been placed at strategic points throughout the 11 states served; more than 1,300 service stations have been located at convenient points so that Standard Oil Company (Indiana) products may be obtained every few miles in the country and every few blocks in the city.

Fleets of tank wagons and motor trucks are always in service ready to deliver Red Crown Gasoline, Perfection Kerosene and other Standard Oil products to consumers, wherever they may live.

In organizing this vast net-work of service, those responsible for the management of the Company have had two major objects in view; first to reduce the cost of manufacturing, marketing and distributing to the lowest point possible; second, to make prices which would be fair to the consuming public.

While mindful of the rights and privileges of its competitors, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that its first duty is to the consuming public.

During the present unsettled conditions in the petroleum industry, this Company has reduced the selling price of its goods as rapidly as sound management would permit, and it proposes to continue this practice.

This policy conforms to the established practice of the Company of letting service take care of volume, and volume take care of profits and return to the 20,621 stockholders, not one of whom owns as much as 10 per cent of the capital stock.

CATTLE AND SHEEP LOWER AT OPENING

Generally Increased Receipts Weaken Cattle and Sheep Trade This Week.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates and Minnesota Department of Agriculture.)

Cattle receipts at South St. Paul and elsewhere were the heaviest of any Monday for the present fall season to date, and prices at all markets showed moderate loss. The local run consisted principally of western ranged steers from Montana, the Dakota and Canada, and these sold on a mostly 25c or lower market. Best load lots were some Montanas that sold at $6.90. Very few grass steers suitable for beef purposes passed $6.25, bulk selling from this price down to $5, with a few of the commonest ones as low as $4.50. Butcher she stock was relatively scarce. A few of the best heifers sold up to $6 or better and a few of the best cows up to $5 or better, and these were practically steady, but the bulk of the butcher she stock selling from $3.25 to $5 was weak to 25c lower. Canners and cutters sold largely from $2 to $3.25, bologna bulls mostly $2.75 to $3.50, a few heavies at $3.75. Best light veal calves were steady, bulk $10.50 to $11. Best feeders today brought $6, 48 Dakotas averaging 1065 lbs. bringing this proce. Good and choice stockers and feeders were steady while common and medium kinds were weak to 25c lower.

With greatly increased receipts, lambs broke fully 25 to 50c, medium to good natives landing largely at $8.25, seconds $4, with some feeders at $4.50 to $5. Choice light ewes $4, bulk better grades of all weights $3.25 to $3.75. Hogs held out about steady on the average, bulk $6.50 to $8.25, good pigs $8.50 to $8.75.

Watch For Banded Ducks.

The Manitoba Trading company of St. Paul is asking all duck hunters to watch for leg and wing bands on ducks shot this fall. The request is sent out in ample time so that any hunters killing a duck with leg and wing bands may know where to send the required information.

Five hundred Saskatchewan ducks have been tagged for the purpose of ascertaining their migration routes to their winter homes. No one has ever definitely ascertained just which routes were taken by the migrating ducks or why. No one knows what influences a duck in his selection of a route from the north to the south. In an effort to ascertain this, 500 ducks have been captured, tagged with bands bearing the inscription, "Manitoba Trading Co., St. Paul, Minn.," and the birds released. Both leg and wing bands were used. The leg bands are on the right leg, the wing bands on the right wing, close to the body.

All hunters killing such a duck are asked to report the desired information, which includes date killed, kind of duck, and exact locality. The tagging was done under permit from the chief game wardens of the Province of Saskatchewan. Some interesting information is expected to result.

Prosperity For Smaller Towns

The year to date has been distinctly a "city" year as regards business. Retail business has been relatively better in larger cities than in smaller cities and towns, for the reason that after years of prosperity money gravitates to the business centers and is kept flowing longer than in small cities where retailers feel the pinch of depression and cut in the payroll more severely as a result of the lessened purchasing power of the consumer.

The great factor in slackened buying has been the farmer, large and small. In the spring and summer of 1920 he paid peak prices for his seed, fertilizer, nitrates, feed, machinery and supplies, and impossible prices for labor. After harvest came the slump and he was harder hit by the deflation process because he sold what he raised at far less than the cost of production and to him it was a loss out of his life-time of savings.

Too few people realize that the farming industry, as a whole, is our greatest in the number of people directly employed. Farmers and their families number 35,000,000 people, which means that all of them old enough to work are producers. As a class the farmer represents the greatest single buying power in the United States. During the past eight months, dating from the last harvest time, this buying power has laid dormant simply because the farmer did not have money to spend and this fact has hit the small city and town merchants in the agricultural sections hardest of all.

Government crop reports are most optimistic as to weather conditions and the size of this year's crops, produced under very much less expense on all important items of cost, and unemployment in industry has given the farmer ample labor at a fair price for the first time in years. This means a large flow of money into the farmers' hands from now on and hence we believe that from now on the small towns and cities will feel the effects of loosened purse strings in a lively retail business.

Thus one of the broken links in the chain of circulation of money will be forged again this fall and its effect will be quickly felt way back to productive industry in filling orders for depleted stocks of all sorts, in which shoes will be not the least.

Small merchants will have their innings this fall if they grasp their opportunity. Now, if ever, is the time for them to organize a "Buy-at-Home" campaign to keep the sales and prifits in the home town. It is no secret that our large mail order houses expect and are planning for a big revival in sales in country districts this coming season. Will the country merchants be ready for the trade that is surely coming?

Autumn Styles in Dress Colorings

Months ago we forecasted the longer skirt and the fate that many style outlines were to be changed with the coming season. As autumn approaches more headway is being made in supplementary details and more is known about the range of colors in dress for all occasions. Until recently all reports from Paris were that black would be the mode of the season, but this week's reports of the latest development in that city place less emphasis on black, one of the most fashionable creators predicting gray, brown, dark reds and navy blue as the favorites for street wear, while another equally prominent gives them in the order of black, brown, deep red and dark grey.

The younger element in America already has heard the rumblings of the longer skirt, and is unanimously in rebellion against it. If anyone doubts the feeling about it, just get three or four average Miss Americas together, bring up the subject and you will soon find out "what is what."

Hats always have some influence on footwear. For autumn the new millinery styles are largely in velvets, felt, cloth, in black, mauve, dark blues, altogether rather sombre and less colorful than usual with the trimmings of a simple order. For harmony these require black shoes of leather or colors in suedes or satins and high colors in footwear will have no place in the wardrobe of the well gowned woman.

Scenting opposition, many apparel manufacturers already have brought out a "two-skirt" compromise wherein there is the present length skirt of the main garment material as the under skirt while over this and much longer is draped an overskirt of lace or other transparent material. The effect is feminine and dressy, and will require footwear of dark or black materials, light in construction.

So far the strictly tailor-made suit of severe lines and on the rough and ready type seems to be out of the running. The materials that will predominate are soft draping solid color woolens and worsteds, crepes, duvetyn, mousseline and Jacquard satin faced weaves.

Evening gowns will be of brilliant colorings as high greens, bright reds and other scattering shades. This opens up possibilities for bright colors in satins, white kid and white satin, gold and silver, bronze kid for the greens, and patent as the only black that will fit in. Women who select red for a gown will have difficulty in their footwear selection. Should red become a favorite footwear must be black or white satin, silver or gold, with stockings to match the slippers.

In the large centers fashions will be of the clingy, draped type, and light appearing dressy footwear will be required in dark colors or all black. High grade makers already are working out new and fancy patterns in boots in subdued and dressy color effects and will endeavor to launch them for late fall selling.

Gleanings From Fashion's Review Of The Season

Tuxedo Sweater Leads.

As the Dry Goods Reporter has mentioned in previous issues, the tuxedo style in women's sweaters continues a leading favorite and bids fair to remain popular this Fall. Styles featuring a row of buttons down the front, collars of many different sizes and shapes as well as full or half belts of brushed wool, are included in the orders now being placed by retailers.

Black is continuing to be the most pronounced color, in not only sweaters, but scarfs as well. Many times brilliant shades of tomato or jade are used sparingly in narrow stripe effects on the cuffs or collars to brighten these otherwise sober garments. White is also used on a black sweater for the tuxedo fronts or cuffs.

Browns and navies are receiving a very strong call from many sections of the country. Other dark colors and the brighter shades of Kelly green, cardinal and jade are favored by many customers desiring the brighter shades.

Fast Fabrics Popular.

Sun-fast and tub-fast fabrics made from silk fiber are constantly growing in popularity and come in fancy weaves, in two-toned color combinations and an infinite lot of lovely patterns. These, combined with plain fabric, render a most satisfactory window treatment.

Cretonnes continue to sell in great quantities. In spite of the fact that they have been used for years, they adapt themselves effectively, and in some cases inexpensively, to every room in the house.

New patterns are constantly being printed and designed, and among these are noticed the floral effects and more and more of the large scroll patterns used generally in brocades. So successfully have these patterns been adapted to the cotton fabrics that across the width of a room it is almost impossible to distinguish between them and the more expensive productions of which they are copies.

Patent Leather Hats Latest Style.

Patent leather in white or black shines in all-over treatment for modish hats shown at the White House, being combined with such colorings as Indian red, apple green, firefly, Mohawk and cinnamon. Such hat styles are softly designed, light in weight and easily adjustable to any type of face. Models have brims, and crowns slightly bell, and are ideal for sports, steamer wear or outing.

Wool Hose to Run Strong.

Present indications are that wool hosiery is to have another good season. Buyers express themselves as having confidence in its possibilities and say that whereas it sold with difficulty last year, due to climatic conditions, and that it has now gone beyond the novelty stage, a steady demand may be expected.

Linings are very rich and are more often fancy silks than the one-time popular plain satin.

Coats.

The new fall coats promise to be universally becoming to the average woman. One style shows the bodice decidedly fitted to the waistline, supplemented by the rippling flaring skirt. Fur-banded and pocketed, and with great collar of fur standing high, and deep cuffs to correspond, the new model has made a favorable impression upon merchants buying the higher priced merchandise.

Then there is the straight-line coat with its smart line from shoulder to hem, and the big fur collar and cuffs. This type usually features large embroidered patterns, and the belt may, or may not, be worn with it.

Black, sorrento blue, and the browns are the dominant colors in winter coats.

The strictly tailored utility coat, however, must not be overlooked in speaking of coats. Some splendid motor garments are to be had in the fine imported Scotch materials with plaid backs. Great collars of racoon and other long-haired furs are used, while the deep cuffs and large flapped patch pockets are a characteristic feature.

The sleeves are raglan or straight set-in fashion.

These coats are invariably belted, either buckled or buttoned. The fine tailoring entering into the workmanship of these garments is typical of the entire line.

Suits.

The fall note indicates that suit coats are taking unto themselves the dignity of the top coat, in that they are to be quite long, and will likewise be heavily fur trimmed. Such lovely fabrics as duvetyn, evora, tricotine, veldyne, vel de cyne, and the various velours are effectively embroidered with self floss or contrasting embroidery. The slenderizing tendency is apparent here, also, and Directoire suggestion is frequently a determining factor with many designers. The skirts are perhaps a trifle longer than previously, but are plain.

Dresses.

Full appreciation of the silhouette mode is evidenced alike by stout and slender admirers. Modifications are noted, it is true, but popular acclaim reverts back to the straight-line type. A slight fullness over the hips is to permitted this season.

Tricotine, simply designed, and beaded and braided or embroidered, either elaborately or simply, is the most popular among woolen frocks. Where panel effects are used, the panels are frequently just a trifle longer when placed at the sides.

Special attention is devoted to sashes, belts and girdles as these are important accessories to the fall dress, and there is pleasing originality shown here.

Some really gorgeous effects have been achieved in the woolen frock lines, and in the medium priced stocks are picked up rapidly in the market.

Sleeves are either elbow-length or three-quarter length, and are set-in or kimono fashion.

Canton crepe and the soft satins comprise the main foundations for the afternoon and the semi-formal evening frock. Soft fringe, delicate embroidery and rich beadings are the means employed for bringing forth the dainty and alluring girlish grace of these charming models. Blacks, browns, tans and navy are the preferred colors.

Steel beads and crystal beads are popularly employed on the moderately priced numbers, as well as braid trimming.

Evening gowns of crepe de Chine, Georgette, and Chantilly lace are veritable creations of the designer's art, with the long slim line of course prevailing in these models as in the simpler frocks.

Effective treatment in crystal beaded patterns and soft gathers at the sides or shoulders emphasize the slender graceful lines of the chemise frock made fro mthe delicate fabrics. The pointed or scalloped overlapping tunic is a favorite feature of the lace frock.

Skirts and Blouses.

The wool skirt has become a firmly fixed integral of woman's wardrobe, and the fall models indicate no waning of their popularity. The chevron stripe, the small checks, plaids—they are all right on the job, so to speak, and the various novelty cloths are attractive. Prunella and velours are particlarly in demand.

Overblouses fashioned from Georgette and soft crepe de Chine are offered in pleasing variety. Dainty tucking, real filet lace, harmonious beaded patterns and lace edging, used individually and combined, produce exquisite numbers. Three-quarter length and elbow sleeves, either set-in or kimono fashion, are shown. Tailored blouses have the long set-in sleeve and convertible collar.

HOW BIG IS A DOLLAR?

What you get for a dollar determines its value. And the secret of economical buying is information. The man or woman who is best informed is the one who buys to the best advantage. Equip yourself to buy to the best advantage by reading the advertisements in this newspaper.

SALESMANSHIP IS INTEREST IN CUSTOMER

Salespeople who make friends and who succeed in the art of selling are those who take a personal interest in their customers and who try conscientiously to get for those customers the exact merchandise they desire. This is perhaps the corner stone of salesmanship, for around this particular phase of selling depends the entire success and future welfare of those engaged in retailing.

Complete.

A sufferer who lives close to a railroad yard in the suburbs wrote the following to the railroad company, complaining about the racket made by a switch engine:

"Gentlemen: Why is it that your switch engine has to ding and dong and fizz and spit and clang and bang and buzz and hiss and bell and wail and pant and rant and howl and yowl and grate and grind and puff and bump and click and clank and chug and moan and hoot and toot and crash and grunt and gasp and groan and whistle and wheeze and squawk and blow and jar and jerk and rasp and jingle and twang and clack and rumble and jangle and ring and clatter and yelp and howl and hum and snarl and puff and growl and thump and boom and jolt and clash and jostle and shake and screech and snort and snarl and slam and throb and crink and quiver and rumble and roar and rattle and yell and smoke and smell and shriek like hell all night long?"

BUY IT NOW

For The Prosperity of America

Does it sound selfish on our part to ask you to "Buy it Now" if there is anything you need that we have for sale?

Well, it is not all selfishness. This whole Nation needs your generous patronage right now.

There are many people out of work, who could be made busy and prosperous if everybody would simply buy the things they needed and had the money to pay for.

The more you buy, the more orders we can send along to the Nation's factories for more goods, and the more orders they receive, the more workers they can employ.

Then when we get everybody working again, the whole country will be back to prosperous, happy times again.

And the big way in which you can help this happy culmination is simply to BUY NOW the things that you want.

We have done our part—manufacturers have done their part. The new goods are ready for the new season and prices are vastly lower than they were last season. This gives a new pleasure to buying and enjoying the new things that everybody now wants.

THE COST OF CREDIT

All modern commerce is so dependent upon credit in its various forms that we have difficulty in thinking of commerce except in credit terms. Indeed, we know that twistings and contortions of commerce are due largely to the violations of credit.

Credit is so common these days that we neglect to observe its principles and as a result of our ignorance suffer mishaps which need not have been.

When commodities are produced for trade the aim is to produce them at a proper cost in order to sell them at a fair profit. The cost of production includes the actual materials and labor plus the various items of overhead that inevitably enter into production. If the commodities were sold in exchange for other commodities or for money, the profit in general terms will be nothing more than a proper return on the capital invested. When the commodities, however, are sold on credit terms, the seller assumes the risk of failing to receive payment of the purchase price of the commodities at the time specified therefor, and in return for taking this risk he is entitled to some compensation in the way of interest on the capital represented in the credit and as a guaranty against average losses.

It thus stands to reason that credit carries a certain cost, that it is not merely a medium for the exchange of commodities, but a medium of carrying certain risks, and the taking of risks always is entitled to certain compensation.

Therefore, whenever we are talking about reduction of costs, this cost also should be reckoned with. Transferring capital in the shape of loans or commodities and in the form of credit carries the toll of interest and in mercantile business a contribution to the guaranty fund against average credit losses. Extending the credit period or time necessarily increases the cost. Abbreviating the period naturally decreases the cost.

We should aim, especially in these days, to wring the water out of everything, to thaw out every frozen item in credit affairs. The cost of credit should be liquidated with other costs. This liquidation can be accomplished by keeping credits within reasonable periods, avoiding undue risks in the granting of credit and bringing the cost of credit to a minimum. Nothing is more interesting in all the fields of business than credit. Its trends and currents, its rules and principles, form the most interesting study of the business field. Credit, while intangible, holds a position so important that its violations are responsible more than anything else for business eruptions.—National Association of Credit Men.

FOOD PRODUCTS OF UTMOST PURITY AND FOOD VALUE.

If you will consult your grocer regarding the true values of different grades of goods, you most assuredly will increase the purchasing power of your dollars and strike straight at one of the main roots of high costs by weeding out extravagance.

What the buyer demands more than any other one thing determines the market price of commodities of all sorts. If you demand full-value foods, insist upon having them, you will get them and at legitimate price. Persistent demand for top-price merchandise of questionable value will then be sharply curtailed and production stimulated in lines of maximum merit. And with this increased production will come lower costs, just as sure as day follows night.

The solution of the problem so far as the consumer is concerned is simply this: select only products of recognized value, sold at lowest prices permissible under present conditions—eliminate waste—don't encourage the production of price-heavy products—co-operate with your grocer—don't lose sight of the fact that he must cater to your wishes. Your demand for the right type of goods is the best means at your command to straighten out topsy-turvy conditions which are a burden to the conscientious manufacturer, the square-dealing grocer and the consumer who are putting forth every effort under the sun to reduce the high cost of production, high cost of merchandising and high cost of living.

Mr. John A. Ulman, president of the National Retail Grocers' association of the United States, an eminent authority on food values and intimately acquainted with manufacturing and marketing conditions, urges close co-operation between retailer and consumer and careful discrimination in the selection of merchandise—as a means of restoring prices to normal and promoting the distribution of the best grade of goods.

Blacks Have "Right-of-Way."

Retail shoe business in the Twin Cities is in that between-season, transitory stage where it is neither good nor bad, inactive or brisk. Summer merchandise, influenced by cut prices and earnest advertising effort, is still moving but with diminished speed. New season footwear is commencing to interest buyers without having attained the momentum that it will a fortnight or so hence.

Blacks appear to have the right of way all along the line, patents being especially popular although calfskins, kid and satin are evidencing their hold upon feminine fancy. Patent leather is to date the big noise in fall footwear, walking heel oxfords being especially strong right now. Buyers who are so fortunate as to have received deliveries of this type are finding them ready sellers. In the more dressy models for evening and formal wear, Louis heeled patents are also becoming active.

A KNOWLEDGE OF FABRICS IS NEEDED

A simple villager who was looked upon as scarcely more than "half-baked" by the more sophisticated residents of his community, nevertheless had great success in training his dog to do wonderful tricks. A smart city man chanced one day to see the dog being put through the paces and was so impressed that he asked the Simple Simonish master what was the secret of his success. He replied: "You gotta know mor'n the dog."

"Thrift does not consist alone in saving; judicious spending is as necessary as saving and if women would spend wisely they must know the four leading materials now used: silk, wool, linen and cotton," said Mrs. Martha French, of the Michigan State Normal College, addressing the Michigan Retail Dry Goods Association, on the subject of "Textiles."

Women are gradually being educated to know more about textiles through their own clubs, University extension, home economics, etc., and Mrs. French has done much along this line for the women of her own state. With this growth of textile knowledge on the part of the women, the merchant should keep abreast or a step ahead and must see that his clerks are similarly informed; in short to achieve conspicuous success "you gotta know mor'n the dog."

"Women must know something about the fiber of these materials," Mrs. French said. "Cotton and wool fiber are from one to three inches long; silk 300 to 1,400 yards long. Flax averages from 28 to 36 inches in the length of its fiber.

"Linen," Mrs. French continued, "has a smooth, cool feeling and is leathery when pulled. It is ragged and brushy on being torn and tears with a heavy sound. Cotton tears smoothly and has a very different sound."

Mrs. French referred to the shortage of linen resulting from the cessation of exports from Russia, a country which formerly produced three-fourths of our linen supply.

"Linen coming from that country is commonly known as grass linen," she said, "or, scientifically as ramie. It is of a more beautiful appearance and has more luster than ordinary linen."

In her reference to wollens, Mrs. French said: "Shoddy is made from the wool which was least twisted in the first making and is very good material. However, people should not be obliged to pay as much for it as for pure wool.

"Both wool and silk are often adulterated with cotton. This adulteration can be detected by the use of a 5 per cent solution of potassium hydroxide. Wool and silks are both soluble in this solution and will totally disappear, while any cotton threads will be left unharmed."

The weighting of silk is another process not sufficiently understood. Mrs. French explained that a small amount of weighting does not harm the silk, but is really necessary while heavy weighting ruins the material. The burning test is a good one to use on silks. Weighted silk does not burn readily and leaves the burnt part in shape. Pure silk burns easily and leaves an ash.

EX-SERVICE MEN, ATTENTION.

The Veterans' Bureau (formerly the Federal Board for Vocational Education, the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, and the U. S. Public Health Service) desires to clear up the cases of all men who have applied for the benefits which the government offers to disabled men. In order to accomplish this the American Legion of Minnesota and the Veterans' Bureau have united in the campaign to reach all men who were disabled by the war.

The Veterans' Bureau is going to send a Clean Up Squad of five men to travel throughout the state of Minnesota. This squad will have the power to make physical examinations, rate eligibility for training, or hospitalization, or treatment, and collect all necessary data for the rating of compensation claims.

Any man whose claim has not been settled to his satisfaction and any other disabled ex-service man who desires to make a claim for hospitalization, compensation or training, should see the squad while in Minnesota.

In this article you will find noted the place where and the dates when you should visit the squad. Bring with you all government papers from the army, the board, the Bureau, or the Public Health Service so that your case may be hurried through.

You cannot afford to miss the opportunity. Spread the news to all men who may be interested.

The board meets at Thief River Falls on September 30 and October 1 (two days only.) Service men from Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake notify the undersigned and transportation blanks will be forwarded to you.

How to Fix Back Breaking Stove.

Kitchen ranges are often low—regular back-breakers, in fact. Mary L. Bull of the home management section of the office of extension work with women, University Farm, suggests that in such cases a frame of wood be made just the size and shape to fit the bottom of the range. The proper height can thus be obtained, and, in addition, the dread of accumulated dust under the range will be eliminated.

Pleasure Car Rates.

A circular on retail acceptance announces that "Automobiles for funeral purposes take the taxi or jitney bus rate—except hearses, which take the straight pleasure car rate."

RETAILERS PROTEST HIGH PRICE CHARGES

Herbert C. Hoover, secretary of the department of commerce, met in conference recently representatives of retail associations having a total membership of 20,000 merchants. The dry goods, wearing apparel and shoe industries were represented. The merchants vigorously protested against the reports sent out from Washington condemning retailers as holding back the progress of readjustment.

Mr. Hoover told the delegation that the majority of retail merchants had reduced their prices to properly correspond with wholesale levels. In fact, he stated the belief that in some cases reductions had been made below what he thought market conditions warranted. He added that investigations had shown there were cases where some merchants in given towns, and also instances where entire towns had not made proper reductions, and said that his recent statement to the public counseling them to shop around before purchasing was to caution them against the stores which had not properly reduced their prices. Mr. Hoover emphasized that it was not his intention to criticize the retailers as a whole and that his statements should not have been so construed.

"Down to Common Sense"

Imperfect Page

¶ We are not going back to normal—because there is no normal to go back to.

¶ We are going ahead to better conditions—better methods and better business.

¶ We live in a world of progress and cannot go back—there is nothing in the past to compare with the future.

¶ Let us get down to Common Sense for the solution of our problems—and throw the slogan "Back to Normal" into the discard.

¶ It has only created a mental laziness by suggesting that we wait for things to go back—to what?

¶ Let us go intelligently forward, not lazily backward.

GIVING THE BEST

The bit of poetry quoted above is no less true today than when it was written. It may be said that the subtle secret of success lies in these homely lines. Success and good fortune are always near, waiting to be grasped. But we can not enjoy the two without hard work and really giving the best in us.

Getting started is the most difficult thing about success. Once this is accomplished, success becomes matter of fact. For example, some of the prominent writers of today began, years ago, by adhering strictly to the rules of story writing; revising and resubmitting their manuscripts until at last great pains were rewarded. Now that they are successful, anything from their pens is considered masterful, while they enjoy the privileges of coining new words, creating new grammatical forms, and modeling their stories as they wish. So it is in any pursuit of life.

So much for hard work and eventual rewards. Getting back to the original point, however, we appreciate what "giving the best" means. Haven't you noticed in your own business that if you give your customers the best you have, the best comes back in some way—profits, repeat sales, or new patrons? Surely you have!

"He's the Funny Bone of the Country and I Don't Know What We'd Do Without Him."

So spoke Gentleman Jeff, the polite crook created by O. Henry, one of America's most famous humorists. But while the urban residents of the country find it difficult to disassociate the real farmer from the straw-strewn characterization of him most frequently seen on the stage, the really big business men of the country are taking him mighty seriously.

They know that the prosperity of the country depends largely on the prosperity of the farmer; that collectively he represents approximately sixty per cent of the country's buying power; that his lack of money with which to buy the commodities which he does buy may easily bring industrial America to the verge of bankruptcy; and that bumper crops, sold at a profit, mean a one-hundred-league step in the direction of national prosperity.

We believe every word of this article. We believe it would be wise for the merchants to base their future buying on the facts set forth here.

THE "SPEEDY DOLLAR" HABIT

Every man who pays his debts promptly helps business for himself as well as for everybody else. This is a consideration well worth keeping in mind these days when money as well as labor has demanded higher wages—that is to say when interest rates have risen.

It is the active dollar that keeps business moving. The fact that the great bulk of business is done by check does not in the slightest degree alter the truth of the foregoing statement. The check must be backed by value somewhere. There must always be a tangible basis for the intangible commodity called credit.

It does not require any deeply-learned dissertation on finance to convince every practical person of this. Every business man knows the truth of it. It ought to be considered a duty, therefore, to keep money circulating as promptly as possible. If every merchant in the United States who does a credit business were to ginger up the collection department, to get "the active dollar habit" started in town, and then pass on the activity in the way of discounting his bills, or at least meeting them with absolute promptness, it would make a great difference in the general activity of business throughout the coming fall and winter.

The Penalty For Slow Payment of Bills

There are two kinds of people living in this great big old world.
—The positive man and the negative man.
—One a SUCCESS, the other a failure.
—The first is the man who not only makes good commercially, but makes good his promises.
—His word is as good as his bond.
—His success commercially is dependent upon his ability to make his promises good—in other words, he does as he agrees.
—He is the type of man who would cut off his right hand rather than violate his "Pledge of Obligation."
—This man never fails to get CREDIT. The credit man knows that his promises are redeemed one hundred cents on the dollar.
—Not much can be said of the negative fellow. He is always a failure.
—He will contract almost any kind of a debt on a promise to pay—if he can get credit—and there is always this little word "if."
—But CREDIT being based on honesty, integrity and ability to pay PROMPTLY, Mr. Slow Pay, the negative man, finds it harder every day to secure credit for he is listed with every man in town as either "Slow Pay" or "Unworthy of Credit."
—And it is almost impossible to regain confidence after it has once been shattered by unredeemed promises.
—The fact that he has money will not save him. It's not what you are worth but how you pay that counts.
—Your CREDIT is a wonderful thing, a real buying power.
—Keep it so by always paying promptly.

Variety of Strap Designs.

It is invariably the thought in the trade that after a certain type of shoe has had the run of one season that it is well to watch it for the next season and to run away from it the third season. What is to be said about straps?

Straps are now entering their fourth season and are better than ever. One, two and three-strap patterns are being made for all sorts of wear. In welts we get the heavier street types, with buckles or buttons, and in turns the vening effects which permit the use of all sorts of materials and trimmings.

The latest fashion pictures from Paris show straps to the exclusion of all other types other than Colonial. What Colonials are in vogue are in the ratio of ten to one to the straps. In strap patterns every conceivable method of pattern making is being tried out. Some of the latest French shoes have but a little more than the sole, heel and straps to permit of the most extraordinary display of hosiery. The prettiest curve of the foot moulding under the instep is most fashionable.

Patents With Cut-Outs Displayed.

Patent leather strapped pumps with cut-out underlays are being prominently displayed by many of the Fifth Avenue retail merchants. Some of them have fairly long vamps in contrast to the general showing of short vamped shoes.

Patent Leather Selling Well.

Black seems to be the predominating note in the better grades of women's shoes, with patent leather in the lead. In the novelties the "Sally" sandal is going well and frequent re-orders have been placed. The junior Louis heel is selling about 75 per cent with a steadily increasing demand. With the advent of snappier styles the men's business is showing a decided improvement.

Strap Spats the Latest.

Novelty strap spats are now appearing on the market. These spats come in a variety of colors and are made in both kersey and satin. They are provided with an adjustable side buckle which makes it possible to fit them perfectly to the ankle without the necessity of shifting buttons or buckles. They may, however, be had with button or harness buckle fasteners if preferred. The spats are made in one, two, three or four strap patterns.

Shoe Ornaments in Strong Demand.

Shoe ornaments are coming back strong. The small buckles, either jeweled or cut steel with steel fringe pendants to slip over the straps on evening slippers, are selling extremely well. Another ornament that looks promising is the long narrow buckle that completely covers the strap on a one strap pump. Small lovers' knots in rhinestones and brilliants to go on the top of the vamp of strapped evening slippers also have come in. Thief River Falls merchants are showing these late styles.

THE WHY AND HOW OF BUILDINGS FOR THE HORSES

Farm buildings serve their purpose best when especially adapted to the specific use required of them. Horse barns should be different from any other building on the farm. The health and comfort of horses should be the first consideration, but convenience in attending to their wants and requirements makes a close second.

All horse stables should be well ventilated. Every farmer knows that there is a great difference in stables in this respect. Some stables are so built that you would rather keep out of them if possible, because they can not be kept clean. The smell of ammonia is always present and when the doors are shut it is very disagreeable. Imagine shutting a valuable horse up in such an atmosphere at night, and expect to find him in good condition in the morning. The horse is the most expensive animal on the farm and the most susceptible to disease; hence the first consideration in a stable should be to promote the health of the horses.

A horse stable should be cool and airy in summer and it should be warm and well ventilated in winter. The floor should be made in such a manner that it will not absorb the liquids from the manure, and there should be no cracks to let the liquids down underneath to ferment and destroy the air in the building. Stable ceilings must necessarily be sufficiently high to permit a horse to get his head up. Horses are warm animals; that is, they contain body heat enough to warm a stable when conditions are as they should be.

Before starting to build put a little time on the study of ventilation. Read up on the circulation of warm air. Don't depend on others, because they might not understand the particular conditions you are dealing with. It is well enough to ask advice, but get the information from different sources so that you may be able to sift the quality of your instructions sufficiently to keep the grain and discard the chaff. Don't blindly copy a stable that someone else has built without carefully considering whether or not it fits your requirements.

A horse stable that works all right for one farmer is all wrong for another, because his horses may be larger, or he may have more of them, or he handles them differently. Some farmers have a lot of horses that they press into service in the summer time and turn out in the yards and sheds to winter. Such farmers usually raise horses to sell and have more than they need at all times. Other farmers keep just what horses they need to do the work. They keep four or six horses the year round and they have no intention of altering their usual custom. But in either case a man can arrange a stable for a certain number of horses and build it accordingly.

THE WHY AND HOW OF BUILDING FOR THE HORSES

In cold weather, a stable big enough for six horses will not be warm enough if only two are stabled. If, for any reason, the stable is too large, it is better to fill it up with cows in the winter, for the reason that you cannot have ventilation without heat. On general principles, it is more satisfactory to keep horses in a building by themselves, and it is but little extra expense to do so.

When possible a horse stable should contain a carriage room that is reasonably free from dust. Every man has, or should have the ambition to keep a rig for the road that is decently clean. He owes it to himself and his family to provide a respectable turnout. A farmer's family depends for a change and recreation on the opportunty to get away from home by means of the horses. They are judged to a very great extent by the appearance they make.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES

Give the Shipping Board credit for one thing: It was never accused of profiteering.

Some congressmen evidently had the notion that we should have a tariff for juggling only.

Speaking of disarmament, would it not be better to teach humanity that war is an economic crime, rather than an attempt to remove the weapons? As long as men believe that fighting is the way to settle disputes there will always be war.

Fitting Soft Toe Shies

"It may be," remarks a Lynn designer, "that a soft toe shoe can be fitted a size smaller than a hard toe shoe. There is no box in the soft toe and the box is a third of an inch thick and a third of an inch is a size. But if I were fitting shoes, I would give the customer the benefit of the ample measurements of the soft toe shoes, and fit her with the regular sizes. She will have more toe room and more foot comfort. Besides, when it comes to fitting shoes right, it pays to stick to regular sizes."

CATTLE FROM THIS COUNTY WIN HIGH HONORS AT BEMIDJI

F. B. Conklin and Albert Johnson Get High Awards on Guernsey Showing.

Pennington county Guernsey cattle continue to win high honors wherever exhibited. At the Beltrami county fair, held at Bemidji last week, F. B. Conklin and Albert Johnson were among the exhibitors and carried off a large share of the prizes.

Among Mr. Conklin's awards was first prize on herd. He was also given first on aged bull on the showing made by Cherub's Yeoman of Sherman (56074), as well as first and sweepstakes on his cow, Kifs (45096). Two other first prizes fell to Mr. Conklin—in the two-year-old division on Kif's Beauty, and on the yearling, Cherub's Diamond of Chippewa (108538).

The first prize for the junior and grand champion bull went to Mr. Johnson on Burr Oaks May King (64770), together with the following: Second on aged cow, Imported Myra of Oakley (73781); second on two-year-old, Mabelle Rose (864230); third on yearling, Mollie of the Pines; first on heifer calf, Noble's Valentine of Burr Oaks (118514); third on heifer calf, Golden Noble's Pride of Burr Oaks. Mr. Johnson also won second place in the herd competition.

Among the other well-known exhibitors having herds at Bemidji were L. Jensen of Clearbrook; J. L. Spaulding of Warren, and Carlsons of Erskine, the latter showing Shorthorns. There was also a fine herd of Jerseys from Park Rapids.

Perry Johnson, who was in charge of the Pennington county exhibits, states that all present were very well treated by the people of Bemidji and the fair association officials. A fine banquet was a feature of the last evening of their stay.

SILENT MORATORIUM IN EFFECT, SAYS BANKER

The serious financial situation confronting Minnesota farmers has resulted in a "silent moratorium" in many rural districts, according to Timothy O'Connor, bank president of Renville, Minn. Mr. O'Connor is the chairman of a joint farmer-banker committee, organized by the farm bureau federation to lay the farmers' credit needs before city and federal bankers.

"Something must be done," Mr. O'Connor said at a credit conference last week, "to relieve the farmer who has contracted debts during the period of high prices and who is now trying to liquidate with the commodities produced during the past year, which under present conditions will not enable him to liquidate any debts except for threshing, twine, help and other expenses pertaining to production of the crop."

YOUNG MAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Damon Bergson Crushed to Death When Machine Goes Over Embankment.

Damond Bergson of Crookston was instantly killed last Thursday evening when the large Studebaker car he was driving plunged over the embankment on the Jefferson highway about three miles south of St. Hilaire.

The young man was alone in the car at the time of the accident. The exact cause of the tragedy is not known but the supposition of friends of the Crookston man is that he had fallen asleep while driving the car.

He had visited with friends in this city that evening and felt here on his return trip to Crookston about midnight. The body was brought to Thief River Falls and shipped to Crookston over the Great Northern Friday afternoon.

OFFICERS OF FAIR ASSOCIATION ARE ALL RE-ELECTED

Two New Directors Chosen, Increasing Board to Nine Members.

August 2, 3 and 4 Decided on as Dates For Next Year's Attraction.

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Agricultural society was held in the Commercial club rooms Monday evening. The officers who conducted the affairs of the association during the past year so successfully were all re-elected, and the board of directors was increased to nine members by the addition of directors from St. Hilaire and Goodridge. The officers and directors elected are as follows:

Herbert Fuller, president; Albert Johnson, first vice president; Fred Beerbower, second vice president; L. A. Lampert, treasurer; Daniel Shaw, Emil Griebstein, V. C. Noper, R. J. McKercher and Morgan Vaughn, directors.

Fair Dates Set.

The dates for next year's fair were set for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 2, 3 and 4. This continues the policy followed by the fair association since its organization in holding the fair during the first week in August, a factor that has had a decided influence in establishing the Pennington County Fair as one of the most successful in the entire state.

Attendance This Year 14,000.

The annual report of the secretary showed the total attendance at this year's fair to have been 14,000. The receipts from all sources totaled $9,715.77 and the disbursements $10,928.02. Included in the disbursements is an item of $204.53 carried over from last year and $2,613.96 which was paid out for permanent improvement to the grounds. The last named item covers the cost of the new women's building, the new fence and repairs to the grandstand.

The detailed statement of receipts and disbursements is as follows:

Receipts.

Balance on hand	$ 866.25
State aid	1260.68
City aid	400.00
County aid	400.00
Gate and grandstand	4295.21
Concessions	1524.35
Entry fees	45.28
Space rentals	270.00
Miscellaneous	1520.38
Total	$10,582.02

Disbursements.

Premiums	1927.00
Pay roll	639.13
Music and attractions	3441.08
Race purses	210.00
Total	$10,928.02

It will be seen from this statement that the fair this year was highly successful from a financial point of view, something that can be said of but few county fairs in the state this year.

Society in Splendid Condition.

The statement of the assets and liabilities of the association reflects a sound and flourishing condition, the total indebtedness at this time being only $3824.01. The state aid money which will be received within the next month will amount to about $1700.00, which will leave the net indebtedness of the association a trifle over $2000.00. On the other hand, the association has assets to the amount of $23,000.00. The complete statement of assets and liabilities follows:

Assets.

Land	$ 9300.00

Accounts payable	$ 324.01
Notes payable	3500.00
Total	$3,824.01

The total capital stock issue is $7525.00.

Not to Ask For Money.

President Fuller made an announcement that met with unanimous approval when he stated that business men who signed up an amount of money to guarantee the erection of the women's building at the fair grounds this year would not be called on to pay their subscription, according to a plan worked out by the board of directors. He stated that they proposed to borrow the amount of money that is necessary to take care of present obligations, using the guarantee of the business men as security. This loan can be carried until next year and if conditions are then favorable it can be paid out of the earnings of the fair.

WANTED BY RELATIVES

The relatives of Chas. Peterson, son of the late C. H. Peterson, are very anxious to locate him at once. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will be doing him, as well as his relatives, a great favor by advising him that he is wanted in Thief River Falls.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS SATURDAY AT FAIR GROUNDS

High School Will Meet Red Lake Falls For First Gridiron Contest.

The high school football team will officially open the season Saturday afternoon when they meet Red Lake Falls at the local fair grounds. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

The local boys have been going through some stiff practice every night and Coach Stenhoff has a large squad from which to pick the team that will represent the high school. It is likely that the line-up will be shifted many times during the game Saturday in order to select the best material for the various positions. The team will appear in their new uniforms purchased by the school board.

Red Lake Falls is reported to have an exceptionally fast team this year and they are coming, accompanied by a large delegation of rooters, determined to win the first game of the season. The local high school students are preparing to attend the game in full force. They say that if their team is defeated it will not be because of lack of support from the sidelines.

FALL FROM PLOW BREAKS NECK OF SANDERS FARMER

C. H. Peterson Dies as Result of Injury Received Last Friday.

C. H. Peterson, well known Sanders township farmer, had his neck broken last Friday when the sulky plow on which he was riding struck a large rock with such force that he was thrown violently to the ground. He was immediately taken to the Physicians hospital in this city where he died on Monday.

Mr. Peterson was one of the substantial farmers of the county. He came to this county about 30 years ago and settled in Sanders township, where he resided at the time of his death. He leaves a family of five grown children.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. O. J. Lundell Wednesday morning at the home and interment was made in the Sanders township cemetery.

A preliminary meeting will be held in state farm bureau headquarters on Oct. 10 or 11, Mr. Henton said.

Minnesota dairymen are represented on the national marketing committee by H. B. Nickerson, president of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, Inc.

POTATO RAISER URGED TO STUDY CROP SITUATION

Estimated That Crop Will Be 50,000,000 Bushels Short of Country's Requirements.

Stock Should Be Graded Carefully and Quality Indicated on Shipping Bill.

The State Department of Agriculture this week issued a statement in which they warn the potato growers of the state that market conditions should be studied more carefully than ever before in order that they may contract for the sale of their crop to the best advantage. The statement contains many facts that should be of great interest to the farmers of this section and it should be read very carefully. It is prepared by Hugh J. Hughes, director of markets, and is as follows:

"The Minnesota State Department of Agriculture has recently completed a personal tour of the potato growing section of Minnesota, and in a number of cases has found evidence that dealers are contracting with farmers for the delivery of their crop at loading station, usually at prices considerably below the market for produce of good quality.

Should Study Crop Situation.

attempt to say that the farmer should not enter into a contract to sell if he sees fit to do so it does desire to call attention to the fact that he should, before making such contracts, be thoroughly conversant with the crop situation and with the price level on the market.

"The normal potato requirements of the country are something over 380,000,000 bushels per year. This crop falls short of that estimate by from 30 to 50,000,000 bushels. The best information obtainable by the Minnesota State Department of Agriculture is to the effect that the early crop throughout the country has been far below normal and that the market depending upon that crop is substantially cleaned up. The great potato consuming areas of the United States include, in addition to the large eastern cities, the agricultural regions from the Alleghanies to western Kansas and southward. The entire region must depend for its supply upon a shortened late crop in practically the potato producing areas outside of the far west.

"The facts of the situation lead the State Department of Agriculture to look for an active demand accompanied by a fairly good price throughout the crop moving season.

"The recent depression in potato prices has been due to ill-advised swamping of the large markets with immature, heating, ill-sorted and decaying potatoes, and instead of indicating a general weak market condition has merely resulted in the wasting of a considerable amount of material, taken from an already short crop. In considering the questions of the proper time to market and of the price that may fairly be expected, these basic facts should be kept in mind and the further fact also, that attention to grading and the exclusion from the crop offered of small, un-usable or diseased stock should be followed. The shipper should further protect himself by indicating the quality and condition of his shipment on his invoice, bill of lading or sales slip, and demand prices in line with such quality offerings on the terminal markets."

CROOKSTON MEN IN COAL BUSINESS RUN INTO MANY SNAGS

Experience Indicates That Huge Combine For Control of Prices Exists.

The experience of two men in the city of Crookston who made an effort to engage in the coal business discloses some astounding facts. The whole affair, as reported in the Tuesday issue of the Crookston Times, seems to bear out the contention of many that a huge combine for the control of prices exists. The article contains so many interesting facts that it is reproduced in full as follows:

"For a year or more there has been a conviction in the public mind that coal prices were being kept up far beyond what they should be, by a gigantic combination which involved all those engaged in the business, from the mine owners to the retail dealers.

"That this 'combination in restraint of trade' is not confined to the coal dealers alone, but that the railroads also have inserted a fat finger in the pie, would seem to be borne out by recent developments which have a local significance.

"The story of the experience of a couple of Crookston business men who formed a partnership to go into the coal business here, will be of interest in this connection.

"If their story is true, and they have backed their statements with written evidence which would seem to prove conclusively that it is, it reveals a most interesting chapter in the hidden mysteries of the coal situation, as showing why consumers are compelled to pay from a third to a half more for coal than this commodity is worth, as compared with the prevailing prices of other commodities in general use.

"These men are possessed of ample capital and naturally supposed there would be no difficulty in their entering the business. There were millions of dollars' worth of coal piled upon the docks at Duluth. This coal they naturally supposed was for sale. They had the money to buy such coal as they needed to carry on their business. Accordingly, one of the partners went to Duluth to arrange with a wholesaler for shipment of coal. But he did not meet with a very enthusiastic reception among the wholesalers. He found one concern, however, which promised to investigate the situation. It did not have a connection in Crookston, and if the investigation was satisfactory, it would be glad to open an account with the Crookston firm. A few days later a man was sent to Crookston. He found the credit standing of the local firm fully sufficient, but told them they would have to have a warehouse in which to carry a stock of coal. If this was done, he would recommend that his concern take them on. The Sundet coal shed on the N. P. right-of-way was available. The local firm got an option on a lease. They then took the matter up with the N. P. railway and were informed through a local representative that there was no objection to a transfer of the lease of the righ-of-way site if they got a lease of the sheds from Mr. Sundet. Accordingly they arranged for a lease from Mr. Sundet.

"So far everything was lovely. They reported the situation to the wholesaler at Duluth, and accompanied their statement with an order for several cars of coal. The coal was promptly shipped and delivered to the customers of the local firm at a price of about two dollars a ton less than that at which it had previously been sold here. Then the trouble began. The chill that pervaded the atmosphere surrounding the sturdy young coal business of the local firm, instead of being conducive to a further growth of the business, had just the opposite effect. There was no lack of orders, but there was a suspicious silence at the Duluth end after they were sent in. Letters and telegrams asking for hastened shipments met with no response.

"This continued for a few days only. Then the blow was struck that put this flourishing young coal company upon the everlasting blink.

"While the two partners sat in their office one cloudy morning, waiting for an acknowledgment of their orders for coal, and their urgent telegrams requesting shipment, a traveling agent of the N. P. dropped in on them, and proceeded artfully to strip their business hides from their business backs and hang them on the fence to dry when the sun came out.

"They were informed that the N. P. had inaugurated a new policy which would preclude them from renewing the lease for the ground along the right-of-way for the Sundet coal sheds.

"'But,' said one of the members of the firm, 'we have your telgram to the effect that you would lease us the site. On the strength of this we leased the Sundet sheds, and Sundet has sent in his lease to be transferred to us.'

"'Yes, I know, but we are not in a position to transfer the Sundet lease at this time,' said the railroad representative, and that is as far as he would go.

"Next day the wholesale coal dealers at Duluth came to life. A very courteous letter came from them, notifying the local firm that unless they could show a lease for their coal shed site on the railroad right-of-way they could not be considered as coal dealers, and therefore the Duluth firm would be unable to make further coal shipments to them. The orders then in their hands were being cancelled, and the incident closed.

"Here was a pretty kettle of fish. The local coal dealers with a leased coal warehouse on their hands, first class financial standing, a bushel of orders from local consumers, coal piled sky high on the Duluth docks, but not a pound available for them; and, in addition to that, the railroad company positively refused to spot cars at their leased sheds.

"Did the fact that this new firm had started to sell coal at a saving of $2 a ton to local consumers have anything to do with the joint action of the wholesale coal dealers and the railroad company to put them out of business.

"Was there a combination or secret understanding between those interests to control the price of coal to the consumers?

"Is there a gigantic illegal combination in restraint of trade affecting the coal business, whose ramifications extend out in all directions?

"The reader may judge for himself.

"In the meantime, the members of the defunct coal company have not ceased to fight. They may be butting their heads against a stone wall. But they want to feel for themselves just how hard the stones are, anyhow.

"It is said the matter has been referred to the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission, and to the State Agricultural Department for investigation.

"The outcome—well, that will be another story."

MAY RUN EXTRA CAR TO ST. PAUL FOR DAIRY SHOW

National Exhibition to Be Held at State Fair Grounds October 8 to 15.

Twenty-Five Passengers Necessary to Secure Special Car For Local Dairymen.

Trip, Including Sleeper Accommodations For Three Days, Will Cost Only $24.00.

The National Dairy Show is held at the Minnesota State Fair grounds Oct. 8 to 15. This show will afford an opportuity of a lifetime to people of the dairy industry and farmers of the Northwest to see the whole industry under one roof and meet their fellows from all over the United States and many foreign countries.

Five Breeds on Exhibit.

The farmer and breeder can get from this show accurate knowledge about the five leading breeds of dairy cattle by seeing the best specimens standing side by side in the ring, being judged on merits by experts of national reputation. He can talk to the judges, owners and herdsmen about breeding and feeding for best results at the pail. He can learn how to procure the blood of these high producing cattle to use on his own herd to reduce labor and increase his earnings, at a cost within his reach.

Mechanical Devices Demonstrated.

Every worth while milking machine and separator on the market; every device used in the farm dairy; the latest in barn equipment and farm machinery designed to lower feed costs, will be there. Meetings on natural market methods will be held.

Special Car Possible.

Wednesday, Oct. 12, is Guernsey day and Thursday, Oct. 13, is Holstein day. It is planned to run a special car from Thief River Falls to St. Paul, staying three days, providing 25 passengers can be secured. Quite a number have signified their intention of going. The railroads are offering a fare and a half rate, which will be $17.07 for the round trip. The special will be parked on the fair grounds with sleeper accommodations going down, coming back and during the time while there for $6 each, making a total of $24. No hotel bill need be paid while there as the special car will be used for that purpose. The people wishing to go should notify the Farm Bureau office before Saturday, Oct. 1, so arrangements can be made for getting the car.

FARMERS CALLED TO WATERWAY MEETING

State Conference Meets Oct. 7 to Push Lake-to-Ocean Channel Project.

The president and state director of every county farm bureau in Minnesota will be invited to attend a conference in St. Paul on Oct. 7, called to launch an intensive campaign in 16 states in support of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence ocean waterway project.

Trade organizations, women's clubs, civic associations and municipalities are being asked to send delegates. The conference was called by the governor at the request of the state's Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater commission. It will take place at the state capitol the day before the opening of the national dairy show.

Similar conventions are being arranged in other states interested in bringing the Atlantic ocean 1,000 miles closer to the northwest.

Deepening of the St. Lawrence channel to permit ocean-going vessels to come into the lake ports of the northwest will cut transportation costs on export grain almost in half, the state tidewater commission believes. The commission estimates that from Lake Erie to Atlantic ports, the lowest rail rate is 12 cents a bushel on grain, and that it costs 8 cents a bushel more to load that grain into ships.

The Minnesota commission estimates that the opening of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence route to ocean traffic would reduce this grain transportation cost 10 cents a bushel.

UNSHAKEN TESTIMONY

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in Thief River Falls. No Thief River Falls resident who suffers backache, or annoying urinary ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony.

E. L. Krogstad, railroad brakeman, 523 State Ave., N., Thief River Falls, gave the following statement Nov. 30, 1917: "When I was living up in the Roaring River district, the hard water disordered my kidneys. Every morning I woke up with a terrible pain through my kidneys and my back became weak and lame. It hurt me to stoop or bend in any way and my kidneys acted irregularly. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they fixed me up in such good shape that I haven't been troubled since."

On Aug. 8, 1921, Mr. Krogstad added: "The cure I received by using Doan's Kidney Pills has been a permanent one. I sure think Doan's are a good remedy and I gladly confirm my former statement."

The High School Progress has been published as a special department of The Times for the past two years. Number 2 of Volume 3 appears this week and it should be carefully read by parents as well as students. A high standard has been maintained by the school editorial staff since the very first issue of The Progress but indications this year are that the paper will be far superior to anything which has preceded it. Superintendent Simley and the faculty are taking a great interest in the publication and it is their intention to make The Progress a medium of close contact between the parents and the schools as well as a conveyor of news for the students. Many matters of utmost importance in the schools are thoroughly explained and the students are shown the wisdom of getting the most to be had out of their high school education by conducting themselves properly in the homes and on the streets as well as in the school room. The co-operation of the parents will add greatly to the good influence of The Progress.

The prevailing sentiment seems to be that the present mayor and councilmen should consent to serve the city for another term. The greatest improvement yet undertaken by the city has been started under their administration and the majority of the taxpayers feel that they should remain in office to see the paving of the streets completed according to the plans formulated by them when the work was first undertaken. The holding of any public office is a thankless job at the best and it is not surprising that the officials in office at the present time are reluctant to consent to enter upon another two years' grind. It is to be hoped that the public demand will be sufficient to overcome any objections they may raise.

The attention of our readers is called to the two-page supplement issued in connection with The Times this week. It contains a vast amount of information concerning the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston and gives an excellent idea of the educational work carried on at that institution. Under the direction of Superintendent Selvig the Northwest School of Agriculture has advanced to a formidable position among agricultural colleges of the country and the people of Northwestern Minnesota are proud of their school.

The farmers of the northwest are watching the moves of the directors of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, the Equity Co-operative Exchange and the U. S. Grain Growers with a great deal of interest. The differences of opinion that at times recently have indicated the possibility of an open rupture among these three organizations have caused the farmers to keep close watch of developments. They want to know just which officials are acting in the interests of the farmers and which are not. They may be depended upon to find out.

Weekly Market Review.

Although there were many depressing influences the past week, wheat prices declined only in a very stubborn manner and in fact, on any let up in selling, prices rapidly advanced.

Some excitement was caused by the publishment of August wheat exports, which were reported over 58 million, exceeding August sales of any former year. There is at present, however, a decided lull in export business, and with premiums lower for Canadian cash wheat, prices sagged off quickly on every advance.

Prolonged wet weather in the Northwest and Canada has been a source of strength to wheat, especially for the cash article. As usual the statistical position of wheat also is much advertised. Undoubtedly there will be some damage to spring wheat as a result of the excessive rains. Many sections have reported the wheat sprouting, and as there has been no surplus of good milling wheat in our current receipts premiums locally have remained very firm and higher for some of the grades. Clear weather from now on is promised. Improvement in the outlook for the new crops is also reported from Argentine and Australia.

With the certainty of a large new corn crop, old crop reserves have been more freely marketed of late. Supplies were quickly absorbed at an unchanged basis by elevator interests despite lower export bids, which to date have been the sustaining factor in corn.

SOW THISTELE FOUND. NEAR IOWA STATE LINE

That the dreaded perennial sow thistle continues to move southward is indicated by reports of county agents to their leader and assistant leaders at University Farm. The Freeborn county agent discovered the weed on three different farms in that county, and the Dakota county agent says the obnoxious weed has been located on six farms within his jurisdiction. The Scott county agent also identified three samples for farmers as sow thistle.

Keeping in Step With The Times

IN 1910 the consumption of gasoline in the United States approximated seven hundred and fifty million gallons. In 1920 the consumption of gasoline was well over four billion gallons.

This tremendous increase in demand came with a spectacular suddenness which strained the resources of the petroleum industry.

To meet it the Burton process was developed in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

While no claim is made that the Burton process is wholly responsible for the increased efficiency of refining practices, the fact remains that without it the tremendous increase of gasoline from crude oil would have been impossible.

In 1910 the average recovery of gasoline from the crudes of the United States was approximately 11 percent; in 1920 this average had been increased to upwards of 30 percent.

While this Company was producing gasoline in sufficient quantities to meet the ever-increasing demand upon its facilities, it also was confronted with the necessity of finding a market for the vast number of products made from that part of the petroleum which could not be converted into gasoline.

New uses for these by-products had to be found or created if gasoline were to be relieved of more than its just share of the cost of refining, thereby keeping the price of this fuel within the reach of all.

It required all the knowledge, experience, skill, resourcefulness, ingenuity and technical ability which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) could bring into play.

The Company has a just pride in its success in finding added fields of usefulness for old by-products, as well as for having developed new by-products of use and value.

Thus does the faithfulness of a big institution, fortified by science, ability and a will to be truly useful, function to the advantage of all.

Larson Furniture Co.

Quality is more important than price

This is particularly true when it comes to selecting building material. Not that prices are high at the present time—quite the contrary being the situation. Building material of the better sort, such as is carried in all our yards in this section, is selling for less money today than at any time since the war was in progress. There is no longer an excuse for holding off on that building program. There may never come an opportunity like that which now presents itself. It will cost less to build this fall than will be the case a year from now. At least that is the opinion of those who are in a position to know.

Let's talk it over

Our service department is at your command and experts will assist you with plans and in the selection of material. We have been serving the people of this section for a quarter of a century and know their needs. Our stock has been selected with a view to meeting northern Minnesota conditions and is of the very best there is to be had. Come in and let us figure on your bill of materials.

"Quality" Our Watchword

We meet all competition when it comes to prices but we recognize no competitors where quality is concerned. If better stock were manufactured, we would have it.

We shall be glad to help you in every way possible and you will get the benefit of our long years of experience. Anything bought at our yards is fully guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

(This issue is edited by the members left from last year's staff, together with a committee from the faculty.)

Preface.

A number of the themes written for the regular class work in English I and II this week are offered to the public through the columns of The Progress with this issue. The Freshmen are taught by Miss Webster, while the Sophomores are in charge of Miss Leavitt.

Football Saturday.

Whom Are You Hurting?

"As ye sow, that shall ye also reap." If you sow a large amount of good seed, you reap a large amount of good grain. The quality of the seed is not the only thing necessary for a good harvest. The time you sow it must be considered. The seed can not be sown in the fall and then make a good harvest.

The efforts you put on your work may be compared to the seeds and harvest may be compared to the credits you receive. Your efforts can not be put on your work in the last two years of high school and then get your credits. Now is the time to put forth every effort.

A house which is built on a poor foundation will fall, so will your credits if you do not begin to study now. The Freshman year is the first stone to be laid for the foundation. So start it right by making four full credits.

Your teachers will be disappointed if you do not start right, but you are the one who suffers if you fail. So, Freshmen, do not waste your opportunity.—E. B. '25.

Football Saturday.

Why Waste Your Opportunity?

The world is full of people that have wasted their opportunity to attend school. Some never had the chance to go. Boys and girls of the school age, you have the chance. Are you going to waste your opportunity?

Your parents are paying taxes each year to build good schools for you to attend, to hire good instructors, and to give you the advantage of equipment.

The United States wants her citizens of the next generation to be educated and able to run the government that will be passed into their hands. What would our government come to if the next generation would not be educated? If every one would waste his opportunity to gotoschool? So it's up to each one to see that he grasp the opportunity to make good.

We cannot be good business men and women without a good education. Some of our prosperous men worked their way through school. They never had the chance most of the boys and girls have today.

If you have an opportunity to go to school, don't waste it. Think of the disappointment to your mother and father when you fail, the pleasure of seeing them happy when you succeed.

Boys and girls, grasp your opportunity and make good.—R. McG. '25.

Football Saturday.

From Freshman, On Up.

If you want to be a failure in high school, all you have to do is to sit in school, go to your classes and know nothing. During study periods read dime novels such as "Deadwood Dick," "Jesse James" and others. When the state examinations come just cheat and squeeze by on a low mark. Look at someone else's paper while you know nothing. In the evenings go home and eat. Then go up town, walk the streets, go to parties or movies seven days out of the week.

At the end of your junior course you decide you don't need to go to school any more. Then you seek a job. You succeed, but in a month the employer gives you your check and says he hasn't any use for a "non-high school graduate." And so time passes on and you go through life a failure. You repent of the unwise thing you did when you didn't finish school and study.

On the other hand, you, I think, would like to be a success instead of a failure. All you have to do is to work hard and do just the opposite of the boy who failed. It is up to you. If you fail, it is only your own fault and your own hard luck because you didn't try.—E. S. '25.

Football Saturday.

From Freshman, On Up.

Freshman and then, will it be Sophomore or Freshman again? It depends on you. What are you going to do with the opportunity that has been given you? Do you want to become an educated person and have opportunities in your life that uneducated persons do not have?

Think of your parents, who may be making many sacrifices to give you an education. Do you want to drag it out and make it necessary for them to continue sacrificing? Think also of the taxpayers who help keep the school and furnish the articles needed. They are interested in what you do. Do you want to squander their hopes and make your education a failure?

A certain boy started school very reluctantly and did everything he could to spite the teachers and his parents. He did not study at home but went to the movies or some such place nearly every night. By cheating in examinations and copying the work of other pupils he went through the eighth grade.

He failed in his first year of high school and quit school altogether. He went to work but failed there also and became, what they call, a constant street walker. He took his meals wherever they came in handy and was later arrested for robberies. He was sent to the reform school, on account of bad behavior, to the state prison for a couple of years. He spent the rest of his life in a poor house, where he lived in shame and resentment.

On the other hand, another boy, who was taught obedience when a small babe, started school with the idea of getting as much as he could out of his education. He made the required number of credits each year and graduated from college with high honors. He made a great success of his work when he finished school and is now working in one of the higher government offices.

What is your aim? To be a highly respected citizen who is helping your city and country, or are you going to be a slacker and pass through life a failure? It is for you to decide and it is the best time to do it now while you are a Freshman.—B. E. '25.

Football Saturday.

From Freshman, On Up.

Jack and Billy were twins. They were as much unlike each other as any two brothers could be.

This particular year they were very proud of the fact that they were to be Freshmen in high school. Jack was glad because he thought now he could have some "fun" in school; but Billy was happy because he could start on the road to some high honor when he graduated.

The first days of real work passed and Jack felt very smart because "the teachers had not made him hand in one paper." Billy was already classed as a "good student." The first examination came. As Jack knew nothing he cheated, and he "got away with it," as he expressed it. Billy, as usual, honestly earned one of the highest marks in the class.

The school year passed on. Jack roamed the streets every evening and never took a book home while Billy first did his work and then went out for some fun. At the end of their Freshman year, Billy had five credits. Jack barely made two.

This continued through their other three years in school. At the end of their Senior year, Billy was valedictorian and Jack, having only nine credits, did not graduate at all.

Next year Billy went away to college. Jack, thinking school was too much work, decided to quit. He secured job after job but could keep none of them. He always cheated or stole, merely because of the habit formed while in school. Billy finished college, secured an excellent position and kept working his way up until in a short time he was one of the wealthiest and best known men in town. Jack went all his way through life, doing little odd jobs and not earning enough money for a living.

There is a moral to this story. What are you going to do? What path are you going to follow? Choose for yourself, but in the end, I am sure you will wish you had followed Billy.—M. J. '25.

Get out and boost Saturday.

The Sophomore Class.

Sophomores, we should realize at the beginning of the year that we have taken one more big step in acquiring an education that will be useful to us in later life. We should determine to make this year a very profitable one so that when we are Juniors we can look back and say, "I made the most of my Sophomore year and am well equipped to take up the work again." We should also make it an enjoyable year by taking part in all class activities and attending all class doings. Not only have we taken a step farther in learning but in forming our characters and manners. We should be a good example for our smaller and less wise Freshmen friends. We realize now what is expected and required of a young man and young woman in high school. Let us all try to make the Class of 1924 the best that has ever attended or graduated from the Thief River Falls high school.—H. P. '24.

Red Lake Falls here Saturday.

Freshmen Versus Sophomore Ambitions.

The thought of entering high school always brings a lot of happy ideas to an eighth grade student's mind and cheers him along. It is a sort of goal to reach in his mind. A person entering high school thinks of what a good time he is going to have; that there will be all kinds of class parties and dances, that the teachers will be lenient and he will be able to skip school on nice days without much difficulty. The first class he goes to he intends to show the bigger boys that he is a "regular feller" by showing them that he isn't afraid of the teacher. He begins acting funny and everybody laughs at him and he thinks he is doing something real smart and he keeps on acting smart until he gets his report card and sees the marks on it. After he gets a couple of reports of this kind he usually sobers down a little and by the end of the term is working hard to make up for what he lost the first of the year.

A Sophomore comes back to school resolved to work hard and make up for the time he lost last year. He is in fact only a year older, but he feels ten years older in mind. He realizes how foolish it is to act up in class and doesn't do it much. He might act up a little the first day to show the Freshmen how smart he is, but after the teacher has asked him to stay after school and has talked to him, he quits it. He is larger and stronger now and if he has any sense of loyalty about him he will go out for football, basketball and other athletics. If he is a good player the school needs him on the team, but if he isn't very good they need him anyway to give the others practice. —H. K. '24.

We're going to win Saturday.

Two Types of Sophomores.

There are two distinct types of Sophomores, the one that won't succeed and the one that will. We all know the type that won't. He is the one who goes to his classes without his lessons prepared; he slams his books down on his desk, and is more than likely chewing gum. While the teacher is talking and giving assignments, he is the one who makes foolish remarks and asks unnecessary questions. Throughout the period he continues to act smart and is repeatedly asked to stop, until finally he is sent out. In the assembly while we are trying to listen to speakers, he is talking to his companions, throwing spit balls or otherwise making a commotion. None of us like to have a disturbance when listening to a speaker because it is sure to give him a bad and wrong impression of the school. There is also the type that hangs around the street corners in the evening, goes to the movies, or spends his time in the soft drink parlors or pool halls.

Then there is the type that will succeed. This one is just as familiar to us as the other as luckily there are more of them. He is the one that always has a well-prepared lesson, recites only when called upon, and pays strict attention to the teacher at all times. In the assembly, no matter how dry or uninteresting the talk may be, the speaker will receive the best attention from him. Though the teachers are sometimes criticised for being partial to some, who can blame them for distinctly showing a preference for the respectful, attentive type rather than the smart-alec, disrespectful one. Sometime, if you think you're not being treated right, just ask yourself what type you are. —M. M. '24.

Football Saturday.

Sophomore Class Work.

The Sophomores have completed their first year of high school very successfully and are started on their second, which means more work and less play, because the farther one gets the more is expected by the teachers. The Sophomores have nearly three years left before they graduate and in order to get the greatest returns from these few years they need to partake in all school activities and class work and to show the school and people that the Sophomore class has the real "pep." We all want to get our lessons well so none of us will be left behind. We all want to try and be on the honor roll especially in our Senior year. When our time comes to graduate we want to be all together and graduate the best class that has ever graduated from Thief River Falls high school.—E. L. '24.

You will see the new uniforms Saturday.

My Trip to the State Fair.

(By Myrtle Krause, '23.)

As winner of the Bread Club contest last spring, I won a free trip to the state fair. On Friday, Sept. 2, I started. There was a special car for all Northern Minnesota club members, and I boarded this. It was packed with club members and we had a jolly time. We reached Minneapolis at 9:30 and were taken to the Girls' Camp at the University Farm.

Saturday afternoon we were allowed to go to the fair grounds. In the evening club songs and stunts provided entertainment.

Sunday morning all the girls were taken to church and in the afternoon a trip was made to the Minneapolis Art Institute.

On Monday the demonstrating at the state fair was begun. The girls were taken over in a bus that came at different times during the day for different groups. Girls that did not demonstrate on Monday were divided into two groups, one group going to Minnehaha Falls and the other to the Soldiers' Home in St. Paul. I missed this trip as I baked on Monday at 1 o'clock. In the evening we held a big marshmallow roast, the boys from their camp being our guests. Club songs and humorous readings were given by some of the girls.

Tuesday afternoon about one hundred seventy girls were taken to the state capitol and from there to the Emporium store at St. Paul. A guide took us through the store. Before leaving we were given ice cream and wafers. Dayton's gave a similar reception for about one hundred girls on Wednesday. Wednesday a beautiful club pageant was given. After the pageant a moving picture was shown.

Thursday all of us went to the fair grounds as guests of the fair board. In the afternoon we went to the Women's building and other places of interest. A picnic supper was held on the grounds and in the evening we went to the grandstand. This was enjoyed by everyone.

Friday the girls were taken to Como Park. In the evening the reports of some of the demonstrations were given. The Mankato bread team won the state championship in bread and the Buhl team won second. The Ulen garment team won the state championship in sewing. The individual bread making report was not out, as many girls baked during the day.

There were two hundred ninety girls at camp this year. The camp of 1921 will be remembered by all who attended.

Rev. Bartholow Addresses Assembly.

A special assembly was called on Tuesday morning to listen to the Rev. Bartholow, district superintendent of the Minnesota Society for the Friendless. Rev. Bartholow spends his time visiting the prisoners in the different state institutions. In this way he comes into personal contact with the prisoners and is able to be of service to them.

He spoke to the high school about the St. Cloud Reformatory for boys. He first gave a picture of the grounds and buildings of this institution. He described the new cell house, which is not yet finished.

He told of the life of the boys, how some were able to learn a trade which would help them after their release. Others made uniforms for the inmates, and still others were employed in the kitchen and dining room of the institution. Those who had broken parole or who could not be trusted, were put to work in the stone quarry, where they crushed the rock which is used on some of Minnesota's highways.

Recreation is provided for all the inmates. Those who have proven that they can be trusted are granted many privileges. They are permitted to remain out later than the others and can play ball or any other game they desire. The institution has a very excellent band. In the summer they give open-air concerts.

Every inmate is expected to attend chapel. The ministers of St. Cloud alternate in preaching the services.

Rev. Bartholow concluded his remarks by appealing to the students to make the best of their opportunity. He said that many of the inmates of the reformatory were not really bad boys but they had developed bad habits which dragged them down.

The talk was very interesting and greatly appreciated by the high school students and faculty.

Big game Saturday.

High School Teachers Enjoy Party.

On Sept. 16 a delightful party was given for members of the high school faculty at the N. K. Harris home, the entertainers being Misses M. Johnson, R. Johnson, Leavitt, Perry and Richter, and Mr. Pope. A program of stunts and contests gave every one an opportunity to demonstrate his talents in various arts. Many unsuspected geniuses were disclosed and rewarded with appropriate prizes. Miss Soule as a musician, Mr. Stenhoff as a landscape painter, and Mr. Jardine as a champion sprinter showed especially brilliant gifts. A regular Virginia Reel worked up some good appetites for the delicious lunch of cake and ice cream that followed. After an enthusiastic song service everyone went home happy.

"Victory" Saturday.

Our New Course.

Political Economy, which was introduced in our high school for the first time this year, promises to become one of the favorite subjects, judging by the demand for the course and the interest shown in class work. This new subject is being offered to Juniors and Seniors. At present there are two sections of thirty pupils each with many more waiting to take the course at the first opportunity.

The political economy classes are taught by Mr. Rapacz, who specialized in political economy and government while attending the university. The course consists of regular text book work supplemented by current subjects dealing with such topics as banking, land, rent, labor, capital, luxury, liberalism, socialism, wealth, etc. All of these subjects are interesting and a knowledge of them comes closer to helping us solve our daily problems than a knowledge of many other things taught in our schools. It is the object of the course to teach us to recognize our social problems and then to do something towards solving those problems.

Football Saturday.

Bread Club Organizes.

Last Tuesday after school the Bread Club held its first meeting of the year. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Myrtle Helgeland; vice president, Viola Buringrud; treasurer, Eleanor Werstlein; secretary, Myrtle Myrin; club advisor, Miss Soule. A reception for all the new members will be held in the near future.—M. K. '23.

Let's go! Saturday.

Sophomores Organize.

Administration's Corner

There are a number of laws on our statute books that are entirely unnecessary so far as the large majority of our people is concerned. Such a law is the Compulsory School Attendance law. It is at the few that are careless or indifferent that the law is directed. It provides in the main that all children between eight and sixteen must attend school every day school is in session in the district in which a pupil resides. The board may, not MUST, excuse such a child, first, if he is physically or mentally unqualified and, second, if he has completed the work of the eight grades. Except in cities of the first and second class, a child over fourteen years of age may be excused between April 1 and Nov. 1 if his help is "required in any permitted occupation in or about the home of his parent or guardian."

The above facts cover the field pretty well so far as our patrons are concerned. A check is being made on all non-compliance with the above law. Any one who has failed to have his children in school so far will do well to have the matter taken care of at once, for the attendance law must be enforced without fear or favor.

Normal Notes.

Among the students taking teacher training this year, seven are graduates of the local high school. These are Ruth Mathew, Corinne Adsero, Amy Sorlom, Evelyn Saugen, Lois Struble, Maebelle Swanson and Alpha Bishop. Besides the above, two others are post-graduates, namely Cecelia Morrissey, a graduate of the Middle River high school, and Helga Ose, a graduate of the Oak Grove Seminary of Fargo.

Mrs. E. Lacy substituted during the first two weeks of school until the regular assistant was appointed for the year. It was a great pleasure to have Mrs. Lacy with us again. Miss Alice Stapleton, who to begin with had charge of the commercial department, took charge on Monday. Miss Stapleton has had eight years of teacher training work and comes to the department highly recommended.

Observation of drill work in third grade phonics and arithmetic was commenced in the Washington building last Monday. The girls find it very helpful and interesting.

The out-of-town students enrolled in the department this year are Myrtle Hanson of Strandquist, Marville Thompson of Angus, Mabel Myrold of Grygla, Lois Struble of Mavie, Maebelle Swanson of St. Hilaire, Johanna Wedul of Rhoda, Sarah Sanders of Kratka, Julia Langnas of Greenbush, Clara Oski of Mavie, Maybelle Bjorsness of Newfolden, Mata Koepp of Holt, Celia Morrissey of Gatzke, and Irma Marcoe of Malcolm.

The Teacher Training department enjoyed a picnic supper at Lovers' Lane Monday evening. The following were guests of the department: Supt. and Mrs. Simley, Mr. and Mrs. Rapacz, Miss Maude Johnson, Miss Ruth Johnson, Mrs. E. T. Lacy, and Miss Gormley.

First game Saturday.

Football Schedule.

Coach Stenhoff announces the following schedule for football. It is hoped that many outsiders as well as high school students will come out and support the team. We ought to make a good showing this year.

Oct. 1—Red Lake Falls. Here.
Oct. 8—East Grand Forks. Here.
Oct. 15—Crookston. There.
Oct. 22—Fosston. There.
Oct. 29—Bemidji. There.
Nov. 5—Stephen. Here.

A Correction.

In the last issue of The Progress, a mistake crept into the last sentence of the paragraph of "Music This Year." The sentence should read: "Though the success (the music work in the grades) is due principally to the supervisor, it is also due in part to the hearty co-operation she has received from the grade teachers."

Credit should be given where credit is due. Miss Johnson is doing "big things" in music and it is to her in particular that the credit belongs, though of course the teachers under her come in for their share.

Jokes and Personals.

Mr. Tripp, of last year's faculty, sends greetings to his many friends through a letter to the superintendent.

Mr. W. A. Ziegler, former superintendent of our schools, is at the University of Minnesota.

A sentence written by a little boy: "The ants are a very respectable people." Which kind, aunts or ants?

Miss Stebbins in Latin 1: "What English word sounds as though it may have been derived from the Latin word 'agricola'?"

D.: "A gorilla."

Everywhere that Shirley goes
The pillow, too, must go.
It even goes to classes, carried under Shirley's arm.
And she carefully protects it
And keeps it from all harm.

Forest, while girl is writing: "I can't hear what she says."

Miss Stavig: "Please listen for a while then."

The Normal girls were going to have a picnic. One of the girls bought cream. She asked Miss Soule if she might put it in the ice box so it would keep sweet. Miss Soule said she could put it in the window as there was no ice in the box. While Miss Soule was speaking, the student was swinging the cream and the cap flew off.

Results: The cream stayed sweet.

By next week it is hoped to have the regular staff of the High School Progress take full charge.

Cutting Across the Campus.

With the opening of a new school term, there are always several questions that arise in connection with the upkeep and betterment of the physical school plant. One of these questions concerns the campus. Do you think you should be permitted to cut across the campus? No, you should not. We want to keep our campus looking as pretty, we want to keep it in as good shape as it was when school first opened. This cannot be done unless we all keep off the grass.

You hurry to school with only two or three minutes to go on. In your hurry, you "cut," saying to yourself, "Oh, it doesn't hurt just this once." And away you go. The next time you do the same thing and it soon becomes a habit and you do it every day. If you just stopped to think what it meant, you wouldn't do it. Make it a special point to remember this, therefore, and help us to keep our campus one of the beauty spots of our city.—M. M. '23.

American Legion Corner

"The Legion map of Minnesota is rapidly turning from blue to gold," declared Miss Blanche Seallen, 900 Plymouth Building, Minneapolis, State Secretary of the American Legion Auxiliary, who graphically illustrates the organization of Legion Auxiliary Units by first representing the 485 Minnesota Legion posts with blue pins, and then changing to gold pins as fast as auxiliary units are formed. More and more Legion posts are recognizing the sterling work of the Auxiliary by establishing local units. Among the pins which recently "turned from blue to gold" are those representing Mapleton, Clearwater, Hills, Hibbing, Afton, Minnesota Lake, Comfrey, Deer River, Adrian, Russell and Osakis.

Quietly, the Legion Auxiliary is carrying on its mission of service and sympathy for our wounded comrades. September 17th in Minneapolis they collected and sold flowers which citizens bought on the streets, knowing that in buying they were doing their bit for sick and disabled soldiers. In another town they made and sold candy for the benefit of our sick buddies. All over the state they are making and sending little gifts to our comrades in the hospitals. And at Willmar they established a booth at the Kandiyohi county fair where hundreds of useful and ornamental articles made by disabled soldiers in hospitals, were sold, every cent of the money going direct to the buddies who made these articles.

Children of the Minnesota grade schools are to have an opportunity to help provide a temporary home for former service men who, when discharged from hospital, have no funds and no job in sight. The Minnesota Legion Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Sandy Hamilton of Minneapolis is state president, has decided to erect such a home before cold weather and will raise the funds through entertainments offered by the grade school children of the state.

"Sittin' on the world" is how Fairmont Legionaires felt last week when informed that the "City Dads" at their council meeting had unanimously voted the use of the former $20,000 electric light plant at an annual rental of $1, with the right to remodel the building to suit Legion needs. "We won't let any grass grow under our feet about fitting up cozy clubrooms," said Commander Allen Moore. "We have been given our nest. Now we will feather it!" Fairmont citizens are equally pleased by the action of the council.

"Where there's a will there's a way," was the slogan of the Mahnomen Minnesota Legionaires when extra post funds were needed for special projects. The Mahnomen County fair was at hand, so members of the post used their "Henrys" to form a Legion bus line from the depot to the fair grounds, and placed the following signs where folks could read and ride: "Remember, you don't have to walk even if you have no car. The Legion bus line will take you to the fair ground for fifteen cents. Cars will run until business is out of sight." Sure enough, the post now has money for all its pet hobbies.

Thomas B. Shaughnessy Post of Duluth believes it has established a record for receipts and disbursements for a post only three months old, having put on a dance, an Independence day celebration attended by ten thousand, and a boxing show attended by three thousand. During this time the post treasurer received $8,262, and disbursed $7,681. Thomas B. Shaugnessy is the second Duluth post to be formed, the older post being the David Wisted Post, which has more than twelve hundred paid-up members.

Two other Minnesota Legion posts have sounded the signal that will begin preparations for monster civic celebrations on Armistice Day, Nov. 11. Rodney Paine, newly elected commander of the David Wisted Post of Duluth, has named an Armistice Day committee to arrange a public parade, mass meeting, and othe suitable observances of the day which in Minnesota has been declared a legal holiday. A similar committee has been announced by Commander Allen Moore of Fairmont Legion post. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a recent proclamation, has urged all union labor men to participate in the Armistice Day celebrations of the Legion.

"One of America's Bravest," and of Minnesota's too, was laid to rest at Winger, Minn., Sept. 25. For Nels T. Wold was one of Pershing's One Hundred Heroes, and one of the four Minnesota soldiers to merit the Congressional medal of honor, for silencing four enemy machine gun nests, capturing 11 prisoners single handed, and saving the life of a comrade by killing his German assailant in hand to hand combat. Later, death came to this intrepid Minnesotan during his fifth attempt to silence another enemy machine gun nest. At his funeral, Legionaires of Nels T. Wold Legion Post of Crookston, in uniform, paid the last tribute to their comrade's memory.

Local posts, county gatherings and district conventions of the Legion in Minnesota are keeping the state commander and the state adjutant busy filling speaking engagements. Sept. 15 State Adjutant Stafford King addressed a Nobles County Legion meeting at Brewster, and on Sept. 20 he attended Dodge county "Legion Day" at what he describes as the best county fair he ever saw, held at Kasson. He will speak at Grand Rapids on Sept. 26 and at the Koochiching county fair at Northome on Sept. 27.

Among the Legion activities of State Commander Arthur Van Dyke was the bowling of the game which opened the first Minnesota Legion bowling league. Sept. 17 Eight District Legionaires honored him at the district gathering at Cloquet. He addressed Post No. 8 of St. Paul Sept. 21, while on Sept. 23 he witnessed the wonderful demonstration of the Giantvalley Boy Scouts as presented by the Giantvalley Legion Post of Minneapolis, which has reason to be proud of the troop it has trained so well. Later on the evening of the 23rd Commander Van Dyke met members of the Calhoun, Minneapolis Post at their regular meeting.

Sept. 26 found the state commander with Sixth District Legionaires at their district convention at Brainerd; Sept. 28 was spent at the Legion Day celebration of the Lac Qui Parle county fair at Madison, and Sept. 29 with the twelve hundred members of the Duluth David Wisted Post. On Oct. 3 Commander Van Dyke addressed the Merriam Park Post of St. Paul, and on Oct. 8 he will be with Second District Legionaires at their Second District convention in New Ulm.

In the meantime the state commander is working on plans to care for disabled comrades, to relieve ex-service unemployment, and for the functioning of the ten special state Legion committees recently appointed, together with plans for the big Minnesota pilgrimage of Legionaires to Kansas City on Oct. 31.

It was in the midst of the Legion State Executive Committee meeting Sunday, Sept. 4, that news of the forest fires in northern Minnesota came to the committee chairman, State Commander Van Dyke. On Monday he was due to undergo an operation for the removal of part of the jaw bone because of an abscess, but as a member of the national guard, he worked all Sunday night and Monday forenoon preparing the troops for entrainment, and on Monday noon walked to the operating table. Monday night, his face all swathed in bandages, he left for the north to direct the rescue work attending the destruction of White Pine. Shortly after his arrival he was made commander of all troops in the Selena sector.

Legion Standing Committees in Minnesota.

The following Legionaires will serve on the committees just named by the Legion State Executive Committee to serve until the convening of the 1922 Department Conveiton at Virginia, Minn., next year. In naming these committees, the executive committee member from each district selected the nominees to represent his district on the various committees. The chairman of each committee was subsequently named by State Commander Arthur A. Van Dyke. This information is of interest to all Minnesota Legionaires.

FORCES COMBINE TO FIGHT GRAIN WEEVIL

A combination of carbon tetrachloride and carbon disulphide, which will comply with the rules and regulations regarding the use of such material for purposes of fumigation, is being worked out by entomologists at University Farm and is under trial in the Insurance Underwriters Laboratory in Chicago. A combination of 75 per cent of tetrachloride and 25 per cent of disulphide is proposed for a general gas attack on the granary weevil. Various official forces of the state, including the state department of agriculture, the railroad and warehouse commission and the fire marshal, are co-operating with station men and the farm bureau to eradicate the weevil. Many new reports of damage, some telling of the infestation of elevators, have been received at University Farm.

To Advertise Minnesota Roads.

The Herald carries at the head of its editorial column this week the words "Move to Minnesota, the State of Good Roads." These words will remain at the head of this column henceforth. Minnesota's roads are the talk of the nation. The writer has conversed with tourists from North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and many other states and all have commented upon the splendid roads in this state. The roads in this state are a joy to our people and a drawing card to those outside of the state. Our roads are doing more to bring desirable farmers to the state than any other one thing. The Herald would like to see every other paper in the state carry the words above printed at the head of their editorial columns. It is a truth that cannot be contradicted.—Murray County Herald.

POPE COUNTY JUNIOR WINS JUDGING HONORS

Glenn Peacock of Pope county won a position on the state dairy junior judging team, which will take part in the national contest at the National Dairy show in St. Paul. By an unfortunate error, due to the similarity of the names "Pope" and "Polk" when spoken, Master Peacock's address was given as Polk county in this news service a week ago.

This Is Better Than Laxatives

One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try It.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrifaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body.

The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimples, skin disease, and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—salts, oils, calomel and the like—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Promising Outlook Predicted for Fall Term of Northwest School

Many Enrolling For School Year Which Will Start October Tenth

Former Students and Members of the Faculty, Parents of Pupils and University Officials Join in Praise of Northwestern School of Agriculture. Teaching Staff Will Have Several New Members This Year.

Superintendent C. G. Selvig and his corps of assistants are busy making preparations for the opening of the Northwest School of Agriculture Oct. 10. A bright outlook for a large enrollment is predicted by Mr. Selvig who announces that enrollments are being received daily. "This indicates" Mr. Selvig declared, "that despite the business and crop depression the farmers are raising the money to send their sons and daughters to school. They realize that what may seem like a large expense now will soon prove a tremendous asset when the time comes when the son can employ the knowledge he gained at an agricultural school to the benefit of the farm."

The Northwest Monthly, the miniature newspaper issued by the school, contains a number of interviews from former students, ex-members of the faculty, parents of students and university officials which are unanimous in their approval of the Northwest School's activities and the benefits derived by young men and women attending that institution.

C. G. SELVIG

PARENTS EXPRESS THEIR OPINION

The viewpoint of the parents is always of vital importance in estimating a school. For that reason, there appear in this issue of the Northwest Monthly, a number of statements from parents, that are of interest. Doubtless there are many others whose statements would emphasize different phases of the influence of the institution, while others, again, would point out ways for possible improvement. It is of utmost importance for the school to maintain a close contact with the homes from which the students come. To this end, all suggestions for remedying defects and strengthening the work are always welcome and will be greatly appreciated by the faculty.

From among a number of letters received, the following have been selected as representing different sections of our district. Being written by parents, thus giving their viewpoint, they should carry much weight to parents of prospective students:

Erick Anderson.

Erick Anderson, of Oak Park Farm, near Gonvick, has three boys who have attended the Red River Valley farm school. He gives an interesting statement:

"Being a parent of three boys who have attended the N. W. School of Agriculture, I feel that I can comment authoritatively upon the value of the school. I feel that this school is positively everything that a school of its kind should be. It is putting out many fine girls and boys with good, strong character as a result of its excellent instruction. I will assure anyone that wishes to send their boys and girls there that the best results will be obtained."

Peter Lindahl.

Peter Lindahl, of Red River Township, west of Hallock, writes:

"Too much can not be said regarding the value of the education as given at the Northwest School of Agriculture, as it is worthy of the greatest praise and support.

"Every young man or woman who has the opportunity will make no mistake in attending this school. The faculty is the best available and is not only capable but makes every effort to bring the school up to the highest standard for the benefit of those who come there to learn.

"Besides the public school, I have sent my children to six different institutions, but of all these, the Northwest School of Agriculture surely is superior along every line."

John N. Sather

From John N. Sather, a farmer living near Halstad, comes a convincing statement:

"I, for my part, feel that the Northwest School of Agriculture is one of the best schools in the state; first, it takes into consideration all phases of farm life; second, it is so located as to give the boys and girls of the Red River Valley an opportunity to attend school near home, and, third, the school terms are so arranged as to give the children a chance to stay home during the busy seasons. In addition, the boys and girls are well looked after while at the school, in charge of a well trained and capable faculty. I feel as if I have a right to say a few words in favor of the Northwest School of Agriculture, as I have had three of my sons there, and they have all benefited greatly by having attended the school.

Regis Huot

Regis Huot, of Huot, in Red Lake County, gives another viewpoint regarding the school that is of interest.

"I have had the pleasure of having a son and daughter complete a course at the Crookston farm school, and can justly say that the benefits derived by these students from an educational standpoint, and from a standpoint of cooperation and good fellowship derived from pleasant companionship, cannot be surpassed under any condition. I feel today, as they do, that it has been the most instructive period of their lives."

Sen. James Cumming

Senator James Cumming, of Mallory, Polk County, writes convincingly regarding agricultural education.

"Since the dawn of civilization, it has been deemed necessary to train people for certain vocations. The professional man has spent years in training and study. The experiences of others with reference to their particular professions have been carefully sought and treasured, and so along many lines. The business man and the professional man have received special training so as to be efficient in their chosen vocations.

But not until in recent years has it been deemed necessary that the young man and woman who contemplate making their homes on the farm, should receive a special course at some agricultural school. The fact that we have located in our midst a state institution for the purpose of giving special education and training to the boy and girl who expect to engage in the business of farming, should awaken a special interest in the subject. The Northwest School of Agriculture, located at Crookston, should hold the center of interest for every boy and girl who contemplate making farming their life work.

It has been amply demonstrated that boys and girls who have taken a course at this school have been repaid a hundred fold. It has been my privilege to come in contact with and observe the young men graduates of the school. They are invariably making a success, and to step into a home which is supervised by a graduate of the Northwest School, it is at once apparent that special thought and training bring results that are apparent in the arrangement of the home.

We would strongly urge every boy and girl in northern Minnesota who contemplate making farming their life work, to take a course at the Crookston School of Agriculture or some other good school of like nature, where the supervision is in the hands of high minded, clear visioned, efficient men and women. I would also urge parents, although it will be necessary to make sacrifices, to endeavor to obtain for their children this boon. It will be as casting bread upon the waters, which will return manyfold. Besides being a blessing to themselves, this special training will result in a great uplift to the community at large. Nowhere, to my mind, is special training more needed than in solving the problem of the farm, and nowhere can this be better done than in our School of Agriculture at Crookston."

SCHOOLS MAKE USEFUL CITIZENS

Perhaps in no instance is the school's purpose more clearly and convincingly presented than in a letter written expressly for this issue by A. D. Wilson, formerly director of agricultural extension in Minnesota, and himself a graduate of the Central School of Agriculture. In the following statement, Mr. Wilson expresses a life-time conviction based upon mature judgment, regarding education:

A. D. WILSON.
Whose Convincing Statement Carries Much Weight.

"Schools now generally offer the kind of education that equips people to be more useful citizens. The Schools of Agriculture, as we have them in Minnesota, offer particularly attractive opportunity for anyone planning to live on or operate a farm. The whole atmosphere of these schools is for better, more wholesome country life, and good citizenship. The courses not only give practical and useful information, but tend to dignify honest, efficient service.

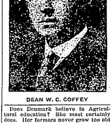
There are two particular points of value in the Minnesota Schools of Agriculture not common to our splendid rural grade and high schools. First, these schools bring together from the whole state or from large districts in the state, splendid young men and women from the best farm homes. It is an education in itself to associate with these young people. The wholesome regulated dormitory and social life of these schools provides opportunity for broadening one's acquaintance and views, that is almost invaluable.

"The second particular advantage is the chance these schools offer to students who for any reason have gotten behind in their education. There are many (the writer is one) who have become 16 to 20 years of age with only a rural school education. Such students feel decidedly out of place in a high school, because of being older and larger than the other students. In the Schools of Agriculture these students feel at home because of the more advanced age of all the students, and because of the practical nature of the courses, the years of experience they have had enable them to compete successfully with those who have had more opportunity to attend school.

Dean Coffey's Message to Northwest School

I had the pleasure of visiting Crookston for an altogether too brief half-day in July. I saw more than I expected to see. The buildings, laboratory equipment, herds, flocks, and field crops most favorably impressed me and made Crookston stand out in my mind as a splendid place for farm boys and girls to go for training in the science and art of farming and rural home making.

The little country of Denmark has received world wide notice because it is one of the most progressive agricultural countries in the world. Its prosperity is due to cooperation amongst its farmers in the production and marketing of the best butter, eggs and meat to be found anywhere. Without cooperation Denmark would probably not succeed. Without the knowledge necessary to produce her very superior butter, eggs and meat, she would most certainly fail.



DEAN W. C. COFFEY

Does Denmark believe in Agricultural education? She most certainly does. Her farmers never grow too old to attend some one of her many special schools for farmers. The small farmer with his little one acre farm (some of the farms are so small as this) lays by his savings against the time when he can attend one of these schools for a term. And once he has attended, he looks back upon his stay at school as one of the most significant experiences of his life. Ninety per cent of Denmark's farms are operated by owners, and on those farms one finds homes that are prosperous, enlightened and happy.

That agricultural education has played a leading role in the prosperity, enlightenment and happiness that has come into the farm life of Denmark in the past forty years, is obvious. Crookston's doors are open to the farm boys and girls of the Red River Valley to play a similar role. For your own good and happiness, my earnest wish is that you come. If you do, like the Danish farmer who manages to attend a special school for a term, you, too, will look back upon your experience as one of the most significant of your life.

W. C. COFFEY,
Dean Dept. Agriculture.

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT CONGRATULATES STUDENTS

Three messages of inspiration to former students and graduates of the Red River Aggie School are given by our three University presidents, who have always been keenly interested in its welfare and progress.

President Lotus D. Coffman.

In extending greetings to this year's senior class, President L. D. Coffman writes of the training given by the school and its graduates:

"The training which you have had at Crookston should have given you a wider view and have made you more keenly sensitive to your responsibilities as citizens. We feel that we have a right to expect that you will discharge your obligations and duties and responsibilities as citizens in an intelligent and efficient manner, and that the communities in which you live will be better because of the education that they have provided for you."

PRES. L. D. COFFMAN
U of Minnesota

President George E. Vincent

Dr. George E. Vincent stated the aim of the Northwest school in the following greeting to the seniors of 1917:

"You have been preparing yourselves for life in the open country. May you go forth with high hopes and with courage accept the challenge which the country offers you. Resolve to face intelligently and pluckily the problem of scientific farming; of co-operative marketing; of school consolidation and community organization."

President Marion L. Burton

Dr. M. L. Burton touched upon the school spirit in his message to the seniors of 1920:

"Every one of you is to be congratulated heartily upon the privileges which you have enjoyed at the Northwest School of Agriculture. Your school has exerted a powerful influence over a large area of our state. It has stood for the highest ideals in scholarship and character. Your campus is permeated with a splendid atmosphere and an excellent school spirit."

DR. GEO. E. VINCENT

FACULTY MEMBERS EXPRESS VIEW POINT

This issue of the Northwest Monthly is a Northwest School Edition. In it are gathered up many items of interest to former students and to Red River Valley folks in general, from former faculty members. Others will be included in the next issue. They are unanimous in their estimate of the value of the Northwest School of Agriculture to this section of the state, and cite various phases of school life that appeared most valuable and lasting.

Grace B. Sherwood

"The state agricultural schools have the advantage of supervised dormitory life under the most favorable condition. This is much to be preferred to sending boys and girls away from home to board with no one who is particularly interested in them."

Arnold M. Christensen

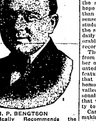
"Boys and girls between twelve and eighteen years of age are in the impressionable stage. They readily grasp ideas then and become sympathetic to the idea of staying on the farm, especially when they see the possibilities ahead of them and get the vision which all receive at the state schools."

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Sewall

"The Red River Valley people have a school at Crookston to be proud of—to cherish, to love and to help—a school whose atmosphere fosters initiative, conscientious effort, truthful appreciation, and whose influence begets an undying desire among faculty and students to put forth every effort to make the Northwest School of Agriculture the fountain of inspiration and interest in the Red River Valley."

J. P. Bengtson.

"It is a privilege to be allowed, through the columns of the Northwest Monthly, to extend my greetings to the alumni and students of the Northwest School of Agriculture. As the time for school draws near, it brings a feeling of lonesomeness. Many pleasant memories come back, of happy days spent at the school. I feel that I shall never have a better opportunity to serve the public good than when it was my good fortune and privilege to be connected with that institution as an instructor.



J. P. BENGTSON
Enthusiastically Recommends the Northwest School.

It is a unique type of school, and offers opportunities such as are possible in few other places. Besides a most practical vocational training, it offers opportunities for general culture and inspiration for good citizenship. It trains toward the farm and farm home rather than away from them, and I feel that in the direction of rural advancement lies a field for our greatest educational efforts today.

Farming has become a most complex science and success in this field of endeavor today demands a careful preparation and training, both theoretical and practical. Science and business principles have also been applied to the management of the home, so that the study of carefully prepared courses is an invaluable aid to the home maker. Rural life has, at all times, been the foundation to the welfare and prosperity of all nations, and if that was ever true, it is true today. We need trained leadership for the country. This, through carefully worked out courses of study in charge of trained specialists, such schools as the School of Agriculture are providing for.

The dormitory life has always appealed to me as a most valuable feature for young people who are obliged to leave home to secure an education. It supplies a wholesome home life that makes the time, outside of class hours, seem like the life of a big family. Where the faculty are associated so closely with the students in all their activities and where such high standards prevail among the student body, this is a wonderful advantage. Not only study hours, but leisure hours, as well, are carefully planned and used for the most complete development of strong manhood and womanhood.

"If I were to suggest the one big thing that could be done for a boy or a girl of the Red River Valley, I would say that it would be to interest him in securing an education such as is afforded in the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston.

"A boy or a girl can make no better investment for future happiness and usefulness than the time spent in completing such a course."

FORMER STUDENTS RECALL OLD DAYS

It has often been said that as are the alumni and students, so is the school. No institution can hope to attain greater prestige than its product justifies. In that sense, every alumnus and former student carries the reputation of the school with him in his or her daily work, creating for it a favorable standing, or breaking its record, day by day.

The first reminiscence comes from Louis O. Regnimbal, a member of the first class which graduated, in 1909, who writes: "The features of the Northwest School that appealed to me were the homelike atmosphere that prevailed at the school, and the personal interest and responsibility that was manifested by the faculty towards the students."

Carl Berg, '12, finds difficulty in making a selection of the principal theme to be included in his message. He writes: "I have observed all the time during the past twelve years what a wonderful thing it is to have dormitories and home supervision for the young folks, especially those of the age attending the Northwest School of Agriculture. In addition to the prescribed courses of study, I feel that the social activities at the school, including debating, athletics, glee clubs and others, provide an educational enterprise that every young man and woman of the Red River Valley should take advantage of by reason that it is complete. The school not only builds character and develops the mind and body, but imparts to the young man and woman the fundamental principles of agriculture and home making, which are the foundation of our great nation."

Gertrude Osterloh, of Angus, who is now a student nurse at Bethesda Hospital, Crookston, found somewhat the same difficulty in presenting her views as to the benefits she received. She states: "At the N. W. S. A., I received a great deal out of so many things that I would hardly know just from which I had the most benefit. My greatest interest was in nursing and consequently any courses that involved this branch appealed to me the most."

Nels Palm, '14, Alvarado, president of the N. W. S. A. Alumni Association, found in the regular agricultural work a very valuable training. In addition, he states: "The School has also such activities as athletics, music, Y. M. C. A., and debating societies, which are of great help to the students when they return to their respective communities."

Oscar Tunheim, '17, who is managing a farm near Newfolden, besides taking care of a fine chubby baby boy, between times, must have had in mind the fine moonlight evenings of school days, when he wrote: "The memory of the four years I spent at Crookston is more like a pleasant dream than anything else. It is a place that is just like Home, Sweet Home, with its staff of well trained teachers and fine spirit." No school can have a nobler ideal than such a one.

Guy Spokely, '18, in an unguarded moment, gave his verdict, which was very similar, when he stated "The happiest days of my life were those spent at the agricultural school, those spent in the dormitory." He added that, while the preceptors imposed the dictates of stern duty upon him once in a while, he did not mind, as he hardly expected to have his own way all the time.

Mrs. Harold H. Grandy (Blanche Morrison), '16, now living in Minneapolis, writes in no uncertain terms of the value of the home training work taken at the N. W. School. Harold Grandy, '15, also a graduate, states he is willing to present himself as unanswerable evidence in affirmation. She goes on to say: "During my three years study at the N. W. School of Agriculture, '13 to '16, I am sure that the most practical knowledge acquired by me was in the study of domestic science, especially in cooking and home management, which have been of great benefit to me."

Theodore Peterson, '19, of Fisher, is another alumnus who has a clear idea of the benefits he received at the school. He writes: "I do not think there is a better school for a person to go to if he plans to be a farmer, and if his plans change, he will have no loss. What I liked best at the Agricultural School is the way the students are looked after. They receive real home care. Debating, association with students and faculty, and horticultural work, benefited me most."

Captain Martinus Stenseth, '16, who won signal honors in France, and has the distinction of being Minnesota's highest "ace" in the A. E. F. air service gives his viewpoint:

"By attracting a class of students that would not otherwise secure further education, the N. W. S. A. is serving a very useful purpose. The school creates an initial ambition in such students and sends them back to their farms with new aspirations, or directs them to other positions of service."

From Roseau county, Clarence Lee, '18, takes pen in hand and expresses himself: "My opinion of the Northwest School is that the training given there is a very well balanced ration, and for a dual-purpose man, or woman, I believe no other school can beat it! I might say that the studies, Rural Sociology and Marketing, broadened my views of world economic affairs, which, I believe, has been beneficial to me."

Harold B. Schuck, '15, has expressed in beautiful language two great assets in his life that he gained at school:

"The two greatest and most distinct benefits, as I see them now, are—first, the friendship and happy acquaintance with my schoolmates, and, through them, the understanding and feeling of kinship with their folks, who, in their strength and vision, have made this country. Second, the knowing and having the benefit of associating with the faculty who, by their precept and practice, gave me an example of honest and loyal devotion to their fellow men. Having had this privilege, one would be a poor fellow who could not assimilate a lit-

TEACHING STAFF IS APPOINTED

The staff of instructors at the Northwest School is complete in every department, and all the positions are filled, excepting that of school nurse. Because Miss Olga Hauson, who so acceptably filled that position last year may decide to return, this position is left open for the present.

Miss Clara Evenson, a graduate of North Dakota University, will have charge of the work in English, taking the position formerly held by Miss Burns, who was married shortly after school closed. Miss Kneeshaw returns to her former position as assistant.

Professor Ray Dunham, formerly a member of the University of Illinois Soil Survey staff, has joined the Northwest Station corps as field crops man. His experience as a soils expert, in addition to his training in farm crops work, will be especially valuable in northwestern Minnesota, with its many quite distinct soil types on which investigational work is needed.

Adolf K. Pierce, a graduate of Wisconsin University, will teach the business training work, including stenography and typewriting, taking the place of Miss Eleanor Bruem, who accepted a very desirable federal position early in the summer.

Herbert S. Hinrich, a graduate of the University of Illinois, will be the new farm motors instructor. Millard Peck, the former instructor, is now permanently employed by the Iowa Highway Commission. Severin Rishovd, a former instructor, is considering the position as assistant.

Upon Miss Lottie Ward's resignation as head of the home economics department, Miss Mildred Schenck, a graduate of Iowa State College, was appointed as her successor. Miss Ward is to be married soon. Miss Bernice Nolan will return as domestic art instructor.

The live stock position will be filled by O. M. Kiser, formerly live stock extension worker at the Northwest School. He is at the present time county agent in Goodhue county, one of the largest and best agricultural counties in Minnesota. Mr. Kiser assumes his work at the Crookston School sometime this month.

Misses Louise Pederson and Julia Aune will resume their work in the music department when school opens on October 10. Considerable new music has been ordered. Elmer F. Uggen, Crookston, has accepted the position of band leader. The prospects for a splendid year in music were never better.

Henry P. Constans, a graduate of Carleton College, and a member for two years of the Intercollegiate debating team, and an expert basket ball player, will join the staff on October 1 in the position of assistant preceptor, instructor and basket ball coach. He comes to the school with the highest recommendations possible as a man and teacher.

Harvey Hoberg, the Northwest Station poultryman, will continue in charge of the poultry department during the present year. Extensive improvements are being planned in this department. Mr. Hoberg has rendered valuable assistance in judging poultry at fairs during the past summer, and in training poultry demonstration teams, that has evoked favorable comment for his work. He is a very enthusiastic poultryman.

Professors T. M. McCall, A. M. Foker, A. H. Larson and E. R. Clark have spent a busy summer in charge of their respective departments. In order that everything will be in readiness when school opens, extensive supplies and laboratory material have been secured and all the equipment put in shape.

Ole A. Flaat, '16, of Fisher, emphasizes "learn to associate" in his estimate of the value of the training given at the Aggie School. He states: "Among the factors which contribute toward a modern education, the experience of meeting, mingling, and adapting oneself to the wishes, rights and methods of one's fellow men, is of great importance. This is not taught successfully through books; but by experience alone.

"I feel that the dormitory life I enjoyed at the N. W. S. A. was a unique experience, which in itself was entirely educational. I believe that the living together with a large number in a dormitory, under the guidance and with the companionship of competent instructors, is one of the large benefits derived by attendance at the N. W. S. A. This is a factor well worth the consideration, and should not be overlooked by one who wishes to get the most out of his school years."

Peter Ness, '17, of Ferris, writes interestingly about his views of the Aggie School: "It is perfectly clear to me that I was greatly benefited by my stay at school, and though I spent some hard earned dollars there, much needed for other purposes, and though I spent some precious time there, I have never regretted that I took the course.

"More valuable to me than any other training or knowledge I received at the N. W. S. A., was that of public speaking and debating. It has stood me in good stead on different occasions. Without this training I should have found it hard or even impossible to overcome that diffidence which would have prevented me from speaking in public.

"If I should say anything further, I would say that a dormitory school such as the N. W. S. A., gives a splendid opportunity for intimate acquaintance and friendship among students and teachers. We lived together the clock around.

"In addition, at the Aggie School we were given the opportunity to see and hear some really big men and women. People prominent in state and even national affairs, appeared there to speak."

CITY ELECTION WILL BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8TH

Mayor and Six Aldermen to Be Elected By the Voters Next Month.

Petitions Must Be Filed at Least Ten Days Prior to Election Date.

Election of city officials to look after the affairs of the municipality for the next two years will take place Tuesday, Nov. 8. It will at that time be up to the voters to select a mayor and six aldermen.

Petitions Must Be Filed.

The law requires that a candidate for office must file a petition, signed by not less than ten per cent of the voters of the precinct, with the city clerk at least ten days prior to the election date. The number of voters in the precinct is determined by the vote cast at the last general election.

Up to this time there has been very little interest shown in the forthcoming election, but it is likely that some activity will develop within a very short time. The next two years will without a doubt be exceptionally important ones in the progress of the city and all are interested in seeing Thief River Falls keep pace with other progressive communities of the state.

Present Officials Urged to File.

For the past two years the destinies of the city have been guided by Mayor John Bratrud and Aldermen H. A. Brumund, Ole L. Ihle, S. Brandon, Andrew Ness, John Dahl and C. Froseth. Under their administration the paving of the streets in the business section of the city has been started and it is only by remaining everlastingly on the job that it has been possible for them to accomplish this. For this reason and the fact that there is still a great deal of work to be done in the carrying out of this project a large number of the taxpayers feel that the present officials should consent to remain "on the job" until it is finished.

Most of them are reluctant to carry the burden for another two years but it is thought that the demand for their retention will be strong enough to overcome any objection they may be able to raise.

BUSINESS PROPERTY CHANGES OWNERSHIP

C. M. Evenson Sells Garage to W. H. Nichols of Akely, Minnesota.

A deal was closed Monday whereby C. M. Evenson sold his garage property on West Second street to W. C. Nichols of Akely, Minn. The sale included the garage equipment as well as the building.

Mr. Nichols took immediate possession of the business and will operate the garage with the assistance of his two sons. He is experienced in the garage and automobile business and announces that he contemplates a number of improvements to the property that will make it one of the finest garages in the northwest.

Mr. Evenson is undecided as to his future activities. Through the sale of the garage he becomes the owner of 240 acres of land in Hubbard county and he says that he may decide to go farming.

CLEAN-UP SQUAD IS DISAPPOINTING TO LOCAL SERVICE MEN

Claim Service Rendered of No Value to Applicants For Compensation.

Service men were very much disappointed in what was accomplished as a result of the visit here last Friday and Saturday of the "Clean-up Squad" of the United States service bureau.

From the advance notices sent out by the bureau the service men had been given to understand that definite action would be taken by the squad on all compensation applications. This understanding resulted in 127 service men being here on Friday and Saturday from all parts of this section of the state. According to information given The Times the members of the squad had very little or no authority or power to act on a single case. About all that was accomplished was the filing of applications and the assurance that they would be "forwarded to Washington."

FARM IMPLEMENT FIRM CUTS PRICES

Emerson-Brantingham is Second Company to Make Reduction—Others Plan Slashes.

According to a dispatch from Rockford, Ill., the Emerson-Brantingham company has announced a reduction of from 10 to 20 per cent in the prices of its entire line of farm machinery, including tillage implements, harvesters, tractors and threshers, the larger reductions being on tools most used by farmers. At the Minneapolis office of the company, it was said that such an order was expected, but had not yet been received. It will be the second reduction made by the company this year, officials said.

The International Harvester company late last week announced a 10 to 20 per cent reduction, effective Oct. 1. The Hudson Manufacturing company announced a reduction was contemplated Oct. 15 and the Deere-Webber company officials said a reduction was anticipated.

Kirby on War Path.

"Doc" Kirby rushed into the city yesterday afternoon very much excited and caused the arrest of one Jess A. Potar, whom he accused of stealing a bottle of his "magic" medicine. Potar was lodged in the jail for a short time but was soon released on bail furnished by a friend. At the hearing conducted this morning he was found not guilty. Kirby claimed that he met Potar, who is a chiropodist from Grand Forks, at the Park hotel Tuesday evening, where he visited with him for some time. He invited Potar to come out to his place the next day, which Potar did and assisted him in the treatment of some of his patients. During the afternoon Kirby discovered that some of his medicine was missing. Some of the patients claimed that Potar took it and then the fun started which terminated in the arrest of Potar.

Theo. J. Hagen, formerly one of the proprietors of the Thief River Music company, left Tuesday night for Minneapolis and Davenport, Ia., where he will spend several days in a search for a new location.

FARM BUREAU'S FEDERATION IS LEADING NATION

Makes Centralizing Distribution Possible in Record Time, Committee Told.

275 Local Organizations Represented By State Shipping Association.

State-Wide Co-operative Creamery Association Now Being Perfected.

The Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, with units organized in more than 1,200 townships, has enabled farmers of the state to accomplish in a single summer two undertakings that normally would have required years of work, E. B. Heaton, member of the national dairy marketing Committee of Eleven, told members of the committee in its first formal hearing, held in St. Paul last week.

The Committee of Eleven, appointed by the American Farm Bureau federation to investigate dairy marketing and recommend methods of centralizing and improving the distribution of dairy products, opened its hearings in Minnesota in order to study this state's work in co-operative marketing.

"State farm bureau federations," Mr. Heaton said, "are rendering service the value of which can hardly be appreciated, and which is often not appreciated as it should be by the farmers. Minnesota has one of the newer farm bureau federations. The farmers of this state have developed more co-operative work than any other state in the country in working out their marketing problems.

"The livestock shipping associations in the state began to see that it would be a good thing if they could federate into a state association and start a livestock commission firm of their own on the South St. Paul market. They found that it would be impossible to build up this association as quickly as they wanted to do it, if they undertook it themselves, so they called the biggest service organization in the state, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, and in a few weeks the federation and the new association had developed a statewide organization with some 275 local shipping associations, and a total of nearly 40,000 farmers. The managers of this commission firm tell me they are now handling more than twice as much stock as their nearest competitor. This is service worth while.

"In Minnesota there are over 600 co-operative creameries. Some of the leaders among these creameries conceived the idea that they could make great savings for the farmers and could develop a better product to sell if they could have a big, statewide association of these co-operative creameries. Again the farmers turned to their farm bureau federation and asked them to develop this creamery organization. They are working on it with splendid success. If it had not been for the finances and the organization of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, permitting it to go ahead and help do this work, it probably would have taken a good many years for the livestock shippers or the creamery co-operators to develop the work of which they have seen the need.

"This is not the only work the Minnesota federation has done. It has taken an active part in legislative matters in which the farmers were interested; it has an organization department used to help co-operative marketing projects and the county farm bureaus, and it has a publicity department which is spreading the story of the farmers' work, not only to the farmers, but to the people of the cities as well."

FARMERS' AGENCY SETS NEW RECORD

Co-operative Marketing Association Tops Market on Cattle According to Manager.

The co-operative livestock selling agency established on the South St. Paul market with the backing of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, has made a record "never before approached in the history of livestock marketing by farmers," according to an official statement sent out by the American Farm Bureau federation to county farm bureau officers.

The Central Co-operative Commission association has handled as high as 29 per cent of the business on the market in one day, its figures show. During its first seven weeks of business, it has handled 60,165 head of stock; its nearest competitor handled 24,307 in the same period, and the firm doing the next largest business handled 20,793 head.

"The central co-operative association has topped the market on cattle, selling a carload of 1,100 pound steers and heifers for $9 a hundredweight," W. A. McKerrow, manager, says in a report to local shipping associations.

"The livestock producers see an opportunity of building up their own marketing agency on efficient standards by assembling a large volume of stock of various classes, thus giving the buyer an opportunity to purchase in large quantities, and making it possible to supply the outside buyer direct from the farm."

BUREAU MEN CONFER WITH GRAIN GROWERS

Organization policies of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., and the relationship of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation to the Grain Growers in organization work in this state were to be discussed by the directors of the national grain marketing corporation this week. J. D. Pyle and T. E. Cashman, members of the executive board of the Minnesota federation, conferred with the Minnesota directors of the U. S. Grain Growers and Sept. 26 and 28. The part to be played by the farm bureau, in case work of organizing the U. S. Grain Growers should be started in Minnesota, was discussed. No decision was reached. Another conference between Mr. Pyle and Mr. Cashman, representing the farm bureau, and W. F. Schilling and J. M. Anderson, representing the U. S. Grain Growers, will take place after the 21 directors of the Grain Growers decide what action to take in Minnesota. No steps will be taken to organize the U. S. Grain Growers in this state until after such a decision is reached.

GREAT NORTHERN TO PAVE ALONG TRACKS

Agent W. E. Baker Receives Instructions to Obligate Company For Improvement.

W. E. Baker, local agent for the Great Northern Railway company, today received instructions from the head officials to authorize the paving of the streets adjoining the tracks on Main and LaBree avenues. This definitely clears up a point that has been in controversy between the officials of the city and the Great Northern for over a year.

C. A. Manthe, division superintendent of the Great Northern, and District Engineer Seyton were here Monday conferring with the business men of the city and the members of the city council regarding the paving matter and the instructions received today by Mr. Baker are a direct result of that conference.

Local business men took advantage of the presence of the division superintendent in the city to put in another request for the building of a new station here by the Great Northern. The request was very courteously received and the business men promised that General Superintendent Gavin would visit Thief River Falls to go over the matter in detail. On Wednesday word was received that the general superintendent would meet with the business men at the Commercial club luncheon today. A message received this morning, however, stated that he had found it impossible to fulfill the engagement but carried the assurance that he would be here at a later date.

The matter of a new Great Northern station is one that has been uppermost in the minds of the people of this city for many years past and many assurances have been given that one would "soon" be erected. The business men are now determined that the issue shall be kept alive until it is satisfactorily disposed of.

HIGHWAY GRADING WORK PROGRESSING

Crew Working South From Holt Now Within Three Miles of Steiner.

Work on the state road between Holt and Steiner is progressing at a very satisfactory rate under the direction of the district superintendent. The crew is now within three miles of Steiner and the work to that point will be completed this fall if weather conditions are favorable.

With this done the highway from this city to Holt will be ready for graveling and the district superintendent states that it is his intention to have this done this winter. Petitions asking for the graveling of this road this winter have been sent to Commissioner Babcock from various places along the highway as well as from Thief River Falls, which should be of assistance to the district superintendent in getting authorization to carry out his plans.

MINNESOTA CLUB TEAM BEST IN MIDDLE WEST

Minnesota's champion bread making team, composed of Leona Peterson, Evelyn Cuddy and Myra Jones, all of Mankato, competed with junior club demonstration teams from nine othe rstates at the Sioux City Interstate fair and won the grand championship for the middle west. Prizes won by this team were a championship banner and a gold watch for each of the three. The Minnesota Juniors won a total of $44 for canning and sewing exhibits. Minnesota's poultry team, composed of Geo. Huselrud, Evelyn Brodin and Haven Sathre, all of Crookston, were given sixth place in the contest for livestock and crop division teams. Stephen Easter, Kittson county, was sixth in the livestock judging contest.

WILL PUBLISH ANNUAL REPORT OF COMMISSION

Report of Red Lake Drainage Board Now Being Prepared For Circulation.

Will Give in Detail Work Already Done and Plans For Future Activities.

Progress Highly Satisfactory to Those in Charge of Big Undertaking.

Engineer George W. Walker, Thief River Falls, and C. G. Selvig, president of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board, held a conference with the attorney of the board, Chas. E. Boughton, Sr., of Red Lake Falls, at the latter city Tuesday afternoon to go over the report made by the viewers appointed to report on the Grand Marais outlet project. They also took up the Clearwater river plans. The viewers in this project have also been appointed. The Clearwater river work includes deepening and widening of the river to afford an adequate outlet for a considerable area of land in Clearwater, Polk and Red Lake counties in addition to a large section of Red Lake Indian reservation land. Engineer Walker has completed the plans and specifications for this improvement, which involves the excavation of a large yardage.

All the surveying work has now been completed in the Red Lake river project. The board's consulting engineer, Adolf F. Meyer, Minneapolis, and the state drainage commissioner, E. V. Willard, St. Paul, are collaborating on this plan in co-operation with Mr. Walker. As this project involves the use of Red Lake as a reservoir to conserve water power as well as to regulate its level for flood control purposes, it is necessary to give thorough study to the complicated problems involved in all phases. It is expected that a preliminary conference of all interested parties, including the U. S. War and Interior departments, will be called very soon to go over the matter with the engineering staff of the board.

Mr. Selvig is engaged at the present time in preparing the first annual report of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board, which will be submitted to Judges Grindeland, Stanton and Watts of the district court as prescribed by law as soon as it is completed. This report will later be printed and sent to all who are interested. It will contain the vital facts dealing with the projects placed before the board since its organization.

"There have been many difficulties to overcome in bringing this work up to its present work," said Mr. Selvig. "The law under which the district is organized did not provide adequate funds for the survey of so large a district, for one thing, and the magnitude of the engineering features and the need of having absolutely correct data, have all taken time. After federal action necessary for the Red Lake and Clearwater projects was taken on February 21st last and adequate funds voted by the legislature on April 19, the work has gone forward with full force. Engineer Walker has had as high as three engineering crews out, as well as keeping assistants in two offices busy. Besides this Mr. Willard and Mr. Meyer have given of their time to various phases of the work."

Attends National Convention.

C. D. Gustafson of C. Gustafson & Son, left Sunday evening for Chicago, where he attended the National Implement Dealers convention as delegate from Minnesota.

AUTO LAW DRIVE TO START IMMEDIATELY

Wholesale Prosecutions Coming and Officials Must Enforce Motor Vehicle Law.

Reports of numerous violations of the motor vehicle license law in all parts of the state reaching the capitol in St. Paul, Clifford L. Hilton, attorney general, this week issued a statement to the effect that wilful neglect to enforce the law is ground for removal proceedings against offending officials as well as prosecution for those who violate the law.

Reports of more than 100 alleged violations in two small cities were among those on which Mike Holm, secretary of state, ordered immediate investigation, adding that drastic action will be taken where conditions demand.

General Hilton made an appeal for public support for the effective license law drive. "In justice to more than 300,000 Minnesota car owners who have paid proper motor vehicle taxes, and to encourage respect for the law, all good citizens will assist local officials by calling their attention to violations,' he said. "Efforts to collect the taxes should be given popular support. I am informed that several hundred thousand dollars more will be added to the state highway fund when delinquent licenses are paid. Every citizen of the state is interested in highway development and by proper vigilance on the part of the public at large and of the local officials the end desired will be attained."

Secretary Holm said that specific reports of violations sent to his office will be treated with confidence and promptly investigated.

Dr. Crandall Sells Practice.

Dr. C. R. Crandall this week sold his dental equipment and practice to Dr. R. Arnold of Montevideo, Minn. The sale also included his residence property on Bridge street. Dr. Arnold will move here and take over the practice about Nov. 15.

Dr. Crandall located in Thief River Falls in 1906 and has conducted his dental office here continuously since that time and has always enjoyed an excellent practice. He has no definite plans for the future but will take a much needed rest this winter at least. The many friends of Dr. Crandall and his family sincerely trust that his retirement from his dental practice will not result in their permanent removal from Thief River Falls.

Series of Dances.

J. R. Havlin was in the city this week and made arrangements for a series of dances to be given here throughout the winter. The dances will be given at the auditorium every two weeks commencing Thursday, Oct. 20. A five piece orchestra, playing eight different instruments, will furnish the music. Mr. Havlin has four such orchestras on the road.

Attend Father's Funeral.

Lars H. Larson and Carl B. Larson returned Sunday morning from Elbow Lake, where they were called by the illness and death of their aged father.

POSITION AS BANK CASHIER ACCEPTED BY ALBERT LONSON

Albert Lonson has accepted the position of cashier of the Farmers and Merchants State bank of this city and will enter upon his new duties Oct. 19. His services were secured to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of L. A. Lampert, who has held the position since the organization of the bank over three years ago.

Mr. Lonson is no stranger to the people of this county. For a number of years he held the position of assistant cashier of the First State bank here and at that time was recognized as one of the progressive and energetic business men of the city. He left here to become cashier of the Calloway State bank, which position he held until about a year ago when he disposed of his interests at Calloway to become state bank examiner in North Dakota. His resignation from the latter position will take effect Oct. 15.

Mr. Lampert is at present undecided as to where he will locate. He has several propositions under consideration but has made no definite decision.

STATE MARKETING SYSTEM ATTRACTS NATIONAL INQUIRY

Howard to Open Dairy Investigation in Minnesota and Speak at Show.

The success of Minnesota farmers in building up a tremendous dairy industry through co-operative creameries, and in uniting more that 200 creameries, within six weeks, into a state marketing and service organization, has attracted the attention of dairymen throughout the United States.

In recognition of Minnesota's achievements in co-operative marketing, James R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, will open the federation's national dairy marketing investigation at headquarters of the Minnesota Farm Bureau in St. Paul.

The first hearing to be conducted by the Committee of Eleven, appointed to make the investigation, has been set for 10 a. m., Tuesday, Oct. 11, in the Old Capitol. A second hearing will take place in the convention hall at the National Dairy show, at 10 a. m., Wednesday, Oct. 12. It will be devoted to a study of the Twin City Milk Producers association, which handles 80 per cent of all the milk supplied to the Twin Cities, and to the work of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, Inc. These two organizations probably will serve as models for co-operative associations to be organized in other states. BIG PROFIT FOR FARMERS FROM POTATO CROP

Over Two Hundred Thousand Dollars Will Be Received By County Farmers.

Fifteen Hundred Acres Devoted to Spuds With Average Yield 125 Bushels.

Lowest Price Received By Growers Association is $1.22 Per Bushel.

The potato crop of Pennington county this year is without a doubt one of the biggest money producers that the farmers have ever had. In fact it is the one branch of farming that is returning a profit this year. A conservative estimate places the amount of land in the county devoted to the rising of spuds at 1500 acres. The average yield is well over 125 bushels, which makes the total crop of the county 187,500 bushels.

Association Gets Good Price.

The members of the Pennington County Potato Growers association have 982 acres in their organization. They have already shipped thirty cars and are now shipping at the rate of three or four cars a day. The lowest price they have received is $1.22 per bushel and the highest $1.54. These prices are net to the shipper F. O. B. Thief River Falls. All of their potatoes are shipped to the Minnesota Potato Exchange at Minneapolis.

With the total yield of the county nearly 200,000 bushels, the returns to the farmers from their potatoes will be over $200,000.

Many Have Large Fields.

A number of farmers were fortunate enough to have large fields devoted to potatoes this year and in many instances the money they will realize will more than pay for their farms. Following are the names of a few with fifteen or more acres: T. Rynestad, 60 acres; Paul and Peter Engelstad, 30 acres; F. T. Satre, 25 acres; Ben Rosendahl, 40 acres; C. J. Barrett, 55 acres; Halvor Fodstad, 25 acres; Jens Letnes, 25 acres; Dan Johnson, 15 acres; Alfred Benson, 20 acres; R. J. McKercher, 30 acres; Martin Ballangrud, 40 acres; Paul Peterson, 20 acres; Carl Belswinger, 15 acres; Lloyd Crown, 62 acres; C. W. Correll, 50 acres; F. L. Comstock, 25 acres; Ole Amundson, 35 acres; Waldie Christensen, 20 acres; Bratrud & Thompson, 27 acres.

While the average yield is estimated at 125 bushels, many fields have gone away over this mark. A part of T. K. Rynestad's went 200 bushels, Peter Engelstad averaged 230 bushels on 15 acres, Ben Rosendahl's 40 acre field averaged 132 bushels, Jens Letnes had 12 acres that went 200 bushels.

Top Grade For All.

Of the thirty cars already shipped by the association not one has been rejected and the top price has been received for all of them. While some farmers will hold their potatoes for higher prices in the spring, the greater part of the crop will be shipped out this fall, thus bringing a large sum of money back into the county.

No More Wheat.

T. K. Rynestad, who has been a big wheat raiser, says he is through with that grain for all time to come. This year one three acre plot of potatoes that went 200 bushels to the acre brought him more money than he received for his wheat from a 100 acre field. He says that rye is the best small grain crop for this country and as proof of his contention he has put in 335 acres this fall.

LAND CLEARING FLEET BEGINS ANOTHER CRUISE

The university's land clearing fleet has been in action this week in Carlton county, and next week will sail for strategic points in Pine and Mille Lacs counties. The latest cruise opened Thursday, Sept. 29, and will close Oct. 14 at Hillman, Mille Lacs county. Demonstrations of the use of picric acid are being given by C. M. Fardy, a land clearing expert. The allotment to Minnesota of 744,000 pounds of the explosive has been taken and practically distributed, according to Prof. William Boss of the University Far. The original series of land clearing fleet demonstrations were held principally in St. Louis county and were a great success. The demonstrations were given in localities where the settlers had purchased picric acid and therefore had a real interest in learning how to use it. A. J. Schwantes of the University Farm was in charge of this expedition.

Making Extraordinary Mileage a Certainty

Car Owners want more rubber on the tread where the wear is hardest; more gum between cord plies to perfect a resilient and powerful carcass. And they want a scientifically constructed Non Skid tread with all angles and contacts to resist skidding and give sure traction. Firestone Cord Tires have met these demands of the car owners.

Read Letters Below—
Records from 29,000 to 57,000 Miles

Cord Tires built the Firestone way could not fail to produce mileage. Every day, from all over the country, comes the word that 10,000, 20,000 or 30,000 miles are frequent and consistent records. Now and then they are emphasized by unusual instances such as quoted below. Performances like these demonstrate the ultimate possibilities of Firestone Cords under careful driving.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.,

Gentlemen:—
I submit herewith the history of a 33x4 Firestone Cord tire. This tire has run 57,000 miles. I have retreaded it seven times. The average mileage to each retreading was about 7,000. I think you will agree this is a remarkable record. It is especially unusual as I know the owner to be a severe driver. However, he gives his tires proper inflation. The tire in question is not yet out of service and has every indication of being sufficiently strong for another retread. I am mailing photographs under separate cover.

Gentlemen:—
It occurs to me that you might be interested in the mileage that I obtained from the set of Firestone Cord tires on my Dodge coupe. The first tire went over 29,000 miles. The second tire rolled up a mileage of between 34,000 and 35,000. These were both rear tires and had been cut considerably by chains. The two front tires have gone better than 35,000 miles and are still in good condition. I expect to get at least 40,000 miles from each of them. I need scarcely say that the Firestone Cord will be my tire choice for the future.

SAVE SEED CORN NOW.

Northwestern Minnesota generally and Pennington county particularly are going to have the best corn crop in years. The season has been most propitious and the yield is perhaps the largest in the section's history as a corn producer. Even the seed drilled in for fodder is bearing ears of the finest quality, something rather unusual for this section.

Now is the time to secure that hardy, home-grown seed that is so desirable. The farmer who overlooks this opportunity to improve the quality and increase the quantity of native seed corn is not doing his full duty either to himself or the community.

When husking your corn, save out the best ears for seed. The others will do just as well to sell or for feed; nothing but the very best should be saved for propagation. In this manner there will in a very short time be developed a strain of corn that will stand the punishment during a summer when conditions for it production are not so good. This plan should be followed out year after year until northern Minnesota corn is a fixture—a product on which as much dependence can be placed as on the smaller grains.

The farmer who regards this as a matter of but slight importance is making a great mistake. There is at least one farmer in Pennington county who has raised corn during the past eight seasons, and he has only one failure to report, and that but partial. He accomplished this by careful seed selection. Others can do the same.

The Tribune is published this week by the new owner, J. S. Arneson. The first issue carries the announcement that Mr. Arneson as editor and publisher is to be assisted in the publication of The Tribune by S. V. Arneson, a brother, who is associate editor. The new publisher and his assistant are to be congratulated upon their first issue and The Times extends to them a cordial welcome upon their entry into the newspaper field of Thief River Falls.

Our streets are being paved—now the slogan is "A New Great Northern Station." With the training the "boosters" have had in the paving matter the securing of a little thing like a new depot ought to be easy.

AROUND THE STATE

The young men of this generation are burning the midnight oil—but it is cylinder oil. Bemidji Sentinel.

There are no pay checks issued to those who put in days and weeks of time to make the Chippewa county fair a success. It is a labor of love for which rewards are not expected. It is not out of the way, however, to let the members of the fair board and their assistants know their efforts are appreciated. Majority opinion has it that the fair which closed last Friday was a credit to the community. If you agree with that opinion wouldn't it be a good idea to tell the officials so?—Montevideo News.

Fame came quickly to F. Julian McGill, vice president of the Minneapolis Street Car company. He has $11,000 worth of booze seized in transit from Chicago by the prohib. probers. This should be made Exhibit "C" in the case to increase the street car fares. How can a mere v. p. exist on a beer [illegible]—St. Cloud Journal.

The eyes of the state will be on this case. Will position and wealth be shown any favors?—Fairmont Sentinel.

Young men and young women, if you think that these are hard times, talk to your father or your mother, or your grandpa and grandma about the time when they came out here and settled on these then barren prairies, and let them tell you what they went through. Let them tell you of the things that they went without, and the time that they had in getting the things that they actually needed—and, say, kid, if you do that you will find that you know about as much about hard times as a hog does about heaven!—Minneota Mascot.

Take it from us that when it comes to playing politics the wisest old fox in the state is Frank A. Day of the Fairmont Sentinel. He still possesses the cunning and the astuteness which made it possible for him to give Minnesota the best governor the state ever had, the late John A. Johnson. Right now Frank Day has a new trick up his sleeve—a plan to capture the United States senatorship in Minnesota for the democratic party next year. He suggests the nomination of Mrs. Peter Oleson as a candidate for U. S. senator. No woman in the state is better known in the game of politics than is Mrs. Oleson, and as Mr. Day says, "stranger things have happened than that she, running on the right kind of a platform, would sweep the state high and dry." Naturally, much would depend on who her republican opponent would be. So Mr. Day undertakes to prepare the way for Mrs. Oleson as the democratic candidate by in all seriousness advising the republicans to nominate Congressman Sidney Anderson for senator. If the republican party desires to bring about a landslide for Mrs. Oleson as candidate for senator, following Mr. Day's advice will surely do it.—Levang's Weekly.

How Many Objects in This Picture
Start With the Letter "S"

The above picture contains a number of objects beginning with the letter "S." Just take a good look at the picture—there are all sorts of things that begin with the letter "S"—like saw, shovel, sack, etc. Nothing is hidden; you don't have to turn the picture upside-down. Make a list of all the objects in the picture, the names of which begin with the letter "S." Have the whole family join in—see who can find the most. Don't miss any. Fifteen cash prizes will be awarded for the fifteen best lists of words submitted. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of visible objects shown in this picture starting with the letter "S," will be awarded first prize; second best, second prize, etc.

Young and Old, Join in the Fun.

The St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press announces today a most interesting and amusing puzzle game—a puzzle that is different and a game in which all can participate—from the tiniest child to grandfather and great-grandma. It really is not a puzzle at all, for all the objects have been made perfectly plain, with no attempt to disguise or hide them. None are so small but that the poorest eyesight can see them; it is a test of skill. Your ability to find "S-words" determines the prize you win. Right after supper this evening, gather all the members of your family together; give each of them a pencil and a sheet of paper—and see who can find the most "S-words." You'll be surprised to find how large a list of words you can get after a few minutes study. Sit down NOW and try it—then, send in your list and try for the big prizes.

You Can Win $1,000

The "S-word" Picture Puzzle Game is a campaign to increase the popularity of the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press. It costs nothing to take part, and you do not have to send in a single subscription to win a prize.

If your list of "S-words" is awarded FIRST, SECOND or THIRD prize by the judges, you will win $35, but if you would like to win more than $35, we are making the following special offer whereby you can win bigger cash prizes by sending in ONE or TWO yearly subscriptions, with remittance to cover, to be delivered BY MAIL ONLY (new or renewal) to either the St. Paul Dispatch or the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

HERE'S HOW: If your answer to the "S-word" Picture Puzzle wins FIRST, SECOND or THIRD prize and you have sent in ONE yearly subscription to either The Dispatch or Pioneer Press, (BY MAIL), you will receive $350 instead of $35, FOURTH prize $150; FIFTH prize $100, etc. (See second column of figures in prize list.)

OR, if your answer wins FIRST, SECOND or THIRD prize, and you have sent in TWO one year subscriptions to either The Dispatch or Pioneer Press, you will receive $1,000 in place of $35; FOURTH prize $300; FIFTH prize $200, etc. (See third column of figures in prize list.)

How is that for a liberal offer? But, LOOK, there are three $1,000 prizes. Therefore, if you stand FIRST, SECOND or THIRD and have sent in TWO subscriptions you will win $1,000. NOW FURTHER, as a SPECIAL OFFER we will allow the participant having the best list of "S-words" of the First Three Prize Winners (if fully qualified), the choice of $1,000 in cash or a new 1922 Auburn Beauty Six Touring Car, value $1,850.

It takes but TWO subscriptions (new or renewal) to qualify for the big $1,000 prizes. Absolutely, two subscriptions is the maximum. You can do this with very little effort. Your own subscription may count as one. [illegible]

OBSERVE THESE RULES

1. Any man, woman, girl or boy, residing outside of St. Paul and Minneapolis, who is not an employe of The Dispatch Printing Company, or a member of an employe's family, may submit an answer. It costs nothing to try.

2. All answers must be mailed by Oct. 22, 1921.

3. Answers should be written on one side of the paper only and words numbered consecutively: 1, 2, 3, etc. Write your full name and address on each page, in the upper right hand corner. If you desire to write anything else, use a separate sheet.

4. Only words found in the English Dictionary will be counted. Do not use hyphenated, compound or obsolete words. Use either the singular or plural but where the plural is used, the singular cannot be counted, and vice versa.

5. Words of the same spelling can be used only once, even though used to designate different objects. The same object can be named only once; however, any part of the object may also be named.

6. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of names of visible objects shown in the picture that begin with the letter "S," will be awarded first prize, etc. Neatness, style, or handwriting have no bearing on deciding the winners.

7. Candidates may co-operate in answering the puzzle, but only one prize will be rewarded to any one household; nor will prizes be awarded to more than one of any group outside of the family, where two or more have been working together.

8. In the event of a tie for any prize offered, the full amount of such prize will be paid to each participant.

9. All answers will receive the same consideration, regardless of whether or not a subscription for The St. Paul Dispatch or Pioneer Press is sent in.

10. There will be three independent judges, having no connection with The Dispatch or Pioneer Press, who will judge the answers submitted and award the prizes at the end of the puzzle game and participants agree to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive.

11. The judges will meet on Wednesday, Nov. 2, 1921, and the announcement of the prize winners and correct list of words will be published in The Dispatch and Pioneer Press just as quickly thereafter as possible.

ARCH-TONE
SHOE

SMART STYLE. PERFECT COMFORT

Now—Style in a Shoe With Special Comfort Features

It is only natural that you have chosen shoes which dress your feet well, but which do not give you the support your feet may need. Most women, with justifiable pride, prefer aching feet to freakish shoes that look queer.

But now you can have shoes of graceful modish style, yet with triple assurance of real foot comfort.

The Arch-Tone Shoe, "the tonic for tired feet," has wholly hidden in it a strong, but light steel arch which holds your foot in natural, easy position and preserves the shapely lines of the shoe.

Sturdier counters, too, to keep your foot in place and prevent unsightly bulging.

Then, in many Combination Last models, there's delightful snugness at the heel and comfortable extra roominess over the toes.

But not one graceful line has been sacrificed for these features of comfort and greater durability!

Let us show you the smart styles in the Arch-Tone Shoe. You'll be agreeably surprised.

A Word of Greeting.

With this issue of The Progress the regular staff takes charge. The two issues that have been issued so far this year have been largely the work of the faculty. Many favorable comments have been heard on the merits of these issues, and it is with some diffidence that we, the students, take charge. We are permitted to assure our readers, however, that members of the faculty will continue to give The Progress their moral and material support. With this assurance on their part as well as our interest and determination we hope to maintain the high standard already established.

May we take this opportunity of soliciting contributions and kindly criticism from the high school students, both past and present? We invite your suggestion as to how we can be of maximum service to you. We similarly invite the suggestions of all patrons and friends. We feel our position is one of service and not one of dictatorship. Make known to us your wishes, therefore, and help us in this way to realize our aim and ambition as we have already pointed them out.

Too Many Absences.

During the month of September the number of absences was so great that it was a serious handicap to good work. On some days last week there were forty and fifty students absent. The law gives school authorities no means of compelling high school students to attend school. It is clearly up to the students and the parents to remedy the situation.

The absentees are not only injuring themselves, but they are a serious hindrance to the progress of other students who come regularly. When a student is absent for a day he is unprepared the following day and as a result class time is wasted in calling upon such students to recite. The teachers are always ready to help those who have been absent for a good reason, but with so many absent it is practically impossible to do effective make-up work. Consequently, from now on only those students will be permitted to make up their work who present satisfactory excuses from their parents immediately after being absent. Work should not be considered a legitimate excuse to stay out of school. If parents and students could only realize that each day of school work has a strong bearing upon the success of the student they would be more careful. Do you realize that a student who gets an average daily grade of 80 per cent for eighteen days and failures for just two days has his grade lowered to 72 per cent for the month? Just take a piece of paper and pencil and figure it out. Take eighteen grades of 80 per cent and two grades of 0 per cent and take an average. Just one absence lowers such a grade 4 per cent. The student who has been absent several times during the month is almost certain to fail in his examinations, which will lower his grade still more. We so often hear students and parents speaking of teachers failing the student. It would be far more correct to say that the student failed himself.

Failures soon discourage any boy or girl and it is only a matter of time when that boy or girl leaves school. We rarely have a boy or girl who is making good leave school. The parents can help their boys and girls succeed by giving them an opportunity to attend school every day.

Students and parents, may we have you hearty co-operation in improving attendance, thereby helping every boy and girl make a success of his or her high school years?—M. P. R.

Physical Training.

Physical training is an important factor in the development of the growing generation. This fact is, however, generally under-estimated. This can be readily understood by studying the effects which this training has upon the body. The space allotted to this article is far too small to take up this question in detail, so it will be discussed but briefly.

First of all, we ask what effect it has on the muscles, bones and nerves. Muscles comprise from forty to fifty per cent of the weight of the body. Under exercise the muscles gain in efficiency, change in function and structure and increase in number. Bones become larger and firmer and the muscular attachments become stronger. Nerves change in form but not in number, the cells branch out, and the nerves themselves transmit impulses more rapidly.

By stimulating the circulation, exercise not only builds up tissues but cleans waste products from the brain and nerve cells and therefore has a marked effect on the mental powers. In other words the mental alertness of a student is increased.

In performing a physical training exercise the respiration becomes faster and deeper and this draws the blood from the big arteries, and the contraction of the muscles forces the blood from the small veins into the large; thus the rate and volume of circulation is increased.

Rev. Barackman Speaks at General Assembly.

Rev. R. L. Barackman gave a very interesting talk before the general assembly last Wednesday. His subject was the life and work of Frances E. Willard, the eighty-third anniversary of whose birth fell on that day.

Rev. Barackman pictured very vividly the early years and struggles of this since famous woman, the adversities of poverty, and her thirst for knowledge. She had very few opportunities to attend religious services. The school she attended could not in any way compare with those of today, and a library was unknown to her. The only books she had to read were the Bible, Pilgrim's Progress and Shakespeare.

Life on the farm became irksome. One day she exclaimed to her sister, "I wonder when we can get out of here and learn something." Then came the opportunity to attend Evanston University. She plunged into her work with a will. At graduation she was valedictorian of her class.

At this critical time she was taken ill with typhoid and for days there was doubt as to her recovery. In the dark hours of her illness she had come to see that service to God was the highest ideal to be attained. That was the first great crisis of her life.

Her ability along educational lines was recognized and she became Professor of Aesthetics and Dean of Women at Evanston University.

The second great crisis of her life came in 1874 at the time of the crusade against drink. She received an offer of a lucrative position with a noted girls' school and a second offer to join the Women's Christian Temperance Union. She chose the roughest path and for years traveled the length and breadth of the country in a campaign against liquor. For six years she was president of the Union and her well directed efforts were a large factor leading to the eighteenth amendment. To her must be given the honor of being the first woman to influence to any great extent such political affairs as the passage of the equal suffrage law, the anti-drug law, the child welfare and anti-cigarette laws.

Frances E. Willard achieved a place in the history of her sex which will shine ever brighter as the years go by, and will be an encouragement to others who would follow the same road. Her success was due to one thing: She chose to serve instead of being served.—A. S. '24.

Pep Meeting.

Last Thursday afternoon at the close of school the students gathered in the assembly to "pep up" for the game with Red Lake Falls on Saturday. Coach Stenhoff took charge of the meeting. First he illustrated on the board and explained the main points of the game. This was done particularly for the benefit of such pupils as did not have sufficient knowledge of the game to follow it intelligently. That there will occasionally be found such a student is exemplified by the remark made by one of our girls at a game last year when she remarked: "How many times do they have to go down the field, anyway?"

After the principles of the game had been briefly explained, roll of the members of the team was called. Each player responded by rising. A hearty cheer was given each one. The meeting was brought to a close when Nora Lindquist, who was assistant yell leader last year, led the assembly in a few snappy yells.

Junior Class Meeting.

Miss Leavitt's room last Wednesday afternoon was the scene of a Junior class meeting, called for the purpose of electing a new class advisor. To fill this important office Miss Soule was unanimously elected. It was discovered that Miss Soule had served in this capacity on several former occasions with marked success. The Juniors feel, therefore, that they were very fortunate in their selection.

An assistant treasurer in the person of Olive Lonson was also unanimously elected, as was Lucille Curtis as class reporter for The Progress.

Freshmen Organize.

The freshmen held their first class meeting Sept. 26 at 4 o'clock. The following officers were elected: President, Emmett Shanahan; vice president, Katherine Barzen; secretary, Hilda Ness; treasurer, Maurice Holzknecht; sergeants-at-arms, Thomas Scanlan and Bernice Erickson; class advisor, Miss Webster.

Seniors Meet.

A meeting of the Senior class was held on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Miss Chamberlain's room. At the meeting it was decided to postpone the teachers' reception from Oct. 7 to Oct. 14 as a reception is to be given to the teachers by the Young Peoples League of the Trinity Lutheran church on the former date. The names of the members chosen for the Prowler staff were announced and approved by the class. Myrtle Myrin was chosen class reporter for The High School Progress.

Debate Club Organized.

The Debate Forum of the Thief River Falls high school, which was organized last year under the directorship of Mr. L. N. Pierce, has resumed activities this year with Miss Chamberlain as coach. The club, which thus far consists of left over members from last year's Forum, meets every Thursday evening to study the principles of debate and to acquire some practical experience in public speaking. Practice debates on various subjects are being engaged in until material on the state question arrives.

The state question this year is, "Resolved, That the United States government should regulate by direct control the price of fuel commodities in peace time, constitutionality granted." Debate enthusiasts will welcome this news as they will naturally be able to support their team more loyally when the issue is one of direct interest than if it but remotely affected them.

The first debate will be held the last Friday in October or later. The schedule has not yet been made out, but the time and place of the first debate will be announced as soon as possible.—O. H. '23.

East Grand Forks Here Next Saturday.

You have now had a taste of football and you have seen what our team can do. We are proud of our team. It ought to be the resolve of each one of us to give our boys all the help we can. Our presence at the games helps in a financial way. More than that, it gives our boys courage and spurs the men to maximum efforts. Let's be there again on Saturday, therefore, to help them win another victory.

Red Lake vs. Thief River.

Scoring six touchdowns, the Thief River Falls high school team opened the 1921 season by defeating the high school aggregation from Red Lake Falls last Saturday afternoon on the local grid-iron. The final score was 38 to 13. Red Lake Falls scored both its touchdowns on eighty yard dashes after intercepting the pig-skin on the kick-off. These were the only two spectacular plays of the game.

The playing was somewhat ragged as was to be expected so early in the season, but the local boys proved to the fans that they possess the makings of a first class team. The game was strictly clean throughout, both teams showing that they were clean, true sportsmen. Perry Johnson lived up to his reputation as an efficient official.

"Ernie" Barzen, "Rusty" Anderson and "Stan" Sorenson in the backfield gained ground consistently. "Stan" did particularly effective work. "Rusty" proved himself a bulwark on defense as well as on offense, while "Ernie" could always be relied upon for a gain in the line smashes. He also did good work on the punt. "Bob" McGinn at quarter used rare judgment for so young and inexperienced a player.

The ground gained by the backs, however, cannot be credited to them alone, for the line was always on the job opening up holes for their teammates. Capt. Herron and Roy Holmgren at tackles did creditable work for defense. LaBree's passing at center was good and proved that he was fast developing into a strong pivot man. Vorlicky, "Mat" Barzen and Craig Halvorson at guards kept the opponents from gaining ground through the center of the line, and with two exceptions the ends, Sether, Hendry and Bischoff, kept the opposing team from skirting the ends.

The exhibition was far from discouraging. It is now known that great things can be expected from the team before the season is over.

Annual Already Under Way.

Anything that is to be well done must not be done in too much of a hurry. In accordance with this principle a meeting of the Senior class officers has already been held for the purpose of electing a staff to publish the Annual which is put out by the Seniors each year. The personnel of the staff is as follows:

Editor in chief, Gregory Wertlein; associate editor in chief, Nora Lindquist; business manager, Lloyd Alness; literary editor, Milton Larson; associate literary editor, Mildred Loftness; Jokes editor, William Alexander; kodak and snapshots, Ruby Bennes; society editor, Sybil McGinn; art editor, Paul Halseth; assistant art editor, August Langseth; athletics editor, William McGinnity; assistant athletics editor, Pearl Sheller; music editor, Helen Langseth; alumni editors, Lillian Knight, Doris Richter, Miss Goldie Stebbins; compilation board, Miss Chamberlain, class advisor, Helen Warner, John Hendry and Forest Ralston.

This staff expects to organize similar sub-staffs in the other three classes. With their co-operation they are hoping to put out the best and most interesting annual ever published by any high school in the state. The preliminary work has already been started and the staff expects to have the annual on the market by the first of May. The business end of the undertaking will have particular attention.—G. W. '22.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion
Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.
One Day's Test Proves NR Best
The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.
It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome.
This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, also suffer more or less from headaches, biliousness and constipation.
If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right today and start taking it. Give it a trial for a week or two and just see how much better you feel. See how quickly your sluggish bowels will become as regular as clock work, how your coated tongue clears up and your good, old-time appetite returns. See how splendidly your food will digest and how your energy, "pep" and "ginger" revive. Just try it.
You take no risk whatever for Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is only 25c a box, enough to last twenty-five days, and it must help and benefit you to your entire satisfaction, or money returned.
Five million boxes are used every year—one million NR Tablets are taken by ailing people every day—that's the best proof of its merits. Nature's Remedy is the best and safest thing you can take for biliousness, constipation, indigestion and similar complaints. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Albert Westphal returned the latter part of the week from South St. Paul, where he had sold a car of hogs and cattle which netted him $1,172. He also made a trip to Wisconsin, where he visited with his mother and brothers. On the entire trip Mr. Westphal did not see a place that suited him any better than the locality around Thief River Falls.

Weekly Market Review.

All grains the past week were in a process of liquidation. Investment demand either for the cash article or the future was, according to the normal standard, notably absent.

Extreme weakness in foreign exchange, particularly the German mark, and nervousness in financial circles concerning foreign credits is an important factor in the decline.

German, French and Italian crop reports show an increase of 156 million bushels of wheat and 74 million increase in rye as compared to last year's yields.

Cables also report favorable crop conditions in the Argentine and Australia. Large quantities of American wheat consigned to European ports are reported sold at less than the replacement price.

A large Canadian wheat supply is accumulating and is in sharp competition with American wheat at a steadily lower basis.

Corn receipts from the old crop continue heavy at all markets and premiums have been gradually reduced, which with the lower options is making new low marks and distressingly low prices to producers. The new corn crop takes a position among the largest on record. The oats receipts, though not as large as corn, have the effect of continually increasing an already huge unsold visible supply.

Although the general run of news is almost unanimously against advancing prices and there is a superfluity of bearish reports and bearish sentiment, the probability of oversold markets should not be overlooked. Sharp rallies can be expected, but until something constructive develops to stabilize prices we still cannot commend the purchase of any commodity no matter how cheap the price may seem. It is being demonstrated that the price very seldom alters fundamental conditions and such conditions very easily alter a price.—Quinn-Shepherdson Co.

RE-ELECTION OF ENTIRE COUNCIL AIM OF BACKERS

Mass Meeting of Citizens Goes on Record as Approving the Present Administration.

Mayor and Councilmen Agree to to Again Make Race When the Request is Made.

Ward Chairmen and Assistants Appointed and Campaign Will Open at Once.

Mayor John Bratrud and every member of the present city council will be candidates for re-election this fall. While it is well known that certain of the councilmen would greatly prefer to retire, the expressions of confidence and appreciation heard at a mass meeting of representative citizens held at the municipal court room on Monday night caused them to change their minds.

There were in the neighborhood of 100 men present, called together for the purpose of discussing the forthcoming election and candidates for the different offices to be filled at that time. A more harmonious gathering it would be impossible to find. W. B. Fuller officiated as chairman and E. M. Stanton as secretary. After Chairman Fuller had stated the purpose of the gathering, opinions were asked for. These were forthcoming in abundance and were all of one tenor: The re-election of Mayor Bratrud and the entire city council. A large number of those present spoke briefly and the consensus of opinion was that the present is no time to change administration. Further, the men now in charge of city affairs have made a record that entitles them to re-election.

All Agree to Run.

After the meeting had expressed itself in a manner that left no doubt as to what was wanted, the officials themselves were asked to state their positions. All were present except Mayor Bratrud and Councilman O. I. Ihle. President H. A. Brumund, councilman from the Third ward, led off. He said that he felt satisfied he would be speaking for his colleagues as well as himself when he stated that they would again serve if called upon to do so, although some might prefer to pass the honor on to others. Mr. Froseth, followed by Mr. Dahl, Mr. Ness and Mr. Brandon, all expressed their appreciation of the confidence in their good intentions indicated by those present and said they would "stick." Each speaker was greeted with applause as he resumed his seat.

Ward Committees Formed.

It was a good time to take the preliminary steps for the carrying on of a campaign and the voters present from the different wards broke up in groups and proceeded to choose their local chairman and his assistants. In the selection of these committees the women voters were not forgotten, and there are three or four named in each ward. These committees will get to work at once and from now on a lively campaign for the election of the entire ticket will be carried on.

Two Tickets Certain.

That there will be two tickets in the field is certain. Those opposed to the re-election of the present administration have already started out with their petitions and it is expected that they will have a complete lineup to present to the voters.

Viewers' Final Meeting For Clearwater Project

E. A. Mostue, one of the viewers appointed for the Clearwater project of the Red Lake Conservancy District's program, left yesterday morning for Red Lake Falls, where a meeting of the viewers was to be held. Mr. Mostue stated that this meeting would without doubt clear up all the preliminaries and that actual work on the project would soon be under way and from now on carried forward with all possible speed.

AUTO AND TRACTOR SCHOOL FALL TERM OPENS NOVEMBER 1

New Enterprise Means Much to Owners of Automotive Machinery in This Seeciton.

An announcement of more than ordinary interest to the people of this section is that of the Northwestern Auto and Tractor School which opens the fall term in this city on Nov. 1. This school will be strictly up to date in every respect, giving a complete course in automobile and tractor repairing, ignition, starter, generator, magneto and battery repairing. Mr. Sundahl has associated with himself the best instructors to be found in these different branches.

The large garage of the Northwestern Automobile company will be devoted almost entirely to this purpose. The fine office room in the front part of the building will be used exclusively for the electrical work, the present repair section will remain as it is with the exception that a large amount of modern equipment will be added. This section will be devoted entirely to automobile repairing. At the rear end of what is now the storage room the tractor department will be housed. This will give the school three distinct departments under one roof and afford an opportunity for the student to give particular attention to the branch of work that interests him most.

A school of this kind has long been needed in this section. The growth of the automobile, truck and tractor business has been so rapid that competent mechanics have not been turned out in sufficient numbers to keep up with the demand. Besides nearly every farm now has a truck or tractor and the owners or their sons are desirous of having a thorough knowledge of the machines they are handling. This school will afford an excellent opportunity of obtaining such knowledge.

FORCED TO FLEE IN NIGHT CLOTHES WHEN HOME BURNS

Mrs. H. W. Millar and Daughter Have Narrow Escape From Death Tuesday Night.

Fire at the residence of H. W. Millar, 310 Riverside avenue, on Tuesday night caused a total damage to building and contents of about $2,300. The blaze was discovered at 12:30 o'clock and so rapidly did it gain headway that Mrs. Millar and her 10-year-old daughter barely escaped with their lives. Mr. Millar, who is employed by the Soo railroad, was absent at the time, as he is working for the company out of Fordville.

Mrs. Millar had only time enough to get her daughter out of the house, both being forced to leave in their night attire. All their clothing as well as household goods were totally destroyed, but damage to the building, owned by Mrs. Joe Becker, was only about $300, while the loss to the Millars is not less than $2,300, partially covered by insurance.

The fire department made a quick run in spite of the condition of our streets, it being impossible to reach the scene of the blaze without going for a considerable distance over places where the pavers have torn things up.

Defective wiring is supposed to have caused the fire.

BUSINESS LAW TO BE TAUGHT UNDER U. OF M. DIRECTION

Night Classes Will Meet Once a Week With H. O. Chommie as Instructor.

Thief River Falls has been selected as one of the points of instruction in the efforts of the extension service of the University of Minnesota to bring the activities of the institution to people residing in the smaller towns. Night instruction in business law has already been taken up by a class of 30, meetings being held on Wednesday nights at 7:30 at Lincoln high school auditorium. Two sessions have already been held and registration will be open until the evening of the fourth meeting. Ten additional students are expected before the registration closes.

Attorney Hans O. Chommie has been named as instructor, which classifies him as a member of the faculty of the university. Mr. Chommie is taking great interest in the work and anyone wishing complete information concerning this most important step can secure same by applying to him.

The course covers two years of two semesters each. Anyone finishing the course here may enter the University of Minnesota and will receive credit for the work done in working toward a degree.

Following is the enrollment to date:

SECOND TICKET PLACED IN FIELD IN COMING RACE

Two Complete Lineups Will Be Presented to the Voters in Citiy Election.

W. W. Prichard, Jr., For Mayor, and Other Well-Known Citizens on the List.

Pledge No Interference With Paving Program in Case of Their Eelection.

No time was lost in getting a second city ticket into the field. No sooner had a meeting been held endorsing the present administration and urging upon the men composing it the need of their again becoming candidates than those who disagreed with the first enthusiasts started out with their petitions. The result is that there will be two complete sets to choose from on Tuesday, Nov. 8. The one exception is in the Fourth ward, where Andrew Ness is the candidate of both factions.

Prichard For Mayor.

The opposition ticket is headed by W. W. Prichard, Jr., and made up of capable, well-known citizens throughout. For alderman from the First ward M. V. Evenson has been chosen to run against Carl Froseth; C. D. Gustafson is the candidate on the latest ticket in the Second against John Dahl; C. W. Vorachek will contest for the votes of the Third with H. A. Brumund, while in the Fourth Andrew Ness has no opposition. The candidates for aldermen at large are Fred C. Dablow and F. F. Haynes.

The Platform.

In another section of The Times today the men whose names appear on this ticket publish their declaration of principles. They will strive for a bigger and better city, for economical administration, for cleanliness and progress. They pledge themselves not to be dominated by any clique, class or faction, and if elected to give their best efforts to securing the welfare of all the people.

"Paving is not an issue in this campaign," says the declaration. The candidates on this ticket promise, if affairs are entrusted to them, to see that the present contract is carried out in all its provisions.

Another point upon which the declaration is explicit concerns the assessments for paving. These candidates deny that any attempt will be made by them to have the paving assessed to general taxation, but will carry out the plan of the present council in this respect.

Red Lake County Citizen Held on Murder Charge

Walter Westerlund, age 25 years, of Gervais, Red Lake county, was arrested at his home on Saturday by Sheriff Charles Fellman at the request of Sheriff Ed. Swanson of Becker county for the murder of an unidentified man near Detroit Wednesday.

Westerlund, it is said, has confessed to the shooting, stating that it occurred as the result of an altercation on the way to Lake Park. Both men had been working on farms in Becker county. Westerlund has been taken to Detroit to stand trial.

Officials at Red Lake Falls are of the opinion that Westerlund is not mentally balanced and it was expected that as soon as he arrived at Detroit that a medical examination would take place.

Council in Short Session.

Routine business occupied the attention of the city council at the short regular session held on Tuesday evening. Henry Holt was granted a plumber's license and the monthly reports of the different municipal divisions were read, after which the council adjourned.

COUNTY ASKED TO SAVE 11 ORPHANS FROM STARVATION

Pennington's Quota in Drive to Aid Famine Sufferers is 487 Bushels of Wheat.

Pennington county's quota in the nationwide drive launched to save the lives of children now facing death by starvation in southern Russia and Armenia is 487 bushels of wheat.

Eleven of the 3,500 orphans assigned to Minnesota for food and clothing depend on the generosity of the citizens of Pennington county for their lives, according to J. M. Davies, state director for the Near East Relief.

Practically every elevator in the state is helping to collect the 147,000 bushels of grain set as Minnesota's share of the 5,000,000 bushels being gathered as the gift of American farmers. Minnesota farmers may turn their gifts over to their local elevator when they haul in their usual loads of grain for sale. Nearly every elevator has agreed to receive, store and load the gift grain free of charge. The first gifts began coming in last week.

"We have been informed by our workers abroad that unless Minnesota provides food for 3,500 helpless boys and girls this winter, they will perish of hunger," Mr. Davies says. "Every child among the 3,500 for whom Minnesota fails to provide is doomed to die. We dare not fail."

Very Important Meeting of All Market Day Advertisers Called For Friday Evening

There will be a meeting of Market Day advertisers held at the Commercial club rooms on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. It is strongly urged that every merchant interested be present as the plan is to make the next Market Day the biggest and best yet held. Do not fail to be on hand.

EASTERN FARMERS' THIRD ANNUAL FAIR GOODRIDGE, OCT. 17

Display of Farm Products Will Be Largest and Best Ever Seen in That Section.

The third annual fair to be held by the farmers of eastern Pennington county will take place at Goodridge on Monday, Oct. 17. It is an event of much importance to the people of that section and they are working harder than ever to make it a success.

Two previous fairs held at the same place have proved eye-openers and have given the country about Goodridge a reputation as one of the best dairying and general farming regions in the northwest. Those in charge state that this year the exhibition will be the best thus far held.

Some of the finest dairy herds in this section are found in this part of the county and the showing of these will be a feature. Sheep also are strong favorites with the farmers there and the finest flocks in this section are to be seen in the neighborhood.

A particularly appropriate speaking and demonstration program has been arranged. L. M. McCall of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, will give a talk on "More and Better Corn Raising for the Northwest." H. E. Hoberg, poultry expert at the same school, will speak on the importance of poultry raising and give a culling demonstration, showing how to select the best layers. Mr. Hoberg will also have a sample carton of eggs to exhibit, showing the proper method of packing and marketing the different grades.

As has been customary heretofore, there will likely be a large delegation from this city visit the fair. The road to Goodridge is one of the best in the county and the trip and fair will both be found worth while.

LESSON IN RETAIL MERCHANDISING TO BE SHOWN IN FILM

Efficiency Expert Will Lecture Under Auspices of Merchants Association.

Announcement has been made by G. Howard Smith, secretary of the Merchants association, that he has arranged to bring to Thief River Falls an illustrated lecture on retail merchandising. The lecture, together with a feature film, "Getting the Most Out of Retailing," will be given Friday night, Nov. 4, at 9 o'clock, in the Lyceum theatre. W. H. Farley, representative of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, Ohio, will give the lecture.

The lecture deals with the value of newspaper advertising to the merchant, tells him how to prepare advertisements, and also explains in detail the best methods of window display, store organization, personal selling, and business control.

The film tells the story of a merchant who was discouraged and disheartened because he was not successful. The story shows the indifference of his clerks, his bad system, poorly arranged stock, and other causes of trouble. How he finally rose to success and prosperity through modern methods is shown in the film.

Many ideas of importance to merchants and clerks will be brought out. In other communities where it has been shown it has met great enthusiasm. It is expected that every business man and clerk in the city will attend. There will be no charge for admission. A special invitation will be extended to every merchant in northwestern Minnesota to hear this lecture and bring his clerks as guests of the Thief River Falls Merchants association.

McGinn Makes Team.

Dennis McGinn of this city had his first taste of college football last Saturday when he played right halfback for the St. Thomas college team in a game against St. Mary's college of Winona on the field of the first-named college. Gordon LaBree, who has been working out at center with the same team, did not play in Saturday's game. St. Thomas won, 7 to 0.

FIRST 35 CARS SHIPPED BRING $1.22 PER BUS.

This is Average Price Received By Pennington County Potato Shippers.

Certified Stock at Good Premium But is Generally Being Held For Seed.

Members of the Pennington County Potato Growers association continue to get the top price for their stock. To date 45 cars have been shipped, on 35 cars of which partial returnes have been received. The average net price to the farmer on the potatoes contained in these 35 cars was $1.02 per bushel or $1.70 per hundred pounds. Commission men in the city have questioned the prices quoted in The Times last week and extra care has therefore been taken to get these figures correct. County Agent J. J. McCann went through his records for the purpose of getting full details concerning the six cars on which complete returns have been received and has submitted the following. The prices quoted are per hundredweight:

Sept. 26—F. T. Satre, one car $2.59
Sept. 28—F. T. Satre, one car 2.05
Sept. 29—F. T. Satre, one car 2.20
Oct. 3—Jens Letnes, one car 1.80
Oct. 5—Arne Vik, one car 1.88
Oct. 5—Anton Johnson, one car 1.72

No certified potatoes entered into these shipments, these commanding an additional 50 cents per hundred pounds. While there is a fair quantity of this stock in the county, it is likely that but little will be shipped as this class of potatoes will command a much higher premium if sold for seed in the spring.

The reason that figures on a larger percentage of the cars shipped are not given is that while 80 per cent of their value is paid at the time of acceptance at the Minnesota Potato exchange, the other 20 per cent is withheld until until after grading. Mr. McCann said he could give the total for all cars, but preferred not to do so until the complete returns were in as the correctness of his figures seemed to have been questioned.

The potato crop is the money-maker for the Pennington county farmer this year. Particularly are the members of the growers' association well pleased with the returns they are receiving for their stock.

Dr. Milan Returns After Month's Visit in East

Dr. M. George Milan, medical director at Oakland Park sanatorium, returned the first of the week from a month's visit in the East. He first went to Columbus, Ohio, where he attended a conference of the tuberculosis specialists of the Mississippi Saranac Lake, New York, where one valley. From Columbus he went to of the largest tuberculosis sanatoriums in the world is located, and assisted in clinical work there and in other parts of the state for a short time. Following this he visited for a week in Montreal and spent four days at his old home in Boston. The doctor says he was so busy that the trip can hardly be called a vacation but he is glad to have had an opportunity to confer with other men in his profession concerning the fight they are making against the white plague.

Passed Worthless Check.

Jack Shipper, a young married farmer residing near Wylie, was on Monday arraigned before Judge N. W. Tarrant in Municipal court charged with having issued and passed a check on the First State bank of that place, without having any funds in said bank. The check was for $10 and was given to Aaseby & Burstad, garagemen of this city. He was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500, which was furnished.

TRYING TO INDUCE DR. KIRBY TO STAY IN NEIGHBORHOOD

Delegation of Business Men Visiting Him This Afternoon For This Purpose.

S. R. Kirby, commonly referred to as "doctor," located about two miles southeast of the city, and whose methods of healing have been the subject of much comment, both complimentary and derisive, may leave this section of the country for good. As soon as this fact became established the business men of Thief River Falls felt that something should be done to induce him to remain, and a delegation is calling on him this afternoon. They figure that, without taking into consideration the merits or otherwise of his methods, he has without question helped a great many people and brought a large amount of business to this city which would not have come here had it not been for the steadily increasing reputation of his cures.

It seems that Mr. Kirby has offers to locate in other communities where he is promised freedom from criticism of his methods by those who know nothing whatever about him, as well as substantial bonuses of varying descriptions. The business men of Mayville, N. D., for instance, have offered to erect a suitable building for him in or near the city if he will move there, so it is alleged, and other places farther west have made more or less tentative advances.

The business men who are visiting him this afternoon are not particularly concerned with his "cure," but know that a great many people believe in it and seem to be satisfied with it. Under these circumstances it is the opinion of many that he should be encouraged to remain, and an effort will be made to have him do so.

Teachers Entertained.

The Young People's League of the Trinity Lutheran church entertained the members of the teaching staff at an informal reception in the church parlors on Friday evening. During the evening a short program was given, in which the following took part: Dr. J. N. Nesse, Miss Carrie Brown, Rev. T. E. Sweger, Mrs. A. Holmberg. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Help Us to Aid Crippled Children

"Children of Pain" is the title given to the crippled, yet smiling, inmates of the State Hospital for Crippled Children, St. Paul. There are 200 of them there now and more than 225 others in just as bad physical condition throughout the state waiting for admission.

During the life time of Michael Dowling, Olivia banker, who died recently from overwork in the interest of the crippled in body, work for and among crippled children was his avocation.

On his death, his closest friends, in casting about for a memorial, obtained a letter he had written in which he said: "The plight of the crippled child is beyond conception. Dumb with the agony of 'being different' they are apt to become crippled in the mind as well as the body and when that happens society has lost a valuable ally and gained a bitter enemy."

With that as a guiding star they have decided on an addition to the State Hospital for Crippled Children in St. Paul, and in order to permit the thousands of friends of "Mike" Dowling to add their mite to a memorial that would be "just what he would want," decided to open the subscription books Oct. 17.

The proposed addition will care for the children now in the state who need this care and will reclaim not only their poor maimed bodies but also their neglected minds.

Hundreds of children have been received at the hospital since its opening in 1911 and have since been discharged, cured of their physical ailments and educated in mind.

Thirty of the best orthopedic specialists in the state are on the staff of the hospital and when the memorial addition is built will take care of these patients also. They give their services gratis to these children.

To liven up their existence nearly every theatrical company that comes to St. Paul sends a part of its aggregation to the hospital to provide amusement.

Everything that can be done is being done to alleviate their condition and all the work is under the general supervision of the superintendent, Miss Elizabeth McGregor. Miss McGregor is "mother" to these children, many of whom are orphans or have lost one of their parents.

She knows everyone by their first name and always has a cheery word and a pat on the head for them. She is never too busy to stop and hear their childish confidences and her love, true mother love it is too, permeates the entire staff.

The Minnesota Editorial Association, the Minnesota Bankers' Association and the Elks of Minnesota have taken the fund into their hands and are to ask the people of the state for help.

"Dollars in themselves mean nothing, it is only the manner in which they are spent that gives them life," was a favorite plea of Dowling when asking for funds for various enterprises concerning the welfare of cripples.

If the people of the state will add their mite to the $25,000 already raised by private subscription, the $100,000 fund to be raised will care adequately for the hundreds of children who need help and need it now.

"Help us to help them," is the slogan.

The Thief River Falls Times has been designated as the collection agency for the money raised in Pennington county. If more convenient, hand your contribution to the editor nearest your home—it will reach its destination all right.

TAX LEVY FOR CITY PURPOSES CONTINUES LOW

Councilmen Figure That Only $3,500 More Than Last Year Will Be Required.

Postmaster Asks That Street Signs and Posts Be Replaced if Destroyed.

There will be an increase of $3,500 in the total amount levied for city purposes in Thief River Falls next year as compared with the present. This is only six per cent and is perhaps the lowest of any city of this size in Minnesota. The sum decided upon by the council is $55,500. Merely for the purpose of comparison it may be stated that the levy for Bemidji is $98,880.

A park fund was added to the general budget and $5,000 placed at the disposal of the park board. Scott Laird appeared on behalf of the board to urge the levy. Other changes from last year are increases in the current fund from $15,000 to $25,000 and a decrease in the local improvement fund from $15,000 to $5,000. One thousand dollars was added to the interest and library funds respectively, while the street lighting fund was reduced from $5,500 to $1,000. As the city owns the light plant this change signifies merely a change in bookkeeping.

Comparison in Detail.

Following is a comparison of the levy for the two years:

	1920	1921
Current fund	$15,000	$25,000
Local imp. fund	15,000	5,000
Auditorium fund	3,000	3,000
Sinking fund	1,000	1,000
Poor fund	3,000	4,000
Interest fund	3,000	4,000
Library fund	3,500	4,500
Cemetery fund	1,000	1,000
Hydrant fund	2,000	2,000

Wants More Street Signs.

The bill of the Bitulithic and Contracting Limited for $26,069.74 to cover the paving work thus far performed, was allowed less the 15 per cent held in reserve to guarantee the work, the total amounting to $22,159.28. The bill of the Bradley Engineering company of two per cent of the above sum, or $443.18, was also allowed.

Postmaster John Morgan presented a request that the city provide suitable posts and street signs where these are lacking at this time within the free delivery district. A survey was recently made by the mail carriers and it was found that on the East Side 50 posts and 100 signs were lacking, while the West Side was 122 posts and 244 signs short.

When free delivery service was established in Thief River Falls over a decade ago it was necessary that the street intersections be properly marked and this was done at that time. Later on the delivery service was extended but the additional signs were not placed, while some of those which were first erected have since been destroyed through various causes.

The matter was laid on the table for the present on account of the probable early freezing of the ground prohibiting any erection of posts at this time, but they will be installed early in the spring.

Big Waterway Proect is Moving Forward Rapidly

President C. L. Hansen of the First National bank returned the first of the week from St. Paul, where he attended the meeting of the Head of the Lakes-St. Lawrence waterways board. Mr. Hansen states that it was a most interesting session with every man present enthusiastic over the outlook for an early start on the gian propect. Canada, he says, is even more enthusiastic over the prospect than the people of the United States and the matter is progressing most satisfactorily in congress. The preliminary work will be under way before anyone realizes it, he says. Mr. Hnsen is one of the Minnesota representatives on the national board.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop of this city was invited by Gov. Preus to attend the meeting as there were several ladies present, but was unable to make the trip at this time.

Society and Club

Winslow Chapter Entertains.

The ceremonies at the meeting of the Winslow chapter of the Eastern Star, held at the Masonic hall last evening, surpassed anything of its kind ever before attempted by the local chapter. There was an attendance of approximately 125, with large delegations present from Crookston and Grand Forks chapters. Among the Crookston delegation present may be mentioned Mrs. Fredericks, present worthy matron; Mrs. Smiley, past worthy matron, and Mrs. Alden Braley, past grand worthy matron. The representation from East Grand Forks included Mrs. C. A. Newhouse, present worthy matron; Mrs. C. A. Rudd, past worthy matron, and Mrs. F. E. Stallman, Mrs. S. E. Hiler and Mrs. Arthur Hallen, also officers of the East Grand Forks chapter.

The chief feature of the evening was honoring the past worthy matrons of Winslow chapter. Those now living in the city and present were: Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mrs. Ben Christianson, Mrs. G. L. Sterns, Mrs. W. Korstad, Mrs. L. G. Larsen, Mrs. A. Bottelson and Mrs. F. F. Haynes. Mrs. G. A. Penney, who is also a past worthy matron, was unable to be present at the ceremonies. Those out of the city include Mrs. Corson, Mrs. Cavanaugh, Mrs. McNevin and Mrs. Geo. Walker. The past worthy patrons of Winslow chapter introduced and presented were G. L. Sterns, F. E. Gobler, F. F. Haynes and H. C. Johnson.

The hall, which had been transformed into a veritable fairyland through the use of autumn leaves, flowers, plants and bitter sweet, over which was cast a soft glow from the candle light and illuminated star, formed a rare setting for the beautiful ceremonies, which were the same used by the Grand chapter last year. Those having seen both state that the ceremonies put on by Winslow chapter were fully as impressive. During the proceedings Mrs. A. N. Heggan, Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., and Mrs. C. A. Nason sang, accompanied by Mrs. A. Holmberg at the piano. Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher also gave a vocal solo. During the evening the past worthy matrons were presented with jewels by Mrs. C. R. Crandall in behalf of the chapter. Mrs. J. M. Bishop, in her usual pleasing manner, made a very appropriate acceptance speech for the matrons. In recognition of their work in the interests of this order and the high esteem in which they are held, Mrs. Alden Braley of Crookston, past worthy grand matron, was presented with a large bouquet of chrysanthemums, and Miss Effie Hamry, present worthy matron of the Winslow chapter, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of Ophelia roses.

The success of the event must be attributed to Miss Effie Hamry, worthy matron, and the following officers of the local chapter: H. C. Durrin, worthy patron; Mrs. H. C. Johnson, associate matron; Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, conductress; Anna Quale, associate conductress; Mrs. A. Bottelson, secretary; Mrs. C. R. Crandall, treasurer; Mrs. J. Q. Cronkhite, chaplain; Miss Ida Tandberg, Ada; Mrs. L. W. Manther, Ruth; Mrs. D. W. Robinson, Esther; Mrs. Kinghorn, Martha; Mrs. Borry, Electa; Mrs. Durrin, warder, and Ed. Brevig, sentinel.

A delicious lunch concluded an evening which will remain prominent in the memories of those who attended.

Local Musicians in Concert.

Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher and Miss Doris Halvorson, local musicians, were well received at Bemidji where they appeared in concert under the auspices of the Harmonick club on Friday night, Sept. 30. The following account is taken from the Bemidji Sentinel: "An enthusiastic reception was given the members of the Halvorson-Fisher company of Thief River Falls and the Harmonick quartet of Bemidji, who appeared in a joint concert in the Methodist Episcopal church of this city last Friday night. The concert was given under the auspices of the Harmonick glee club of this city. Miss Halvorson, pianist, is a graduate of the Oberlin conservatory of music and has received favorable press notice wherever she has appeared. Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, contralto, was encored several times by the audience. The Harmonick quartet was given a rousing reception, every one of their numbers being encored. A feature of their offerings was a character quartet in which Andrew Rood, baritone, appeared as soloist."

Kistler-Stoppel.

A wedding of particular interest to local people was solemnized at nine o'clock Saturday morning at the M. E. parsonage, when Miss Onata L'Elaine Stoppel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Stoppel of Alexandria, became the bride of Willis J. Kistler, son of Mrs. Mary Kistler of Minneapolis. Rev. J. B. Smith, pastor of the Methodist church, read the service in the presence of Miss Belle Hermanson and W. G. Fiddes. The bride is a popular young lady, having made her home here with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Dalquist, for a number of years. The groom is connected with the Fairbanks-Morse company of St. Paul. After a brief wedding trip spent in visiting the groom's mother in Minneapolis and the bride's parents at Alexandria, Mr. and Mrs. Kistler will return to this city to make their home.

IOWA WRESTLER IS AFTER KOLN'S HIDE; CALLS HIM DODGER

Ralph E. Percaut of Spencer, Iowa, Sends Public Challenge to Greenbush Man.

Henry Koln of Greenbush, well known in this section because of his having been one of the principals in several wrestling matches in this city, is asked by Ralph E. Percaut of Spencer, Iowa, to defend his reputation. In a somewhat lengthy and unusual challenge, publication of which is requested by Mr. Percaut, the latter expresses his opinion of the Greenbush man in no uncertain language and makes an offer for a match that no first-class man is likely to overlook. After careful deleting, the challenge would appear about as follows:

"I would like to arrange a match with Henry Koln, champion of Greenbush, Minn., to take place at any time or any place he may select, Koln to name the terms.

"In 1917 I met Koln at my home town. It was my first year of wrestling and I was in no condition to go onto the mat at that time. As the matter had been arranged, and as the promoters as well as Koln stood to lose considerable money if I did not go on, I met him and was defeated. Ever since that match I have run after him all over the country for a match and have offered him all the inducements possible in order to get a return match, but to date have received no answer one way or another. I am forced to the belief that it is yellow jaundice that is keeping him from coming out of his hole and wrestling.

"I met him here in Iowa last spring for just a few minutes. Upon approaching him regarding a bout at Greenbush he put me off, saying it wouldn't draw a house. Well, maybe it wouldn't, but here is my proposition: I will bet anywhere from $100 to $5,000 and will send a certified check for $2,000 to any bank in his town to bind the deal, as a guarantee that I can floor him two out of three falls—or make him quit.

"I will weigh in at the ringside at 154 pounds, Koln to come as heavy as he wants to, money to be put in referee's hands before the match, referee to be some neutral party. This match is to take place at any time or place Koln wants it to.

"It has been six months since Koln promised me a bout and I haven't heard a word from him yet, so I am going to force him out of his hole. He has dodged around the bush for three years in order to keep away from me, so now I am going to call his hand. If no other way, I am coming up there and make him lay down the cards. There should be no argument about the weight. If anything, he has a little the best of it.

"I am ready and waiting for Koln to say the word. And if I lose I don't want a thing for my trouble. I will count the ties back home to dad, grasp the old fellow about the neck and repeat those noted words of Pershing's: 'Father, I am here.'

"Pull up the curtain, Henry, and let's give them some real wrestling. You have been picking off the soft stuff long enough."

GOOD ADVERTISING AS RESULT OF BANKERS' PROMOTION PROGRAM

Prominent Financial Paper Contains Article by Secretary of Local Association Giving Views as to Value of Movement.

The Minnesota Banker, a publication devoted to the banking interests of the state, has of late devoted almost as much space to livestock betterment as it has to financial matters. It is not surprising, therefore, that an article by Thos. H. Smith of the Farmers State bank of Mavie, secretary-treasurer of the Pennington County Bankers association, should be given a prominent place in the columns of The Banker for October. While the article deals primarily with the result of an attempt on the part of the bankers to aid the livestock industry, yet the other matters touched upon will give the county some good advertising. The article follows:

"The action of the Pennington County Bankers association in financing the exhibit of Pennington county Guernsey herds at the Minnesota state fair this year augurs well for both bankers and farmers of this county.

"For many years it has been almost a hobby with the bankers of Pennington county to urge upon farmers the purchase and raising of better dairy cattle. For some time efforts in this direction seemed to accomplish little, but while the reward was slow in coming it was nevertheless certain.

"At the time the bankers of this section first took up the better stock movement, the Farmers Co-operative creamery at Thief River Falls was a small and struggling institution. Today this same creamery is about the largest asset of the community, doing an annual business of about a million dollars.

"Other smaller creameries, some of no mean reputation, dot the county. All of these institutions have been distributing prosperity to the farmers patronizing them and incidentally the bankers have come in for their added portions of good things.

"Movements for community betterment are usually slow in getting started. This was the case with the better stock movement in Pennington county, but the impetus given it by the exhibit of Guernseys at the state fair cannot be overestimated.

"Pennington county bankers are very optimistic as to the results of their efforts. They see the benefits attained thus far many times multiplied in the near future. Nothing points to this with greater certainty than the expression seen on every hand of cordiality existing between farmers and bankers. The desire of both to assist each other is bringing about mutal co-operation which cannot help but bring added prosperity to our bankers."

GOVERNMENT TO MAKE MAIL BOX AND HOUSE NUMBER OVERHAULING

October 19 is Census Day and Citizens Are Asked to Have Their Properties Properly Equipped By That Date.

Postmaster John Morgan reports that in a recent order from the office of the Postmaster General, it is stated that if expeditious and efficient city delivery is to be accorded it is essential that all buildings to which mail is delivered be properly numbered and equipped with private mail receptacles. Without houses and buildings being numbered carriers are delayed in serving the routes and errors in delivery unavoidably occur, especially when substitutes are on duty. This condition, coupled with the lack of mail receptacles, inevitably impairs the efficiency and delays delivery, with a resultant public inconvenience and loss. To correct this evil it has been decided to conduct a nation-wide campaign with a view of having every building properly numbered and equipped with a suitable receptacle or a slot in the door.

As a preliminary step, on Oct. 19, the postmaster of every post office having city or village delivery service will require his carriers to report the address of every dwelling and place of business on their routes not so numbered or equipped.

In view of the foregoing it will be appreciated if all buildings, places of business and dwellings be numbered and mail receptacles provided to meet the above requirements so that when the national mail receptacle and house number census is taken by the carriers they may not find a dwelling or place of business to report which is not so equipped. If your number has been painted the same color as your house it is hard to see from the sidewalk. If the number is painted white it should be placed on a piece of board painted a dark color, or vice versa. Or perhaps your number could be moved so it could be more conveniently located.

$1,500 IN JUNIOR STOCK CONTESTS

Calves, Pigs and Lambs Fed By Boys and Girls Enter Final Show November 16.

Fifteen hundred boys and girls on Minnesota farms have been feeding baby beef and dairy calves, hogs and sheep this summer in competition for Junior Livestock show honors, according to W. A. McKerrow, secretary of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders association.

The climax of their work will come on Nov. 17, when judging will begin at the fourth annual show at South St. Paul. The show opens on Nov. 16. The best animals raised by the boys and girls of each county in six to eight months of careful feeding have been selected through local competition to enter the final event of the year at the Junior Livestock show. Nov. 18, the last day of the show, will be devoted to an auction sale of beef calves, hogs and sheep. Nearly $9,000 will be spent for prizes and the expenses of the contestants.

In 1916 the Minnesota Livestock Breeders association decided to devote the major part of its income to promoting the work of boys' and girls' calf clubs and competitive junior shows. There were only 35 animals at the first state show; at the 1920 show there were 120 beef calves alone, while two boys from each of 15 counties exhibited dairy calves, and 40 pigs from 40 counties and 40 lambs from 20 counties were entered.

The 1921 show will be the climax of years of work by stockmen, club leaders, county agents and the livestock breeders' association.

BRINGS UNIVERSITY NEARER.

Any man, properly qualified, who fails to take advantage of the general extension division evening business course of the University of Minnesota will be missing what might easily prove the opportunity of his life. The course, of which more extensive mention is made in another section of this issue, offers a two-year study period, divided into four semesters or sections. All instruction is under the direct supervision of one of the most competent local men available and conforms in every respect to the work done in the university proper. The plan is a part of the general extension work of that institution.

The subject to be taken up is business law, a knowledge of which is now almost an essential qualification no matter in what pursuit a person may engage.

It is hard to see where the university could have inaugurated a plan of greater value to those who will take advantage of it. To young men finishing the course it insures credits which will enable them to enter the university and continue their studies, should they so desire, while to the general run of business man it supplies exactly the knowledge he has long recognized as essential to his success.

The entrance requirements are very moderate and almost any man of ordinary education and intelligence may become a student. The result will more than justify any expenditure of time that may have proved necessary. It is an opportunity that should not be overlooked.

TAX COMPARISONS.

The most unpopular things in the world, with the possible exception of the kaiser, are taxes. There is not a community in the United States in which the people do not believe they are being abused and robbed by those whose business it is to see that they are properly governed. Sometimes the people are right, but it is safe to say that more often they are wrong. There is no way of figuring whether taxes are high or low except by comparison. If another community is getting more while expending less, it is certain that the home town is being poorly handled. And it is seldom admitted that the home town is being as well handled in this respect as is some neighboring burg. The tax rate is always high, no matter how low it may be. On the iron ranges where the mining companies pay about 90 per cent of what is collected under this head there is just as much kicking as anywhere else.

The city of Thief River Falls can hardly be called a low-tax town. Last year the total assessment amounted to 89.6 mills. This seems high until compared with some neighboring communities laying pretensions to city size. In Bemidji, for instance, the rate was 165 mills—nearly twice what our people had to pay. This does not prove much unless the valuation is taken into consideration but there is every evidence that the Bemidji valuation is higher in comparison than that at Thief River Falls. Perhaps we are not so grossly mishandled as we sometimes think. Taxes, even though regarded as an evil, are necessary and there is no getting away from them.

There are very few men who are not absolutely positive they could make a great reduction if given the opportunity, but they are mistaken. Some of the most proficient kickers ever developed have been elected to office on a tax-reduction platform. They undoubtedly meant well but found themselves as helpless as their predecessors when it came to the point of furnishing any real relief.

Changing or improving the system might help some. Advertising to the outside world that you are living in a tax-ridden community will only scare people away and make matters worse.

THE DOWLING MEMORIAL.

The editors of Minnesota have been asked to help perpetuate the memory of the late Michael J. Dowling of Olivia by raising a one hundred thousand dollar fund for a memorial hall for crippel children at Phalen Park, where the state home for crippled children is situated. No more fitting monument could be erected in honor of a truly remarkable man, and the editors will meet the request with enthusiasm.

While the work of securing this amount falls upon the newspaper men, the money must come from the citizens who realize the great importance of carrying the project to success.

Mike Dowling was a national character. His great aim was the saving of cripples to a life of usefulness at a time when the rest of the world was bent upon the destruction of as many human beings as possible. A cripple himself, he had faced the fact bravely and made a success of life in spite of his handicap. His own experience and the realization of the fact that others similarly situated might profit by a knowledge of how he had made good led him to become interested in cripples of every description and particularly in crippled children.

His memory is worth perpetuating and the editors of the state have set out to do so in the most fitting manner. In this work they will be enthusiastically assisted by the entire citizenry. The American Legion boys will get behind the movement, knowing of the splendid work the Minnesota man did for those who were crippled on the battle field. The bankers will help because Michael Dowling was one of their number and commanded their unstinted admiration and respect. The general public will help because the need for a home for cripples such as that proposed is recognized. The children will help because their assistance will go toward making the unfortunate among their number happy and useful citizens. Everybody will help.

The editor nearest your home has been appointed to receive your contribution. It need not and should not be large. The dates set for making this collection is from Oct. 17 to Oct. 31. Get behind this movement. It means happiness for thousands perhaps and a fitting memorial to a great Minnesotan.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region)

If Baudette gets any more dogs there won't be enough fleas to go around.

A southern Minnesota exchange complains that old maids and old bachelors are always advising married couples how to raise their children. And then it takes up ten inches of space in telling northern Minnesota how to prevent forest fires.

Magazines are full of advs about wood finish. The surest wood finish we can think of is wood alcohol.

Come on you Indians with your summer.

Looks as if New York will win the world's series.

Bemidji has one resident who should have no difficulty in making his way through life. His name is Otto Hurns.

We don't know who the next mayor of Baudette will be. All we know is that he won't have any sense.

"Prohibition will lengthen life four years," says a cold water speaker. It will seem that much longer, anyway.

STATE EDITORIAL OPINION

THE KLAN AND THE GANG.

Renville County Journal: The Ku Klux Klan is being likened unto the old state political gang during the Burnquist regime. If exposures now being made of the Klan are true it would be hard to decide which is most detrimental to society. Not having been unfortunate enough to have any Klan activities in this part of the country, we believe the gang had it on them.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE.

Le Sueur Herald: A fellow at Northfield writes the fair association that he lost some pop bottles at the late county fair, and would be glad to receive a check in payment for same. Such gross carelessness on the part of the officials should not be tolerated. The president and treasurer should go around with a basket and gather all the stray pop bottles and deliver them, with apologies, to the rightful and respective owners.

A DISAPPEARING RACE.

Worthington Globe: If any of you free American citizens think you are having a hard time, just cast your eyes over Europeward and see to what extent the king industry is in the dumps.

WHERE THE DIFFERENCE LIES.

Warren Register: A Kansas City editor was called as an expert in a lawsuit and asked to define the difference between news and scandal. His opinion as to which is which makes interesting reading, but is too technical and hair-splitting for reproduction here. In actual practice most of the big city dailies hold that if a matter concerns people of prominence in business, society or politics it is news, but if it relates to only common folks it is scandal and unfit to print.

LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE.

Wabasha Herald: Maybe it will be a hard winter. Maybe the big railroad strike will take place. Perhaps the price of coal will be sky high, and very likely there will be any number of other disagreeable things in the next months, but just think of the bright sunshine of next spring; the chirp of the song birds and the laughter of the children, and get that old streak of gloom out of your system. Aren't you glad that you are alive

IT STANDS TO REASON.

Erskine Echo: It is useless to expect the people to do their Christmas buying early unless the merchants do their holiday advertising early. Smoke a pipeful of wisdom, gentlemen.

Five Children Burned to Death in Clearwater County

Five children of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nelson, the eldest 14 years of age, were burned to death early Saturday in a fire at Pine Center, 15 miles from Bagley. The children were sleeping in rooms over a general store and post office, which was destroyed.

Voters, Attention!

Declaration of Principles

We stand for progress; for a bigger and better city; for economical administration of city affairs; for a clean city, not dominated by any certain clique, class or faction, and if elected, we pledge ourselves to conduct a city administration of which no citizen need be ashamed.

We believe that every man and woman should go to the polls and vote. No one should allow their personal affairs to interfere with this privilege and duty. We desire to make a special appeal to the women voters of this city, because we expect to conduct an administration that will meet with their approval, and we ask them to earnestly and carefully consider the issues in this campaign and then vote their convicitions.

Do Not Fail to Vote

Paving is not an issue in this campaign. The paving controversy has passed into history. The matter is fully settled and the streets will be paved just as soon as the weather will permit the contractor to finish the work, and the candidates on this ticket are in favor of the present contract being carried out and fully completed as soon as possible.

Whereas, it has been unfairly stated that an attempt might be made to assess the cost of paving to general taxation, we solemnly pledge ourselves that if elected, we will make no attempt to assess the cost of paving to general taxation; that we will effectively resist any attempt to change the present plan of paying the cost of paving.

When Prices Are Low

PERHAPS no two classes of our industries in this locality are so much dependent upon each other as are farming and banking.

When crops are light, or prices low, it calls for a rearrangement of the farmer's financial plans and the banker's business policy. It is not a time for either to travel about with his tale of trouble but a time for both to settle down to a closer and more intimate co-operation to "weather the storm" together.

Here, your problems are our problems, and will receive our considerate attention. Bank WITH us and you can bank ON us to give you a service intelligently planned with an understanding of your problems.

A Vision of the People's Good

IN his issue of September 22, Mr. H. A. Sturges, Editor of the Republic of Beresford, S. D., prints the following editorial:

"The Republic has carried for a long time a series of messages in the form of advertisements, ordered and paid for by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). There is a notion on the part of many that everything that a corporation does is of a selfish nature, and that there never is a vision of the people's good. These messages have carried an entirely different tone, and we believe they are worth reading from week to week. The data this week is very interesting."

This recognition of the sincere effort which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has put forth through these advertisements to inform the public as to its purposes, policies and ideals, is gratifying.

In the opinion of the seven Directors of this organization, the business of this Company should be, and is, an open book.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an institution performing an essential service in a highly specialized branch of industry.

This Company is owned by 21,188 individuals, not one of whom owns as much as 10 percent of the capital stock.

The management of this Company centers about seven men, who constitute the Board of Directors. Each one is a specialist in one or more branches of the petroleum industry, and devotes all of his time to the business and affairs of this Company. Not one of the Directors has inherited his job; he has earned it.

Individually, and collectively, the Board of Directors believes that the business in which this Company is engaged is so vital, so important to the commercial and domestic life of all the people of the eleven states it serves, that they have caused to be published this series of advertisements, that the people may know how the business is being conducted.

Further, the 25,000 men and women who make up this organization are putting forth such enthusiastic, painstaking efforts to do a good job for the Company, and in turn, for the people, that the Directors are glad to tell the public what is being done.

Through these advertisements they are giving an account of their trusteeship to the people frequently, as they do to the stockholders annually.

This is the purpose of this campaign of advertisements, on which the publisher of the Beresford Republic has seen fit to comment favorably.

Hello!

"HELLO!"

Hello! Isn't this great, saying hello to everybody. I never dreamed it was so much fun before. HELLO!

"Hello!"

"I really don't remember those boys' names, but I met them at the party Saturday night so I guess it's proper."

"Hello!"

"Oh, dear, that was one of the professors. I suppose I should have said 'Good Morning' to him. I wish this would become one of the traditions of Carleton. It's one of the nicest ways of getting acquainted with everybody."—Carletonian.

Prowler Pep Meeting.

The first Prowler Pep Meeting was staged last Wednesday morning at the assembly period. Gregory Werstlein, the editor-in-chief of the staff, opened the meeting with a promise that the Prowler of 1922 would be the best ever, if each student would lend his co-operation in putting it across. He then called upon Lloyd Alness to explain the financial side of the Prowler, which he did in his usual convincing manner. According to Mr. Alness, his department is the most important as the financing of an annual is after all the biggest proposition to tackle. The book, he said, will be a seventy-five page affair and, circumstances permitting, will appear on the market in March or April at the price of two dollars a copy. The subscription blanks are here now. With an urgent request to each student to sign up for an annual at the earliest possible moment, the financial manager made his bow. The third speaker, Milton Larson, as literary editor, made an excellent plea for his cause, extending a special invitation to the aspiring young poets and authors of the Freshman class to make use of his department this year. William Alexander is the joker of the class of '22 and judging by his Wednesday morning burst of enthusiasm doesn't mind advertising that fact as the simplest way of filling the joke box. In a few well-chosen words Lillian Knight, representing the Alumni department, appealed for pictures of former graduates of Lincoln High. Paul Helseth's words were especially directed to those of artistic ability to co-operate with him in making the art department a success. The kodak department narrowly escaped being overlooked. Thanks to a few thoughtful Seniors this was not the case, and we consequently benefited by Ruby Eennes' modest appeal for snap shots to make the Prowler more "snappy." A few more words from the editor-in-chief and an explanation on the part of Mr. Rapacz as to what an annual really is (this intended for Freshmen only) and the first Prowler meeting came to a close.—O. H. '23.

Everyone Interested in The Prowler.

The Seniors are not the only ones who have the welfare of the 1922 Prowler at heart. The annual will be a school annual directly in proportion to the amount of space taken up by the lower classes. They have elected sub-staffs to work in co-ordination with the Senior staff in collecting material and arousing enthusiasm within their respective classes. The annual to be a success in every way, must have the interest of every student in school. A person's interest will naturally be where his effort is expended, so if each student does some work or contributes in any way to the annual, the general interest which is so vital to the success of any undertaking will be realized and the 1922 Prowler will come that much nearer to reaching its goal.

Some Confidential Information Made Public.

The following item on "School Spirit and Tone," from the superintendent's report to the board preparatory to their meeting last Monday night was not intended for publication. At the suggestion of the board, however, it is offered to the readers of the Progress. Studens and parents alike will be glad to know they are impressing their teachers so well.

"I feel that the board should know that the teachers and I, personally, are much pleased with the attitude of the student body in general. We are particularly pleased with the way pupils are taking hold. I know you will be as pleased to receive this information as I am to give it. There is only one thing with which we are not satisfied and that is the great amount of absence and tardiness. Though we are doing what we can to remedy the situation, it is nevertheless far from satisfactory. Some of the reasons given by pupils and parents for non-attendance may be anticipated, it seems to me, another year and the recurrence of this experience thus precluded.

"An incident that pleased me very much occurred at the Central building Sept. 29. Some boys by accident broke a window light. They voluntarily reported to Miss Tandberg, took the sash to the mill, had the glass replaced, and paid for it out of their own pockets. Such manliness is worthy of special notice."

Rainbow Valley.

Half way up the hill we turned and looked back over a beautiful valley. Our attention was immediately attracted by a small lake which lay like an emerald shield. In the mirror of its peaceful flood a second town, the counterpart of that upon the bank, appeared to be inverted in a sea of color. In the sunset sky so many glorious hues were visible that a great treasure-house of Nature filled with materials for a million rainbows appeared to have been broken open and its prismatic colors scattered broadcast. Beyond the lake a river flowed between limitless expanses of variously colored cultivated fields which were dotted here and there with white-walled buildings that in the distance looked like mere playthings.—Lois Nicholson, 8B.

The Freshman Picnic.

Immediately after school on Tuesday, the Freshmen started for Lovers Lane, happy over the thought that they were to enjoy their first "class affair." Upon reaching their destination, Miss Webster, their class advisor, and some of the boys and girls started a fire while the rest played games.

Soon most of the guests who were able to come arrived. They were Mr. Simley, Mr. Stenhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Jardine, Mrs. Korstad, Miss Soule, Miss Stebbins, Miss Leavitt, Miss Bauman and Miss Johnson.

About six o'clock lunch, which consisted of sandwiches, pickles, salad, cake and coffee, was ready. After lunch the lights were turned on, Marshmallows were toasted, games were played and stories were told.

About half-past eight, the picnicers started for home, all feeling that their first Freshman class affair had been a great success.—A Freshman.

Special Music Friday.

Last Friday at "music hour" we were favored with a saxophone duet by Kermit Anderson and John Hendry, accompanied by Miss Johnson. They played three pieces: "Happy Days," "On the Banks of Tripoli," and "My Alice Blue Gown," all of which were thoroughly enjoyed.

We are looking forward to some special music every Friday since we have several talented musicians in high school. It is a benefit to the budding talent to have the opportunity to appear in public and it is an inspiration and enjoyment to the listeners. We can stand a lot of it.

Valley of Evergreens.

Half way up the hill we turned and looked around. On all sides of us were huge evergreen trees, their straight, upright trunks, standing side by side, reminding us of a great army of soldiers. We looked towards the bottom of the valley and saw still more evergreens, very tall, but each one a trifle shorter than the one growing uphill from it. So we could, if we climbed the trees, look straight down the hill, our eyes just glancing over the tops of the trees. Away down at the bottom was a small lake by which stood a young deer drinking the pure water which the evergreens helped cool with their thick, outspreading branches.—Richard Zeh, 8A.

Faculty Have Outing.

On Thursday of last week, the faculty of grades and high school left their dignity at school when 4 o'clock came and betook themselves to Lover's Lane for a picnic. Mr. Harner carried with him a sack resembling that associated with Santa Claus, with interesting knobs and bumps, which upon investigation proved to be merely kindling. Everyone was loaded down with boxes and bundles, kettles and pans.

Mr. Pope and Mr. Jardine proved themselves experts at the art of fire-making and in a very short time the aroma of coffee was drawing everybody to the fire where wieners were being roasted. Sad inroads were made on pots of beans, bowls of salad and piles of rolls, to say nothing of cake and marshmallows.

When everything was gone and the fire had died down to a gray, ashy bed, the picnicers scattered because the weather man had sent too cold a day to play "Ring Around the Rosy" or "Drop the Handkerchief."

Thief River Falls Got East Grand Forks' Goat.

The fore part of last week was darkened by the temporary ineligibility of one of our stellar half-backs and pessimism was inclined to reign. Before the week had drawn to a close, however, the dark cloud had been dispelled and everything was lovely. Why? Thief River trimmed East Grand Forks by a score of 13-0.

The game was very exciting, being filled with numerous long passes, long runs, and real midseason defensive playing. East Grand Forks had a good team and deserve a lot of credit for the fight they put up against the smashing Thief River Falls team. They were exceptionally good on open-field work, completing successfully three long passes, each resulting in good gains. East Grand Forks should at the same time be commended for their gentlemanly and sportsmanlike attitude throughout the game and afterwards. It takes a good team to win but a better team to be a good loser.

Generally in a football game the man carrying the ball is given the credit for the long gains and the work of the forwards who made it possible for him to make the gain is forgotten. The line deserves a great deal of credit for the way they played both offensively and defensively. At one period of the game the East Grand Forks team was held on the five yard line for four downs.

In the backfield Barzen was the most consistent ground gainer. His plunges resulted in both touch-downs. R. Anderson played the strongest game on the defense but was not lacking on offense. Bernard Bischoff proved himself to be a backfield man of ability when subsituted in Sorenson's place. McGinn at quarter showed wonderful improvement over last Saturday. Borchers of the opposing team was easily their star, directing their attack and at the same time doing the bulk of the work on offense and defense.

Crookston There Next Saturday.

Our pigskin artists leave the city for their game on Saturday to lock horns with the fast Crookston team. Local supporters are looking for another victory and base their prophecy on the fact that East Grand Forks copped one from Crookston and our boys in turn made East Grand Forks bite the grass. Our boys, however, are not looking for an easy victory. Crookston has a good team and we recognize it. Coach Stenhoff is, therefore, putting his men through some of the hardest drilling if the season.

Administration's Corner

REPORT CARDS.

This week brings to a close the first six weeks period of school. Early next week report cards will be given to all pupils in both grades and high school. The purpose of the report cards is to give pupils and their parents information as to what the pupils are doing in their respective grades. The reports should, therefore, be carefully studied. Particular attention should be given the grading in application and deportment. All parents would rather that their children be good and industrious than clever.

On the other hand, the grades earned in the formal subjects should by no means be overlooked. If grades fall below C, the pupil is not getting as much out of his schooling as he should. Grades of D and below mean the pupil is in danger of not passing. Early and consistent attention should therefore be paid to the reports. If this is done, most pupils can and will get more out of their schooling and in many cases failures can be prevented. This is the time to take care of this matter. Let's all get together and work for the best interests of all concerned.

TO THE COUNTY TEACHERS

The week of Oct. 17-21 has been designated by the State Department of Education as Teachers Institute week for this county. This institute will be held at the Lincoln high school of this city and will commence promptly at 9 a. m., closing at 4 p. m. of each day.

All teachers are urged to attend as they are paid for full time for the days they are in attendance. Certificates will be forwarded to all teachers following the closing of the institute, which, when presented to the clerk, is a valid claim against the district for time spent at the institute. They will be enrolled the first day and roll call will be taken twice every day by the state instructors in charge. Teachers of course know that perfect attendance at institute certificates are necessary for the issuance, renewal or extension of their teachers' certificates. For this reason, if for no other, they should attend institute and try to obtain institute certificates.

In past years the libraries of our elementary schools have been greatly neglected. The department is aware of the fact and this year are planning on remedying this condition by special instruction at teachers' institutes. A whole period a day will be given to this work, which is in charge of Miss Coral Osborn. Every teacher is asked to take with him or her the school's latest copy of the state library list (together with supplements if there are any) and two library books (not fiction) from the school's library. One of these books should be in need of mending. If you cannot locate a copy of the Minnesota library list (blue paper covers) inquire at the clerk's office as this list has in the past been supplied to all schools of the county and is therefore the property of the district and should be kept as such.

The last two days of the institute will be convention days. The Northern Minnesota Educational association hold their annual convention at Crookston. The convention provides for a rural or elementary sectional meeting where the rural teachers of eight counties will assemble and discuss rural educational problems of the day. The institute instructors from some of these counties will also attend this convention. In past years the rural or elementary teachers have been paid salaries equal to those of grade teachers. The present year finds several teachers less fortunate. Grade teachers and high school teachers' salaries remain practically unchanged. Now you may wonder why the difference? This may answer the question. The last named class of teachers are nearly all members of some district educational association and the Minnesota Educational association. They show progressiveness by attending the conventions of the associations to which they belong and keep informed on all new questions in regard to the work of their profession. All progressive people of today, either in trades or professions, belong to an organization of some kind. Is it not time that rural or elementary school teachers "wake up to the fact" and join some organization that looks after their interests?

A special car will be at the disposal of all the county's teachers. We will all leave Thief River Falls in a body; rural, grade and high school teachers. We will all have an opportunity to listen to lectures of the leading educators of the Northwest, which will be a feature of all general sessions of this convention.

Programs covering the N. M. E. A. convention will be distributed at the institute.

The following program will be observed:

Forenoon session—9 to 9:15, opening exercises, Mr. H. H. Fuller; 9:15 to 10, library work, Miss Coral Osborn; 10 to 10:15, recess and games; 10:15 to 11:15, industrial arts, Mr. Fuller; 11:15 to 12, reorganization of T. P. league; 12 to 1:45, noon intermission.

Afternoon session—1:45 to 2:30, opening exercises, Miss Osborn; 2:30 to 2:45, psychology, Mr. Fuller; 2:45 to 3:20, story telling, Miss Osborn; 3:20 to 3:30, recess; 3:30 to 4, county superintendent or local speaker.

GEO. M. GUNDERSON,
Co. Supt. of Schools.

Michelet Busy on New Job; Boosting For Sale of Lands

Wilhelm Michelet, until recently of this city but now superintendent of state farm lands, is busy working at his new job. In a letter to County Auditor T. P. Anderson he calls attention to the fact that there will be four special land sales held this fall in the following counties: Hubbard, Lake, Becker and Clearwater, at the following places: Two Harbors, Nov. 3, 11 o'clock a. m.; Detroit, Nov. 8, 10 a. m.; Park Rapids, Nov. 9, 11 a. m.; Bagley, Nov. 10, 9 a. m.

Mr. Michelet asks that publicity be given these sales in order that anyone who may wish to attend will be made acquainted with the dates. He states that approximately 17,000 acres will be put up for sale, the terms being 15 per cent cash at at time of sale, balance on or before 40 years at 4 per cent interest, payable annually.

Women of City Preparing to Work For Disarmament

Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, Mrs. Daniel Shaw and Mrs. L. G. Larsen have been named by the executive committee of the League of Women Voters as a publicity committee on disarmament, and they will shortly furnish the women of this city and county with plenty of information on this subject, which is one of the big questions of the day.

The National League of Women Voters in April sent the first formal deputation to President Harding asking that our country take the initiative in calling together the nations of the world to confer upon finding a way to limit armament and prevent future wars. This noteworthy gathering will be held soon in Washington.

Preparatory thereto will be the annual convention of the Minnesota League of Women Voters on Oct. 18 to 20 in Minneapolis, and to which the local executive committee has named as delegates Mrs. Robert Vance, Mrs. A. P. Fox and Mrs. W. R. Patterson.

Will Test More Cattle For Tuberculosis Soon

Dr. W. J. Fretz, inspector in charge of tuberculosis eradication, has notified the farm bureau that considerable work in testing cattle will be done within the next 60 days in Pennington county. This will make Pennington one of the cleanest counties in the country as far as tuberculosis eradication is concerned.

Anyone wishing this work done should sign an application at the farm bureau office, as no herds will be taken until this application is filed.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

FIRST BLOCK OF NEW PAVEMENT IS TESTED OUT

Five Thousand People Gather to Celebrate Great Event in City's History.

Parade Marks Opening of Evening's Festivities, Which Last Until Midnight.

"Thief River Falls, 1925; population, 10,000."

The above slogan was the keynote of an excellent address delivered by Mayor John Bratrud at the celebration in honor of opening the first block of pavement in the city on Monday evening. The remark caught the crowd and his honor was cheered.

It was without any exception the largest gathering of people ever seen in the city. Not even wartime enthusiasm was able to bring so many together. A conservative estimate places the number crowded into the one block between Fifth and Sixth streets on Main avenue at 5,000, while others who claim to be in a position to judge put the figures even higher.

An Impromptu Parade.

Headed by the band, a long procession started from the corner of Third street and LaBree avenue shortly before 8 o'clock. Banners bearing appropriate inscriptions were carried aloft by enthusiastic citizens and red flares lit up the line of march for the entire distance. It was a happy crowd and if there were those present who did not enter into the spirit of the occasion they were careful not to let the fact become known.

Seats had been erected on both sides the entire length of the block by order of the city council and these were nearly all filled by the time the marchers arrived on the scene. That made no particular difference as standing around on the nice new pavement did not prove much of a hardship.

Short Addresses Made.

W. B. Fuller, as officer of the day, introduced Dr. G. A. Penney, former mayor, who very efficiently officiated as chairman. A platform had been erected in the center of the block on the west side of the street and this was occupied by the speakers, members of the city council and outside visitors. Dr. Penney gave a short, snappy booster talk and then introduced Mayor Bratrud. The head of the city government thanked those present for having turned out in such numbers and said that he hoped this paving undertaking would prove only the beginning of a program that would place Thief River Falls where it belonged—in the very forefront of northwestern Minnesota cities. The mayor laid stress upon the fact that the city was only made possible by the fact that the surrounding country was rapidly filling up with prosperous farmers and hoped that a spirit of co-operation would at all times influence whatever dealings the people of the town might have with their neighbors, whether these lived in another town or were residents of a farming district.

The opinion was unanimous that the mayor had never appeared to better advantage. He spoke easily and convincingly, common sense and good feeling toward all being the outstanding features of his remarks.

Friendly Visitor Speaks.

City Attorney H. O. Chommie was next called upon. He stated that the event which was being celebrated marked an epoch in the history of Thief River Falls. It would, said the speaker, prove the dividing line between a large village and a small but enterprising city. Communities, like individuals, find it impossible to stand still, said Mr. Chommie. They must go either forward or backward. Thief River Falls has now set itself for a progressive forward movement and he looked to see great things accomplished by its people if they will only work together. Co-operation and confidence are all that is needed to place the city in the front ranks among Minnesota municipalities, he said, and this co-operation he hoped would manifest itself without delay.

Mr. Chommie's remarks were exactly in line with the feelings of his audience, apparently, and he was roundly applauded.

Dr. N. M. Watson of Red Lake Falls, who was the chaperone in charge of a sizable delegation from that city, was next called upon. The genial doctor has always been a strong favorite with the people of Thief River Falls and he lost nothing in popularity by his address on Monday night. He started out by congratulating the town and citizens upon the fine appearance of the paved street and said that from no section would more hearty approval come than from our neighbor to the south. The speaker referred to the time when there was no Thief River Falls—or very little of it, at any rate—and said it was astonishing to note the progress that had been made. There were no roads when he first came to this section, he said, and the present generation has but a faint conception of what the pioneers went through. It is largely due to the hardihood and courage of these early settlers that cities such as Thief River Falls have sprung up all over this great section, continued Dr. Watson, and in congratulating themselves upon the achievements of the present day it would be well for our people to give a thought to those who displayed their faith in the future of the section at a time when paved streets and all other modern conveniences were so far in the future that they could not even be imagined. Dr. Watson made a great hit with the crowd and was cheered.

Dancing on the Pavement.

While all this was going on, a few enterprising young men had been scattering cornmeal all over the pavement in preparation for dancing. No sooner was the speaking program concluded than the band struck up and the street was filled with whirling couples. Coffee, ice cream and doughnuts had been provided by the paving company as its share towards the evening's festivities and these were freely partaken of. Dancing continued until after midnight, when the crowd dispersed, voting the affair one of the most enjoyable they had ever attended.

$136,211 GAINED IN PERSONAL TAX BY SPECIAL ASSESSOR

Additions to List Number 180. Commission Sits as Board of Review Oct. 28.

The entire membership of the Minnesota Tax commission will be in Thief River Falls on Friday, Oct. 28, for the purpose of sitting as a board of review on the report of Special Assessor L. R. Swift. The latter has finished his labors and will have his report ready when the board meets.

Mr. Swift was sent here by the commission upon the recommendations of the board of county commissioners, the members of which were not satisfied with the figures turned in by the city assessor.

Mr. Swift went about his task systematically and found that a considerable number of those who should pay taxes on personal property or moneys and credits had been overlooked. The original assessment list contained 449 names, while that to be presented to the commission at review sittings has a total of 629. This added number is largely responsible for the increase in the amount of taxes to be collected, there being few if any changes made in the original figures.

The total gain in the city is $136,211. Of this amount $68,853 is represented by additional personal property and $67,358 by additional money and credits.

Mr. Swift says that those previously assessed are not in any way affected by the reassessment, the gain simply representing additional taxpayers and a larger amount of property. He also states that the amount of moneys and credits disclosed is a surprise to him and he doubts if there is another city in Minnesota of the same population making an equal showing in this respect.

CITY'S OLDEST MAN IS LAID TO REST

Resident of Northwest Since His Arrival From Norway Sixty-Three Years Ago.

Torjus Haraldson, 91 years of age, died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Anna Aaland, 309 Main avenue north, from complications incident to old age. The funeral was held from the Trinity Lutheran church on Sunday, Rev. T. E. Sweger officiating. Deceased was a veteran of the civil war and a firing squad from the local post of the American Legion paid the last honors to his memory by firing a salute over the grave.

Mr. Haraldson, who was perhaps the oldest man in Thief River Falls at the time of his death, was born on a farm at Uteguard, Byrte, Moe Parish, Telemarken, Norway, on July 17, 1830. He emigrated to America in 1858, the trip from Drammen, Norway, to Quebec taking eight weeks and four days. Having relatives in Northwood, Iowa, he traveled there from McGregor, in that state, 130 miles, on foot. He later took up a homestead at Round Prairie in Freeborn county, Minnesota, where he was married to Miss Aase Graver. To this union six children were born, five sons and one daughter, two of the sons dying in infancy. Haraldson had been in this country but a few years when the civil war broke out and he enlisted early in the conflict and served to the end.

The wife died in 1910 and shortly thereafter Mr. Haraldson came to Thief River Falls to make his home among his children. Besides Mrs. Aaland there are Alex, Edwin and Harold, all residing here. He was blind during the last 27 years of his life but otherwise retained his faculties to the end.

In the Candy Business.

B. J. Bakke came up from Minneapolis this week on a visit to his family. He is now the owner of the Roof Garden Candy company, 21 North Sixth street, Minneapolis, and manufactures a high grade of confectionery. He says that since buying the business he has enjoyed a very good trade and that his business is being steadily extended.

ANOTHER GREAT BARGAIN EVENT BEING PLANNED

Fifth Market Day of Thief River Falls to Eclipse All Previous Efforts.

Array of Bargains in All Stores Offer Exceptional Money-Saving Opportunities.

Aeolian Vocalion to Be Grand Present in Free Distribution in the Afternoon.

The fifth monthly Market Day of the Thief River Falls Merchants association will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 26, and the intention is to make it the greatest bargain-giving event of the entire series. That such is the case is borne out by the exceptional offerings announced in the section of The Times devoted particularly to Market Day advertising. In addition there are several interesting offers made in the regular advertising columns of the paper and these should be looked over with as much care as those dealing with Market Day exclusively.

A Great Success.

These Market Days have been a great success, particularly from the point of view of the buying public. Opportunities have been presented whereby merchandise of every description and of the highest quality has been bought at prices never before equalled in this section. Thousands have taken advantage of the offerings on the four Market Days already held, each of which has shown a decided gain over the preceding month in the volume of business transacted.

Come Long Distances.

One of the most noticeable facts connected with this venture on the part of Thief River Falls merchants is the gradual extension of their trade territory. While the first Market Day brought a large crowd to the city it was noted that the immediate neighborhood furnished the bulk of visitors. Each succeeding Market Day has seen the circle extended until now the event is looked for by thousands residing as far north as the Canadian border and for a considerable distance into Dakota. Toward the south and east the same thing is true, and it is safe to say that never has a plan been inaugurated by the merchants of a community which has come so near to accomplishing just what was intended. The business men wished to make Thief River Falls known as a trade center and were willing to pay for the service. They have been more successful than the most optimistic dared hope.

The Free Distribution.

The coupon plan for a free distribution of desirable articles will be continued, this having in the past proven most popular. The big prize this time will be an Aeolian Vocalion of the latest model and valued at $90. Other articles to be disposed of under the same plan are: Set of Community silver, one Stetson hat, pair lady's shoes, pair men's shoes, one Gossard corset, one fountain pen, one Hatter's plush sailor hat, one $4 Everready pencil, and one lady's writing portfolio. One certificate entitling the holder to share in this distribution will be given with each 25 cent cash purchase. It has been decided not to give certificates where money is paid on old accounts. The certificates must be deposited either at the First National bank or at the First and Peoples State bank, and the articles will be distributed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the corner of Third street and LaBree avenue. The 22 business men whose names appear at the bottom of an announcement in another part of The Times today are buying these articles outright and presenting them, one to each of ten persons present and making a purchase of 25 cents or more in the city on Market Day.

The Main Attractions.

While this free distribution is intended to add interest to the day's proceedings it is by no means the outstanding feature of the occasion. This will be found to be the hundreds of unusual bargains offered in the stores of the merchants. The particular articles on which reductions will be made are announced in the advertisements, but there will be hundreds of exceptional buying opportunities of which no mention is made. It will be a general price-reduction day and the wise buyer will take advantage of the fact.

Come to Thief River Falls on Wednesday, Oct. 26. It will be worth your while.

Elks to Usher in Season With Big Party on Nov. 4

Members of Thief River Falls lodge No. 1308, B. P. O. E., will enjoy the first dancing party of the fall season at the lodge rooms on Friday evening, Nov. 4. There will be a regular supper served at 8 o'clock, after which there will be cards and dancing.

This party will usher in a new series of entertainments for the Elks and special pains have been taken to insure a great success. The plan makes it a little late for those who have been in the habit of getting their supper shortly after 6 o'clock, but it is figured that the wait will make them just that much more hungry and they will thus be able to do justice to the many good things provided. The committee wants it understood that this is to be no mere dance lunch, but a genuine supper such as mother used to cook. A charge of $1.50 will be made—50 cents per couple for the dance and 50 cents per plate for the supper. All Elks are asked to be on hand and give the new season a good start.

Improving Elks' Grounds.

The river bank site purchased by Thief River Falls lodge of Elks at the foot of Third street is being improved by having the overburden removed by the pavers from some of the city streets deposited in the low places. Already the plot presents a much better appearance and by the time all the dirt that is to be removed on Third street is dumped there the place will have been raised to a considerable height. The Elks intend some time in the future to erect a club house and lodge room on the site and are gradually getting the grounds in shape.

YOUNG MEN DROWN IN WARROAD RIVER; JOHN STEEN IS LOST

Survivor Tells of Accident in Which Former Thief River Falls Boy Lost Life.

John Steen, 24 years old and a graduate with the '18 class of Thief River Falls high school, was drowned in Warroad river last Saturday afternoon. With two companions, Garfield and Arthur Franson of Warroad, he was in a boat about four miles up the river when the craft in some manner capsized. This happened about five o'clock in the afternoon, according to Arthur Franson, the only survivor, and the men managed to get the boat righted. About dark the same thing happened again and Steen and Garfield Franson were unable to reach the shore. Arthur Franson managed to get to land and spent 13 hours wandering around in a muskeg before being found by rescuing parties sent out from Warroad when no news of the missing men was to be had. He was in a bad way from cold and exposure but is getting along all right according to reports. He told of what had happened and the river was dragged in all directions in the hope of recovering the bodies, but persons acquainted with the stream say there is little likelihood of their ever being found.

Young Steen was well known and very popular here, where the family lived for many years before moving to Warroad. He was on the honor roll at the time of his graduation and was prominent in athletics, particularly football. The Steens have resided in Warroad about four years.

BOTTEM HARDWARE BUSINESS SOLD TO SOUTH DAKOTA MEN

Christensen & Voelz, the New Owners, Men of Long Experience in the Trade.

A deal was this week consummated whereby the stock of the P. J. Bottem Hardware company became the property of F. L. Christensen and F. L. Voelz, formerly of Aberdeen, S. D., who will continue the business under the firm name of Christensen & Voelz.

The new owners of the oldest hardware store in this section are both men of long business experience, Mr. Christensen having for 15 years been connected with the Jackson Hardware company of Aberdeen, while Mr. Voelz has been a resident of the same city for a similar length of time. The former particularly knows the hardware business from the bottom up and is equipped in every way to render service of the very highest order.

"We decided to locate in Thief River Falls after investigating conditions in many other cities," said Mr. Christensen. "We are here to stay and will do our share toward helping make the city the best in the entire northwest. You have a fine town and a progressive class of people and we are going to do our best to merit their confidence." Both Mr. Christensen and Mr. Voelz have their families here.

Mr. Bottem will remain in the city for the present in order to close up his affairs. He has made no definite arrangements for the future but is considering moving west.

A program of music and short talks will be held immediately after the supper. A business session will also be held to discuss the plans for the poultry exhibit which will take place Dec. 6, 7, 8 and 9.

STRIKE ORDERS RECEIVED HERE BY UNION HEADS

Unless Settlement is Reached 300 in This City Will Quit Work on Nov. 3.

Train Service Group Has Received Instructions But Action of Other in Doubt.

Meeting at Chicago This Week Will Try to Effect Compromise to Avert Ticup.

There is little change in the railway strike situation. The train service group of unions seem determined to go out beginning next Monday morning, but the action of the 11 other unions is not so certain. No definite strike orders have been issued by these latter and conferences to be held in Chicago from Friday morning until Sunday evening will determine the final outcome so far as the million and a half members of these organizations are concerned. The yardmasters, numbering 8,000 men, have voted to stick to their posts. Up to date dispatchers and linemen have not been included in the strike order. Unless a settlement is reached before that time, the Big Four brotherhoods, comprising the trainmen, engineers, firemen and conductors, will begin striking on Oct. 30, on which date the first group will be called out. The men on the Soo are scheduled to stop work on the morning of Nov. 3, being in the third group to be called.

Trying to Avert Trouble.

Every agency of the government is at work trying to effect some kind of a compromise. One basis for consideration at the Chicago conference will be the suggestion that the railroads do not put into effect the threatened wage cut of ten per cent announced some time ago and grant a reduction in freight rates on the necessities of life equal to the reduction alread ymade in the wages of the men. President J. R. Howard of the Farm Bureau Federation has filed a petition on behalf of 1,250,000 farmers asking that these rates be immediately reduced from 10 to 20 per cent.

300 Affected Here.

If a general strike of railroad men is ordered about 300 men will be thrown out of work in Thief River Falls and between 900 and 1,000 on the Winnipeg division of the Soo. There are 92 section foremen on the division and 300 section laborers, 15 towermen, 92 station employes, etc., 40 clerks, 120 trainmen and conductors, 80 engineers and firemen and about 150 members of the shop crafts. Besides these the 40 men employed in the bridge and building department will probably go out with the others. These figures are for the Soo line only and do not include the Great Northern employes.

Hopeful of Settlement.

While railroad officials in this city admit that the outlook is grave, they are still hopeful that a settlement of some kind will be reached before the strike is called. Union officials admit having received the walkout order for the morning of Nov. 3 and that it will be generally obeyed unless some agreement is reached before that time.

In many of the larger cities motor transport lines are being established in anticipation of the rail tieup. In the meantime every agency working in the public interest is trying to avert the strke.

Legion Dancing Party.

Eklund Post, American Legion, will give a dancing party for members and ladies of the auxiliary at the auditorium on Friday evening. Supper will be served at Hotel Evelyn and the boys have made arrangements for one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season. Admission is by invitation and it is expected that a hundred couples will be present.

ANOTHER HIGHWAY NORTH AND SOUTH THROUGH THE CITY

Mississippi River Scenic Road Officials Coming to Look Over Situation.

There is every probability that Thief River Falls will be made an important point on another international thoroughfare. General Manager Pierson of the Mississippi River Scenic highway is expected in the city today or tomorrow for the purpose of taking the matter up with the local good roads boosters.

The Mississippi River Scenic highway was primarily intended to extend from Port Arthur, Texas, to Port Arthur, Ontario, and this is still the main object. The route will follow the Mississippi river as closely as possible to a point a short distance north of the twin cities, where it will form two branches, one going through Duluth to Port Arthur and the other northward to Winnipeg. The last mentioned leg will in all probability pass through Detroit, Mahnomen, Brooks, Red Lake Falls, thence over the state highway to Thief River Falls and westward to Warren. From there the route as now planned goes through Argyle, Stephen, Donaldson and Hallock, to Winnipeg.

While at Grand Marais recently attending a meeting of the state forestry board, Daniel Shaw of this city met Manager Pierson of the Mississippi river highway project, and urged upon him the advisability of investigating the route as above indicated. This has apparently been done as the letter received announcing the coming of the officials of the road contains this paragraph:

"The writer is accompanying General Manager Pierson on an inspection trip over the northern lines of the Mississippi River Scenic highway and we are considering making a change in the routing so as to include Thief River Falls, which we believe will furnish a much more satisfactory route than that at present planned through to Winnipeg."

It is possible that R. S. Dewar, traffic manager, and Herman Bryan, international vice president for Canada, will be with the party visiting Thief River Falls.

AMPLE SUPPLY OF DEEP WELL WATER SOON AVAILABLE

Tank Cleaned, Mains Flushed in Readiness For Experiment When Repairs Are Made.

Unless Supt. O. L. Legvold is badly mistaken as to the capacity of the deep well from which the city has been taking a part of its water supply, the flow is sufficient to meet all demands, while the quality seems to be of the very best. Water from this source would now be filling the mains were it not that an accident put the pump temporarily out of commission. Repairs will be made on Friday, after which all the river water will be let out of the mains and a supply from the well exclusively substituted.

The pressure tank has been cleared of all sand and other accumulations and everything is in readiness for another attempt to get pure water for the citizens of Thief River Falls. Supt. Legvold has had all the mains flushed and was surprised at the small amount of sediment and other matter found. When the water from the well has been pumped into the reservoir and from there to the tank, whatever of sand may have been pumped up will be entirely eliminated. Thereafter it is the intention to run about two tanksful through the mains for the purpose of a final flushing, after which it is believed the water will be as pure as any to be found in the state.

The new reservoir has a capacity of 450,000 gallons, or six times that of the pressure atnk. The reservoir will be kept full at all times so that practically an unlimited supply of water will be available, no matter what the emergency. That the well is amply able to supply the requirements is evidenced by the fact that it has been tested thoroughly and showed no signs of giving out even under the most severe strain.

FINE CORN DISPLAY FEATURES FAIR OF EASTERN FARMERS

Potato Exhibit Also Attracts Wide Attention Among Goodridge Visitors.

The third annual fair for eastern Pennington, southern Marshall and western Beltrami counties held at Goodridge on Monday was in many respects the best ever attempted by the people of that section. It was the intention of the management this year to lay special stress upon corn and potato displays, the result being that the show was devoted largely to these staples. Everyone who attended the fair is of the opinion that no finer corn will be shown any place in the state this year, this also being the verdict of L. M. McCall of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, who officiated as judge. The potatoes shown were also of exceptional quality, being largely grown from certified seed. The potato crop in the eastern end of the county this year will prove the farmers' mainstay, providing the prices keep anywhere near where they are at present.

There were displays of grains and grasses of very high grade but these were not shown in such profusion as in former years. The vegetable, garden and horticultural exhibits were very fine, while that of the school children was up to its usual high standard. The boys' and girls' calf club exhibited ten calves cared for by members of the club and every one showed the effect of intelligent handling and care.

The fair managers are more than pleased with the result of their efforts and believe that the exhibit is more firmly established than ever as an annual event. The attendance was good and the speaking program greatly enjoyed. The poultry demonstration by H. E. Hoberg was one of the interesting features of the fair and the display of chickens one that would be a credit to many county exhibits.

BOOSTERS FROM BEMIDJI COMING TO ASK OUR AID

Would Enlist Interest Here in Securing Opening of Red Lake Reservation.

Making Tour of All Towns in District to Work Up Enthusiasm For Project.

Railroad to Grygla and Red Lakes One of Subjects Certain to Be Discussed.

A delegation from the Bemidji Civic and Commerce association will be in Thief River Falls on Friday afternoon for the purpose of discussing with our people some of the problems in which Thief River Falls is as vitally interested as is Bemidji. A letter from the managers of the trip states that the objects of the expedition are co-operation, getting acquainted, and working together for the speedy carrying out of the drainage undertaking, the alloting of Red Lake reservation lands to the Indians and the opening of the surplus lands on the west side of the reserve for settlement when drained, giving the world war veterans the first chance to select lands after the Indians have secured their share.

Want Railroad to Grygla.

The Bemidji boosters will also ask that the people of Thief River Falls assist them in working up sentiment and providing enough traffic so that the Soo, Northern Pacific or Great Northern railroad will find it of advantage to extend their lines so as to furnish the Red Lake and Grygla district with the most direct transportation facilities to the primary markets south and eastward, and for fuel and other forest products westward.

The announcement goes on to say: "The opening and development of the 325,000 acres of Indian lands is a big project, through drainage and practical farm development by the Indians and others, and Bemidji asks for your very best thought and effort to speed this development along."

Must Move Fast.

In case of inclement weather the trip will be postponed to a later date. The party expected to leave Bemidji at 7:30 o'clock this morning, making the first stop at Solway. Short stops will also be made at Shevlin, Bagley, Clearbrook, Gonvick, Gully and Trail, arriving at Oklee at 12:30. This town is the dinner control. Leaving Oklee at 1:30 the party expects to arrive at Highlanding at 2:30, Goodridge at 3:15 and Grygla at 4:30, where the night will be spent.

Leaving Grygla at 7 o'clock Friday morning the excursionists aim to arrive at Gatzke at 8:30 and Wannaska an hour later. Roseau will be reached at 10:30 and the trip to Thief River Falls begun half an hour later. According to schedule the delegation should reach Thief River Falls at 1 o'clock, but it will take some rather sensational driving to accomplish this feat. This city will be made the dinner control on Friday and a meeting with the Commercial club members and others is requested at 2 o'clock, the session lasting one hour. From here the party will go to Red Lake Falls and on home to Bemidji.

Notice is Short.

Very little time is allowed in which to formulate any kind of a program for the meeting, but our people will be glad of the opportunity to talk over these matters with the Bemidji representatives. Secretary G. L. Sterns of the Commercial club has notified all the members he could reach and many have promised to be present.

League of Women Voters

Collier's has invited Mr. A. G. Gardiner, for many years editor of the London Daily News, to speak for Great Britain. He says:

"All the old war cries have gone like the snows of yesteryear. We have two missionaries in our midst—Unemployment and the Tax Gatherer. The former is preaching to the poor and the latter is preaching to the rich. The white races must combine to break the power of the sword. That lesson is being learned very thoroughly in England. I do not doubt that America is learning it too. If so, the Washington conference should be the beginning of a new and happier era."

"Times are hard because the world refuses to return to a peace basis." Instead of trying to revive industry, the nations are trying to continue war. Resources, including money and men, that ought to be devoted to tasks of reconstruction are being poured down the sluice of destruction.

Science and invention are still so busy searching for bigger bombs, deadlier gases, ways to use germs in warfare, and all the rest of it that they have no time to hunt for keys that will open the new doors to human progress, human happiness.

Too much of the money that could restore life to trade, kindling to fires in smokeless factories, goes into warcraft and munitions. And this employment of money and men is not of the slightest value as an accelerator of good times.

Energy devoted to the production of waste is lost energy. What is additional armament but waste? Dedicated, frankly, to destruction, it is headed for the junk pile from the start. Every hour that goes into its creation is time taken away from the making of something with social value. Every dollar that it costs is money taken out of the decent and vivifying channels of necessary production.

A battleship costs between thirty and fifty million dollars. Spending that money forces Great Britain and Japan to similar expenditure. Then it is up to us to meet their raise. If you wish, figure out for yourself how much arid acreage could be irrigated for the cost of one ship—how many swamps could be drained—how many miles of hard roads built.

Good Lumber and Just Lumber

There's a difference

The fact that Lumber and all other kinds of building materials are now down in price is all the more reason why you should be sure of getting the best your money will buy. Conditions are such that unreliable concerns are sometimes tempted to shove a lot of questionable stuff off onto the unsuspecting purchaser. For this reason it is safest to deal with houses having a reputation for reliability and squareness. We have spent a quarter of a century building up such a reputation and no matter what conditions are we do not intend to be swayed from this course. Whatever you buy from our yard is guaranteed to be just exactly as we represent it.

THIS IS A GOOD TIME TO BUILD

Labor is plentiful and reasonable in price; material costs are lower than for years past; harvest is over and the farmer in particular has the time to attend to his neglected building program. In fact, this is the time to build anything needed whether on the farm or in town.

We have plans that will help you out if you wish to use them. Our experts will advise you on any subject concerning which you may be in doubt. Service is as much a part of our business as selling material.

BEMIDJI IS COMING.

Friday afternoon sometime—the exact hour cannot be stated—a large delegation of boosters from Bemidji will invade the city for the purpose of talking several matters over with our people. There are a whole lot of things the two towns have in common and a discussion of such subjects as interests both should prove of some value.

It seems that first and foremost the Bemidji people are anxious for the opening of certain portions of the Red Lake reservation to settlement. In this they will be heartily seconded by the citizens here. There is more land on the reservation than the Indians can ever put to any kind of use, leave alone develop to its full possibility, and this should be turned over to those who are willing to put in the time, money and work necessary to place the vast tract among the producing regions of the country. The Indians would lose nothing by such a move. By treaties all their rights would be safeguarded and whatever was paid them for the land would be clear gain as they are now making no use of it whatever.

Thief River Falls can also back Bemidji most enthusiastically in its effort to secure a railroad to tap the Grygla and Red Lake districts. Such line will eventually be built, but just at the present time there is not much satisfaction to be gained from urging railway construction. However, a vigorous demand will help matters along when the time comes for taking such things up in earnest again.

We also agree with Bemidji as to the necessity for drainage. This problem is being well taken care of by the Red Lake Conservancy commission and anything in the way of further effort in this direction just now might only serve to confuse the issue and retard operations. We shall be glad to hear what the Beltrami county men have to suggest, however, and if their plan looks better than anything upon which we are at present working from this end, shall no doubt be willing to adopt it.

At any rate, Bemidji will be made welcome. The managers of the trip should have so arranged matters that a longer period than one hour could be spent in the city, but a whole lot of things can be said and done in an hour—particularly when people know what they want and what they are talking about.

A HIGHWAY CENTER.

It is to be hoped that the managers of the Mississippi River Scenic highway will become convinced that routing their road through Thief River Falls will prove the most feasible way of reaching Winnipeg, one of the objectives of the thoroughfare. This additional road can be secured if our people go after it in the right spirit, as the officials in charge are already strongly predisposed in favor of such routing.

This road will run from Port Arthur, Texas, to Port Arthur, Ont., as a main line, but will branch off just north of the Twin Cities, one branch going through Duluth and the other northward to Winnipeg. It is this latter project in which Thief River Falls is principally interested. It would mean a large tourist travel from the southern sections lying to the west of the present Jefferson Highway and would bring Thief River Falls into closer communication with Detroit, Mahnomen, Brooks and other enterprising towns in the eastern part of the Red River valley. For the people of these latter communities such a highway would not only afford an all-year route to Winnipeg, but by utilizing the excellent laterals would give them access by the easiest route to the Lake of the Woods. Citizens of Warroad and Baudette should be interested in having this important arterial thoroughfare run through Thief River Falls as it would be bringing their attractions to the notice of people residing on the west side of the Mississippi clear to the Gulf of Mexico.

By all means let us get the Mississippi Scenic if we can. We know what the Jefferson has meant to the city. The Scenic will prove just as important.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING
(Little Falls Herald)

An enumeration of the reasons for advertising has recently been given out. There are eight reasons advanced, but there are many others, of course. However, here are eight that are very splendid and highly convincing, as given in a southern newspaper:

Newspaper reading is a universal habit; newspaper advertising, therefore, reaches virtually all who buy.

Newspaper advertising is the life blood of local trade because it touches all consumer sources in every community. It gives the national advertiser the same opportunity for complete consumer appeal in any locality.

Newspaper advertising cuts selling costs because it entails no waste in locality of circulation. Manufacturers use it to cover markets where it is profitable to do business.

Newspaper advertising insures a quick, thorough and economical dealers' distribution and dealers' good will, because retailers are willing to sell products advertised direct to their own consumers.

Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers to tell where their products may be bought.

Newspaper advertising may be started or stopped over night, can be prepared between days to meet certain developments and to obtain immediate results.

Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers to check advertising results and costs in every market which they enter.

Newspaper advertising costs less than any other kind.

The merchant or other business man who is not taking advantage of the opportunities offered by newspaper advertising to boost his business now will still be facing readjustment problems when his competitor is back on a normal business plane.

HOW AUTO LICENSE MONEY IS USED.

(St. Cloud Journal-Press)

The report of State Treasurer Rines on the money paid out in the month of September in the Trunk Highway fund, which is a correct index for the other months of the year, shows how it is being expended in Commissioner Babcock's department.

Administration, $4,788.45; construction, $858,874.47; maintenance, $287,885.57; equipment, $51,963.32.

The total is near a million and a quarter dollars, and of this amount less than five thousand goes to the administrative officers, which included commissioners, engineers and clerks. Most of the million dollars went to labor in building permanent highways, building and care of other trunk highway roads.

There seems to be an impression that only a small part of the money goes into actual road work, and the statement has been made and repeated that only 25 cents of every dollar is actually used for road building. The absurdity of this is hown by the above figures. Less than five thousand dollars in an expenditure of a million and a quarter for "overhead" is a better showing than is made by any business or manufacturing concern in the country. The highway commission is one branch of public service that is conducted on strictly business principles.

BIG CATTLE RUN IN GOOD DEMAND

Heaviest One-Day Run for Year on Monday When 12,000 Cattle Arrive.

(By U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates and Minn. Dept. of Agriculture.)

South St. Paul—While cattle receipts at seven markets showed a loss of about 7,000 compared with last Monday, the local run of 12,000 was heaviest for a single day this year. The supply was in fairly active demand, however, killing classes selling generally steady to strong. Best fat steers here were some good Montana grassers that were bid at $6.75, being unsold at a late hour. A few loads sold at $6, with bulk from this price to $5. Best young butcher cows and heifers are quotable from $5 to around $6 or above, with bulk here selling from $3.25 to $4.75. Canners and cutters are selling mostly at $2.25 to $3, bologna bulls largely $2.75 to $3.50. Bulk best light veal calves $9. Stockers and feeders opened at strong prices, bulk selling from $4 to $5.50, with a few loads of good fleshy feeding steers averaging 1,000 to 1,200 pounds at $6.

The hog market opened steady to strong. Range $6 to $8, bulk $6.75 to $7.90. About 1,600 pigs here, bulk desirable kinds $8.25. With a liberal run here and a lower market at Chicago, sheep and lambs dropped about 50c, bulk good lambs $7.50, ewes mostly $2.75 to $3.50 according to weight, and good 54-pound feeding lambs at $6.65.

Royal Neighbors Initiate Large Class; Many Visitors

Three hundred members of Royal Neighbor camps in this neighborhood were present to witness the initiation into the order of two large classes by Dewey camp No. 1025 of this city yesterday afternoon and last evening. The work was in charge of Mrs. Alice Nash, supreme manager, Minneapolis, and was most impressive and interesting throughout. Nine members were initiated in the afternoon and 13 in the evening. Supper was served for visitors and local members in the Presbyterian church and a fine lunch followed the ceremonies in the evening.

Neighboring towns sent large delegations to the meeting, there being 28 from Crookston, 25 from Red Lake Falls, 10 each from Grygla and Argyle, six from Hallock and one from Mahnomen. The fancy drill by the Crookston degree team in the evening was one of the features of the gathering. There were also drills by members of the different camps in the afternoon, all executed with grace and precision.

It was a great occasion for the members of Dewey camp as well as the visitors, all of whom were greatly pleased with the success of the meeting as well as with the interesting entertainment provided.

Voters, Attention!

(Prepared and ordered published in behalf of Will Prichard, Jr., Fred Dablow, F. F. Haynes, Martin V. Evenson, Dave Gustafson, Charles W. Vorachek and Andrew Ness, by P. J. Reierson, Thief River Falls, Minn.; for which $3.60 is to be paid.)

It is being unfairly stated by some of those who oppose the Good Government Ticket, that were the candidates on this ticket elected, an attempt would be made to charge the cost of paving to general taxation.

We wish to call the attention of the voters to a statement appearing elsewhere in this paper, covering this point and signed by all the candidates on the Good Government Ticket. We wish also to submit the following facts for your consideration:

Martin V. Evenson, one of the candidates on the Good Government Ticket, owns one 75 foot lot in the present paving district; outside of the paving district he owns 12 houses and lots. Fred Dablow owns no property in the paving district, but he does own a home and lots outside of the paving district. Andrew Ness owns no property in the paving district, but owns six houses and lots outside of the paving district.

Is it conceivable by any line of reasoning that these men would want the cost of paving to be paid by the city at large? Do you think that these men, owning little or no property in the paving district and owning much property outside of the paving district would be in favor of assessing the cost to all of the city, so that they themselves would have to pay a great deal more than they will under the present arrangement? Certainly not! The statement that the candidates on the Good Government Ticket, if elected, would attempt to assess the cost of paving to general taxation is just campaign dust being thrown around with the hope that it will blind the eyes of some people, who will not take the trouble to investigate and find out the facts.

The plan for paving assessments has already been made and as a matter of law no one could change it now. It would be impossible.

Again we call your attention to the signed pledge in another column of this paper.

Public Forum

A Tribute to a Leading Citizen.

Before this goes to press, Mr. Kirby has left this section for other localities and many others have left with him—and so have a lot of other things. It is to be regretted that Mr. Kirby should find himself in such a situation that he had to accept an offer from some other point rather than establish himself for good right here.

That Mr. Kirby has been one of the best assets of the community the past year nobody can deny. With the exception of a handful of men—half a dozen at the most—he has not hurt anybody's business or interest. This never-ending stream of humanity which was winding its way to Thief River Falls from all directions—not by the hundreds but by the thousands—this summer, certainly could not help but afford a handsome revenue for many a business in town. These people stayed days, they stayed weeks many of them, and inasmuch as they did not have to spend so much for doctors' services, they spent it for other purposes. As for Mr. Kirby's methods, there is no use denying that he has performed some wonderful cures which would surprise the medical profession if they would step down from their high horse and make an impartial investigation.

There is a question as to whether he hurt the business of the local doctors very much, as his patients were mostly outside people who would not have come here for treatment anyway. As for local people, many a one who sought Kirby would not have consulted other doctors anyway. His charges were nominal, and when such is a small matter, anybody would be apt to make an investment. When a person can have his troublesome tonsils cured efficiently for a dollar he is likely to have it done. At least I would if I needed it. Anyone who has been afflicted with sickness of some sort knows by experience how much medical service he is apt to get for half a dozen dollars.

Another thing I would like to call attention to in regard to Mr. Kirby's cures is this: That in many instances he has had hopeless cases, that is, many who had consulted doctor after doctor in different localities without relief have been helped by Mr. Kirby's methods.

As I said before, I regret to see Mr. Kirby leave this locality. But it might have been a little different if it hadn't been for the raw deal he was accorded in municipal court recently, along with that notorious write-up in The Tribune, which was enough to arouse any man's temper. At least it did mine. The misguided gentlemen who wrote that article will find out that they made one great mistake.

When it was rumored that Mr. Kirby was going to leave this community to go to a locality where his medical practice would be more appreciated, then his own home town, then the people awoke to the realization that something was at stake. But too late, as Mr. Kirby had already decided to leave when a delegation from the city waited on him.

Community boosters have talked and tried time and again to encourage some industry to locate here. And right here we had one of the most flourishing businesses, established without the effort or expense of a single cent either from the Commercial club, Merchants association, or anybody else. And to cap the climax, this man was held up as a fool and his business as a joke, although there never has been a single individaul in the history of the city who has brought as many people and as much traffic to this locality as Mr. Kirby has the last year. Many call his business a big graft. Suppose a person pays six dollars to get his throat painted for T. B. or any other ailment and can have the process repeated as many times as is necessary until a cure is effected without extra charge—and consider that the medicine cost something. I fail to see where the graft comes in.

Again, somebody called his business a big joke. Let us look at it a little. Without advertising with glowing headlines, without the least solicitation on his part, this stream of people comes silently and slips away as quietly, with confident hopes of recovery, with the exception of a few who are too late. Why do they come and how do they come? Some person who has been relieved of a long standing sickness relates it to a friend, neighbor or relative. Does it stand to reason that this person would have advised his friend, neighbor or relative to consult Mr. Kirby if he himself hadn't been helped to a certain extent?

One thing I wished Mr. Kirby would have taken into consideration before he made his final decision to locate elsewhere, and that is: He didn't seem to consider his many friends here, or probably he didn't know he had as many friends and sympathizers as he really has. Mr. Kirby may still be persuaded to locate here again and there are several reasons why he should do so: Thief River Falls is a beautiful, good-sized city located in one of the best section of the Northwest; it has good hotel accommodations; its railway connections are second to none. The people both in the city and surrounding country are as good and progressive a set of people as can be found anywhere, and with the existing misunderstanding cleared away, I believe this is the ideal place for Mr. Kirby.

P. ENGELSTAD.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend? Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Peter Eberhardt, 211 Atlantic Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "I suffered with my back and kidneys. My back was weak and lame and ached badly. When I would wash or do any heavy work I suffered the worst. My kidneys were weak and annoyed me. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and it wasn't long before they rid me of all the trouble."

Mrs. Eberhardt gave the above statement Jan. 16, 1914, and on Aug. 6, 1921, she said: "I think Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy for kidney trouble. I recommend Doan's for the cure I received years ago and I gladly confirm that statement."

Saturday, Oct. 22, 1921, Loken Brothers open another very important addition to the mercantile world of the Great Northwest. Since 1912 Loken Brothers' has always stood first as the leading progressive department store of Thief River Falls. We were the first and are today the largest advertisers. We were the first and only store to issue here a retail mail order catalog. Right now we are advertising in 17 newspapers every week. We have drawn trade for over 100 miles to Thief River Falls, which has been a very material help to every business house here as well as ourselves. We have here a mercantile institution that will compare very favorably with the best stores of Crookston, Grand Forks or Fargo. We want every man, woman and child to see this institution now since so many important improvements have been completed. You'll be pleasantly surprised when you see how we've grown. And why? Because we have always shown better goods, better variety, given better service, and sold at lower prices. Furthermore, here is our guarantee that goes into effect now:

We will sell you at any time or any day of the week any known merchandise that you desire at as low a price as any other store that you know of. Besides you will receive better service and better selection.

And remember, this is a genuine home owned and controlled Thief River Falls institution, and we are here to do our part to make this the greatest town in this section of Minnesota. We could very easily make this the GREATEST COUNTRY STORE IN AMERICA if you would all do the greater part of your shopping here instead of scattering it a little everywhere, doing no good anywhere. Why not have one or two REAL GOOD BIG STORES instead of half a dozen, all poor ones. Which is best for you and Thief River Falls? Think it over and let me know.

H. O. LOKEN.

Retro- and Pro- Spect.

Six weeks of the school year is now past and gone. Our report cards will tell, as closely as the teachers have been able to ascertain, just what we have accomplished in the first six weeks. Although it is essential that we satisfy our teachers with our attitude toward our school work, it is more necessary that we are ourselves satisfied with the results of the time we have already spent in school. Can we truthfully say to ourselves that we have used our time and energy to the best advantage? Have we used every minute of our time for attaining our ideal? There is a limit to every person's development, and our ideal should be to reach that limit. Each one of us has been endowed with a certain mental capacity, and the aim of our school life should be to develop our faculties, whatever they may be, to the fullest extent possible.

Let us not confuse the issue by imagining it is only our formal studies that need to be looked after. There must be a complete social development. The perusal of books is only a part of this development. The good that comes from proper mingling in proper school society is as well a part of this development and needs our individual attention. This is a good time to analyze the situation and to make any alterations that seem advisable.—O. H. '23.

Going to School.

Dear little child, with the wide, round eyes,
Careless of lessons, rebellious to rule,
How can you ever be happy and wise?
Only by going to school.
Only by learning what grown-ups have found
About the great earth, with its flowers and brooks,
And forests and people, and printed and bound
In wonderful, wonderful books!

Regarding the First Annual Bulletin.

We have on hand a few extra copies of the First Annual Bulletin. If anyone failed to receive a copy, he will confer a favor by leaving notice at the superintendent's office. The bulletin contains a lot of useful information and is a fitting souvenir to preserve.

Thrift.

In teaching thrift and helping the pupils to develop the habit of thrift, pupils are urged to think, write, speak and finally practice in thrift. The following three compositions represent some of the work done in this line in the Central school. They are the product of the work in English which is so ably taken care of by Miss Josie Weeks.

The Man Who Spent it All.

Broke—and yet by laying aside a small part of his past earnings he might have had a reserve fund to carry him through his time of need. And you—are you living up to the last penny of your income? Then let us tell you how a small part of your salary can be laid aside to help prepare you for the future. The banks of Thief River Falls pay five per cent interest on savings, compounded quarterly. A new quarter began on Oct. 1.

"Double your savings; it can be done."—Naomi Hinrichs, 8B

Community Dollars.

You have some of them. Your neighbor has some of them. Every one of us has a vital interest in every one of them. They're Community Dollars, that's why! Gathered in bank deposits they go out to help our farmers, business men, you! The more of them at work the better for Thief River Falls Community.

Keep every spare dollar busy—through the bank. Avoid outside investment, be thrifty in a co-operative manner and thus safeguard home business.—Loretta Mulry, 8B

Skipping School.

(Note—An incident like this really happened in Kansas City a short time ago.)

"I'm not going to school any more," said John to Sam, Henry and Tom. "Let's go and have a good time instead of going to school all the time."

"Yes, let's do that," said the other boys.

"Nobody will know anything about it, anyway," said John. "I'll never learn anything going to school, so why not spend our time in a useful way?"

About two weeks of school has passed with the absence of these four boys.

"I like this life ever so much better than going to school," said John. "I never had so much fun in all my life as I have had these two weeks."

"I have seen you four boys roaming around town for about two weeks. I believe you should be in school instead of here," said the sheriff one day. "You come along with me and I'll show you what is good for you."

The sheriff took the boys to the court house under the care of the judge.

"We have not been in school for a few days," said John. "The teacher does not mind if we stay out once in a while."

"You boys know that the place for you is in school," said the judge. "Your parents think you are in school and here you are fooling away your time around town and neglecting your school work."

"But wouldn't you send us to the county home for correction?" asked John in a shaky voice.

"No, I'll show you what is good for you," said the judge, taking off his shoe. "You need some of this."

Laying John down over his knee he gave him a sound spanking. The other boys also had their turn.

When the judge was through the boys said, "We are glad to go back to school." This they did, though they were very uneasy the first day. The afterward went to school very regularly and they got their lessons, too.—G. J. '24.

Freshman Class Spirit.

Spirit is the most important factor in our classes. This does not mean that we should be up to all sorts of mischievous stunts. It means we should show the right kind of mettle at the right time.

In the first place we should attend class meetings. Our class spirit is derived from these. They are not only beneficial but interesting. Of course there are a few, like those from the country, who cannot possibly attend. But most of those who live in town are able to spend fifteen or thirty minutes after school if they really want to. These meetings are a get-together of the students so that they may co-operate and have a good class.

Also boost your class; try to help in everything which it undertakes to do. A good time to start would be now—help sell the annuals. It would be nice to have a fellow student win the personal banner and the class obtain the larger one.

Advertise your class by submitting jokes, pictures, literary work and cartoons to the annual. "It pays to advertise." We do not want the annuals to contain only pictures and jokes of the Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors. We want our class represented in it, too, so that in 1925 we can look back upon our perfect Freshman class of 1921.

Let us not only have perfection in our meetings and everything outside of school. Let us try to keep a high standard in our school work. Let us do our own work every day and do it well. Never stoop to do anything dishonest, for if we do so in school we shall do it without. "Meddle not with dirt—some of it will stick to you." Let us make our department as good as possible. The teachers are fair to us by giving us privileges which other schools do not have, so let us be fair to them and show every one that the Freshmen are trying to be right.

We must pull together. "Where there is much smoke there must be some fire." If we all boost and work for our class we cannot help but accomplish great things.—G. W. '25.

Be Proud of Your School Building.

Our high school building is named after one of the greatest men in history, Lincoln. It is located in the southwestern part of Thief River Falls and is one of the biggest and best high schools in the northwest. The initial cost of the high school was great. Its upkeep, including the salaries of the teachers and other employes, without saying anything about the money it costs to varnish, paint and repair everything every summer, runs into thousands of dollars. It costs money to keep it in fuel, light and water.

The Lincoln high school has electric lights, drinking fountains, and other equipment. It is also very pleasant as it has many windows so the pupils can get plenty of fresh air and sunshine. The pupils are comfortably seated and everything is all clean and neat.

Would you like to have your friend John or Bill come come into your mother's sitting room and carve his initials on the big rocking chair? No, indeed, you wouldn't like to see him do it. Yet, would it be any worse than to carve initials on your desk or any other person's desk or chair? You are in school as much as you are home, and probably more. Would you think of breaking a chair purposely at home? No, you wouldn't. Then don't break chairs or desks at school. If a desk is broken a new one will have to be put in its place. If the desk was not broken the money could be used to buy pictures, statues and other things.

Don't tear the books in the school library, even if you can't use them. Some boys and girls think that when they can't use a book or a magazine no one else can use it, and they tear them. Don't leave paper lying on the floor. What if no one picked up paper and let it lie where it was? It would look dreadful and people would think us very untidy.

Are you ashamed of the high school when we have visitors? If so, help keep it clean and tidy. Clean your desk at least once a week and keep your books neatly arranged in your desk. If your books fall out of your desk onto the floor, it looks very untidy and it soils your books. Everyone help to make Lincoln high school better.—R. L. '25.

The Senior Reception.

On Friday evening occurred an annual event, the reception given the faculty and school board by the Senior class. Between four o'clock and eight in the evening, an almost incredible transformation had taken place in the business-like school building. As one entered, he beheld flowers everywhere; and easy chairs and divans, with more flowers, converted the prosaic commercial rooms into a charming reception hall.

After a half hour or so of informal conversation, a very enjoyable program was presented on an improvised stage in the hall:

Address of Welcome—Johanna Wedul, class president.

Piano duet—Ruby Bennes, Palma Langseth.

Vocal solo—Myrtle Williams.

Violin solo—Lorraine Will.

Musical reading—Beulah Chamberlain.

Saxaphone duet—John Hendry and Kermit Anderson.

A one-act play, "The Florist Shop," was the event of the evening. It was the story of an engagement which had lasted too long, and of a spur to the delinquent fiance in the form of orchids sent to the lady fair by the florist's clerk but supposed to have come from a most ardent lover. Needless to say, the scheme worked admirably and a speedy marriage was promoted.

Lloyd Alnes as Mr. Slovsky made a most convincing Jew, even to the cast of feature. Helen Warner as Maud was properly sentimental and decidedly clever as well. Kermit Anderson, representing Henry, furnished a good bit of comedy with his soprano voice. Mildred Loftness as Miss Wells mixed dignity with pathos in a convincing manner, and Gregory Werstlein played the part of Mr. Jackson, the delinquent fiance, very creditably.

When the fortunes of the engaged pair had been safely brought to a close, Miss Johnson conducted a song service in which even the most unmusical joined. Delightful refreshments were served at the close of the evening. A lusty three cheers by board and faculty members bade the Seniors good night and bespoke the appreciation of the guests.

Seniors Meet.

On October 11 the Senior class had a meeting after 4 o'clock assembly. The purpose of the meeting was to make final preparations for the teachers' reception.

Another topic discussed was the choosing of a design for the class ring. The students looked at different designs and were spoken to by Mr. Neset concerning his rings. The matter, however, is to be settled at some future meeting.

Be There!

On Tuesday, October 25, the play, "The Florist's Shop," which was given at the Senior reception, will be given again at the Leceum theatre in connection with the regular moving picture program. There will probably be a matinee with reduced prices, besides two evening performances. The high school will receive 40 per cent of all money from tickets. Here's a chance for every pupil to see this lively comedy and at the same time help out the high school. Be there!

Dr. Mellby Addresses School Assembly.

Dr. O. F. Mellby, vice president of the board of education, appeared before the general assembly last Wednesday with an interesting and inspiring address.

Dr. Mellby spoke first of the different classes or gradations of mental capacity. These ranged from the lowest type of imbeciles to the superior adult. He then interestingly brought out the fact that boys and girls who had been able to meet the requirements for successful high school work were in the upper groups. It showed that they had the "gray matter." It was up to them to develop it. No one could tell to what extent the intellect might be used. Schools are maintained, however, to contribute to maximum development.

Dr. Mellby expressed himself as well pleased with conditions as he found them in the schools. He spoke in the capacity of both parent and board member. This, of course, was good news to students as well as teachers. It will stimulate all of us to greater efforts and will strengthen our determination to meet every requirement.

Thief River Falls Tickles Crookston.

Last Saturday our football team journeyed to Waterloo and won another victory—but this time for Crookston. In suffering this vistory, however, we discover we were automatically elevated to upper society in footballdom. Truly this coincidence is significant that the University of Minnesota, Northwestern University and Thief River Falls high school all romped away with the small end of a 27 to 0 score against Ohio State, Wisconsin University and Crookston high school respectively. We're happy, though, for we rather enjoy the company of Minnesota and Northwestern. We couldn't all win, and, in fact, when we saw how the score went to the heads of the Crookstonites, we couldn't refrain from reconfirming in our minds the fact that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

Our team was greatly handicapped for the fray, but, even so, we might have won if we had not played such Rotten (note the capital R) game. In the first place "Bob" McGinn at quarter had a toothache which interfered with the use of his tongue to an extent that made him unable to signal for our best plays; John Sether broke a spring on the right end which compelled him to cut down his speed materially, and Superintendent Simley, who played side lines, had a rund down battery. On top of all this, Coach Stenhoff ran along the sides of the field and talked Swedish or some other outlandinsh language until "Kip" LaBree became confused on the signals and pounded the ball into the wrong stomach, nearly knocking the poor victim's wind out. To cap the climax, Captain Herron had a bad sore on his lip. No wonder, therefore, that we lost.

But, we've made our contribution now! We're going to "help ourselves to the gravy" next time! Just watch us dive into Fosston next Saturday.

By the way, anyone interested in the lineup of last Saturday's game may inquire of any of the players. It is strongly recommended, however, that you equip yourself with a catcher's mask and breast protector before you make the venture.

Northwestern Minnesota Educational Association.

The city schools have been closed for Thursday and Friday to enable the teachers to attend the convention of the Northwestern Minnesota Educational association, which is holding its meeting in Crookston.

Our teachers are contributing liberally to the various programs. Miss Maude L. Miss Ruth Soule will appear on the program of the Home Training Section with a paper on "Cooking as Taught in Our School," while Miss Stebbins will discuss "English Benefited by the Study of Latin, and How to Bring These Benefits Home to the Student," before the Language Section. Mr. Jardine will lead a discussion on "Shop Equipment," on the program of the Agricultural and Manual Training Section. Miss Ida Tandberg will appear on the program of the Elementary Section with a discussion of the topic, "Teaching Poetry in the Grades." Miss Alma Harris is at the head of the Primary Section, Miss Edna Larson at the head of the Intermediate Section and Mr. Simley at the head of the Secondary.

An invitation is to be presented by the Commercial club and the school board of Thief River Falls to hold the convention here next fall.

Memorial to France.

At the invitation of Honorable J. M. McConnell the various city schools made a contribution to a fund raised by America's school children with which to build and equip two fine high schools in the devastated areas of France. These schools are to be known as the "Washington-LaFayette" and the "Foch-Pershing" high schools. The money collected is being presented to General Foch on his visit to our country. The amount contrubuted by each building was as follows:

Central, $3.81; Knox, $2.81; Lincoln, $2.14; Northrop, $1.91; Washington, $4.20. Total, $14.87.

Teacher Training Dept.

The students of the Teacher Training department are having the privilege of attending the Rural Teachers Institute, which is being held in the high school gymnasium Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Next week we shall begin "Primary and Intermediate Construction Work." This follows the fall course in Nature Study and Agriculture, which has just been completed.

Two sand tables, a book shelf and a construction table have recently been added to the equipment of the training department. The members of the department take this means of expressing their appreciation for the much needed equipment.

HERE IT IS AT LAST

—a warm air heating plant which everyone can afford. A heating plant which works as thoroughly and satisfactorily as the ordinary small warm air furnace, yet costs little more than an ordinary heating stove, no more to install, and much less to operate.

Estate Hot Storm

is two heating systems in one—not a stove, not a furnace, but a combination of both. It sets in the room like a stove, its exterior looks like a stove but there the similarity ends. For its interior is utterly different from any stove you have ever seen—inside it is built like a warm air furnace.

Thousands of enthusiastic users in every section of the country testify to the unequalled heating power and fuel economy of this wonderful heater. Our files are full of unsolicited, sincere letters of praise.

Saved fuel pays for it

First cost ought not to be considered too seriously in a matter of this kind; it's the fuel cost that counts.

Even if the heating stove that you are now using is in good condition, it will pay you to sell or discard it and start using an Estate Hot Storm at once.

For the ordinary stove is unscientific, wasteful, inefficient. Thrifty folks everywhere, folks who want the utmost in home comfort and economy, are discarding their old stoves in favor of the Estate Hot Storm.

Mike Holm Proposes Tax On Gas Instead of Cars

Secretary of State Mike Holm proposes that instead of the present tax on automobiles, a tax of $5.00 on small cars to $10.00 on large cars, with a levy of one cent per gallon on gas be instituted. The secretary believes this would be fairer than the present law as the man who travels them most gets the most use out of the roads of the state and so should pay more. The large cars use more gas than the smaller ones and would consequently pay more, which is fair as the larger ones are harder on the roads.

DR. KIRBY MOVING TO NORTH DAKOTA

Efforts on Part of Citizens to Make Him Change His Mind Are of No Avail.

"Doc" Kirby is going to leave the neighborhood, and strange to say there is no very noticeable jubilation over the fact. On the contrary there is a general feeling of actual loss. A decided change in the attitude of the people toward "Doc" Kirby has of late become noticeable, but the change came too late.

On Friday afternoon thirty or forty automobile loads of representative Thief River Falls citizens, accompanied by the band, visited Kirby's place for the purpose of expressing their regret at his decision to leave the section. After having been serenaded by the band, Mr. Kirby came out and made a short address to the crowd. He said that while he appreciated the good will indicated by the visit, he regretted that nothing could now be done to make him change his mind. "I have given my word to the people of that Dakota town that I will move there," he said, "and I have never yet broken my word." He spoke of having traveled all over this country and in many foreign lands, and how he had finally decided to settle near Thief River Falls. The attitude of some of the citizens toward him proved such, however, that he considered it best for all concerned that he should move away, at least for the present. He paid his respects in no uncertain terms to certain of our officials and then squared matters by saying that there are a lot of very fine people here.

It is understood that Mr. Kirby will retain his Pennington county property and that he may return in the near future. He leaves for Mayville this week.

BEET HARVEST ON; SPUD PRICES OFF

Beet Acreage Yielding Well; Potato Movement Slackens When Price Drops.

The sugar beet harvest is on in Pennington county, three carloads of about 80,000 pounds each having been shipped out this week. Harvesting is going forward rapidly on all farms where any amount of beets were planted and in every instance there are reports of excellent yields. On the Barzen farm adjoining the city 16 tons to the acre were secured. Ed. Grundhaus southeast of town has four acres which are yielding particularly heavy. Alfred Flattum with three acres is another farmer who is making the sugar beet crop pay him a good profit.

The beets are all shipped to the Minnesota Sugar company at Chaska and the price is expected to be not less than $7 per ton and may be considerably more.

While last week's slump in prices somewhat affected the potato movement in the county, 14 cars were shipped, with three more loading to go out today. The bulk of this supply came in over the Minnesota Northwestern electric line from the eastern end of the county and the territory around Grygla.

The price during the week has hovered around $1.40 per hundred for red stock, with the white tubers in greater demand and bringing $1.50.

Fifty-eight cars had been shipped through the Pennington County Potato Growers association up to yesterday noon and it is expected that there will be even a heavier movement should the price stiffen somewhat.

Change in Loken Store Aims at Better Service

In another place in The Times today will be found the announcement of the opening of Loken Brothers' Bargain Basement dry goods department. This will be a complete dry goods store in itself in which will be handled such goods as it has been impossible to find room for on the main floor. The advertisement tells of the extraordinary bargains that are to be found by walking down the broad stairway in the center of the big store. A considerable sum of money has been spent in making the place attractive to buyers and the formal opening will be held on Saturday, Oct. 22. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend. Exceptional price reductions have been made for this opening day and the careful buyer will do well to look the advertisement over carefully.

Loken Brothers have again demonstrated their faith in the future of Thief River Falls by making this extra expenditure. It has been done solely in the interest of better service and to make possible the handling of a larger variety of goods.

Visit this basement emporium on Saturday, Oct. 22. You will be surprised at the completeness of the department. In fact, it is more than a department—it is a store within a store. You will be made welcome whether you come as a purchaser or merely as a visitor.

BANKERS' ADVICE PROVES WISE

Two more young men are glad they took advice from bankers and attended Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., in order to qualify for bank positions. They are Ed Gregerson, recently made asst. cashier of the Burke Co. State Bank of Bowbells, and Leonard Miller, in the auditing department of the Bank of North Dakota.

About 220 D. B. C. graduates have been promoted to official positions in banks.

Albert Lonson New Cashier at Farmers and Merchants

Albert Lonson, for eight years connected with the old First State bank in this city and later cashier of the Calloway State bank, on Monday assumed his duties as cashier of the Farmers and Merchants State bank in this city. During the past five months he has been examiner for the state banking department of North Dakota, with headquarters at Minot.

Mr. Lonson is almost a Thief River Falls product, having grown up in the city and graduated from the high school here. He has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who are greatly pleased at his again becoming associated in a business way with the life of the city. His varied experience since leaving Thief River Falls has had the effect of broadening his already wide banking knowledge and he will be found better equipped than ever to serve the customers of the institution with which he has become associated. He is a genial and thoroughly competent man whom all will find it a pleasure to meet.

Mrs. Lonson returned with her husband and they have gone to housekeeping on Knight avenue north.

McGinn Continuing His Excellent Gridiron Work

Denis McGinn of this city was one of the bright particular stars in the St. Thomas-Gustavus Adolphus college football game at St. Peter last Saturday. The Minneapolis Tribune's account of the game has the following to say concerning the playing of the Thief River Falls lad:

"St. Thomas went over the line after a series of line plunges, McGinn making the touchdown and Ward kicked goal.

"In the second period St. Thomas' touchdown came on McGinn intercepting a forward pass and running 55 yards through a clear field.

"Stabley went in for McGinn in the third quarter and was worked for a number of long end runs, averaging about 20 yards. With the ball on the home team's 10-yard line, Stabley passed to Gilham, who made the touchdown. Ward kicked goal."

The final score was St. Thomas, 42; Gustavus Adolphus, 6. This is the second game in which McGinn has starred, the first being against St. Mary's college the week previous.

Norway Lodge to Stage Leif Erickson Festival

The Sons and Daughters of Norway residing in Thief River Falls and vicinity will hold a Leif Erickson celebration on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 27, to commemorate the discovery of America by that Norseman about the year 1000. These celebrations are being held all over the United States this year and are creating considerable interest. The affair will take place at the lodge room in Masonic hall and the attendance is limited to members and their families.

There will be a program of vocal and instrumental music and short addresses will be made by Supt. I. T. Simley and others. Lunch will be served, after which the usual games and amusements will be staged. Adult admissions have been placed at 50 cents; children over 10, 25 cents.

School Records Destroyed As Farm Residence Burns

Fire last Friday morning destroyed the farm home of Ben Sumner in Numedal township, 14 miles west of the city on the Jefferson highway. The threshermen had gone to the field and Mrs. Cort, who is cooking for the men, was home alone. Fire caught from a defective chimney and before help could arrive the flames little of the furniture could be saved. Mrs. Cort managed to get out with some clothing and a few of the smaller articles, including a number of keepsakes belonging to the Sumner boys. A man plowing in a field near by came to her assistance and between them they pulled the piano as far as the door, where they were forced to abandon it. Mr. Sumner is clerk of school district No. 7 and all the records of the board went up in flames. The loss falls heavily upon the family as no insurance was carried.

Thief River Falls Merchants Association

MARKET DAY SPECIAL

Supplement to Thief River Falls Times, Thursday, Oct. 20, 1921

Noted Business Lecturer Coming

Arrangements have been made by the Merchants association of Thief River Falls to bring to this city on Friday, Nov. 4, at 9 o'clock in the Lyceum theatre the most famous American business lecture on the platform, "Getting the Most Out of Retailing."

Under this head, Mr. W. H. Farley, well known business expert and organizer, will discuss the various questions that are of special interest to merchants and business men everywhere. He will show how co-operation and organization will make for a better community or city. He will show practical improvement in service and store organization that will please the general public and draw trade. He will show how proper advertising will change losses to profits, how systematic, continuous, newspaper advertising pays the largest dividends of all, how system enables a merchant to know at all times the conditions of his business instead of guessing.

With the aid of several thousand feet of moving picture film, Mr. Farley will give a most interesting and timely discussion.

It isn't theory. It isn't over the heads of people. It is solid horse sense applied to merchandising. Practical, every day, solid experiences, given in this way with lecture and pictures make a double impression—through the eye and the ear—that is sure to be of lasting benefit to every business man or sales person who attends this lecture.

Every merchant or wife of a merchant, every salesman or clerk, every business man, and all those interested in seeing this part of the state become a better business center should not fail to hear Mr. Farley.

A glance at this outline of the lecture is sufficient to show its great value:

- Retail Failures and their Causes.
- Store Organization.
- Newspaper Advertising.
- Window Displays.
- The Business of Clerks.
- Salesmanship.
- System.

WHY NOT HAVE UNDERWEAR THAT IS THOROUGHLY COMFORTABLE?

It is so exasperating to have under-garments that pinch and bind, or that sag and are bulky.

And it is so easy to get the right kind, that protect so comfortably, and yet one never knows a moment's annoyance from them.

That is because some manufacturers make garments to make money, while others make garments as they should be made—to give satisfaction and make customers for life.

Thief River Falls merchants can satisfy your desires on Market Day, Wednesday, Oct. 26.

WHY EVERY WOMAN KNOWS THIS IS A COAT YEAR

Every autumn coat is a reason. Never had fall coats a stronger appeal. So graceful of line. So rich in fabrics and colorings. So adorable—most of them—in the snuggling collars that are so becoming to every face.

Then so many of the new coats have that "wrappy" effect that makes each one seem as though it was made just for the woman who wears it—so individual, so distinctive, so smart and thoroughly protective. See the offerings of Thief River Falls merchants Market Day, Oct. 26.

Novelties in Women's Wear

Dainty corsages to wear on the fur coat or the evening gown are made of a wide variety of flowers combined in lovely color schemes. There are violets, forget-me-nots, gardenias and other flowers in the combinations. They are put up in little flowered boxes, making delightful gift articles.

The Polly Prim Tie is one of the novelties offered by the neckwear designers for the smart jersey dresses that will be worn this winter. It is made in different plaid silks and worn tied in a knot at the throat, from which it hangs to tasseled ends and lends a bright touch of color.

Girdles made of links of celluloid are about the newest thing offered in the market. The chains are of different patterns, some with links and others with long disks in many interesting color combinations. The predominating colors, however, are jade, red, white, amber and black. In some of them the disks are pressed into scarab and other designs forming interesting medallions. Some of these girdles hook about the waist line; others slip up on themselves to fit in place.

New Effects in Women's Dresses.

Following a tendency to sparkle with their own brilliancy, many gowns are made entirely of sequin embroidery nets in the most vivid and striking colors. Some of them are trimmed with girdles of velvet, caught in a soft bow at one side or with side draperies of tulle in the same color, caught with the fantastic corsage.

Gowns made of silks and velvets depend upon jeweled girdles for their bit of sparkle and many new and fascinating designs have been developed for evening wear.

The Less Formal Dress.

The less formal evening or dinner dress continues to some extent on its way in black and has many variations in lace and tulle, draped over black satin and brightened with vivid girdles and corsages.

On a par with these are the chemise dinner gowns made of brocaded chiffons in taupe, browns, pheasant shades and jade. These have no sleeves, but boat-shaped necklines and tight-fitting arm holes, and while the waist falls straight, the skirt is often elaborately draped. These are made over slips of contrasting shades of silk, or over metal cloth.

Fads and Fancies.

Heavy Scotch flannel nightgowns, cut with a yoke effect, scalloped and embroidered in silk to match the dominating color in the striped pattern of the material, are selling at a very reasonable figure. These garments are very comfortable. The Scotch flannel is the popular fabric for them.

A dressy girdelier is of Skinner's satin trimmed with a lace top. It has an elastic belt and elastic inserts at the side hips, and fastens to the stocking with four garters. Women will want this accessory and will buy them if they are attractively displayed in the store.

Tassels for trimming are made up in all kinds of beads and all kinds of colors, alone and combined. These are an interesting figure for the trimming department. Tassel trimming is a very popular form of embellishment to the dress made at home.

A celluloid jewel case is an item for the Christmas holiday trade that one of the novelty houses has offered. The case is lined with velvet in dainty shades. This will be attractive on any dressing table, but it is not to be sold by itself. It is sold as a container for a dozen hairnets which will prove a very practical present, and the jewel case will be a charming permanent remembrance.

New Furnishings For the Menfolks

The "Tied-and-Dyed" muffler for men is a beautiful item of haberdashery offered the holiday trade by a large Chicago manufacturer of men's furnishings. To say the least, this muffler of all-Italian silk is bizarre, but no one can deny that it is beautiful. It gains its name from the fact that the decorative motifs are secured by pinching up spots of the material, tying them, and dipping the knotted sections of cloth in vari-colored dyes. These resultant designs are of a lovely mottled color and are always of colors contrasting to the ground material of the muffler. These mufflers come in ground colors of browns, greens, blues and purples.

Another muffler for men comes in attractive brushed silk—a new note in the vogue for brushed materials. One Chicago wholesaler of men's furnishings is showing this brushed silk muffler in figured patterns, square blocks and large checks on ground shades of green, lavender, blue, tan and gray. These brushed silk mufflers are very distinctive.

Men's Working Clothing Now Lower in Price.

In work clothing lines, sheepskin coats have been purchased by most retailers through the mid-west as more of a favorite than the once-popular mackinaw and the recent greatly demanded leather coat. The prices on these lines of work clothing are about one-third below their peak. The prices are believed to be low enough to cause a broad distribution as soon as seasonable weather arrives.

In work vests, corduroys with sheep linings and mole cloth sleeves have been purchased by retailers in quantities sufficient to take care of opening needs. Further business is expected to be forthcoming from retailers when they feel a quickening of demand for these lines. Moleskin vests are expected to prove a bigger seller than the corduroy numbers because of the longer wear the moleskin variety gives.

Mackinaw coats as well as those of leather are not expected to occupy the important position they had in years past. In many localities they are less popular for real work garments and among the younger fellows, who bought them in seasons past for sports and even dress wear, are passing them up for the sheep-lined mole or corduroy coat.

Style effects such as large pockets, plaited backs with large collars of raccoon or other medium-priced fur, no doubt are making this kind of coat much more attractive to the younger man who wears such a garment as an all-around coat.

Men's New Shirts For Spring to Be Very Conservative.

The spring lines of men's shirts are on display in the big wholesale houses and inspection of them reveals that the season is to be a semi-conservative one. The well dressed masculine will not be striped like a hyena next spring, but will be soberly shirted. He will not be gaudy-colored like a sheik of the desert, but will appear in a modest shirt of solid white or tan. If he does take to stripes they will be of the "pencil" or "candy" description.

Following their wide popularity of last summer and the present fall, the collar-attached shirt of either solid white or tan is slated for a leader in spring. It is far and away the most popular of shirts now and indications are, say the wholesalers, that it will retain its lead in the spring. The closest runner-up is the madras shirt with a fine stripe.

With the exception of whites and tans, solid colors in shirts are definitely dead. There are no solid purples, sky blues, or yellows to dazzle the eye of the pedestrian as he goes by the haberdashery shop. The trend toward conservatism that hit the male sex shortly after the war left its stamp on shirts, if it did not on the suits.

The nearest approach to the extreme is a plaid figure on some madras shirts and a white jaquard design on white. The latter, by the way, has been greeted quite well by buyers inspecting the new spring lines.

The most popular materials in the spring shirts are poplins and pongees which are used to make up the voguish solid white or tan, collar-attached shirts. The poplin is the dressier of the two. It has a utility pocket on the breast and is practical for both sports and dressy wear. College students, especially, have taken to it.

Silk shirts are definitely back in the running, but due to the not-too-plethoric state of the young man's pocketbook, they are being exceeded in sales by the silk and cotton mixed, madras, pongee, Russian cord, cotton crepes and other cheaper shirts. While silk shirts are much lower in price than during the inflation period, the careful spender prefers to put his money into a good madras or mercerized cotton shirt.

The silk shirts that are shown, however, are very neat and pleasing in appearance, being all embellished with fine stripes. The stripes can be classified, in the order of popularity, as follows: First, pencil stripes; second, candy stripes; third, wide stripes. The widest stripe, however, does not exceed a quarter of an inch. The stripes come in purples, reds, blues and greens on white grounds.

A distinct novelty in shirts is the non-ironable, non-starchable shirt of cotton crepe. It is what its name implies—it does not require ironing or starching. It is of a crinkly texture and is very popular with the traveling man who at times is obliged to do his own laundering in his hotel room. One might suspect that these shirts would present an untidy appearance, but the reverse is true.

Men's Neckwear for Fall and Winter Season to Be Narrow.

Mens' neckwear for the fall and winter seasons will be of the rich, darker variety in narrow widths. As a whole, the scarves will be conservative, but rich in appearance. There is nothing "loud" seen in the fall and winter lines.

Leading colors will be dark blues, browns, greens and lavenders. Stripes, when very fine and subdued, are good. Small figures on foulards will be seen.

As the fall advances and winter gives indication of coming, the narrow scarve appears more and more predominant. It will appear to quite an extent in the retail holiday showings, but the wider ties will not be entirely backed off the boards. The popular width for ties is 1¾ to 2 inches. Anything wider is held by far-seeing factors to be passe.

Knitted ties, wholesalers of men's furnishings say, have just about seen their day. Quantity production and flooding of the market have so cheapened them that the man desiring exclusiveness has turned to silks, it is declared. However, some knitted ties are still shown in the darker colors of burgundy, emerald and other shades.

But ties are very quiet. The shirt with soft collar, in which the bow tie did not form very well and did not retain its knot, has made the bow somewhat of a back number. Few bows are seen in advance winter lines. Of the bows shown, however, the polka dot leads in the selling.

A novelty in four-in-hands shown by one maker is a French fold, 1¾ inches wide, in two-color Repp. It carries a very fine contrasting stripe and comes in all the popular dark shades.

SO MANY NEW BOOKS SO IMPORTANT TO READ

Many you'll want to read for the sheer delight of them. Most of them will be so much talked about that you will want to be familiar with them.

The world steps along quickly these days and one soon gets behind if the right books are not faithfully read. The latest in fiction will be found in the stocks of Thief River Falls merchants on Market Day, Wednesday, Oct. 26.

FAIR PLAY

If you work for a man, in heaven's name work for him. If he pays wages that supply you your bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, think well of him, stand by him and stand by the institution he represents. I think if I worked for a man I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of the time, but all of the time. I would give him an undivided service or none. If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.

If you must vilify, condemn, and eternally disparage, why, resign your position and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content. But, I pray you, so long as you are a part of the institution, do not condemn it. Not that you will injure the institution—not that—but when you disparage the concern of which you are a part, you disparage yourself.—Elbert Hubbard.

Bring the Whole Family--Hear the Band--Make it a Holiday

LIFE AS A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

(By Dr. Frank Crane)

Life has been called all sorts of things. Life is a dream, a gambling game, an opportunity from which to get all the fun and the least pain possible, a probation preparatory to the next life, a vale of tears, and so on.

Suppose we consider life as a business proposition. Look at it from a practical, profit-and-loss, shrewd and commonsense viewpoint.

Very well. First, what can we get out of it? Only wages. There are no endowed and privileged ones, all are day laborers, for every one, when the work's over, must leave all he has gained and go back to that nothingness from which he came, as stark naked and poor as when he arrived. All the billionaire gets out of life is exactly what the bricklayer gets—his board and clothes and amusements.

What is the wage of Life? Life's pay is happiness. On Life's book happiness is credit and unhappiness is debit.

It's happiness we all strive for, of one kind or another, whether beer and cakes or turtled feasts, overalls or dress suits, pinochle on a cracker box, or stock gambling on the market, social distinction, wealth, display, political success, intellectual achievement—it's all happiness according to taste.

How is happiness to be secured, how can one be sure to get his pay? By finding out what he really wants. This is not so easy. Most people work a lot for what they think other people think they want.

How can one find out? By experiment, trying out various activities until he finds the one in which he can most enthusiastically express himself.

Also ascertaining those forms of pleasure that are frauds and bring on misery. The conclusive argument against drunkenness, licentiousness, and the like, is that they are swindles and gold bricks. They promise joy and pay suffering.

How should one get his pay? Every day. Not at the end of the task. Unless every day brings its satisfaction you are cheating yourself.

How can one tell what sort of things pay and what sort do not pay? By the collective experience of mankind, and by accepting the guidance of reliable teachers.

What does the cumulative experience of mankind show? That only those acts which are fundamentally just, fair, honest and kind are the ones that invariably pay.

Why work? If it's happiness that is our wage, why not eat, drink and be merry? Why not loaf and play? Because human beings are so constituted that they secure the maximum of satisfactory self-expression only by doing some part of the world's work. What we call goodness more than pays every day. It leaves something over, a deposit in the happiness bank which becomes a reserve fund from which we draw dividends. The good are the happiness capitalists. The bad are the happiness spendthrifts.

Why not approach this matter of good and bad, conscience and self-indulgence, as a business proposition?

"LADDER PLEATED" BLOUSES PROVIDE A CHARMING NEW EFFECT.

Perhaps you'd call it criss-cross pleating, but you'll never know just how fetching it is until you see the blouses in which it is introduced. The effect secured is a checked puffiness that is most alluring.

Some of the blouses have a double front fastening with group tucks; some are finished with pleated ruffles. There is newness and charm to every one of them. Pinafore collars are largely favored. They're wonderfully becoming. You'll be delighted when you try them on at Thief River Falls on Market Day, Wednesday, Oct. 26.

EVERYBODY IS STEPPING INTO NEW APPAREL

What a joyous time it is. How one loves to lay aside the used things and wear something supremely, delightfully new. And now our stores are filled with the handsomest materials obtainable. It is waiting for your inspection. Come Market Day, Wednesday, Oct. 26.

HOW EAGER WOMEN ARE FOR THEIR NEW HATS

Never with greater reason. It does not seem possible that styles were ever quite so beautiful before. And yet the hats are quite simple, for the most part, but many are in those large picture shapes with wonderful lines, and so gracefully trimmed with striking plumes or unexpected adornments of flowers or ribbons.

So becoming to most women. But no less exquisite are the smaller hats that other women require. All are here. Ready at Johnson's Millinery, Market Day, Oct. 26.

A MARKED DRESSINESS DISTINGUISHES THE NEW SUITS FOR WMEN.

So effectively expressive of feminine charm. Suit coats are neither long nor short—neither in straight lines nor flared. In both ways they show a delightful compromise.

Only in color is there marked favoritism. Malay brown, volnay red, and black seem to be in the lead. Waistlines are low; sleeves are wide, and most shoulders droop most fetchingly. Every woman will realize how new such effects must be, and how eager each one will be to try on one of these new models the moment she sees them.

Come and select your Market Day, Oct. 26, and be the first to wear the style.

Footwear

The past few weeks have brought forth black footwear in women's lines to the fore, with patents holding the leading position. This material is [illegible] brought out in models which vary widely in range. The range includes both the lighter appearing styles shown with Louis heels and the heavier and more stocky types of oxfords with Cuban heels.

Two of the latest creations in Mylady's footwear are sandal and moccasin types. These are now popular with women in the larger cities, who are quick to follow a new trend.

Both these styles are shown in patent leathers, although they are also appearing in kid. The moccasin type—as its name implies—was inspired by an Indian moccasin. The sandal also deserves its name, in that it is fashioned along the lines of the footwear of the ancients. Low block heels, similar in appearance to the heels appearing on many models of children's shoes, are a notable feature of both the "moccasins" and the "sandals." The toes are broader and on many models are very blunt, which is in keeping with the low heels.

Proves Fashion Fickle.

This abrupt departure in women's footwear emphasizes the fact that women's shoe fashions are apt to change almost over night. To keep abreast of the times and the demand of the more fashionable woman, stocks of the more extreme lines of footwear should be merchandised closely and kept moving from the time they are unpacked from their casings until satisfactorily fitted on the feet of a customer.

Many merchants are finding that no matter how much merit a certain style may have, or how popular it may be, it is easily replaced by some new fashion idea which happens to meet the approval of the fair sex.

In the dressier lines of women's footwear the full Louis heel of about the 17-8 height are a great favorite, as are also the Junior Louis models. These heels are wanted by the woman who does not desire the extreme full Louis heel. Such heel styles on slippers which feature a medium toe no doubt will continue in greater demand for dressier wear in the medium and smaller cities and towns.

Strap Models Prominent.

Strap models featuring the graceful Louis heels and medium toes are very prominent in the displays of many stores. The variations of strap treatments continue a feature making these models attractive.

On such models added touches of color many times are supplied by designs of colored or silver beads or even silk stitching of curious threads. Inlays of white or colored kid are noticeable on these dressier models to break the monotony of an otherwise plain slipper or pump.

Materials favored for such models find a wide range for choice.

Patents are perhaps the leader for the moment in these materials. However, [illegible] are still in vogue, as are light weight kid and suedes. Black is the predominating color in the above materials, although there are many models shown and worn in the darker, richer tones of autumnal browns favored for wear with a costume of that color.

Oxfords Are in Demand.

There seems little doubt in the minds of many shoe men but that oxfords have a strong position which they will retain for street and afternoon wear during the winter months. The interest shown by many retailers in lines of woolen hose also emphasizes the fact that oxfords are expected to play a very important role in the shoe field this fall and winter.

Heavier leathers such as Scotch grains are in good demand at the present time by the woman who desires a sturdier appearance in her shoes for sports or street wear. Black and tan calf are also very popular in this type of footwear.

The appearance of several blucher models in many oxford lines gives still a wider variety for selection in these lines, and may develop into a tendency which is well worthy to consider in placing orders for future delivery.

TEREST IN CHILDREN'S SHOES

With the ringing of school bells all over the country, more interest in children's shoes has been aroused among consumers. Trading in this line of shoes, as in many others, developed quite suddenly in some sections. Mothers delayed buying footwear for their small sons and daughters until shortly before the teachers rapped on the school desks for the fall session.

A NEW SHOE LACE

The adjustable shoe lace is a new creation. This invention is designated as the "Screw Tip Adjustable Shoe Lace," and the title is surely descriptive.

Should one purchase a pair of shoe laces, and discover that they are too long, they may be easily adjusted by unscrewing the metal tip only, and pulling the lace through the metal sleeve. The lace is then cut to the required length, the screw tip put back in place and the lace is then perfect and at the right length. The screw tip cannot flatten or pull out. The new laces are put up attractively in glassine packages, and advertising literature is furnished to distributors.

DELIGHTFUL NEW MODELS IN WOMEN'S UNDERSILKS

The most refined of the new silk undergarments are tailored to fit the lines of the figure, so that all bulkiness is eliminated where it is not desired and charming fullness is provided where it is required.

Smart three-inch double-top hems adorned, perhaps, with two-toned ribbon, give finish to the simpler models. The more elaborate styles show tactful use of Cluny and Venise laces. The new styles and shapes are so different from those you've seen before that you'll be eager to posses a new handful of these exquisite garments, shown at Thief River Falls on Market Day, Wednesday, Oct. 26.

NEVER WERE THE NEW GOODS MORE FASCINATING THAN NOW—NOT IN YEARS HAVE PRICES BEEN SO MODERATE.

Never before have we been quite so proud of our stores and their merchandise, and yet fine as are the new things, excellent as are the staple things, we are proudest of all to be able to present the new fall collections at prices that will be so gratifying to customers.

And now the stocks attain the season's fullness of variety, with freshness and originality of style that makes the wearing or using of new things so enjoyable.

Your visit to Thief River Falls on Market Day, Oct. 26, will be like an afternoon stroll into the new season. Come and welcome, whether you are ready to make purchases or not. Each hour you spend here will help you toward the important decisions which should never be made in haste.

SOME REASONS WHY CLOTHES WEAR OUT

Clothes Not in Use Should Be Stored in the Dark, Says Expert.

In discussing the wearing qualities of various fabrics, a London textile chemist has the following to say in the London Daily Mail:

"Some time ago I told my friend Johnson that there was little difference between a cotton fabric and the fibrous matter in a cabbage stock. Both are made of the same substance—cellulose.

"But since then Johnson has turned up an old cabbage stump in his allotment. It is in good condition. Yet it must have lain buried in the earth for quite four years. That being so, he now asks, 'Why do clothes wear out?'

"Had anyone else asked me this question I should have been surprised. 'Most people consider the 'wearing out' as something which is unavoidable, inconvenient, but not worthy of attention. Yet the why and wherefore of this 'wearing out' are full of interest.

"All clothes wear out through exposure to sunlight, air, rain, mechanical strain and bacterial action. Of these, sunlight is by far the most harmful. Hence, clothes not in use should be stored in the dark.

"But light is selective in its action. A dark fabric is less affected than one which is brightly colored. So that a Briton's love for drab colored clothing cannot entirely be condemned.

"Moreover, red and yellow light are less destructive than the blue, violet and ultra-violet light.

"Not all fabrics are affected alike, for while wool and silk readily deteriorate in strong sunlight, cotton and linen are much more resistnat.

"In spite of this, however, it would not be economical to use all-cotton clothing, since colors fade more rapidly on cotton than on wool. When a dyed woolen fabric is exposed to sunlight, the fabric is attacked first, and the dye is thereby partly protected. In the cotton fabric the dye protects the cotton. A coarse dress material is more resistant than a fine one to sunlight. . Clothes are not much affected by pure rain and air. In manufacturing towns, however, the atmosphere is often slightly acid and it is the particularly destructive to wool.

"Some fabrics are most susceptible to certain kinds of microbes, and these flourish best under warm and moist conditions. Clothes wear better when they are frequently brushed free from dust.

"Cotton and woolen fibres are very elastic and strong. They can withstand a great deal of rubbing. So that generally it is not until clothes have suffered from exposure to sunlight that they fail to resist strains caused by ordinary wear.

"It pays people to notice how their clothes wear. But dyers are even more concerned, since the fastness of the dyes used must be appropriate to the 'life' of the fabric."

GLORIOUS NEW SILKS

Hold an Autumn Reception in Thief River Falls stores on Market Day, Wednesday, Oct. 26.

All fashion authorities agree that this is to be a season of dresses—exquisite silken frocks, over which will be worn the clever new coats, or perhaps a sumptuous wrap of fur.

And how wonderful the new silks are!

How radiant the colorings—how rich and supple the textures—how original and fascinating the patterns!

Wonderful how the clever woman visualizes modish gowns as she looks at a beautiful piece of silk. That's why this exhibition means so much more to a woman than it does to a mere man who appreciates rich silks most when they are worn by tasteful women.

How harsh the windows look in summer when the draperies are absent. But then how disappointing may be the old draperies when they are faced again this fall.

You have heard of the man who had money in both pockets. Well, he had nothing on the turkey raffled at a smoker given by Osakis Legionaires. The gobbler had a five dollar bill on each foot. The Legionaire who got the turkey and the ten dollars paid seventeen cents for his chance. Lucky Legionaire!

American Legion Corner

"We are a musical outfit, but—we gotta get organized!" declares a letter to all members of the Minneapolis Mark Hamilton post, which adds, "All musicians, song-birds, vaude-villians and actors belonging to the Mark Hamilton post will meet Sept. 29 to organize a band and orchestra, a glee club and quartet, a vaude-villian company, and a dramatic outfit. We don't care how rotten you are. The good ones are probably too good for us anyway. If you can play anything from a bugle to a Jew's harp, if you can do any sort of stunt from card tricks to imitations of Gertrude Hoffman, we want you. Even if you can't do these things, come anyway, for we can teach you, or you can carry the bass drum, or take tickets, or shift the scenery. And we need some top sergeants to act as stage managers and directors."

A year ago, Legionaires of the Giantvalley Legion Post, Minneapolis, helped the boys of the community to form Troop No. 60, Boy Scouts of America, and since then have helped them to be good Americans. Sept. 23 the post gave a "birthday party" for its troop, at which the boys gave demonstrations of their expert knowledge, including an exhibition of handicraft work. So impressed was Legion Commander Van Dyke that he declared he would appeal to all Minnesota Legion posts to adopt boy scout troops and help finance and train them. "Nothing which Legionaires can do is of more value to the country," said Commander Van Dyke.

Biwabik Minnesota Legionaires recently appointed a post club room committee. So energetically did the committee work that it soon had club rooms. Then it appealed to citizens for equipment and soon had enough chairs, tables, a stove, a desk, and even a pool table and piano were installed to make the members cozy for the winter. A second committee which was to help the women organize an auxiliary unit, quickly reported that this had been accomplished. Another committee has plans for dances, plays and other winter entertainments "up its sleeve" and promises to make things merry in Biwabik during the winter season.

The school board at Nashwauk is arranging to turn over the old village school building to local Legionaires for use as a meeting place, club room, and Legion Auxiliary doings. The plan contemplates the furnishing of a caretaker by the township board, and heat and light by the village council. The school contains a fine auditorium which will be just the thing for home talent plays, entertainments and dances.

National Headquarters of the Legion have honored Minnesota Legionaires by choosing State Commander Arthur A. Van Dyke to act as chairman of a Legion National delegation consisting of the state commanders of the departments of Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota, to attend the national convention of the Great War Veterans of Canada at Port Arthur, Ont., which meets Oct. 17. William T. Mollison of Faribault is the Legionaire who will represent Minnesota department at Washington, D. C., when the body of America's Unknown Soldier is laid to rest in Arlington Cemetery on Armistice Day.

Legionaires at Delano and Herman report that they have adopted the Minneapolis plan of honoring their hero dead. At Delano five tree were planted in honor of the boys who did not come back, while at Herman three trees have been planted in their memory. Other Minnesota Legion posts are planning to carry out this beautiful plan of remembering those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Two citizens of Lafayette, Minn., recently went out and raised funds which they turned over to the local Legion post for the express purpose of purchasing an American flag and an American Legion post banner. Everybody chipped in and Lafayette Legionaires were very pleased with the gift and especially with the good will which prompted it.

One of the most important actions of the 1920 Minnesota legislature from the American Legion point of view was the law which authorized each Minnesota county board to furnish $25 to each Legion post to help defray Memorial Day expenses. In an effort to learn how this law was observed, Minnesota Legion Headquarters has asked its posts whether or not their requests for this fund were granted. Of the replies so far received, the posts at Stillwater, Wabasha, Cambridge, Albany, Buffalo, Jordan, Lake City, Raymond, Wells, Emmons, Herman, say their county boards furnished the money, while posts at Holt, Staples, Eagle Bend, and the Gianvalley Post of Minneapolis declare that their requests were denied. The $25 was to be paid to each Legion post by its county board on the request of the post officers.

"Every time the American Legion boys don their uniforms to take part in our public demonstrations, the realization of what these uniforms stand for is brought home to every one of us," says the Tri-County Record of Rushford, Minn. "There is a dignity and bearing to the man in his country's uniform not possessed at other times. Deep in every man's heart, beneath the human weakness and bravado, is the spirit of the true soldier, the spirit that bound our boys together through all the horrors of the great war. The past associations and comradeships of our boys will never wear out nor be outgrown, and whether uniforms are available or not, it should not keep ex-soldiers from taking part in honoring the memory of our heroic dead. Civilians will take off their hats as the flag and boys go by."

Dr. H. Hedin of Twin Valley spent yesterday visiting friends here and attending to matters of business. He left this morning for Goodridge on a business mission.

RETURN TO EXTREME IN SUITS FOR YOUNG MEN

"Back to the extreme!"

This is the way the up-to-date Chicago designers of men's clothing describe the tendencies of the apparel the stylish young man will wear in spring. The novel and sporty, it is evident, will characterize the youth's suit for spring wear. Regardless of the state of his pocketbook, which was sorely hit by post-war depression, the young man was never satisfied with conservatism, clothing factors say, and his desire for smartness in clothes obtruded intself into the fall lines, which were intended to be conservative.

In view of this leaning of the country's youth toward the ultra, Chicago clothing maunfacturers have prepared an extensive line of suits for spring that will meet the demand. Without going too far into the extreme, the new spring suits are cut along lines distinctive enough to satisfy the most fastidious young man.

Older Men's Suits.

Of course, all this does not apply to the suits of middle-aged and older men. These are still more or less conservative, although even in them can be noted departures from the strictly sedate. But the young men's suits are radical departures from the staid sobriety which it was thought would be wanted.

For spring they are mostly high-waisted, with pinch backs. However, it must here be said that the tightness that once characterized the young man's smart suit is absent from the spring 1922 lines. They are soft and comfortable—a quality that has been chiefly secured by the use of worsted, Saxonies and other soft-surfaced fabrics. But more of materials later.

The jacket of the youth's spring 1922 suit will be from medium to long in length, with a sweeping, shirt-like effect. The short, military appearing jacket never was very popular, giving the youth's figure a lack of grace.

Lapels are narrower and a new effect in them is the "fish-mouth" lapel which is the notched effect carried to the extreme. Flaps of pockets are smaller, being generally 1½ inches wide. The regulation flapped straight pocket predominates, although on some novelty Norfolk suits, patched pockets and belts appear. These suits follow the dictates of the golf influence, which has turned out not to have such a great bearing on the styles as expected.

Vests Cut Lower.

Vests will be cut lower in front and will be some shorter in lengths—a waist effect being the guiding light. The U-shape of vests, launched somewhat successfully this fall, gives way to the old reliable V-shape. The longer point of the V gives the desired touch of the extreme. Most of the vests are single-breasted with fewer buttons because of the shorter length.

Trousers hang straight from the knees, and are still loose, per the English influence. Bell bottoms, described as an inconsequential fad—are replaced by the straight cuff. A distinct novelty in trousers are the "crease-pleats" at the front. These pleats continue the crease of the trousers from below the thigh to within an inch or two of the belt, and being worked into the cloth serve to preserve the crease. More than that, they are an exact guide to the position of the crease when pressing the trousers. The crease-pleats are an ingenious and practical touch, and one that will be appreciated by the well-dressed young man.

Gray will be the predominating color in the young man's spring 1922 suit, and Scotch plaid effects the predominating pattern. Checks will also be big. Pin stripes are not so much noted. In addition to gray, cool shades such as lovets and greens will be in the fore. Few blues or browns, it appears, are slated to go big.

Materials, as before remarked, are mostly soft-surfaced. They will come in all the varieties of the Saxonies—Scotch worsteds, urquhart plaids, flannels, and so on. Very few hard-surfaced materials are seen in the new lines for young men for spring.

Ulsters and Ulsterettes Lead in Men's Overcoats.

The ulster and ulsterette continues the ranking leader in the men's overcoats. The many effects which have been developed in ulsters and ulsterettes, such as large plaited pockets, half or full belts and smaller collars, add materially to the attractiveness of these coats.

The heavy, rough finished fabrics, many of which feature plaid backs, are regarded as the favored materials for making up ulsters and ulsterettes. Many lighter shades of tan and gray are included in the retail showings. But the darker and more practical colors of brown, gray and mixtures are expected to have the greatest vogue when the retail selling season opens in earnest.

Conservative Overcoats.

For the man who wants an overcoat more conservative than the ulster or the ulsterette, the form-fitting and semi-form-fitting styles are offered. This type of coat is regarded as part of the "bread-and-butter" class of stock by merchants who get a good call for this coat year in and year out. Both double and single-breasted effects are shown in the form-fitting and semi-form-fitting overcoat. Both will prove good in this field.

In spite of the fact that the weather has retarded the demand for overcoats or heavy work clothing at retail, many merchants have a good part of their advance orders now on display.

However, so far the consuming public has failed to respond to any broad degree, and some snappy weather will have to be experienced before the prospective customer will become a purchaser. This attitude of the public is not confined alone to overcoats, as in many other lines of seasonable merchandise the consumer seems little inclined to anticipate his wants very far in advance of actual need.

All of your favorite kinds are here, of course—deliciously fresh, wholesomely good. Who will be delighted most to see the candy box opened on Market Day?

RECORD BROKEN IN CITY'S FIFTH BARGAIN EVENT

Volume of Business Transacted Greater Than For Any Preceding Market Day.

Free Distribution of Merchandise Continues to Hold Special Interest For Crowd.

"The most successful Market Day of the entire series."

This is the unanimous verdict of Thief River Falls merchants when discussing the fifth event of the kind to be held under their direction. While it is admitted that the crowd may not have been as large as on one or two previous occasions, the amount of business transacted on Wednesday far surpassed that of any other Market Day. The forenoon was comparatively quiet, people evidently not liking the looks of the weather, but shortly after noon things began to hum. A number of merchants complain of not having a sufficient clerical force to take care of the trade. Wives of proprietors and former clerks were pressed into service and even then the crowds were forced to exercise patience in order to have their wants attended to.

The fame of these bargain days in Thief River Falls has traveled far and wide, many being present from points as far distant as Warroad on the north and Mahnomen on the south.

So well has Market Day now become established as a great bargain giving event in Thief River Falls that but little more than the price announcements for the day is necessary in order to bring record crowds. The advertising the city has received by reason of these price-cutting campaigns has been worth all the cost—and this has been considerable. Traveling men returning from their runs tell of hearing the subject discussed in nearly every town visited by them, the comments invariably being of a complimentary nature and full of praise for the enterprise and public spirited attitude of the merchants in this city. That the campaign will in the end prove to have been a most profitable investment for both buyer and seller is an absolute certainty.

As usual a large share of the general interest centered about the free distribution of goods which took place at 5:30 in the afternoon. Every purchaser of 25 cents worth of merchandise was given a ticket entitling the holder to participate in this distribution. Ten high grade articles were given away, the winners being as follows, together with the stores at which the lucky purchase was made. The donations were made by the Merchants association and no condition whatever outside of the 25 cent purchase attached to the proceedings:

Mrs. O. Erickson, phonograph, Mulry's Bazaar.

Mrs. C. H. Jung, set Community silver, Loken Bros.

Andrew Craik, Stetson hat, E. O. Mogenson.

W. J. Brown, pair lady's shoes, E. O. Mogensen.

Mrs. J. Borgen, pair men's shoes, Oen Mercantile Co.

Mrs. F. T. Satre, Gossard corset, A. M. Langseth.

F. G. Dols, fountain pen, The Prichard Co.

Earl Bessler, lady's hat, Oen Mercantile Co.

R. O. Ness, Eversharp pencil, The Sapero Co.

C. P. Thompson, lady's writing portfolio, Hall Brothers.

One More in Series.

Secretary G. Howard Smith of the Merchants association is very much pleased over the success of these Market Days and has worked unremittingly to make the events outstanding features in the business history of the city. He announces that for the last day of the series, which will be Wednesday, Nov. 23, something entirely new will be presented to the buying public. He does not wish to divulge his plan at the present time, but states that it will create a sensation.

POULTRY FANCIERS HAVE GREAT FEED

County Association Serves Supper to 140 Diners at Auditorium Monday Evening.

The annual banquet of the Pennington County Poultry association given at the auditorium Monday evening prover very popular, about 140 diners being served with a chicken supper of such excellence that it has been the subject of much comment ever since. The proceeds will be used in helping defray the cost of the new poultry coops used at annual exhibitions, these costing the association $350. This Keiper cooping system is the finest thing of its kind made and adds much to the attractiveness of the annual shows.

The fowls were all donated by members of the association in order to minimize the expense. Those contributing fowls were as follows: Casper Wiener, 2; Philip Amon, 1; R. J. McKercher, 2; L. Westphal, 3; Bot Nyborg, 2; N. Newman, 2; Ed. Hance, 2; C. M. Buoen, 2; Fred Beerbower, 2; George Leimers, 2; Scott Laird, 2; F. B. Conklin, 2; H. C. Durrin, 2; H. L. Schuster, 3; C. D. Gustafson, 2; Olaf Neset, 2.

Six pounds of butter and six quarts of cream were donated by the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery. The music was contributed by H. S. Snyder and Miss Theone Walker of this city and added much to the enjoyment of the banqueteers.

Preparations are being made for the fifth annual poultry show, which will be held in the auditorium on Dec. 6, 7, 8 and 9. This will be the largest and best show in northern Minnesota. Entries will be made both in the farmers' and professional class so that no beginners need stay out on account of being compelled to compete against high priced birds.

ADMITS SWANSON WILL TO PROBATE; HEIRS MAY APPEAL

Court Holds That Wylie Farmer Was Responsible When Document Was Drafted.

Judge of Probate Lars Backe has denied the application of the heirs at law of the late C. H. Peterson of Wylie, for the setting aside of his will. This decision was reached by the court yesterday after a hearing lasting two days. Judge Backe announced last night that he had decided to admit the will to probate.

Peterson died on Sept. 25, 1921, from injuries received in falling from a plow. Before his death he made a will whereby his housekeeper, Mrs. Helga Grefsnes, was left about $10,000 in Liberty bonds and other negotiable securities. The remainder of his property, consisting of a fine farm and considerable personal effects, was left to his five children—two sons residing near St. Hilaire, and three married daughters who live in St. Paul.

The children, through their attorney, Chas. E. Boughton of Red Lake Falls, protested the probating of the will, maintaining that their father at the time of his death did not have a testamentary capacity and that undue influence had been brought to bear on him in naming Mrs. Grefsnes for any such amount in his will. Theo. Quale appeared for Mrs. Grefsnes and G. Howard Smith on behalf of the estate, represented by C. T. Swanson, named in the will as executor.

Dr. H. W. Froehlich, who attended Peterson when he was brought to the Physicians hospital in this city after his accident, and Miss Odelia Steinke, superintendent at the hospital, testified that deceased was in a normal state of mind at the time the contested will was made and that they signed the document as witnesses. They further testified that the injured man continued to retain his faculties until a short time before his death.

Dr. Bjerken of St. Hilaire, who was called to the home of Peterson immediately following the accident, testified that deceased had attempted to make a will before being taken to this city, and two neighbor boys were called in as witnesses. The doctor further stated that the contents of this first will were practically the same as those of the instrument before the court.

Mr. Boughton presented no evidence for his clients and the expectation is that the case will be appealed.

Big Game Licenses Cost Hunter $2.25 This Year

Big game hunting licenses for the 1921 season were received by County Auditor T. P. Anderson the first of the week. There are one or two changes of importance in the regulations this season, the principal one being that the cost to the hunter will be $2.25 instead of the $1.00 paid in former years. Two dollars of this amount is for the license proper and 25 cents for a metal seal, very much like those used on box car doors, which must be attached to the carcass of the deer or moose before it can be shipped. These seals must be numbered to correspond with the license carried by the hunter or he will find himself in difficulties with the state game and fish department. The season for deer and moose opens on Nov. 10 and closes on the 20th, with five additional days allowed the hunter to get his game out of the woods.

Firemen and Enginemen to Give Hallowe'en Dance

The Hallowe'en ball to be given by Local No. 103 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen at the auditorium on Monday evening, Oct. 31, will be one of the really big parties of the season if the committee in charge can make it so. The dances given in the past by this organization have always been among the most popular of the year and this time special efforts have been made to eclipse anything previously attempted. Music will be furnished by Havlin's Jazzadours. This should prove a peppy organization if the name signifies anything. The admission, including the war tax, will be one dollar, with 25 cents for extra ladies and spectators.

LARGE DITCH JOB IS AWARDED TO CROOKSTON FIRM

New Outlet For Ditch 20 Across North and Silverton Townships Finally Assured.

Proposition Has Been Subject of Much Controversy During Past Four Years.

Cost of Excavation and Bridges Considerably Below Estimates of Engineers.

Contracts for the construction of a judicial ditch through the full length of Silverton and a part of North townships were let at Warren on Tuesday. This is the enterprise over which there was so much controversy about four years ago, it being at that time strongly favored by some and as energetically opposed by others. The matter has been before the courts in one form or another ever since first proposed, the final decision favoring those who consider the additional outlet a necessity.

The ditch starts at the northeast corner of Section 13 in Silverton township, runs westward one-half mile and cuts across the southwest corner of Section 11. From this point the route is straight west on the quarter line through Sections 10, 9, 8 and 7 in Silverton township, and through Sections 12 and 11, to the center of Section 10 in North township. Thereafter a coulee is followed in a southwesterly direction, the ditch discharging into the Thief River.

Cost Below Estimate.

The excavating contract was let to the Union Drainage company of Crookston, the price being 11 cents per cubic yard. The total cost of the 10 bridges to be erected across the ditch at different points was estimated at $35,000 by the engineers, but the entire job was sold to the Minneapolis Bridge company of Thief River Falls for $26,000.

To Relieve Ditch 18.

The bidding for these jobs was the most spirited witnessed in this section for a long time, 30 concerns being present and submitting figures.

The construction of this ditch is made necessary in order to relieve the pressure on No. 18, which is unable to take care of the water coming out of the large tributary, particularly during the early spring months. As at present arranged, all water flowing through No. 20 from the east is forced into No. 18, a right angle being formed where the waters are deflected northward. This causes serious overflows because of back water all along the course of both ditches and it is to relieve this situation that the more direct route to the final outlet has been chosen. Farmers in Silverton and Cloverleaf townships particularly have sustained heavy losses in the past by reason of the water backing up onto their fields.

Cost is Equalized.

Pennington county will have to stand by far the greater amount of the cost of this ditch as but a short stretch enters Marshall county. The cost will be assessed according to the benefit to all property influenced by the improved drainage artery, this involving practically all lands between the county line and state road and as far eastward as the Beltrami county line.

The bids were let by the county auditors of Pennington and Marshall counties, the chairman of the county board and clerk of court of the latter county.

Auto Trip to Sioux Falls.

Dr. A. W. Swedenburg, who has been here for the past few days on account of the illness of his little son, will leave tomorrow by auto for Sioux Falls, S. D. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Swedenburg and the baby, who will remain with him at Sioux Falls for an indefinite period.

FINISH CONCRETE WORK THIS WEEK

Short Spell of Good Weather Will See Entire Street Paving Job Completed.

The street paving contractors are praying for about three weeks more of this wonderful weather. If this is granted them they will have the entire contract completed this fall. The concrete base will all be in place by Friday night, after which the surfacing with bitulithic will go forward with greater speed as a considerable number of additional trucks will be released for hauling the "hot stuff." The machinery of the Bitulithic Contracting Limited, the concern doing the work, will be left here during the winter whether the job is completed or not as it is expected that there will be a demand for more paving in the spring. Already there is talk among the residents of Bridge street, North LaBree avenue and Knight avenue of presenting petitions for paving to the council this fall in order that all the preliminaries may be attended to in time to get the work started early in the spring. The experience of other cities is evidently going to be repeated in Thief River Falls. When paving is once started and the people see its advantages the demand continues year after year until all the principal thoroughfares, those in the residence sections as well as the business blocks, are permanently taken out of the mud.

MEETING OF RED CROSS ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of Pennington County Chapter, American Red Cross, on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Commercial club rooms. It is the time for the annual election of officers and other business of importance is expected to come up for consideration. All members of the committee are requested to be present.

12 LOTS SECURED AT LOVERS' LANE AS PARK NUCLEUS

Council Ready to Close Deal as Soon as Abstracts Are Brought Up to Date.

The city council has decided to purchase 12 lots fronting on the river in Porter's addition at the point known as Lovers' Lane, for park purposes. The price placed on the entire tract by Rev. Father Carlo Pinski, the present owner, is $651, which is very reasonable. The deal would have been closed at the council meeting Tuesday evening but it was thought best to have City Attorney H. O. Chommie look into the title and also find out whether or not any back taxes are charged against the plot. This is an ideal site for a small park right at the edge of the city and the purchase will be approved by the public generally.

Math Barzen appeared before the council and asked that the bridge connecting the island in the Red Lake river with the mainland a short distance above the proposed park site be repaired as it is the intention to construct a swimming pool at this point, providing satisfactory arrangements can be made with the owners. The island can be converted into a beauty spot at very small cost and as this is in line with the program outlined by the park board the members of that body hope arrangements for going forward with the work can be made without delay.

Mr. Barzen was also one of a committee with P. J. Keating appearing to enter an objection against making a dumping ground for worn-out machinery out of the vacant lots to the rear of the auditorium. St. Bernard's church faces this property, the condition of which is a constant eyesore to the parishioners as well as to the general public. The owners of the lots as well as the machinery will be notified to clean the place up without delay.

City Attorney Chommie was instructed to draw up a new ordinance covering the parking of automobiles on the city streets, the present statute being inadequate now that the city is paved.

SIX REEL PICTURE ON MERCHANDISING TO BE SHOWN FREE

Interesting Lecture Under Auspices of Merchants Association Here November 1.

The six reel feature film, "Getting the Most Out of Retailing," will be presented for the first time in Thief River Falls on Friday night, Nov. 4, at 9 o'clock, in the Lyceum theatre. In connection with the film, a lecture on retail merchandising will be given. All merchants and sales people in the city are invited to attend. No charge will be made for admission.

G. Howard Smith, secretary of the Merchants association, has secured the film and lecture through the courtesy of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, Ohio. W. H. Farley, expert lecturer of the Dayton company, will be the speaker. The lecture has been highly commended. Causes for losses and failures in retail business are shown, and their remedy is told in the lecture, which has been prepared from the experience of that company in its 36 years of dealing with merchants in all parts of the world.

A prominent place in the lecture is given to the value of newspaper advertising. Mr. Farley will tell how to prepare newspaper copy, how to secure best results, and why a merchant should advertise continually. Window display, efficiency of clerks, selling methods, and other topics of interest to merchants will also be discussed.

The film tells in a vivid manner the story of a merchant who is near failure. As the film progresses, the reasons for his lack of success become plain. Poor arrangement of goods, an unattractive front, and most of all, out-of-date business methods, all contributed their quota of loss. Finally a change comes in the career of the merchant. He remodels his store, installs a modern system, does more advertising, and rapidly rises to success.

POTATOES SOLD TO DATE TOTAL 75,000 BUSHELS

Estimated That 60 Per Cent of the Crop Has Been Disposed of at This Time.

Quarter of Aggregate Yield Will Be Retained For Seed and Home Consumption.

Pennington County Output Will Exceed 150,000 Bushels of High Grade Stock.

Potatoes still continue as the main stay of the Pennington county farmer. He has no grain to speak of and can secure no price for what he has. Beef will not pay the cost of shipment and handling, which leaves hay, potatoes and sugar beets as the stapels to fall back on. Whatever he may have had in the way of a hay surplus has likely been disposed of, which narrows his money crop down to the beet and the tuber.

Sixty Per Cent Shipped.

Reports from three shipping points in the county show that to date 125 carloads of potatoes have been sent out. Fifty-five of these have been handled over the Soo, 26 over the Great Northern and 22 over the Minnesota Northwestern. These figures are for the city of Thief River Falls alone. St. Hilaire reports having shipped 17 cars and Hazel 5. Besides this there must have been a considerable quantity of Pennington county potatoes shipped from Wylie, just across the line in Red Lake county.

Persons who have watched the potato movement closely are of the opinion that about 60 per cent of the total yield of the county has been disposed of and that in the neighborhood of 15 per cent more remains to be shipped. This leaves 25 per cent of the total which will be taken care of by local consumption in part and the remainder saved for seed. All told the output of the county is conservatively placed at 150,000 bushels.

Shipments Fall Off.

The threatened strike of railroad men is already having its effect upon produce shipments from this section. The potato movement during the past week from this point has been almost at a standstill, the reason given being that buyers do not care to take the risk of having the shipments hung up in transit in case of a general walkout. There would be no danger as yet between this city and the warehouses of the Minnesota Potato exchange at Minneapolis, but the potatoes remain at the latter place only long enough to be resold and transferred to other lines, when they are sent to their final destination. A large part of the Pennington county crop eventually finds its way to southern and southwestern points and it is during this longer trip that the tieup might take place.

Prices are still holding up in a very satisfactory manner and it is predicted that these will go no lower as the heavy shipments which always follow the early digging season are now pretty well out of the way.

Doc Kirby's Fame Reaches City Newspaper Sanctums

The St. Paul Pioneer Press of Sunday contains two scenes taken near the farm home of "Dr." S. R. Kirby a short time ago. In one is shown the house and a large number of persons and automobiles in the yard, while in the other the tents used by many of the patients at the Kirby place are pictured. The cuts appear under the caption, "Thousands Seek Relief From Ailments at Hands of Farmer Healer." The accompanying article aims to tell something of Kirby's methods but does not follow facts very closely, one of the assertions being that Kirby "has a number of assistants," whereas it is well known that he worked almost entirely alone. The article is good advertising for Kirby, but its value is much diminished now that he has left the neighborhood.

Delegates to Conservancy Meeting Held at Bemidji

Math Barzen and Daniel Shaw leave tomorrow morning for Bemidji as delegates from Thief River Falls to the meeting of those interested in the work of the Red Lake Conservancy commission, which will hold a session in that city. These citizens were appointed by Mayor John Bratrud upon a request from Chairman C. G. Selvig of Crookston that this city be represented. It is expected that matters of importance to all water power users, municipal and private, will come up for discussion and other matters connected with the huge undertaking gone over. The delegates expect to return Friday evening.

65 Bushels Fully Matured Corn is 14-Acre Average

One of the finest corn fields in this section is that on the farm of Herbert Siems just west of the fair grounds. He has two acres in one plot near his home and 12 acres more a short distance farther west on the Jefferson. The corn is the Minnesota 13 variety and is husking out 65 bushels of fully matured ears to the acre. Corn experts who have viewed this crop say it is without question one of the finest grown in the section this year. There are ears 10 and 12 inches long, covered to the tip with kernels of uniform size and apparently of the very highest quality. Mr. Siems has been advised not to feed this crop but but to save it for seed next spring as it is of a quality that is bound to command a high price. This he intends doing after making a careful sorting of the entire crop.

Mr. Siems also had exceptional luck with his sweet corn, securing 40 bushels off three-quarters of an acre. This will also be saved for seed. In common with many others who have gone extensively into corn of late years he is convinced that, taking one season with another, corn offers the farmer a much surer return than does wheat.

THIEF RIVER FALLS GETS 1922 MEETING OF N. W. TEACHERS

The Northwestern Minnesota Educational association closed a very successful session at Crookston on Friday evening. All the superintendents and a large number of teachers from the different counties in the district were in attendance. Thief River Falls was selected as the point for holding the 1922 meeting. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: G. Holmquist, superintendent of the Warren schools, president; Miss Ella Pouliot, county superintendent of Red Lake county, vice president; I. T. Simley, superintendent of city schools, Thief River lowing were appointed members of the M. E. A. standing committees: Legislation, F. B. Anderson, superintendent of the Ada schools; finance, Geo. M. Gunderson, superintendent Pennington county; resolutions, A. C. Peterson, superintendent, Argyle.

The Athletic committee, to have charge of the athletics in this district, which includes the towns of Ada, Argyle, Bagley, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Fertile, Fosston, Hallock, McIntosh, Red Lake Falls, Stephen, Thief River Falls, Warren and Warroad, were elected as follows: I. T. Simley, superintendent of schools at Thief River Falls, chairman; A. C. Pederson, superintendent of schools at Argyle, and O. L. Troxel, of Fosston.

CITIZENS ASKED TO AID IN OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Request Made That All Stores Close at 11 Minutes After 11 on November 11.

Friday, Nov. 11, is Armistice Day and the anniversary will be fittingly observed in Thief River Falls. Geo. L. Sterns is at the head of a committee having the arrangements in charge and these will be of a most interesting character.

All business houses in the city will be asked to close their doors at 11 minutes after 11 o'clock on the 11th day of November and keep them closed for the remainder of the day. This will not only be a mark of respect to the ex-service men but will give store employes, many of whom served during the war in some capacity, an opportunity to join in the observances. Farmers and others are asked to do their shopping in the forenoon of that day in order to cause as little trouble to the merchants and salespeopel as possible as well as protect themselves against disappointment.

The auditorium will be open all day and will be headquarters for home folks and visitors alike. A parade will form there at 1 o'clock and will march through the principal streets of the city. The afternoon program will begin at 2 o'clock and will consist of speaking, singing and music by the band. An effort will be made to secure an out-of-town speaker of note to deliver the principal address of the day, but he has not as yet been selected. Following the afternoon program it is the intention to stage a two-ring circus. There will also be a football game and other sports, to be followed by a moving picture at the auditorium which is expected to take up the time until 6 o'clock.

There will be no charges of any kind for any of this entertainment. The band donates its services as do practically all those who take any part in the proceedings.

There will doubtless be one or more dances given in the evening but the legion has nothing to do with these, the members believing that their efforts should be devoted to making a success of the anniversary without any thought of profit.

Celebrates 86th Birthday.

Mrs. Elsie Davidson celebrated her 86th birthday at her home in this city Saturday. A number of lady friends spent an enjoyable afternoon with her and before their departure presented her with a coffee percolator as a token of their esteem and friendship.

M. R. S. HIGHWAY OFFICIALS HERE; CITY SELECTED

To Become Important Point on Route From Port Arthur, Texas, to Winnipeg.

All Requirements Met and Necessary Funds Raised Quickly and Without Trouble.

Maps Will at Once Be Changed and Metal Road Signs Placed Throughout County.

Thief River Falls will be one of the important points on the Mississippi River Scenic Highway. The people of the city now hold the signed contract of the managers and nothing but a violation of the stipulations therein contained can alter the situation.

Truman Pierson of Minneapolis, general manager and vice president of the system, accompanied by J. C. VanHul, Jr., of Clinton, Iowa, secretary, were in the city last week and all arrangements for including Thief River Falls among the cities through which the road is to pass were perfected.

Money Quickly Raised.

After the officials of the highway had met with a number of our business men Friday evening it was unanimously voted to join the association if the requirements could be met. Another meeting was called for Saturday forenoon at the Commercial club rooms at which a larger number were present. Math Barzen, elected president of the unit the previous evening, asked Mr. Pierson to again set forth the proposition for the benefit of those who were not at the previous meeting. This he briefly did, showing how a road from the southwest and southeast, following the Mississippi river along the western bank, would prove of great benefit to those residing in this section. Particularly did he dwell upon the large number of people from Canada who every year spend the summer at the lakes near Detroit. These would pass through Thief River Falls both going and coming and alone would provide a considerable traffic during the summer months. A well-marked highway from the south, passing through Mahnomen, Brooks and other towns cannot help but be of benefit to the business people of Theif River Falls, Mr. Pierson said. Mr. VanHul also spoke briefly on the benefits to be derived from a road traversing the western side of the great river and branching off southeast to Florida and southwest to Port Arthur, Tex.

Money is Deposited.

Some slight objection was voiced at the meeting over handing the required sum over to strangers with no guarantee of the provisions of the contract being carried out, but when Mr. Pierson offered to leave the money right in the city in escrow until such time as every provision in the contract had been met, this almost entirely disappeared. A committee started out to secure funds and by evening the amount had been pledged and the promoters were on their way to Red Lake Falls, where they were enthusiastically received and where the necessary arrangements were quickly made.

Hits Jefferson at Brooks.

The new line will follow the present Jefferson road from Brooks to the point where this highway is joined by the road from Warren. The route is then laid out westward to the latter city and north to Winnipeg. This is the only place on the entire line that the Jefferson is touched, these arteries being far apart for almost the entire distance. The Jefferson, for instance, passes through Kansas City while the Scenic hits St. Louis. At Clinton, Iowa, connection is made with the Lincoln highway, which forms a direct line eastward to Chicago.

Officers Are Chosen.

Officers for the Thief River Falls unit were elected as follows: Math Barzen, president; F. J. Stebbins, first vice president; T. L. Melgaard, second vice-president; Daniel Shaw, treasurer; George L. Sterns, secretary. Mr. Shaw was also named as one of the international vice presidents, while Mr. Stebbins and T. J. Austad were appointed on the international publicity committee.

Maps Will Be Changed.

Another city in this section had been selected as the point through which this highway should pass before the advantages of Thief River Falls were brought to the attention of the promoters. The new arrangement will necessitate the changing of all maps and reading matter so as to include this city. This will be done before tourist traffic becomes heavy in the spring. Road markers will also be furnished by the association and put in place by the local unit.

Officers of the highway in this city have also been notified that a large sign, 8x12 feet, will be placed at some important junction on the highway with the name Thief River Falls appearing conspicuously, together with the distance from town and direction. There will also be a number of fine porcelain signs furnished, to be located at such points as may be decided by the local men in charge.

Society and Club

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

On Sunday afternoon friends numbering about 75 gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Ostby unannounced, the occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in conversation and extending congratulations to the honored couple, who have made this city their home for many years. At five o'clock a bounteous lunch, brought by the guests, was enjoyed. Rev. T. E. Sweger, in behalf of the guests, presented Mr. and Mrs. Ostby with a handsome gift of silverware as a token of the esteem in which they are held. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. J. Gronna of Lakota, N. D., a sister of Mr. Ostby; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Kjos of Spring Grove, the latter a sister of Mrs. Ostby; Mr. and Mrs. E. Trehus and daughter, Lorraine, Spring Grove; Mrs. Trehus is a niece of Mrs. Ostby; Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Thoreson and daughters, Vivian, Eunice and Hazel, of Goodridge. Mrs. Thoreson is a sister of Mrs. Ostby.

Maccabee Banquet.

On Monday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall the losers of a recent membership drive for the Lady Maccabees entertained the winners at a banquet. The table, at which a three course dinner was served, was very attractively decorated with Hallowe'en motifs. A corn shock holding a double faced pumpkin formed the center piece. Streamers of orange and black were the decorative features of the hall, while shaded lights added to the attractiveness of the occasion. Mrs. Oscar Melby, captain of the losers, and Mrs. Joe Holmes, captain of the winning side, each gave an interesting toast. Following the banquet the remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in dancing, cards and music. The out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Faye Kenyon and Mrs. Ole Clausen of Fordville, N. D., both of whom were obligated that same evening. Everyone attending voted this one of the most elaborate and enjoyable social events of the season.

Series of Parties.

Mrs. F. F. Haynes, Mrs. H. C. Johnson and Mrs. Andrew Bottelson will share honors as hostesses at a series of three parties to be given today and tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Haynes. This afternoon invitations have been issued to thirty ladies and the hours will be spent in needlework. In the evening twenty ladies and gentlemen will be their guests. Five tables of whist will be in play. On Friday afternoon twenty-eight ladies will be entertained at whist. For these occasions the rooms of the Haynes home will be becomingly decorated with an elaborate arrangement of Hallowe'en novelties. Black cats, witches and goblins will be much in evidence. Light refreshments will be served each day.

Hallowe'en Party.

On Saturday afternoon Gladys Christianson was hostess at a matinee party. Twenty boys and girls were her guests. Following an afternoon at the movies they repaired to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Christianson, where a delightful lunch awaited them. Appropriate decorations of orange and black carried out the spirit of Hallowe'en. Those present were Irene Hanson, Gertrude Bartlett, Ione Loken, Dorothy Swedenburg, Elaine Korstad, Mayverette Hilson, Marion Reynolds, Lucille Hermanson, Frances Rounds, Robert Erickson, Richard Mabey, Ned Biedermann, Carl Benson, Ronald Kinghorn, Leonard and Elmer Helgeland, Arthur Lufkin, Carl Swedenburg and Randall Noper.

Mrs. Bishop is Hostess.

As a social courtesy to Mrs. Ross V. Noper of Goodhope, Ill., who is a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. J. M. Bishop delightfully entertained a number of young people at her home Friday evening. The hours were devoted to music and dancing. At midnight a delicious buffet lunch was served. The guests included Mrs. Ross V. Those present were George Lambert, William Frederick, Jr., Gordon Storholm, Myles Warner, Donald Lane, Wallace Benson and Melford Haugen.

THE SURER CROP.

Again it has been most thoroughly demonstrated that the growing of wheat as the principal product of this northwestern section of Minnesota is a mistake. Not only did the yield of the past season prove decidedly unsatisfactory, but the price has been driven down to a point where it would not have paid the farmer to produce the cereal even if he had raised a bumper crop. Wheat production as the main aim of our farmers will have to be abandoned and the sooner this fact is recognized the better for the farmer, the section and the country.

Five years out of every six corn has proven a better paying crop than wheat for the Pennington county farmer who employed modern methods and safeguards in its production. Native seed, careful germination tests and the proper preparation of the soil have shown him that corn of the best quality can be ripened here and that the prospects of his securing a crop are much better than is the case with wheat. Yields of 65 to 70 bushels of fully matured corn are common this year, and while this is not remarkable when compared with results in sections farther to the south, yet it provides a surer and greater return than will wheat at any price liable to prevail under normal conditions.

Rye, corn, potatoes and sugar beets are rapidly replacing wheat as leaders in northwestern Minnesota and the quicker the change takes place over the entire region the better it will be for everybody. Nothing can stop the forward movement of dairying as a main pursuit on the part of our farmers and this greater diversification of field products will fall right in line with this development. The producer who early realizes this fact will soon have his farming operations on a business basis.

THE MISSISSIPPI SCENIC.

This is not a particularly favorable time for asking people to contribute money toward anything not absolutely needed, but more and better highways come under the head of such necessities. That is the reason why the business men of Thief River Falls jumped at the chance of having the Mississippi River Scenic highway routed through this city. The returns on this investment may not be immediate, but experience has proven that they are certain.

There is perhaps no way in which the value of the Jefferson Highway to the city of Thief River Falls can be computed. All anyone knows is that thousands of people have traveled through the city over the route and that very few of these tourists have failed to leave something in the way of substantial evidence of the fact that they had been here. As the last night control on the Jefferson on the way to Winnipeg the city has benefited much more than the towns through which the road merely passes, although these also have secured a large increase in business from a highly desirable class of trade.

That the Mississippi Scenic highway will prove as popular as has the Jefferson is certain. It covers an entirely different section of country for the greater part of its length and taps a region immediately to the south of us which should be Thief River Falls trading territory. There are those who doubt the value of these organized highways and trails, but the fact remains that they are business producers for all the towns along their course, small as well as large.

Thief River Falls is fortunate in being selected as one of the principal points on the route to Winnipeg and it will take only one summer season to demonstrate the fact.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Giving grain to save the lives of famine sufferers in foreign lands is the most effective advertising work ever done to build up new markets for American farm products, according to N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture.

Gifts of grain shipped by farmers of Minnesota and nine other midwest states this summer have resulted in the purchase of 17,800,000 pounds of corn products by the Polish government. All these products were milled from corn grown on American farms. Poland made the purchase soon after the first gift corn from the United States reached the Polish famine sufferers and the government found that it made excellent food. A report by the American Farm Bureau federation, showing that Poland bought 8,900 tons of corn products, nearly three times the amount of Minnesota gifts, as a direct result of the farmers' grain relief campaign, has been received by the Near East Relief committee in Minnesota. It is being sent out to elevators and farm organizations in the 68 counties in which farmers have been asked to make small gifts of grain to fight another famine, this time in southern Russia and Armenia.

Gifts may be turned over to practically any country elevator. Almost without exception, country elevators are giving their services free in receiving and shipping the grain.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

Thief River merchants are beseeching "Dr." Kirby not to leave. They have been afflicted with overweight of the bankroll ever since Doc arrived, and they don't want to be cured.

Aesop put over his fable in grand style several hundred years ago, but he would have trouble putting it over on some Baudette wives.

The primary election in Minnesota is months away, but the politicians are already tossing the cow's husband hither and yon.

Perhaps we are due for an open winter, but it won't be in Baudette if the prohibition agents make many more raids.

It's a tough job trying to manufacture editorials with the ducks calling.

We saw a blindpigger driving a dark brown car the other day. His taste resembles that of his customers the morning after.

This is great weather to take your germs out for an airing.

Many thanks to the Indians for this second helping of Indian summer.

Now it is said that jazz music is to be eliminated. They must have discovered something worse.

Opinions of Other Editors

AND THEN QUIT KICKING.

Minneota Mascot: Young man and young woman, if you think that these are hard times, talk to your father or your mother, or your grandpa and your grandma about the time when they came out here and settled on these then barren prairies, and let them tell you what they went through. Let them tell of the things that they went without, and the time that they had in getting the things they actually needed—and, say, kid, if you do that you will find that you know about as much about hard times as a hog does about heaven!

PEAT AS AN ASSET.

Bemidji Pioneer: While it has been generally known for some time that there was a possibility of some day realizing a fortune out of the peat beds of Beltrami county and neighboring counties in Northern Minnesota, it was considered a remote possibility. The possibility has become a very real probability of the near future. The presence of such large quantities of peat near the huge volume of iron ore which is also contained in Northern Minnesota, makes the possibility of commercializing the peat beds still more interesting. Peat for fuel, in blast furnaces, may be a possibility of the near future. The demonstration held at Corona last week to determine the possible value of peat and the methods best suitable to utilize the peat in the vast peat beds will have a direct bearing upon the exploiting of the peat industry. It is known that a considerable quantity of peat lands has been purchased in this county by parties intending to develop them in the future. If the peat can be developed into fuel economically, the peat lands of the country may yet prove to be a very valuable asset.

WHY MENTION STATESMEN?

Sleepy Eye Herald-Dispatch: A Vermont editor declares that a good many statesmen would rather be tight than be president.

TOO MUCH LICENSING.

Browns Valley Tribune: This is the day and generation of regulation under the law. The man who attempts to do anything now-a-days, in a business way, must first arm himself with a pocket full of licenses. A good story is told of a gentleman who recently visited the state capitol. One of the guides who met the stranger at the door, asked what department he desired to visit first. He replied: "Don't make much difference which one I go to first, for I've got to get a license from each one of them." The matter of regulating and licensing under the law has grown to such an extent that a great many are beginning to wonder if we are not carrying this thing to a ridiculous extreme.

WATCH HENRY'S STAR.

Princeton Union: Henry Ford is doing more, we believe, than any other man in the country to better the employment situation. A report now comes from Iron Mountain, Mich., which appears to be authentic, that Mr. Ford intends constructing an electric railway from there to Stephenson, 36 miles distant, for the transportation of farm and dairy products to the first-named place, where he will shortly have hundreds of men employed getting out ore for his Detroit factory.

Martin County Sentinel: Watch Henry Ford's star. He is in the hearts of more people today than any other American. Will he ever be president? Ask us something easy.

CORRECT YOU ARE.

Martin County Sentinel: Even the Minneapolis Journal has soured on the Fordney tariff bill. If newspapers all had the courage of their convictions the Fordney bantling would not have a supporter among the press of Minnesota, and Minnesota congressmen in the lower house would be apologizing for having voted for it.

EVENTUALLY—WHY NOT NOW?

Faribault News: Increasing pressure is being brought to bear upon congress in behalf of the Great Lakes-Tidewater waterway, which is so greatly needed for the proper development of Minnesota and other Mississippi Valley states. As Charles P. Craig said at St. Paul the other day, the waterway will be open for ocean-going vessels in 25 years—conditions will force it—why not start now and have it ready in five years? It can be done and should be done without further delay. Only the self-interest of New York and possibly a few other Atlantic seaports stands in the way.

THE SPEED LIMIT SHOULD WORK BOTH WAYS.

Little Falls Transcript: The authorities are endeavoring to hold motorists on the paved highway down to at least 30 miles an hour. This is believed to be a safe and sane gait. The pavement, especially on nice afternoons and evenings, is crowded with cars and it is almost impossible to pass a car ahead owing to the great number of automobiles going in the opposite direction. Why shouldn't traffic rules of the cities be applied in the country and force those using the pavement to drive at least 25 miles per hour. Motorists who wish to make fair time are often held behind a long procession because some driver ahead wishes to saunter along at 12 to 15 miles per hour.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Thief River Falls man:

"My kidneys gave me quite a bit of trouble," says Mr. Halvorsen. "They didn't act normally and bothered me quite a bit by this irregularity. I was feeling pretty mean and easily tired. I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and it was only a short time before I noticed a change in my condition. My kidneys again acted normally and I was benefited a great deal."

Chain Store Gains 25 Per Cent;

Mail Order Houses Lose 37 Per Cent.

J. C. Penney Company, the operators of a country-wide system of chain stores, did 25 per cent more business during the first seven months of this year than during the corresponding months of 1920, while Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., the two leading mail order houses of the country, suffered a loss of 37 per cent in the same period, according to figures obtained by the Daily Garment News.

E. C. Sams, president of the J. C. Penney Company, when asked why it was that in that period of depression the Penney stores had increased their sales so tremendously while the business of the catalog house had so greatly fallen off, ascribed the fact in part to the poor business conditions.

"When business is flush," he said, "people are not so particular where they buy and do little shopping around. When business is bad they are anxious to find out where they can obtain what they want at the lowest price. Because we have pursued policies which permit us to sell at rockbottom prices J. C. Penney Company has prospered through the depression.

The chief points in the policies of the Penney stores that brought this about he said were:

1. That the Penney stores on January 1st took a $3,000,000 loss on their inventory to make it possible to base selling prices on replacement values.

2. That the Penney stores have devoted an increasing amount of money to arouse interest by the public in the values offered them.

3. That the executives of each of the Penney stores is interested in the business and for that reason have the same personal interest in their stores which the man who owns a single store possesses. This, Mr. Sams points out, is an element which is entirely lacking in the big mail order concerns.

4. The Penney stores sell for cash only.

5. The Penney stores do not deliver any merchandise to their customers.

6. The Penney stores derive all the benefits that are obtained through large scale buying.

Mr. Sams declared that the man owning a single store should be able to benefit in the same way, whenever he is able to put the same principles into practice. He doubted very much whether this was entirely possible but in any case that is possible such principles should have the same results.

For the small man to put his business on a cash-and-carry basis might often be difficult, he said, but if that were done the benefits to be derived through the resultant reductions in prices should be great.

The element of personal interest is not an exclusive feature but is one that is shared by any man who operates his own store.

Mr. Sams doubted whether the small merchant has been able to write off his losses on his inventory with the ease that a large concern like his has been able to do, but where it can be done, he said, sales simply must be increased.

Advertising is a medium which the one-man store can use as well as the largest chain store operator in the country.

And although Mr. Sams did not comment on this particular point, it has been said time and again by experts in the retail field that the one man store can share in many of the benefits of collective buying with the chain stores through being represented in the New York market by a competent resident buyer.

Eh-He!

Some pupils figure they have the best reasons in the world for being a few minutes late. Is not the grandest and most glorious operation that Thief River Falls ever has seen or will see going on but a few blocks from the school house? Sure, it's the paving! Can you blame a student, who is accustomed to come to school witnessing cars and miscellaneous objects propelling themselves slowly through the muddy streets, for stopping to gaze in amazement at the marvelous change going on? Soon our streets will be paved, and then won't we skip along light-heartedly to school? We'll be going to the finest little old high school in the finest little old town in the world! Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling?—O. H. '23.

Government Regulation of Fuel Prices.

One of the criticisms against the question for debate this year is that the issue—government regulation of fuel prices—is not a live one. That may be true—little has been said, either by the magazines or by authorities, but that shall not be a hindering factor against a successful year in debate. We will MAKE it a live issue; discuss it, argue it, in school, at debate club meetings, and finally, in the interscholastic contests. In the hands of our ductile philosophers the fuel industry will become the chief source of interest to all humanity; civilization itself will be in the balance; and we will make of the great captains of industry who are responsible for it all—the coal barons and oil magnates—philanthropic benefactors of humanity or incarnate fiends, public spirited human beings or pillagers of the destitute poor—as our position requires. Our national government will also come in for its share of noble praise and wholesale condemnation. But this does not mean that we will jeopardize the stability of our democratic self-government, nor that we are fostering revolution. It shall not be mere hypocricy, either, but only the straight representation or misrepresentation of facts, on both sides of the issue. For every issue has two sides—a right side and a wrong side—and it is chiefly for this reason that debating is fostered, that we may be better able to distinguish between arguments for right and wrong. We must learn to see through and discard unsound arguments, and make others see that ours are sound, in order to be successful debaters.

But it will help us a great deal if we have the public interest. Will you, dear school-mates, help us in our campaign? It is really to your interest and the interest of the school that we place Thief River Falls on the map as the storm center of forensics this year, so emphasize DEBATE. Talk it at home, at your social gatherings, and at school, and finally, let people know that they may have the privilege of hearing some real debating one of these days, if any of the debates are held at home.—O. H. '23.

Why Athletics?

While selling tickets for the last football game, some of the boys ran up against some "stiff" opposition from local business men. Their main argument was that students now days are spending too much time on athletics and paying too little attention to studies. Although this might sound like an argument, they had no facts to back this statement. Their second point was that years ago students did not "waste their time" playing football and basketball.

In answer to their arguments we would like to ask a few questions:

1. If a few years ago there were no athletics in the schools, why has this "waste of time" increased so much in the last few years?
2. Why do all the big universities throughout the country back up sports so strongly?
3. What made the American soldier so "fit" and "full of pep" with so little training?

In answer to their first argument we would say that if athletics are not a factor which aided the students in some way, it would soon be dropped. There is no college or university of any size in this country that does not have athletics of some form. These different sports built up the American men so that they could "pull together" with hardly any training.

In our school, athletics is not primary but secondary. The studies come first every single time! No student can participate in athletics until he has met certain scholastic requirements as well as other requirements. These requirements are printed in this week's issue of The Progress. They ought to be read by everyone. It will be seen that athletics are an aid to good work both in and out of school, rather than a hindrance.

Their second question is easily answered. Years ago we did not have many things that we have today, and as the world is constantly changing it is foolish to compare present days with the past. Anything that is good for the public is bound to grow and this is the reason for the rapid growth of athletics.

In ending this little discussion we are glad to say that most of the local people are behind our school in any contests we have with other schools. We hope that those who "buck" these contests will think over both sides of this question before "jumping to one side and anchoring there." Our athletic teams help to keep Lincoln high on the map.—A Senior.

Eligibility Rules For Athletics

(From the Rules and Regulations of the Minnesota State High School Athletic Association.)

Section 3—To be eligible to play in any contest in the association, a student must conform to the following conditions:

(a) He must have been enrolled in the high school not less than two weeks before the contest or from the beginning of school.

(b) He shall be making grade in at least four subjects for which he is enrolled. If a grade student, he shall be up to grade in the regular amount of work.

(c) He shall not participate in any interscholastic contest in such branch of athletics for more than four years in high school.

(d) He shall not have been, at any time, a member of a team representing a school higher than a secondary school.

(e) He shall not be a graduate of a four year high school or of any secondary school.

(f) After his first semester in high school he shall have made at least three half-year credits in his preceding semester's attendance. The same principle shall apply to all other students certified as eligible to play.

(g) He shall not use tobacco nor intoxicating liquors during any part of the school year.

(h) He shall not play on any similar team during the school season.

(i) He shall be under twenty-one years of age.

(j) He shall, before participating in any interscholastic athletic contest in any branch of athletics sign an official "information card" declaring himself familiar with the rules of the association, that he has not used tobacco since the opening of the school year, and that there is no rule which to the best of his knowledge he would violate if permitted to play. These cards, witnessed by the principal or superintendent, shall be sent to the chairman of the district committee, who shall send copies of the names of those having so signed to all the schools of the district.

Gets Offices.

At the meeting of the Northwestern Educational association held at Crookston the latter part of last week, Superintendent Simley was elected chairman of the District Athletic committee. Superintendents A. C. Pederson of Argyle and O. L. Troxel of Fosston are the other members of this committee.

In accordance with the custom of the association of electing a secretary from the place where the convention is to be held, Mr. Simley was also elected to this important position for the coming year, the association having instructed its executive committee to declare Thief River Falls the convention city for 1922.

The city schools will welcome the teachers of the Northwest to Thief River Falls next year. We are proud of our schools and know we can make a good showing and appeal to all who may come.

Press Association to Hold Convention.

The Minnesota high school press association which was organized last winter at the invitation of Carleton College will hold its annual meeting Nov. 4 and 5 at West high school in Minneapolis.

Invitations have been extended to all high schools who publish or desire to publish a paper or magazine to send delegates. These delegates will be entertained in the homes of the studnts of Miennapolis schools.

The executive committee has worked out an excellent program which will be both interesting and of practical value in publishing a snappy newspaper.

The first meeting will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Saturday morning the election of officers will take place and talk on subjects pertaining to the makeup and publishing of school papers and magazines will be given. In the afternoon the Round Table discussion will be held. The latter part of the afternoon will be given over to trips through the large industrial centers of the city. In the evening the closing banquet will be given through the courtesy of the Minneapolis Journal to the delegates. At this time awards for the convention content will be presented by the Minneapolis Tribune, and the final speeches of the convention will be made.

It would be well if The Progress might have representation at this meeting. At the present time, however, the money with which to send a representative is not in sight.

Do Your Own Work!

Report cards were handed out last Wednesday. Were we satisfied with our marks? Yes, some of us were—but some were not. The latter asked themselves why they were not. In some cases they admitted that they hadn't tried to get their lessons, and of course they deserved no better marks.

Others said, "I handed in all my written work and certainly that would have kept my mark up. I guess I failed in my examination and come to think of it, I believe that counts one-third. Oh, well, she could have given me a better mark anyway."

Why did they fail in their examination if they kept up their written work? Probably because they copied somebody else's work. Is not letting the other fellow do your work the cause of many failures in this world? Yes, and it applies to some students right here in school. Day after day they copy their neighbor's work and then expect to pass in that subject. How can they? They have not studied any of their lessons, probably won't even remember what they copied. It hurts the "copier," not the "copied."

Thief River Trims Fosston.

Thief River Falls humbled the Fosston high school football team in a one-sided game at Fosston last Saturday. The ball was in Fosston's territory most of the time and the score would have been larger but for poor head work on the part of Thief River Falls. The defense of Fosston strengthened in the pinches and kept the local boys from scoring a couple more touchdowns. Fosston's only touchdown came after intercepting a forward pass which placed them in a position to score. Two of Thief River Falls' touchdowns were made by Sorenson and Barzen after intercepting forward passes and running forty yards to the goal line.

Fosston should be commended for their spirit of fair-play, always striving to give the local boys a square deal.

Barzen was easily the star of the game, smashing through the opponents' line time after time for good gains. Holmgren played his usual strong game on the defense and Halvorson, substituting for Captain Herron, proved himself to be a worthy man. Bob McGinn did some good work on the defense when, being the only man left between our goal and the ball, nailed his man by clean tackles. Math Barzen intercepted one of Fosston's forward passes, showing that the line men as well as the backs were on the job watching for just such chances to secure the ball. Although our team lacked the snap that they should have, they at times showed spurts of real football ability.

Our Citiy's Administration.

The city of Thief River Falls has a mayor-council form of government, that is, we have a mayor to enforce the laws and a law-making body to make the laws. The law-making body consists of one councilman elected from each of the four wards, and two councilmen at large. The mayor and councilmen are elected by the voting members of the city for a term of two years, and may come up for reelection for a number of terms. Thief River Falls does not have a city judiciary since the county court house is located here.

—Ruby Anseby, 8B.

A Bit of History.

On Sept. 1 and 16, 1896, the board of county commissioners certified that the election had carried and declared the city incorporated under the name of Thief River Falls. The city officials were F. H. Kratka, mayor; C. J. Knox, John E. Burkee, P. O. Bergh, Chas. A. Robbecke and O. T. Tandberg, aldermen, and J. W. Walkin, treasurer. The new city council was organized and went into effect on Nov. 4, 1896. The former village recorder, Lars Backe, who at this meeting appointed city clerk of the new city.

The city council consists of the mayor, two aldermen at large and one alderman elected from the ward in which he resides. Aldermen at large, mayor and treasurer are elected by the voters of the city at large. The regular city election is held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of each odd numbered year. When the mayor vetoes an ordinance, order or resolution it shall be filed with the city clerk with his objection thereto and shall then again be put to passage of the same by the city council. If three-fourths of all the members of the council vote to pass the measure, it shall have the same effect as if approved by the mayor. The mayor is the chief magistrate of the city and has command and control of its entire force of police and patrolmen.

The Normal Training girls are doing practice teaching in the second, third and fourth grades.

The exchanges so far that have been secured from different high schools in the state are few, but more will be had. American Legion Corner

For every Minnesota Legionaire wore over his heart the emblem of the state he is so proud to call his own. All over Kansas City hundreds of Gopher badges might be seen. Each badge was four inches high. On a maroon background sat bolt upright a three-inch Minnesota gopher in gold, with the word "Minnesota" in big letters across the face of the badge. No quainter or more appropriate badge was to be seen at the big Legion convention.

Legionnires of Ellendale, Minnesota, cannot say enough good things about the village council, which has given them the use of the village hall for post club rooms. They are busy furnishing their new home, and each member will have a key. They celebrated the opening of their new club rooms by putting on a chicken supper after the regular business session.

It's Up to the Farmers.
(Holt Weekly News.)

If we should make the statement that in less than ten years the farm lands around Holt would readily sell at an average price of a hundred dollars or more per acre, undoubtedly many would say the author of that statement is a fit subject for Fergus Falls. If farmers will change their methods, from raising small grain, to raising corn, sweet clover, alfalfa, potatoes, some rutabagas, mangles and sugar beets, and to keeping good dairy cows; we wouldn't be afraid to make that statement, and take our chances on going either to the crazy house or the poor house.

BOTTEM HARDWARE COMPANY

Lights and Shadows

Mr. A. P. Johnson, Publisher of the News, Grand Rapids, Michigan, in his issue of Oct. 13, prints the following:

PRODUCTIVE ADVERTISING

There are three "bewares" in the primer of every editor, reporter and aspiring newspaper worker. Where they came from we don't know and we know less of what they mean to convey. They are, "Beware of religion; beware of saying anything good about big corporations; beware of mentioning advertisers except when they pay for it." Readers of this newspaper know where it stands on religion and corporations. We are for them when they do more good than harm. We oppose them when they oppose human progress and retard human happiness.

This is about both a corporation and an advertiser—a big advertiser, the Standard Oil Company. A great change has come over the Standard Oil Company in recent years. It is no longer afraid of its own shadow. It is no longer afraid to tell who owns it, what its business methods are, what its products are and what it hopes to do. The story is being told in friendly and unfriendly papers without fear or favor, embarrassment or compunction in paid advertising space.

Of course a newspaper would naturally agree to this method of publicity. But we are not thinking of the dollars just now. We are thinking of how much further we would have progressed in the solution of many of our economic and industrial difficulties if more light had been thrown upon the inner workings of the offensives and defensives in such disputes as involve the public at large.

The series of advertisements which have been and are being published by the Standard Oil Company have become economic arguments which carry a message. We are not so pleased with them but what we realize that they put the company's best foot forward. To what extent they have sold gasoline is a matter for their advertising department to decide, but it is certain that they have sold to the public a large measure of good will which the Standard Oil Company did not possess not so very long ago.

Having committed this breach of saying something good about an advertiser, we will now shut our eyes and wait for the catastrophe that is bound to occur according to the law of primeval journalism.

When in October, 1918, the present management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) took charge of the business, one of the first things it decided was that the public should be given intimate information regarding the Company and its affairs. Those responsible for the management knew that the policies that had animated this organization for many years were policies which benefited stockholders, employes, and the public, and that these policies could not but meet the approval of the people generally, for they were based on fair dealing, justice and equity.

The result of this decision was the authorization of a widespread publicity campaign, which has been carried on for about three years, and the proof of its effectiveness is to be seen not only in the not infrequent mention being made by the newspapers of the country in editorials such as the one written by Mr. Johnson, quoted above, but in the better understanding on the part of the public of what the Company is trying to do.

The basic principle upon which the business of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is built is to provide the individual, wherever he may live in the 11 states served by this Company, with such products of petroleum as he may need, and to get them to him when he wants them and at a price which is fair alike to the stockholders, the public, and the competitor.

MANY TEACHERS ATTEND DURING INSTITUTE WEEK

One of Best Sessions in History of County Closed in This City Friday Night.

Discussions and Lectures By State Instructors Prove Particularly Interesting.

Teachers' Progressive League Prepares For Greater Extension of Work.

The teachers' institute for the teachers of Pennington county was held at the Lincoln high school last week, closing on Friday evening. It was a success in every respect, the attendance being very large and everyone showing a predominating spirit of co-operation throughout the session.

The work was under the able direction of Miss C. L. Osborn, institute worker and formerly connected with Moorhead State Teachers' college, H. H. Fuller of Mankato State Teachers' college, now director of the rural department, and Geo. M. Gunderson, superintendent of schools of Pennington county.

Discussions and Lectures.

The first three days consisted of sessions of discussions and lectures by the state instructors, and explanations of various matters relative to rural schools by the superintendent. The subjects which were given special attention and consideration were: General methods of teaching based on LaRue's "Psychology for Teachers," and library organization.

Methods and ideas concerning the teaching of manual arts or industrial work in rural schools was also discussed.

Miss Osborn and Mr. Fuller are very interesting speakers and those in attendance showed keep interest in their lectures and discussions.

Tuesday afternoon Supt. I. T. Simley of the city schools gave an address on "The Teaching of Poetry in the Grades," which was well received and appreciated by the teachers.

Attended Crookston Meeting.

The institute closed Wednesday afternoon owing to the fact that the remaining two days were convention days. The Northwestern section of the Minnesota Educational association held its annual convention Oct. 20-21 at Crookston. The rural teachers, together with the grade and high school teachers, left in a special car Wednesday afternoon, almost 100 per cent strong, largely due to the untiring efforts of Supt. Gunderson.

The Teachers' Progressive league of Pennington county held its annual business meeting and reorganized during the institute week. The work was planned for the ensuing year, Reading Circles being established, the object of which is self-improvement of the teachers through study and discussions of various subjects relative to teaching. The subject particularly recommended were "Psychology for Teachers" and "Health Through Will Power."

Election of officers was held, the following being elected:

RESERVE OPENING PRINCIPAL AIM OF BEMIDJI BOOSTERS

Impressed With Possibilities of Development Found in Eastern Section of County.

The booster party from Bemidji arrived as advertised, although not exactly according to schedule. They were to be here on Friday noon but some arrived on Thursday night and the rest on Friday night.

No regular meetings with our citizens were held, the visitors preferring to talk over matters of interest to the two cities informally with our business men. The primary object of the visit was to get an understanding relative to boosting the opening of certain sections of the Red Lake Indian reservation to settlement at as early a date as possible. They were assured that every assistance would be forthcoming from this end whenever there seemed to be a possibility of the effort resulting in success. No program of action was mapped out but all were agreed that the throwing open of the agricultural lands on the reservation to settlement would prove a good thing for all concerned, including the Indians themselves.

The party came here by way of Grygla and Roseau. They were very much impressed with the possibilities of the eastern portions of Pennington and Marshall counties and admitted that the only drawback to the rapid development of the section is the absence of railroads. They were convinced, however, before leaving this city that the present is a poor time to boom railroad construction in this country and that while it might be well to keep the matter alive by judicious agitation, there is but slight hope of anything being accomplished for a year or two.

The party had a very pleasant trip and enjoyed every mile of the long drive. They were well received in the different communities and satisfied with the results of their mission. In the party were the following representative Bemidji business men: J. J. Opsahl, L. J. Jerdee, R. A. Hannah, A. A. Richardson, Earl Baker, John Moberg, A. T. Carlson, Abe Grossman, all of Bemidji, and Chas. Carter of Hinds.

Mrs. Ida Swenson.

Mrs. Ida Swenson, wife of Nels B. Swenson, residing on a farm west of this city, died at the Warren hospital on Tuesday, Oct. 18, at the age of 34 years, 10 months and 9 days. Death followed an operation for appendicitis. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Zion Lutheran church, with Rev. George Larson officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery. Deceased is survived by her husband, two sons, Ernest and Clarence, her mother, Mrs. B. Wold, and a number of brothers and sisters.

Petitions of Candidates For City Offices Filed

Filing papers for all candidates on what is known as the Good Government ticket were presented to City Clerk A. H. Akre on Tuesday. In each case a greater number of signers than is required by law had attached their names to the various petitions. The candidates are: Mayor, W. W. Prichard, Jr.; aldermen-at-large, F. C. Dablow and F. F. Haynes; First ward, M. V. Evenson; Second ward, C. D. Gustafson; Third ward, C. W. Vorachek; Fourth ward, Andrew Ness. The latter is on both tickets to be presented to the voters on Nov. 8. No petitions have as yet been filed for candidates for special municipal judge or city treasurer. Petitions for the re-election of the present city officials were filed some time ago.

The following have been named as judges of election: First ward, Ed. Ness, Emil Grielstein, C. E. Glines; Second ward, S. T. Johnson, M. M. Benson, W. H. Akre; Third ward, F. E. Mousley, P. J. Keating, Carsten Christensen; Fourth ward, Elmer Klungness, Mrs. T. P. Anderson, Frank Cernoueck.

Sapero's Announce Big Sale.

The Sapero company this week announces a big sale to start Saturday. Everything in the store is being placed on sale at radical reductions in price and it is certain that the exceptional offerings will attract large crowds. A surplus of stock caused by the unusual fall weather is cited as the reason for giving the public the benefit of the unusual sale at this time of the year.

Mains and Tanks Cleaned; Pure Water is Promised

The flushing of the water supply tank and street mains was completed on Wednesday and fresh water from the deep well near the power house run through in place of the supply from the river heretofore used. Repairs to the pump were made early in the week and the work of making a general cleaning at once began. Supt. O. L. Legvold says that all that is now required is a statement from the state board of health to the effect that the water is free from germs or other deleterious matter and he believes this will be issued as soon as an analysis can be made. It is expected that officials from the department will be in the city for the purpose of making the necessary tests within a few days. In the meantime it may be the safest plan not to use the water from the mains. While it is almost certain that the supply will meet all requirements, the authorities are taking no chances. There is no question but that the well will furnish an ample supply.

Supper, Cards, Dancing on Elks' Party Program

Preparations are going forward for the big Elks party to be given on the evening of Friday, Nov. 4, at the lodge rooms. This party is for Elks and their ladies only and will be of rather an unusual order. A regular full-grown man's supper will be served at 8 o'clock. This will be followed by cards and dancing. Those who do not care to dance can play cards to their heart's content, continuing until 1 o'clock, when the party is scheduled to break up.

This will be the first social event of the present season for the Elks and special efforts are being made to have all the appointments of the highest order. A large number of members of the lodge residing outside the city are expected to be on hand and the committee has been ordered to see to it that these are particularly well taken care of.

Knox School Ready For Occupancy About Jan. 1

A. B. Dunham of the firm of Sund & Dunham, architects, Minneapolis, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of looking over the work thus far done on the Knox school building. He expressed himself as well satisfied with progress made by the Prichard company, general contractors, and stated that the job was moving along at a very rapid rate. He predicted that the general construction work would be completed by the middle of December and that the building would be ready for occupancy shortly after the first of the year. W. W. Prichard, Jr., who has personally supervised the job, is much pleased over the verdict of the architect.

No Objectors Appear to Question New Assessment

Samuel Lord and Odin Haldin of the Minnesota Tax commission, were in the city on Monday for the purpose of sitting as a board of review on the special assessment of the city made by L. R. Swift at the request of the board of county commissioners. The board was in session all day but no objectors to the new assessment appeared to complain and the figures as submitted by Mr. Swift will stand. These do not increase the amount levied against those appearing on the previous tax roll, but a considerable number of omissions were found which, when added, increased the total valuation on which taxes are to be collected by over $136,000.

The members of the commission took the books with them to St. Paul for the purpose of making a more careful examination and correcting any minor errors that may be found.

Townley Loses Two-Year Fight Against the Courts

A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan league, on Monday lost his "last ditch" fight against the jail sentence imposed on him in Jackson county more than two years ago. The United States supreme court refused to review the case, according to a dispatch from Washington.

"The refusal of the court to consider the case was stated by Chief Justice William H. Taft, who gave no explanation," the dispatch says. "It is one of the numerous cases in which the court today refused to permit an appeal."

Mr. Townley will begin serving his 90 day sentence as soon as the machinery of the courts grind out the necessary commitment papers.

Declaration of Principles.

We stand for progress; for a bigger and better city; for economical administration of city affairs; for a clean city, not dominated by any certain clique, class or faction, and if elected, we pledge ourselves to conduct a city administration of which no citizen need be ashamed.

We believe that every man and woman should go to the polls and vote. No one should allow their personal affairs to interfere with this privilege and duty. We desire to make a special appeal to the women voters of this city, because we expect to conduct an administration that will meet with their approval, and we ask them to earnestly and carefully consider the issues in this campaign and then vote their convictions.

Do Not Fail to Vote.

Paving is not an issue in this campaign. The paving controversy has passed into history. The matter is fully settled and the streets will be paved just as soon as the weather will permit the contractor to finish the work, and the candidates on this ticket are in favor of the present contract being carried out and fully completed as soon as possible.

Whereas, it has been unfairly stated that an attempt might be made to assess the cost of paving to general taxation, we solemnly pledge ourselves that if elected we will make no attempt to assess the cost of paving to general taxation; that we will effectively resist any attempt to change the present plan of paying the cost of paving.

Voters, Attention!

(Prepared and ordered published in behalf of Will Prichard, Jr., Fred Dablow, F. F. Haynes, Martin V. Evenson, Dave Gustafson, Charles W. Vorachek and Andrew Ness, by P. J. Reierson, Thief River Falls, Minn., for which $3.60 is to be paid.)

It is being unfairly stated by some of those who oppose the Good Government Ticket, that were the candidates on this ticket elected, an attempt would be made to charge the cost of paving to general taxation.

We wish to call the attention of the voters to a statement appearing elsewhere in this paper, covering this point and signed by all the candidates on the Good Government Ticket. We wish also to submit the following facts for your consideration:

Martin V. Evenson, one of the candidates on the Good Government Ticket, owns one 75-foot lot in the present paving district; outside of the paving district he owns 12 houses and lots. Fred Dablow owns no property in the paving district, but he does own a home and lots outside of the paving district. Andrew Ness owns no property in the paving district, but owns six houses and lots outside of the paving district.

Is it conceivable by any line of reasoning that these men would want the cost of paving to be paid by the city at large? Do you think that these men, owning little or no property in the paving district and owning much property outside of the paving district would be in favor of assessing the cost to all of the city, so that they themselves would have to pay a great deal more than they will under the present arrangement? Certainly not! The statement that the candidates of the Good Government Ticket, if elected, would attempt to assess the cost of paving to general taxation is just campaign dust being thrown around with the hope that it will blind the eyes of some people, who will not take the trouble to investigate and find out the facts.

The plan for paving assessments has already been made and as a matter of law, no one could change it now. It would be impossible.

Again we call your attention to the signed pledge in another column of this paper.

VOTER OFFERED TWO COMPLETE CITY TICKETS

Mrs. Beatrice Hieber Files as a Candidate For Treasurer at Last Minute.

With But Five Days of Campaign Remaining, More Interest is Being Shown.

Mayor Bratrud and the Present Council Making Race on Records as Officials.

NESS RESENTS USE OF HIS NAME TO INJURE COUNCIL COLLEAGUES

To the Voters: I wish to say to the voters that any use of my name in connection with the present attempt to blacken the reputation and discredit the administration of Mayor John Bratrud, is absolutely unauthorized by me. I stand unqualifiedly for the re-election of Mayor Bratrud. We would have to hunt far and wide to get a better man for the office.

(Signed) ANDREW NESS,
Alderman Fourth Ward.

With the city election only five days distant, candidates generally are putting forth their strongest arguments in trying to prove that the city will best be served by their selection to fill the various offices.

But one change in the lineup has been made during the past week, this being the filing of Mrs. Beatrice Hieber as a candidate for treasurer on the Citiy Development ticket, headed by Mayor John Bratrud, entering her name just before the list closed. She is the only woman candidate on the ballot and as there is no question concerning her ability and qualifications it is certain that she will make a strong race with every indication pointing to her election.

Make Thorough Canvass.

While no public meetings have been held to boost the fortunes of those on either side, much quiet work has been done, particularly by those appearing on what is known as the "Good Government" ticket. The city has been systematically canvassed by supporters of these candidates, reports stating that a special effort has been made to interest the women voters. The line of argument employed revolves around the alleged laxity of the present authorities in not suppressing bootlegging and blindpigging. In reply the latter come forward with an offer of $100 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of anyone engaged in the traffic of handling the proscribed booze. No attempt is made to deny that there may be violations of the laws in this particular respect, but it is contended that it is the duty of any good citizen who knows of such cases to notify the porper authorities. If this is done and the evidence is produced there will be no fault to find with the manner in which the cases are handled, according to the statement. One hundred dollars is also offered to anyone who will produce evidence that will result in a conviction.

Is Now Main Issue.

The issues have narrowed down practically to this one—the suppression of illegal liquor handling. Every community in the United States faces the same situation, the only difference being that in most places conditions are ever so much worse. The police department is admittedly doing all in its power to keep the town free from the stuff but it is almost a hopeless task with the machinery at hand and while there is sufficient demand for the liquor to make bootlegging a profitable venture for those willing to take the chances. This is the reply of the members of the city administration to those who find fault with conditions. Just what plan the critics would employ to rid the town of an evil that prevails everywhere is not announced, but the "Good Government" candidates promise to make the attempt if given the chance.

Mayor Bratrud and the present council simply present their records as the only campaign argument they care to make, and to an impartial observer it would seem as if they were on perfectly safe ground in so doing.

WILL SPEAK HERE ON DISARMAMENT

Women Voters' State Organizer to Deliver Address at Club Room Saturday Night.

Mrs. Albee Ladd of Minneapolis, state organizer for the League of Women Voters, will deliver an address at the Commercial club rooms on Saturday evening. Her topic will be "Disarmament," a most interesting and important subject at any time but particularly so just now when the international disarmament congress is about to meet in Washington. Interest also attaches to the visit of Mrs. Ladd here as she was formerly a resident of Thief River Falls.

While this address will be delivered under the auspices of the local branch of the League of Women Voters, it is particularly desired that the men be present. Mrs. Ladd is a speaker of note and has a message of the greatest importance to all. No subject is more worthy of serious consideration by the American people and fro mevery section of the country come reports of action being taken urging upon President Harding and this country's delegates to the conference the necessity of doing everything in their power to secure at least an agreement for the limitation of armaments in the interests of humanity in general. This will be the first address of its kind delivered in Thief River Falls and the speaker should be greeted by a capacity audience.

$853 RECEIVED AS FEDERAL AID FOR VOCATIONAL WORK

This Sum is Pennington County's First Share Under Smith-Hughes Law.

R. P. Chase, state auditor, has directed the distribution of $70,777.42 among those school districts complying with what is known as the Smith-Hughes vocational training act. Vocational training includes agriculture as taught in a number of high schools in the state and the state university, and the Smith-Hughes act has thus been of very material benefit to the agricultural interests of Minnesota.

In all, 42 counties benefit this year, and the individual checks being mailed out by Mr. Chase range in amount from $111.35 to $18,226.97. The latter is the share of the university and is aid for vocational instructors graduated and supplied by that institution.

Pennington county is number 18 in the list of 42 schools having complied with the requirements necessary in order to secure this aid, the amount received being $853.13. This is more than was received by such populous counties as Lyon, Martin, Morrison, Olmstead and Pipestone. Pennington is also the only county in the northwestern section of the state included in this distribution. Beltrami county receives $826.

Mississippi Scenic Maps Are Now Being Corrected

A letter received by officers of the local unit of the Mississippi River Scenic from Rand, McNally & Co., publishers, Chicago, states that the concern has instructions to change maps of the route traversed by the highway through this section so as to include Thief River Falls. These new maps may not be available until some time during the coming winter, but will be out for distribution before the tourist season opens in the spring.

According to the new plan the route will take the following course after leaving Detroit: Calloway, Ogema, Waubun, Mahnomen, Bejou, Winger, Erskine, Brooks, Terrebonne, Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls. After leaving this city the road will pass through Warren, Stephen, Argyle and on to Winnipeg.

TWO BADLY INJURED WHEN BRAKES FAIL

Automobile Containing Father and Son Hit By Great Northern Train Friday.

An automobile containing J. A. Russell and his 19-year-old son, Irvin, was struck by the Great Northern southbound passenger tran at the Sixth street crossing on Friday afternoon and both men seriously injured. The father had three ribs on the right side fractured, received a bad cut on the right loin and a severely sprained back. It is also feared that there may be internal injuries. Irvin sustained a fractured collar bone and has a cut about an inch long over the right eye. While the condition of the elder man was for a time considered serious, the doctors are now hopeful of his recovery.

The men saw the approaching train in time to stop and attempted to do so. They claim that the brakes failed to work and the only thing left to do was to apply the gas in the hope of being able to get over the crossing ahead of the locomotive. They missed their calculations by inches, the train hitting the rear end of the car and overturning it in the ditch.

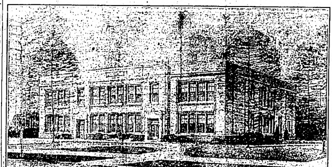
Inspected Ditches.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson and all members of the county board, with the exception of Commissioner McGinn, who was absent from the cit, made an inspection of the ditch work being done in the eastern part of the county on Tuesday. They found everything progressing in a satisfactory manner. A number of contracts for bridges across judicial ditch 13 were let on the ground, the jobs going to farmers residing in the neighborhood.

THE NEW KNOX SCHOOL, THIEF RIVER FALLS



This fine modern building will undoubtedly be ready for occupancy when school work is resumed after the Christmas vacation. Below is given a description of the building by A. B. Sundham, member of the firm of Sund & Dunham, architects having supervision of the work:

"Thinking that it might be of interest to your readers, we wish to explain one or two of the features of this building which presented a peculiar problem in its construction. In placing the new building on the site of the former Knox school, it was at first thought that it would be necessary to tear down the old building, but after considerable study it was found possible to use practically three sides of the old structure to form portions of the walls of the new building, and at the same time make this fit into a modern type, two-story grade building. It was also necessary, of course, to make the front of the new building center on the school property, but this was at last accomplished by some adjustment of the plan so that we would be able to conserve as much as possible of the former building. The new building is of the modern type, combining a large assembly room for community gatherings, as well as all of the features of an up to date grade school. There are thirteen classrooms and a large library, the capacity of the school being 440 pupils.

"The first story is entirely fireproof, protecting the building against any possible danger from the boiler room or other parts of the basement. The wiring is run in conduit, which further lessens the fire risk. The total cost of the building is approximately $75,000. The Prichard company, Thief River Falls, are the general contractors, and we wish to say that their work has been very satisfactory, as they have shown forethough in providing men and materials when needed so that there has been no delay whatever on their part. Their workmanship, likewise, has been of consistent, high quality."

Federal Loan to Farmers Will Soon Be Available

Robert McGinn, president of the Farmers & Merchants bank, returned this morning from a short trip to St. Paul, where he conferred with government officials concerning the loan to agricultural districts recently placed in the hands of the war finance committee by the federal government. Mr. McGinn says that the money will doubtless soon be available and that some of it will be handled through local banks.

It was disclosed at the meeting that loans aggregating $2,322,500 to be alloted to Minnesota banks have been approved by the committee. It also became known that bankers generally are not taking advantage of the opportunity presented to secure needed funds to assist agriculture, fearing red tape and delays. It was explained, however, that every effort would be made to simplify matters and to get the money to the districts.

BUSINESS LECTURE AT LYCEUM FRIDAY

W. H. Farley of Dayton Will Speak Under Merchants Association Auspices.

"Getting the Most Out of Retailing" is the subject of a new business lecture to be given at the Lyceum theatre Friday evening, Nov. 4, at 9 o'clock.

The lecture will be given by W. H. Farley, a business expert, who will speak under the auspices of the Merchants association. Mr. Farley represents the National Cash Register company of Dayton, Ohio.

Six thousand feet of moving pictures will be used to illustrate the lecture. No charge will be made for admission and all interested in the big question of retailing are invited. A special invitation is extended to merchants and their families, clerks, wholesalers, bankers, and other business people.

The lecture will cover store organization, advertising, window display, personal selling, and business control.

Library Board to Extend Usefulness of Institution

The library board is about to inaugurate a plan whereby a larger amount of reading matter will be placed at the disposal of people living in the country. There is a vast quantity of magazines, books and other publications being destroyed every day in the year and these might be made to serve an excellent purpose if an efficient plan of distribution could be devised. The library board has solved the problem of getting this reading matter onto the sections where it will be most appreciated and request the help of citizens generally in carrying out the idea. To this end they ask that anyone having books, magazines or periodicals for which they no longer have any use bring them to the library and the board will see that good use is made of them.

Elks' Party Tomorrow.

Thief River Falls lodge of Elks will give the first party of the season for members and their ladies at the lodge rooms tomorrow evening. Supper will be served at 8 o'clock, after which there will be cards and dancing. W. A. Barnard Appointed to Have Charge of Fourth Membership Roll Call.

Directors For Three Year Are Elected—Work For Ensuing Year Mapped Out.

During her incumbency the chapter has steadily advanced in growth and usefulness until at the present time it is one of the most progressive and energetic organizations in the state. The new chairman, Dr. Milan, by reason of his position as medical director at Oakland Park sanatorium, and his interest in the work being carried on by the Red Cross, is peculiarly fitted for the place with which he has been honored.

Following the election of chapter officers, directors for three years were selected, the choice falling upon the following: Mrs. Andrew Craik, John Morgan and I. T. Simley, of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Peter Engelstad and Mrs. O. B. Gunderson of the Rocksbury branch. Mrs. Craik and T. P. Anderson were chosen as delegates to the Red Cross regional conference to be held at Fargo on Nov. 1. At this meeting ways and means for carrying on the work for the coming year will be discussed, with particular attention given to best methods of conducting a successful roll call. The dates for this call are Dec. 11 to 24 inclusive, and W. A. Barnard of Thief River Falls has been named as chairman. He will be assisted in the work of solicitation by members appointed by the different branches throughout the county and b ythe Girls' Community club in the city.

New Meat Market Added to City's Business Houses

Axel Olson and Walter Corbett have opened a general meat market at 221 First avenue east, just west of the bridge. Mr. Olson is a butcher of long experience and was previously engaged in business at Crookston and Warren. Mr. Corbett has been farming south of St. Hilaire for some years but has decided to move to the city and engage in business. The firm, which will be known as Olson & Corbett, intends later on to add a stock of groceries, but for the present will confine themselves exclusively to meats, of which they will carry a full stock at all times.

A very good location has been selected for the store, there being a great deal of travel along First street at all hours of the day. The new enterprise will, as far as possible handle home-grown stock and will be in a position to make a strong bid for a share of the trade.

TWO COSTLY FIRES IS WEEK'S RECORD

New Residence of W. H. Hartje Near St. Hilaire Destroyed. Ed. Timm Loses Barn.

Fire of unknown origin on Monday night destroyed the new residence of W. H. Hartje just north of the village limits of St. Hilaire. The building had recently been completed and was not yet fully occupied. The loss is in the neighborhood of $6,000 with $4,000 insurance.

Mr. Hartje had been attending the firemen and enginemen dance in this city and returned home about two o'clock. The weather being chilly he built a fire in the furnace before going to bed. Being awakened by the reflection of a fire against the wall of his room he found that flames were pouring out of the basement windows. An alarm was quickly turned in but members of the village department say they thought someone was playing a hallowe'en prank and paid no attention to the summons. The building was burned to the ground without any attempt being made to save it.

On Monday afternoon fire destroyed the barn on the Edward Timm place a short distance west of the city. A quantity of hay, valued at about $600 was also consumed, bringing the total loss up to about $4,500 with $1550 insurance. This is the second time Mr. Timm has lost his barn by fire, a structure on the same site having burned down about two and a half years ago.

STOCK FIRM SAVES SHIPPERS $15,000

Co-Operative Selling Agency Pays For Capital Stock Investment in 11 Weeks.

The co-operative livestock sales agency established by Minnesota producers on the South St. Paul market a few weeks ago has saved the farmers, in actual cash, more than the total amount of money they invested in its capital stock.

That is the report issued by the investigation department of the Minnesota farm bureau federation. Since the Central Co-operative Commission association opened for business Aug. 8, it has saved its patrons $9,600 by handling their livestock at reduced commission rates, the report said. Besides reductions in commission charges amounting to more than $9,000 in 11 weeks the central agency has been able to set aside approximately 20 per cent of all commissions received. The farm bureau statement estimates this surplus at $5,800.

"The Central Co-operative Commission association has handled the largest business done by any firm on the market, at an operating cost at least $15,000 less than the farmers of the northwest would have had to pay for an equally large volume of business without a co-operative sales company," the statement said.

"The co-operative agency is charging the commission rates fixed by the state railroad and warehouse commission, although an appeal to the courts on behalf of private dealers have prevented general enforcement of the new schedule of rates. The charges put into effect by the farmer controlled company are estimated to be 20 to 35 per cent less than the prevailing rates."

STUDY COURSES IN NIGHT SCHOOL ARE EASILY AVAILABLE

Many Subjects May Be Taken Up By Adults in Term Covering Four Months.

A night for school for adults will be organized in Thief River Falls if there is sufficient interest manifested in the subject. Supt. I. T. Simley of the public schools, stated in the annual bulletin distributed to school patrons that such move would be made, and the time has now arrived for putting the matter to a test. Anyone interested is asked to either write Supt. Simley or call him up on the phone, stating the particular branch of study the applicant is thinking of taking up.

Merely as a suggestion a number of subjects have been presented in the hope that they may assist prospective students in making a choice. Reading, writing and speaking English for foreigners should be of particular value and anyone knowing of persons in need of such instruction will confer a favor by calling their attention to this opportunity and at the same time notifying the school authorities. Courses in citizenship should also have a wide appeal. Academic courses will be given providing there is a demand for them. In this connection it is thought that many may wish a good systematic review of arithmetic. Commercial subjects are expected to be in particular demand by night school patrons, the same being true of courses in home economics for women. The latter will include sewing, cooking and millinery. For men there will be an opportunity to study the scientific principles involved in the construction and operation of gas engines and automobiles. In fact, the variety of subjects in which instruction may be given is almost unlimited.

It is thought that two evenings a week for three or four months will give the best results. This, however, is a matter that has yet to be decided upon.

McCann Attends Conventions.

County Agent J. J. McCann left last evening for a two weeks' business trip to St. Paul. Next week he will attend the meetings of the State Public Health association as the delegate from Pennington county. Later there is an important conference of county agents of the state. Next week comes the Junior Live Stock show, which he will attend and look after the exhibits from this section.

FEDERAL ROAD ACT EXTENDS TO INDIAN RESERVE PROJECTS

Congressman Steenerson Says Measure Will Mean Much to State and District.

A special from Washington to The Times yesterday states that when Congressman Steenerson was interviewed regarding the Federal road act, which has just passed congress, he said:

"This act is a great step forward in a rational system of co-operation between the states and the federal government in road building. It preserves the rights of the states, which some of the measures proposed took away, and in fact increases them over the interstate roads.

"There is one clause in the bill which is of considerable importance to my state and my district. It reads as follows: 'The secretary of agriculture is authorized to co-operate with the state highway departments and with the department of the interior in the construction of public highways within Indian reservations and to pay the amount assumed therefore from the funds alloted or apportioned under this act to the state wherein the reservation is located.'

"This will enable us to build roads to Red Lake and other points on that reservation which heretofore has been practically impossible. The enactment of this measure will stimulate road construction throughout the whole country and give employment to great many idle people. It will also lessen the danger from railroad strikes, as improved highways will make us less dependent on railroad transportation."

LEGION HOST AT CELEBRATION OF ARMISTICE DAY

Provides Free Entertainment For All Who Come to Thief River Falls That Day.

Parade, Address, Music and Free Movie Pictures Among Attractions Held Out.

Ex-Service Men and Citizens of Neighboring Towns Invited to Participate.

Armistice Day—Nov. 11—is going to be appropriately celebrated in Thief River Falls. From 11 minutes after 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day until 6 o'clock in the afternoon Elmer J. Eklund post will be host to the people of this neighborhood. A variety of excellent attractions have been provided and there is to be no charge of any kind assessed against those who come here to celebrate the closing of the war and honor those who played such important part in the conflict.

The parade will start from the auditorium at 1 o'clock sharp and disband at the same point an hour later. The program for the day will be begun at once and consists of patriotic songs by the audience, band selections, numbers by a mixed quartet composed of Miss Maude Johnson, Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, Carl Sundahl and E. M. Bennes. City Attorney Hans O. Chommie, himself an ex-service man, will deliver the address of the day and the choice could not have fallen upon one more capable of meeting the requirements.

Unknown Hero Honored.

Sometime between the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock an unknown soldier who died in the great war will be buried at Arlington cemetery near Washington, the ceremony being attended by President Harding and a large concourse of high government dignitaries. This unknown will be laid to rest with full military honors as a mark of appreciation and respect to the thousands of nameless men who are buried near the battlefields of France and Flanders. All over the land audiences gathered to take part in Armistice Day celebrations will arise and stand in silent contemplation for the space of two minutes in honor of these unknown dead.

At the close of the indoor observances the sports program will be begun. A football game between the Thief River Falls team and elevens from either Cavalier or Grafton, N. D., will be one of the big features of the day. There will also be a race between an automobile and a motorcycle. A broncho that has never before felt the pressure of a saddle or the touch of a bridle will be broken by one of the best-known wild horse trainers in this section. There will be games and races of all kinds and descriptions.

Free Moving Pictures.

A moving picture show will be run at the auditorium from 11 o'clock until 1, and again after the conclusion of the program at the fair grounds in the afternoon. In the evening the Legion will put on the famous picture, "Georges Carpentier, the Wonderman," at the Lyceum theatre. A two reel Mack Sennett comedy will also be part of this entertainment, for which a charge of 35 cents will be made. The eight reel Carpentier film has been shown in all the larger cities to packed houses at one dollar per seat. The Legion members do not wish to make any money out of this celebration, however, and have placed the price at a figure that will barely cover the expenses.

It is particularly desired that all ex-service men appear in uniform as this will assist the committee in charge in keeping things in hand. A large crowd is expected and all former soldiers, sailors and marines are hosts to the visitors and citizens, no matter from what section of the country they may come. Ex-service men from other parts of the country who may be in the city on Armistice Day are particularly invited to join Eklund post in this celebration.

All business places in Thief River Falls will close at exactly 11 minutes after 11. It is therefore hoped that those from a distance who have trading to do or other business matters to attend to will come sufficiently early to have their needs supplied before that hour. The auditorium will be open all day and will be general headquarters for visitors and townspeople alike.

Chairman Geo. L. Sterns of the general committee wishes to impress upon the public that there will be no charges of any kind connected with this celebration except for the moving pictures in the evening. The Legion auxiliary has made arrangements for a dance at the auditorium in the evening for which the regular admission price will be charged.

Lampert Secures Appointment.

L. A. Lampert of this city has been appointed a deputy state bank inspector and left Wednesday night for St. Paul to enter upon his duties. It is understood that he will be alloted territory in this neighborhood and that he will continue to make Thief River Falls his home.

Society

Community Club Meeting.

Among the many delightful parties given by the Girls' Community club since its organization three years ago, was the affair given at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening. Each guest gained admittance by walking on a mysterious contrivance placed at the entrance. The interior was dimly lighted by numerous candles in holders, which were tied with cunning bows of orange and black crepe paper. All the emblems of the day, including black cats, goblins and ghosts, added to the mysticism of the occasion. Hallowe'en games and jokes were part of the evening's gaieties. During the usual business session, Miss Effie Hamry, chairman of the county committee of republican women, read a letter written to her by Mrs. Manley L. Fosseen, member of the executive committee of the National Republican committee, urging all clubs and societies to raise a protest against the recent decision of Secretary of the Treasury Mellen, regarding the 18th amendment. The local club responded by voting to send a telegram to President Harding protesting against this order. After minor business proceedings, a musical program was given. Miss Muriel Loken favored the club with a piano solo. Miss Dora Holmes gave two vocal numbers. During the hour of refreshments Miss Theone Walker, pianist, and Mrs. A. Holmberg, violinist, offered a program of delightful music. The success of the party is due to the committee on arrangements, including Misses Thora Hanson, Christine Clausen, Effie Christianson, Selma Rustebakke, Laura Brown, Gilma Ostvolden, Agnes Oftedahl, Barbara Votava, Goldie Stebbins, Beulah Chamberlain and Mrs. Olga Halbert. Before the guests dispersed an announcement was made by Miss Tandberg of the winning side in the recent membership drive. At the next meeting of the club the losers will entertain the winners.

League of Women Voters

To the President of the United States,
The White House, Washington.

Dear Mr. President: "As a citizen I heartily endorse your action in calling the Conference on Limitation of Armament. I ask that it be opened by a definite proposal on the part of the United States to all nations to stop building warships at once, and I ask that the conference be public, so that all peoples will have the right to see and hear and judge.

Turn on the Light.

"The destiny of every American and his children and his grandchildren is bound up in the outcome of this conference. His taxes, his food, his standard of living, his life itself, are to be determined. What right have any four American commissioners, however wise they may be, to sit in such a council behind closed doors with the gamblers of Europe and hazard our destiny?"

Who is interested in the Washington conference?

Business men the world over are eager for some pledge that rivalry in armament among the nations, with a constant threat of war and its attendant unendurable burden of taxation, shall cease.

The cost of taxation must be reduced. The nation cannot continue to expend so large a part of their revenues in preparation for war if industry and commerce are to flourish.

The business man's interest in the limitation of armament is the same as that of every citizen. It is perhaps true, however, that business men have been made more keenly aware than others of the vital need of some promise of international constancy.

Organized labor? The American Federation of Labor has ordered demonstrations on Nov. 11 so that the Washington conference shall not "forget its purpose to relieve productive civilization of the waste growing out of competitive armament."

The churches? If ever there was a practical summary of the reasons why people who go to church, and people who do not, should be interested in any prospect of lessening taxes and increasing productive industry, you can find it in these figures, published by the thirty denominations that compose the Federal Council of Churches:

United States expenditures, 1920, $4,582,000,000.

Past wars, $2,890,000,000, or 63.1 per cent.

Civil departments, $220,000,000, or 4.8 per cent.

Future wars, $1,348,000,000, or 29.4 per cent.

Public works, $65,000,000, or 1.4 per cent.

Research, public health, education, and development, $39,000,000, or 1.3 per cent.

American women? The National League of Women Voters and the General Federation of Women's Clubs both demand that America take the lead in reducing competitive armament as a first step toward international peace.

A CREDITABLE RECORD.

On the eve of another city election the voters of Thief River Falls are given two distinct tickets from which to make their choice. All members of the present city administration are candidates for re-election and are asking that in coming to a decision only their records as public servants be considered by the voter, leaving out of the calculation anything of a personal nature. The people as a whole are not concerned with personalities, their aim being solely the election of a mayor and council having the requisite ability, confidence, courage and foresight to give Thief River Falls the kind of administration that will maintain its place as the most enterprising and progressive community in this section.

That there is a record of actual accomplishment to be placed to the credit of the men at present in charge of city affairs can hardly be disputed. It is no reflection on previous administrations to say that more has been done in the past two years to place the city on a higher plane among the municipalities of the state than during its entire previous history. As proof of this a few outstanding facts may be pointed out.

First and foremost, perhaps, comes the matter of street paving. This improvement has been under consideration at different times during the past ten years but objections were heretofore raised which to previous councils seemed sufficiently weighty to force postponement of the matter. These same objections faced the present council but, backed strongly by public demand, the work was undertaken and the first 22 blocks of paving in Thief River Falls is now rapidly nearing completion.

Another matter of the greatest importance to the safety and prosperity of the citizens is pure water. This subject has engaged the interest of the council from the time the present members took office. Many plans have been investigated, only to be abandoned as not meeting the requirements. Now, however, the problem seems to have been solved—and at a cost of not more than $1,000. The deep well from which a part of the supply has heretofore been taken has been improved until now it has a capacity sufficient to meet the needs of the city for many years to come. This is one of the really big items to be placed to the credit of the present administration.

Five thousand dollars has been appropriated for the use of the park board—the first time in the city's history that any such action has been taken. A part of this money will be used in the purchase of what is known as Lovers' Lane on the river bank at the south edge of town. Considerable work in the way of improvement has already been done on this plot, much of it by volunteer labor, and the cost of converting the place into one of the most beautiful natural parks in this section will be slight.

No city can lay claim to being up-to-date unless it has a parking place for tourists. The present council has provided such a place, and for scenic beauty as well as for convenience it has no superior in northern Minnesota.

The block owned by the city on the East side has been converted into a children's play ground after having represented nothing but a bill of expense for maintenance for a long term of years. The plot has been seeded down and trees set out, paraphernalia for amusing the youngsters will be installed in the spring and every effort made to equip the spot as a community gathering place. The cost of the work done thus far has been practically nothing and the expense of carrying out the entire plan will be very light.

When these things in the way of park projects have been attended to there will still remain enough money out of the appropriation made by the council to provide a sizable playground site for the people residing in the northwest section of the city.

Music for the people during the summer months has been provided by the levy of a one-half mill tax for the benefit of the band.

The auditorium has been made liberal use of, the plan being rather to secure conventions and meetings than to make the building a revenue producer. Many conventions have been held here, bringing a large number of visitors to the city, and many more are scheduled to come here next summer.

Civic organizations, notably the Commercial club, Woman's club, the American Legion, and Girls' Community club, have been assisted and encouraged in their work in every way possible.

The present is the first city council that has taken an active interest in matters not directly connected with municipal affairs. Realizing that a city prospers only in the same degree the surrounding country prospers, it has been the aim to aid and support anything that made for a better farming community. Road building has been encouraged and many other enterprises helped.

The contractors having charge of the paving job were required to file a five-year maintenance bond under which they agree to make good any defect that may develop in the work. The amount of this bond is one-fourth of the contract price.

The above are a few of the things presented by the present administration as a record of their stewardship. There is nothing startling about it, perhaps. It simply proves that the men have had the best interests of the city in mind at all itmes and have acted in accordance with the wishes of the people.

The Times believes that when all the facts are considered the average voter will come to the conclusion that the present city administration should be permitted to finish the projects inaugurated. They have given time and study to working out the details and are certainly in a better position to move forward without loss of either time or money than would be a new set of men, no matter how capable or conscientious these might prove. There is nothing others can at this time promise that cannot better be performed by those now in charge and who have the experience of years to aid and guide them. No person has yet been able to point out where these men have been remiss in their duty to the public in a single instance, or in what respect another set of officials may be expected to improve on their records.

This is not the time to change officials unless there are well-defined reasons why those now holding positions of trust should be removed. No such reasons exist in this case. On the contrary, a hundred arguments of the most convincing kind might be presented to show why these men should be retained.

NEED IS STILL GREAT.

December 11 to 24 inclusive is the time set for the fourth annual roll call of the American Red Cross. The campaign in Pennington county will this year be carried on under the direction of W. A. Barnard of Thief River Falls as chairman.

Quite a number of people seem to think now the war is over there is no longer a demand for Red Cross activities, when as a matter of fact the need never was greater. Right here in the United States the situation is such as to cause grave concern for the welfare of thousands during the coming winter, while in other sections of the world conditions are a hundred times worse. The Red Cross simply cannot stop its good work now. The demands of humanity upon its sympathies and resources are too great.

Were it not for American charity Austria must have gone down to irretrievable ruin and its people subjected to suffering such as has seldom if ever been equaled in the world's history. Had not the Red Cross and other American agencies come to the relief of the people of Russia the situation there would have become a blot upon civilization—and as matters stand the misery is so great that one shudders in reading the accounts. Thousands of children have been saved from starvation in southeastern Europe. Millions in China owe their lives to the activities of the American Red Cross. Wherever there is need, wherever great suffering exists, wherever conditions are such that the local governments and populations are no longer able to avert a calamity the Red Cross is found on the job, ready to take up the burden where others have been forced to drop it. The organization is never idle. At home or abroad there is always work for it to do. Just now the demand is particularly great. Not even during the years that the world was at war was suffering so widespread or so poignant. There is but one organization now equipped and in a position to furnish relief. That is the American Red Cross.

The dollar you give as a pledge of membership is not a matter of very great importance to you, even in these somewhat dubious times. When added to the dollars contributed by a few neighbors, however, it means the saving of lives and the amelioration of suffering. For your own peace of mind you cannot hold back when asked to contribute your mite.

The work of solicitation will be taken over by the Girls' Community club of Thief River Falls, while the method to be employed in the country will be left largely to the local Red Cross branches. All the agencies at the command of the organization will be put in motion to enroll the name of every man and woman in the county on the Red Cross roster before Christmas.

SENSIBLE RELIEF MOVE.

In case the Federal government passes the bill now pending providing for an appropriation for the construction of highways it will mean a great deal to the people of Minnesota. A program of winter work has been mapped out by the state highway department providing for the employment of a large number of men in the construction of roads as soon as the government money is available. The state stands ready to match this appropriation dollar for dollar and the attorney general has stated that this can be done without further legislation or authorization.

The plan is one to be most highly commended. The state needs the roads and the people need the money to be paid out for building them. While the unemployment situation is not as serious in Minnesota as in some states, yet there is no denying the fact that there are large numbers of men out of a job. Federal, state and local authorities are working together in an attempt to furnish as much employment as possible during the winter and it begins to look as if their efforts will meet with a large measure of success. This road building program will help immensely even if it does not solve the whole problem. If some plan could now be devised for building the houses for which there is such great need all over the country the outlook for the immediate future would be much brighter. The housing problem is even more acute than the unemployment situation and in remedying the former trouble the latter would in a large measure automatically be taken care of.

But this road building program will help greatly if gotten under way at once. The state is doing everything possible to rush things along and it now looks as if congress is fully awakened to the necessity of acting without delay.

THE NORTH DAKOTA RESULT.

In the first recall election involving a governor and other state officials ever held in this country, the ticket of the petitioners won out and Governor Frazier, Attorney General William Lemke and Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor John S. Hagen of North Dakota have been ousted from office by the voters. Their successors, R. A. Nestos for governor, Sveinbjorn Johnson for attorney general, and Joseph A. Kitchen for commissioner, were elected last Friday a majority of about 5,000 votes.

This, for the time being at least, ends the Nonpartisan control of the state so far as the principal executive officers are concerned. They have been in office for five years and their experiments in fostering state-controlled enterprises has attracted the attention of the entire country. That somewhere they have failed in fulfilling expectations is evidenced by the fact that since 1916, when they were first placed in control, the vote for their ticket has steadily dwindled. The majority for Lynn J. Frazier in his first campaign was in the neighborhood of 55,000. This dropped to 15,000 in 1918, to 4,600 in 1920, and now his disappeared altogether. The total number of votes cast was about 200,000.

The vote in the larger cities was not far different proportionately from that of previous campaigns, the Independent ticket coming out in each case with substantial majorities. The defection was in the farming districts, particularly in the western section of the state. Many explanations of this fact are presented, but the high tax rate made necessary in order to carry out the administration's program of public ownership of elevators, Mills and other industries, undoubtedly could not be explained to the satisfaction of the farmers and these failed to stick to the party they themselves had placed in power less than five years ago.

No easy task confronts the new administration. The program will undoubtedly include the undoing of many things started by the Nonpartisans, and this policy may easily be carried too far. It is generally admitted that much progressive legislation has been placed on the books of the state during the time the Nonpartisans have been in control and it remains to be seen whether or not the new administration will repeal these measures in its effort to wipe out all trace of its predecessor's work. The lower house of the legislature still contains a heavy Nonpartisan majority, while the senate is about a standoff. A general election takes place a year from now and the primaries early this coming spring. There are likely to be some interesting developments in the interim.

A CALAMITY AVERTED.

There will be no railroad strike at this time and the entire country, including railroad executives and brotherhood members, feel easier. The action taken at the joint meeting in Chicago last week is one for which all have cause to be thankful.

It is freely admitted by the officials of the five big railroad unions that the strike would have been unpopular with the people and the government and the possibility of their winning out therefore very slim. While maintaining that their cause was just and that they are entitled to everything asked for, yet they felt that to tie up the transportation systems of the country at this time was a step of such far-reaching possibilities for disaster that they did not care to take the responsibility. They have not backed away from their position, they say, but cancelled the strike order at this time solely in the public interest. For this they should be given proper credit.

The public has shown little disposition to go into the merits of the controversy between the men and the roads, the general feeling being simply that the strike must not be allowed to take place at this time. It would have been a calamity which in money-cost might approach that of a small war. If both sides had remained determined to fight to the end it would have meant untold suffering to thousands and the loss of enormous sums to the business interests of the country. This was fully realized by the union heads and is given as another reason for rescinding the strike order. The unions maintain that they were not fighting the people or the government, their differences being with the railroads only, but as it looked as if the country at large would be the main sufferer if their intentions were carried out they considered it the part of both patriotism and wisdom to back away from their position for the present at least.

As is the case when any serious strike is threatened or actually carried out, there is a general demand on the part of the press and public that some plan be devised whereby it will be impossible to subject the country to such danger in the future. All kinds of suggestions are made, but it will be a hard matter to prevent men from stopping work if they feel so inclined and almost as hard to make employers submit to terms which they consider it impossible to meet without endangering their business.

Opinions of Other Editors

KEEP IN THE HIGH ROAD.

Dassel Anchor: The thing that keeps a small town small is the tactics of some of its business men. Some of them are fearful of competition when it is a fact that competition would be their own salvation. The thing most to be feared in a small town is dusty brains and moss-grown methods. The rut is long and deep and hard to get out of when you are once in. Keep in the high road of progress and prosperity.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER COMPANY
149 William Street, New York

How to make it
Use level measurements for all materials
½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
Grated rind of ½ orange
1 egg and 1 yolk
2½ cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup milk
1½ squares (1½ ozs.) of unsweetened chocolate (melted)
¼ teaspoon salt

Cream shortening. Add sugar and grated orange rind. Add beaten egg yolks. Sift together flour, salt and Royal Baking Powder and add alternately with the milk; lastly fold in one beaten egg white. Divide batter into two parts. To one part add the chocolate. Put by tablespoonfuls, alternating dark and light batter, into three greased layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes.

FILLING AND ICING
3 tablespoons melted butter
3 cups confectioner's sugar (Powdered sugar may be used but does not make as smooth icing)
Grated rind of ½ orange and pulp of 1 orange
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 egg white
3 squares (3 ozs.) unsweetened chocolate

Put butter, sugar, orange juice and rind into bowl. Cut pulp from orange, removing skin and seeds, and add. Beat all together until smooth. Fold in beaten egg white. Spread this icing on layer used for top of cake. While icing is soft, sprinkle with unsweetened chocolate shaved in fine pieces with sharp knife (use ½ square). To remaining icing add 2½ squares unsweetened chocolate which has been melted. Spread this thickly between layers and on sides of cake.

Indians Needed Rest.

A buck Indian and his squaw added their mite to the festivities of Hallowe'en night in this city. They were on their way to the Fort Totten reservation in North Dakota after having visited with friends down the line. Somewhere in their travels they had managed to secure a quantity of Jamaica ginger, benzine or other explosive, and both were considerably under the influence when they came off the train. Night Police Brooten and Special Officer Long took them in charge and lodged them in the cooler for the night. As there was nothing to be gained by preferring charges against the pair, they were put aboard the train and sent forward to their destination the following morning.

FIRST ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE RED LAKE DRAINAGE AND CONSERVANCY DISTRICT

INCEPTION OF THE PROJECT

On July 22, 1919, following the historic floods which had laid waste the lands adjacent to the Thief, Red Lake and Clearwater Rivers during the early days of that month, a mass meeting was held at Thief River Falls, called for the purpose of considering ways and means for the prevention of the recurrence of such floods in the future. From the minutes recorded by A. H. Larson, acting secretary of this meeting, are gathered the chief facts regarding the inception of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District:

"At a mass meeting held at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on July 22, 1919, the first steps were taken looking to the organization of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District. This meeting was called by C. G. Selvig, superintendent of the University of Minnesota, Northwest School of Agriculture and Experiment Station, Crookston, Minnesota, in cooperation with the officers of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, in a notice sent out early in July, 1919, suggesting that consideration should be given, first, to the immediate steps necessary to relieve settlers in the flooded regions of the Red Lake River and tributaries who sustained heavy losses from the flood of July 2 and 3; and second, action to be taken looking to permanent flood control. About three hundred attended the meeting, of which Mr. Selvig was elected chairman. The first action taken was the appointment of a committee to consider the matter of immediate relief. This committee later expended a considerable sum of money secured from local, county and state sources during the fall of 1919 and the winter following, and rendered effective service thereby.

"Mr. Selvig advocated as a means to secure permanent relief that a drainage district be organized under Chapter 422, Laws of 1917, known as the Cliff Act. E. V. Willard, Commissioner of Drainage and Waters, St. Paul; H. A. Bard, Drainage Commissioner of North Dakota, and several others spoke in favor of taking this action. S. M. Sivertson, Crookston, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously passed:

> "Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that steps be taken to organize a drainage district comprising the territory contained within the watershed of the Red Lake River, including Thief and Clearwater Rivers and their tributaries;
>
> "That the present committee, of which the chairman of this meeting is chairman, is hereby instructed to confer with attorneys to see that all be done in compliance with the laws of Minnesota and to prepare and circulate necessary petitions.
>
> "It is understood that this will include the project of the improvement of the Red Lake River, the improvising of reservoirs and other means that will aid to regulate flood control."

"The chairman, upon the recommendations of persons present from the various counties, appointed the following committees to circulate the necessary petitions for the establishment of the district: C. C. Lake, W. B. Torgerson and A. P. Toupin, of Red Lake county; H. K. Rude, Andrew Johnson and Theodore Torgerson, of Clearwater county; Axel Nelson, P. A. Reosberg, A. O. Fladeland, S. G. Tharaldson, and Lewis Larson, of Marshall county; the county commissioners of Beltrami county; O. J. Peterson, R. M. Johnson, Elev Aakre, O. Ramstad and A. McCormick, of Pennington county, and J. A. Dahl, E. J. Tagley, E. H. Oftelie, J. E. Morrisey and N. J. Nelson of Polk county.

"Thereupon the chairman announced that Senator F. L. Cliff, the author of the drainage district law, would be requested to prepare the necessary petitions and that they would be sent to the respective chairmen as soon as possible. Meeting adjourned."

HEARING ON PETITION AND ORDER ESTABLISHING DISTRICT

The petition for the organization of a drainage and flood control district authorized by the mass meeting of July 22nd, was circulated and duly filed according to the provisions of Chapter 442, General Laws of 1917, and the first hearing on the petition was held at the Pennington County court house on November 7th, 1919, before Judges Andrew Grindeland and C. W. Stanton. This statute was enacted primarily for the purpose of furnishing an instrument for the organization of flood control districts along streams forming the boundaries between adjacent states. The Legislature during the Extra Session of 1919 had enacted a somewhat similar drainage district law (Chapter 13, Extra Session Laws of 1919) which provided for the organization of drainage districts lying wholly within the state. At the hearing on November 7th the advisability of initiating proceedings under this new enactment was considered, with the result that the petitioners decided to reduce the area of the proposed district and to circulate petitions for the establishment of the district under Chapter 13, Extra Session Laws of 1919, and the court continued the hearing until January 29th, 1920.

This hearing was held at Thief River Falls on the date noted and a large number of persons interested were in attendance and gave information relative to the need of organizing the district.

On February 13th, 1920, Judges Grindeland and Stanton filed an order establishing the district.

PROJECT FIRST OFFICIALLY PROPOSED IN 1892.

The Red Lake project is at the time of this writing over 29 years old.

(a) On February 6, 1892, in House of Representatives Document No. 127, 52nd Congress, 1st session, an unfavorable report was submitted. The plan of improving the river included locks and dams and the use of Red Lakes as a reservoir.

(b) On February 28, 1895, the Chief of Engineers, War Department, suggested a plan of improvement, and on June 3, 1896, an appropriation of $5,000 for removing boulders from the river between Highlanding and Thief River Falls was made.

(c) On February 18, 1897, a report on preliminary examination of Red Lake and Red Lake River was printed. A survey was made and on May 5, 1890, a progress report was made. On February 10, 1904, the final report was made. It was unfavorable.

(d) On January 21, 1907, the Department of the Interior preliminary report on survey for reclamation and drainage of the swamps in the lands used by the Chippewa Indians was submitted without recommendation followed on May 13, 1909, by this report in final form.

(f) Two reports dated November 11, 1909, and March 9, 1912, relate to this project, followed by a drainage survey made by the Department of Interior on April 20, 1914.

(g) The final report was made by the War Department on May 27, 1919, and on May 28, 1919, it was referred to the Committee on Rivers and Harbors and ordered to be printed. It contains a mass of information relating to the Red Lake project. This report and the detailed maps of the Red Lake survey were turned over to the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District engineers for study and use.

From this brief historical summary it may be said that the Red Lake project has been subject to much legislation, many surveys, and frequent delays, with corresponding disappointment to the settlers and others involved, covering a period of nearly 30 years. The difficulties involved, the magnitude of the undertaking, the absence of federal legislation needed and the lack of a district organization legally empowered to take over this project, prevented anything effectual being done until the enactment of the Cliff Act providing for the organization of flood control districts, resulting in the establishment of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District, on January 29, 1920, the date of the establishment of this district. Since that time events have moved along as rapidly as the time required for surveys and a comprehensive study of the problems involved have permitted. The activities carried on under the direction of the board subsequent to its organization are reported in the minutes of the regular meetings of the board, abstracts of which follow:

MEETINGS OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF RED LAKE DRAINAGE AND CONSERVANCY DISTRICT

The members of the Board of Directors were appointed on February 13, 1920. On March 23, 1920, they met to qualify by taking the oath of office and filing the proper bonds required by law. Adolf Eklund, Thief River Falls, was elected temporary secretary of the board. C. G. Selvig, Crookston, was elected president of the board. At that meeting it was voted to attend the preliminary hearing on Marshall County Consolidated Ditch No. 1 on March 30, 31, and April 1, 1920, at Warren.

On March 31, 1920, the Board met and elected George W. Walker, Thief River Falls, engineer; Adolf F. Meyer, Minneapolis, consulting engineer of the district; S. E. Hunt, Red Lake Falls, treasurer, and Chas. E. Boughton, Sr., Red Lake Falls, attorney. State Commissioner of Drainage and Waters, E. V. Willard, St. Paul, was invited to attend this session of the board to advise with the members and staff with reference to the Red Lake and Clearwater projects.

On April 1, 1920, the attorney was instructed to draw up petitions for the improvement of the Red Lake and the Clearwater rivers. Bonds were fixed in the amount of $2,500 for each project.

On June 23, 1920, the Board met at Thief River Falls and approved the Clearwater and Red Lake petitions, which with the necessary bonds, had been filed, and instructed the engineer to proceed at once with the surveys and to make his report to the board. A petition for a preliminary fund of $5,000 for the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District was ordered prepared and filed with the district court. A. O. Brevik, St. Hilaire, was was elected secretary of the board.

On July 2, 1920, the board met at Red Lake Falls and proceeded to inspect and examine Red Lake, Red Lake River outlet and the Clearwater River. On July 3, 1920, at the close of the inspection trip, a meeting was held and the treasurer's bond of $5,000.00 was approved.

On July 12, 1920, a hearing was held before Judge Andrew Grindeland at Thief River Falls on the matter of establishing a preliminary fund of $5,000.00 as provided by law. An order dated July 12, 1920, was issued by Judge Andrew Grindeland establishing this fund and apportioning the amount to be provided among the seven counties in the district.

On August 23, 1920, the Board met at Red Lake Agency. The president reported the proceedings of a meeting of the Chippewa Indian Council at Bemidji that he had been requested by the Council to attend. The engineer's bond of $5,000.00 was approved. The Crookston Dyke petition and bond of $2,000.00 were approved and the engineer was instructed to proceed with the surveys. See description of Crookston Dyke project on page 20 of this report.

On August 26, 1920, the Board, together with Judges Grindeland and Stanton, met at Washkish on the Tamarac River at the northeast end of upper Red Lake and proceeded to inspect the river with reference to the relation of its level to the elevation of Red Lake and the effects that any changes made in the latter might have on it.

A large delegation of members of the Bemidji Commercial Club organized an automobile party for a tour from Bemidji to the outlet of Red Lake River, thence to Baudette and from Baudette to Washkish and Bemidji. The Board of Directors were members of this party and are grateful to the members of the Bemidji Commercial Club for the opportunity presented to inspect this territory.

On October 21, 1920, the Board met at Thief River Falls and voted to petition the district court for additional territory to be included within the limits of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District. The engineer reported progress regarding both the Red Lake and Clearwater surveys. The president and attorney were authorized to confer with the state public

Mellen's New Beer Order Raises Storm of Protest

Women's organizations all over the land are sending letters and telegrams to President Harding protesting against the action of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellen in making beer a medicine. Mrs. David Simpson, chairman of the Republican State Prohibition committee, has asked Miss Effie Hamry of this city, county chairman of the Republican women's organization, to send the following night letter to the president this evening:

"Republican women protest Secretary Mellen's order making beer a medicine as defeating the intent of the eighteenth amendment and putting in peril the future of the Republican party."

A letter from Mrs. Manley L. Fosseen, joint chairman of speakers of the Republican national committee, of which Mrs. J. M. Bishop of this city is assistant chairman, has sent broadcast a communication requesting the women to take a stand against the carrying out of the Mellen order. She urges that public meetings be held in every county in the United States to follow the lead of the women of Minnesota in demanding that the order be rescinded.

To the Voters.

As a candidate for mayor of Thief River Falls for the second time I deem it proper to discuss openly and frankly the real issues of the campaign, and in doing so I shall not evade the issues raised by the opposition which seeks control of the city government.

The real issue of the campaign presents itself as follows: Shall Thief River Falls take its place as a city serving an area comprising nine or ten counties, or shall it be content to stand, Micawber-like, waiting for something to turn up.

The decision rests with the people themselves.

The civic requirements of a city which would attract widespread attention are first of all, good streets. The progressive town must have good lighting facilities, it must have good water. It must have public parks and provide clean recreation for its citizens.

These things all cost money and it is natural that some taxpayers should oppose all such public improvements. But I repeat, a town must choose between a progressive spirit and utter stagnation.

It is so easy to talk glibly of "law enforcement and a cleaner city."

I yield to no man in this city in the desire for a cleaner city—for better law enforcement.

The illegal manufacture and sale of liquor is a serious problem in this city, as it is in every other community in the state. The chief of police has made every effort to apprehend offenders against the liquor laws. Some convictions have been obtained but many more of the culprits could be brought to the bar of justice if all citizens would give conscientious aid to the officers in securing evidence. It is my belief that liquor is being brought in from outside sources, but if liquor is being illegally handled in the city, it is suggested that those who would hold the mayor responsible for such conditions are not barred from making known any information they may possess. No one is being protected and I promise to invoke all the power possessed by the city government in the prosecution of all offenders.

An awakened public conscience, which is now being aroused in all the land, is the only agency that can drive from our midst the moonshine maker and the booze peddler. I stand ready to do my part in putting them where they belong.

Yours truly,

JOHN BRATRUD.

American Legion Corner

The most popular little fellow at the American Legion National convention was the Minnesota gopher. All over the city he went, perched on the coat lapels of hundreds of Minnesota Legionaires, sitting upon his little hind legs with his cute little head cocked sidewise, quaintly eyeing buddies from all over the world, and doing his bit to advertise the state which is best known by his name. He even took a big long look at Marshal Foch and General Pershing, as much as to say, "You're welcome to visit me in the Gopher State any old time."

Scores of Minnesota Legion posts are reporting plans for making Armistice Day, 1921, a day of unusual rejoicing. In some cases one or more posts will combine their celebrations. For instance, in Benton county the posts at Rice, Foley and Sauk Rapids are to hold one joint county Armistice day celebration and members of the W. R. C. will help them make it a success.

When the new pavement between St. Cloud and Sauk Center is opened early in November, Legionaires of Sauk Center and St. Cloud, in uniform, accompanied by a Boy Scout troop, will march over the route as guards to a long line of prairie schooners, typifying the manner in which travel across Minnesota was accomplished in pioneer days. To make the celebration more realistic, a battle between Legionaires and real Indians from Mille Lacs lake will be staged.

Is Rushing Road Work.

State Road Engineer B. F. Umland with a considerable crew is busy graveling the four and one-half mile stretch of highway between the St. Hilaire road and Hazel. This highway will connect with the road running eastward from Hazel for a distance of six miles, which is already graveled. Mr. Umland has had 76 teams on the job during the past two weeks and is rushing the work in the hope of having it finished before the snow flies.

Basket Social.

There will be a basket social at the Sordal school house on Saturday evening, Nov. 12. A general invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

Buys Partner's Interest.

Wm. Sheedy closed a deal Saturday whereby he became the sole owner of the Hub Billiard hall, purchasing the interest of his partner, F. M. Shanahan. Mr. Sheedy announces that the place will be conducted along the same high class lines as heretofore and that it will be his constant aim to merit the patronage of particular people. Mr. Shanahan is undecided as to what he will engage in but his many friends will be pleased to learn that he will continue to make his home in this city.

Card of Thanks.

We hereby wish to express our heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors, Daughters of Norway, and the Yeomen lodge, Trinity Lutheran Ladies' Aid, and the American Legion, for their assistance and beautiful floral offerings at the death of our father and grandfather.—Mrs. Anna Aaland, Olive Aaland, Harold Haroldson, Alex Haroldson, Edwin Haroldson. n-3

Voters, Attention!

(Prepared and ordered published in behalf of Will Prichard, Jr., Fred Dablow, F. F. Haynes, Martin V. Evenson, Dave Gustafson, Charles W. Vorachek and Andrew Ness, by P. J. Reierson, Thief River Falls, Minn., for which $3.60 is to be paid.)

Declaration of Principles.

We stand for progress; for a bigger and better city; for economical administration of city affairs; for a clean city, not dominated by any certain clique, class or faction, and if elected, we pledge ourselves to conduct a city administration of which no citizen need be ashamed.

We believe that every man and woman should go to the polls and vote. No one should allow their personal affairs to interfere with this privilege and duty. We desire to make a special appeal to the women voters of this city, because we expect to conduct an administration that will meet with their approval, and we ask them to earnestly and carefully consider the issues in this campaign and then vote their convictions.

Do Not Fail to Vote.

Paving is not an issue in this campaign. The paving controversy has passed into history. The matter is fully settled and the streets will be paved just as soon as the weather will permit the contractor to finish the work, and the candidates on this ticket are in favor of the present contract being carried out and fully completed as soon as possible.

Whereas, it has been unfairly stated that an attempt might be made to assess the cost of paving to general taxation, we solemnly pledge ourselves that if elected we will make no attempt to assess the cost of paving to general taxation; that we will effectively resist any attempt to change the present plan of paying the cost of paving.

treasurer. The depositary bond of the Citizens State Bank of Red Lake Falls was approved.

On January 25, 1921, the Board met at Thief River Falls and adopted a resolution approving the engineer's report on the Crookston Dyke project and appointed as viewers for that project, Messrs. L. S. Miller, John Wyand and J. D. Ball of Crookston. The engineer reported regarding the progress made in the Red Lake and Clearwater surveys. The president reported on the progress being made in securing federal legislation, stating that the House of Representatives passed H. R. 14311 providing for federal cooperation with the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District on January 17, 1921, and Senate action was expected soon. He also reported on proposed amendments to the drainage and conservancy act (Chapter 13, Special Session Laws of 1919) under which the district was formed, which amendments had been introduced in the Minnesota legislature and which would materially change the law, if passed as introduced. He was authorized to present objections to amendments that would adversely affect the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District.

On April 19, 1921, the Board met at Thief River Falls. The board's attorney reported that on April 2 Judge Grindeland issued an order including certain lands within the district as petitioned for and on which a hearing was held before Judge Grindeland on February 16, 1921. The petition for the Grand Marais outlet project, with bond of $2,500, was approved, and the engineer was directed to make the survey. See description of Grand Marais project on page 19 of this report. The president reported that he had attended several legislative conferences relative to proposed amendments to Chapter 13 and that at the final conference, attended also by the board's attorney, the amendments as finally agreed to were satisfactory to the district. State Drainage Commissioner E. V. Willard was present and discussed the necessary work left to be done to complete the Red Lake and Clearwater surveys. It was decided that it was necessary to complete both simultaneously.

In connection with drainage legislation considered by the state legislature the defect in the flood control law with respect to needed funds for engineering work in so large a project had been called to the attention of the House and Senate Drainage Committees by the president of the board. The inability of banks to advance funds on drainage warrants due to the existing conditions of the money market made the matter of securing adequate funds for prosecuting vigorously these large surveys an acute matter. Through a bill introduced by the Joint Committee on Drainage $25,000 was provided for the Red Lake and Clearwater surveys to be expended through the State Department of Drainage and Waters. A telegram was received during the progress of the meeting on April 19, 1920, stating that both houses had passed the bill providing for this appropriation.

A communication was read stating that the United States Senate had passed H. R. 14311, giving authority to improve the Red Lake River and that the bill became a law on February 21, 1921.

The matter of publishing the annual report as required by law was discussed. Weather stations were ordered established at Washkish, Gonvick and Gryggla.

On April 29, 1921, the Board met at Crookston to receive the report of the viewers on the Crookston Dyke project. This report was accepted and a petition to the court for a hearing was adopted. The hearing on this petition was held on June 25, 1921, at Crookston.

On July 28, 1921, the Board met at Thief River Falls. The Crookston Dyke No. 1 having been ordered constructed following the hearing of June 25, 1921, the board designated August 30, 1921, as time for opening bids for this work and instructed the secretary to advertise for bids in accordance with the law.

At the same meeting the Grand Marais project plans were approved and the following, Andrew Christianson, Oliver Moen and O. H. Koppang, all of Polk county, were appointed as viewers.

On August 30, 1921, the Board met at Thief River Falls and proceeded to open bids for the Crookston Dyke work. Two bids were received but both were on motion rejected as being too high, being in excess of the engineer's estimate. The engineer was instructed to confer with the city engineer of Crookston relative to this matter and to report at the next meeting of the board. The Clearwater project plans were presented by the engineer and on motion ordered approved, and Andrew Christianson, Mentor; E. A. Mostue, Thief River Falls, and F. S. Erdman, St. Hilaire, were appointed as viewers of the same.

STATEMENT BY E. V. WILLARD, STATE COMMISSIONER OF DRAINAGE AND WATERS

The water resources of the state is one of its chief assets whether considered in connection with the healthful recreation it affords the people, by the playgrounds it furnishes, through its thousands of lakes and streams, its potential value as a power producing element, its source of supply for domestic purposes or its value as a means of navigation, we recognize the important place which this resource occupies whenever the economic development of the state in any of its aspects comes up for consideration.

Whenever water can be controlled and harnessed to serve man, it becomes his humblest servant. Unharnessed and uncontrolled it becomes in times of floods a most cruel master before whose onslaughts human efforts are unavailing. Where natural conditions permit of the detaining of floods the waters which prove the most destructive when uncontrolled can, when stored, be made to serve the most beneficial purposes as a means of improved domestic water supply, increased regulated flow for power producing purposes and in an increased stage for navigation.

The drainage laws of the state under which the reclamation of marsh and overflowed lands have been accomplished in the past have all been founded in the theory that water is a destructive enemy to be gotten rid of by any means at hand. The storage of the waters which are taken off the low sloughs and marshes by the construction of drains, to maintain nature's equilibrium along the outlet channels received little consideration at the hands of the original framers of our drainage acts. As drainage of low and marshy lands progressed the situation along the main outlets became more and more acute until the legislature, recognizing a need for some instrument whereby the outlet could be given consideration, enacted the so-called Cliff Flood Control Act. (Chapter 13, Extra Session Laws of 1919.)

The most radical departures from the old county and judicial laws may be referred to briefly as follows:

1. It provides for the organization of the entire drainage area of a stream into one district as against the isolated, piecemeal, disconnected practice possible under prior existing laws under the provisions of which one or more property owners could petition for and construct a ditch or drain outletting into the nearest creek or coulee without regard to the effect that such construction might have by way of increasing the flood menace on owners living along the lower portions. This provision merely puts legal approval upon a practice which every competent and conscientious engineer must follow in the design of drains regardless of the provisions of law if the improvements he sponsors are to be effective. In practice the engineer who would provide a drain with a proper capacity to handle the water from a given area does not base his design on the number of acres of marsh land he is to reclaim, but on the number of acres of every kind of land the runoff waters from which are to be carried away to a sufficient outlet.

2. The law provides for a board of directors to have charge of all the improvements to be carried on within the district. This gives jurisdiction to one organization, making it possible for the landowners, if they so desire, to have all improvements executed under the direction and supervision of the board and its chief engineer planning all improvements with a view of correlating and coordinating the work in such a way that a definite end may be accomplished. The advantage of having the jurisdiction of all improvements in a given basin placed in the hands of one organization as compared with having the improvements constructed by numerous small proceedings in charge of different authorities of divergent views, need not be argued.

3. The law authorizes the board of directors of the district to construct and maintain reservoirs for the control of flood waters whenever such a plan is found feasible and advisable. Whenever the waters stored within a reservoir can be released to benefit potential or actual power sites located on the streams below, the board has the right to assess benefits against the owners of such powers. The board may also construct dams and power units and create power of their own initiative as a district enterprise and lease said powers.

The Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District a Pioneer.

The Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District may be said to be pioneering under this act. There are other districts within the state organized under its provisions but none have advanced as far in their activities as this district. The ideal natural conditions which prevail within this district for combining all the beneficial purposes provided by the law under which it has been created give assurance that much good will be accomplished by the organization. The Red Lake basin is probably the only basin in Minnesota which offers such ideal natural facilities for combining the storage of flood waters both in the interest of power production and flood control. The Red Lake River is the only stream in the entire northwest section of Minnesota on which are located valuable sites for water power for commercial purposes. The board of directors of the district are given the unusual opportunity of serving future generations not only by the drainage and making productive areas of agricultural lands but also of increasing the amount of water power, so sorely needed by this section, for all time.

Extent of Drainage Investigations.

The Legislature of 1921 appropriated $25,000.00 to be expended under the direction of the Department of Drainage and Waters on engineering investigations and designs of structures for the relief of floods in the Red River basin. The board of directors of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district had an organization at work making investigations of their own at the time this appropriation became available. The aim of the department has been to maintain this organization as far as practicable and it has attempted in every way to so conduct the investigations that the board of directors, if they so desire, can adopt the work of the department for its own purposes. With this aim in view, Mr. Geo. W. Walker, the Chief Engineer of the district, was engaged by the department to have supervision over the field investigations and has been acting in that capacity since the state appropriation became available. It is planned to maintain this cooperation until after the investigations and plans have been perfected.

The investigations in the field have practically been completed. There remains, however, the details of adopting the proper levels for the Red Lake and the design of structures required to accomplish the purposes in view. The balance remaining in the appropriation made by the legislature for the use of the department will be sufficient to cover the expenses of completing the engineering problems within the district.

Acknowledgement.

I desire to express my appreciation of the assistance and hearty cooperation rendered the department by the Board of Directors, the Chief Engineer and the staff of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District; to the U. S. Engineers who have given generously of their data compiled from their own investigations on the Red Lake River, and to all others who have cooperated with the department in its investigations on these projects, all of which is gratefully acknowledged.

ENGINEERING WORK DONE

The engineering features of the four projects that have been brought before the board are described by Engineer George W. Walker, as follows:

Red Lake Project.

The Red Lake River project is a combination conservancy and drainage problem. The construction part of the problem involves the most important engineering features. The area comprising the watershed, from the headwaters to a point in the Red Lake River near Kratka about 15 miles east of Thief River Falls, is about 2,400 square miles. Of this area, about 440 square miles is lake surface. About 90 per cent of this area was covered by a topographic survey which eliminated much of the preliminary work. The detailed survey of the Red Lake River made by the U. S. War Department was furnished the board through the courtesy of the War Department.

With the above data at hand, the field work necessary was a final location of the channel to be dredged in the Red Lake River from the lake for about 40 miles down stream, and the work to be done in the Tamarac basin. This work has been done and the final design of this channel is now dependent upon the levels to be agreed upon for the Red Lakes. Mr. Adolf F. Meyer, consulting engineer for the district, is working on this problem.

(1) To so fix the points between which the elevations of the Red Lakes shall be permitted to fluctuate so as to best conserve and protect all the in-drainage and protection against overflow while the run off waters will be so controlled that a maximum amount of power may be developed by a uniform and continuous flow through the Red Lake River channel.

The Clearwater River Project.

The Clearwater River project involves the improvement of the channel to act as a better outlet for drainage. The area involved in this watershed from its headwaters to a point near Plummer consists of about 500 square miles. The greater portion of this watershed has also been covered by a topographic survey, which greatly simplified the work of determining the watershed boundaries. There is no available information on the river itself, however, and during the summer of 1920 a preliminary survey was made covering the river from Plummer to a point just below the Clearwater Lake. During the summer of 1921 the final survey for location of the channel was made, the work on final design completed, and the plans placed in the hands of the viewers. The construction work will involve excavation of the channel together with the construction of a few bridges. If the work is established, it should be possible to let contract during the winter of 1921-22.

Grand Marais Project.

The Grand Marais project consists of providing a cut-off outlet from the Grand Marais in western Polk county to the Red River of the North. The watershed consists of about 250 square miles and the problem is one of excavation to enlarge a ditch constructed some years ago, but which does not provide an adequate outlet. The engineer's report is complete on this work, and viewers have been appointed. If work is established, the contract should be let this fall.

Crookston Dyke Project.

The Crookston Dyke project consists of the building of four earth dykes in the city of Crookston. The matter has been brought to a final hearing before Judge Watts and three of the dykes were ordered continued and one ordered constructed. The dyke project involves the building of earth dykes to protect the residence section from flood. It was referred to the board of this district on account of insufficient laws by which the city itself could do the work.

Drainage District Map.

In addition to the engineering work done on the above four projects, Mr. Walker has made a very accurate map of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District.

TRIP OF INSPECTION ON RED LAKE RIVER

On July 19 and 20, 1921, Adolf F. Meyer, consulting engineer; E. V. Willard, state commissioner of drainage and waters; George W. Walker, the district engineer, and the president of the board spent two days on the Red Lake River and Red Lake to study the topography of the area at first hand. The journey from Neptune to the outlet of Red Lake River was made by motor boat. The outflow of Red Lake River at the outlet was measured and observations were taken of the lake level. On August 31 and September 1, Mr. Willard, Walker Olson and Director Johnson measured the outflow at the outlet and proceeded from there to inspect the work of the survey crew at work in the Tamarac River basin.

At the conclusion of the July trip, Mr. Meyer submitted a preliminary statement regarding the Red Lake project for consideration by the board. His statement follows:

Statement Re Red Lake Project.

After a rather careful study of the problem of utilizing the outflow from Red Lake to best advantage, I have reached the following conclusions:

1. Flood water which is available only once in ten or fifteen years has no commercial value and must be sent back to the ocean through the river channels with the least possible damage to lands and other properties.

2. To permit the wasting of flood water from Red Lake during times when the channels below are not filled with run off from their own tributary drainage areas, it is necessary to hold these waters in Red Lake longer than in a state of nature.

3. A storage space of one foot is necessary on Red Lake for occasionally holding back the flood waters which run into this lake, until such time as they can be discharged safely through the improved outflow channel. This storage space may be considered as the Flood Prevention Reservoir.

4. In order to make it possible to discharge the flood waters from the lake during a series of wet years, such as 1904, 1905 and 1906, the outflow channel must be made sufficiently large to safely carry 1000 cubic feet per second at all times of the year.

5. The area of Red Lake is so large in comparison with the drainage area which sends its run-off into this body of water, that the lake acts as a natural reservoir with a tremendous equalizing effect upon the outflow. During early spring, for example, only about one quarter as much flood water flows down Red Lake River above Thief River Falls as would pass except for the natural retarding effect of Red Lake.

6. In order to best utilize the outflow from Red Lake for water power purposes, it is desirable to provide for a storage capacity for this purpose of not less than three feet in depth. Regulation of outflow from the lake should be with a view to maintaining a minimum flow at Crookston, for water power purposes, of 600 cubic feet per second.

7. The same reservoir space cannot be used for holding back water to prevent floods on the outflow channel below the lake and also for storing water which is to be released during dry years for beneficial use in power development in the river below. The flood prevention reservoir must always be kept as EMPTY as possible. The water power reservoir must always be kept as FULL as possible. Flood inflow into the reservoir cannot be predicted more than a few months in advance of the spring break-up. Summer floods cannot be predicted at all; neither can dry years.

8. During a series of dry years, such as 1910 to 1916, the release of stored water from Red Lake for power purposes would be of tremendous benefit. During a series of wet years, such as 1899 to 1906, the regulation of Red Lake would be of less than one-tenth the value to water powers that it would be during the later dry years.

9. The total volume of water which passed down the Red Lake River at Crookston between the middle of June, 1910, and the 1st of April, 1916, was substantially 100 billion cubic feet. One-third of this amount came from Red Lake and its tributary drainage basin. Of the total flow at Crookston during this period, water power plants equipped to use up to an average of 600 cubic feet per second could have utilized exactly two-thirds, or 66 2-3 billion cubic feet. The total volume of water equivalent to 600 cubic second feet continuous flow from the middle of June, 1910, to the 1st of April, 1916, is 110 billion cubic feet. Regulation of the outflow from Red Lake as above indicated would have provided such a continuous flow. In other words, the regulation of the outflow from Red Lake would have furnished the water power plants 43 1-3 billion cubic feet more water during this period of years than they could have utilized in a state of nature. This amount of water represents nearly 8 billion cubic feet a year for six years, equivalent to 6 million kilowatt-hours of power developed by the existing plants utilizing about one-fourth of the total average fall. At one cent per kilowatt-hour, this amount of power is worth about $65,000 a year. Assuming all the available water utilized and all the fall developed, the annual benefit during these dry years would be a quarter million dollars. Considering both dry and wet years the annual benefit of regulation to present power plants on the Red Lake River computed on the same would be about $15,000.

10. The most important factor of uncertainty involved in arriving at the value to water power development of regulating the outflow from Red Lake is the market available for the power. Apparently the market readily reached by existing transmission lines or minor extensions thereof can be more than satisfied with the power which can be developed by existing plants enlarged to utilize 600 cubic feet per second continuous flow at the prevailing load factor. Further market must be sought by transmission over long distances.

GOOD NEWSPAPER IS A CIVIC ASSET AND COMMUNITY BUILDER

By W. L. WARD

Lecturer on Town and Country Development.

A country weekly newspaper doing a business of five thousand dollars a year is worth fifty thousand dollars to the business and professional men of the community, and can be made worth one hundred thousand dollars a year to them. If you don't believe that statement try to get along without your paper.

To talk of "supporting" your newspaper is about as damphoolish as to talk about supporting a store, a bank, or a manufacturing enterprise. You would not be much in the world if you didn't trade in a store, have a bank account and have some outlet for the energy of the citizens.

Too many business men look upon the local newspaper as an incubus, a sort of charity. Yet the local paper is as much a public institution as the public library, the churches, the hospital, or even the commercial club—with the difference that it gives more direct returns in dollars and cents to the individual and to the community at large.

When a business man advertises in his local newspaper, it is with avowed intention of building up his business; but he really also helps to build up the town and everything in it. The professional man does more, because his advertising helps the town more than it does him—directly. The man, business or professional, who does not pay his share of the town's publicity is a parasite, taking advantage of his fellow men.

Can't you tell what sort of a town a place is from the looks of its newspaper? If the paper is of the boosting sort, and is backed up by the business and professional men, doesn't the town get a reputation for being progressive?

The newspaper's stock in trade is publicity. You would not go into a store and ask the proprietor to give you a pair of shoes, for instance; yet too often the publisher is asked to give his stock in trade—advertising for the individual or the city—or sell it for less than cost. If you could keep count of the demands of this sort made on your publisher every week you would laugh.

In proportion to the benefits, individual and general, advertising is one of the cheapest things in the world. There are men who will tell you they do not believe in advertising. Do you know why? They are content to gather up the crumbs that fall from the table of the progressive merchant who advertises his business and his town; their buying instinct is aroused, and they visit other stores. The advertiser gets direct returns, but the others take advantage of his expenditure without a cent of cost.

You expect your publisher to boost your town as one of the best on God's green earth. He is asked to do things for which nobody will father the responsibility. Every time there is a civic opportunity, you call on him for help. You know the functions and value of your newspaper as well as I do; so why elaborate?

Let me tell you, positively, that even a mediocre newspaper is a great factor in the growth and advancement of a community. There is never a time when advertising will not pay. If you do not owe a debt of obligation to your newspaper, you owe it to your community. The community has a right to expect your co-operation in making the newspaper representative in your community.

Every time your name is published in a list of contributors to some charity that is advertising—free advertising that the publisher gives cheerfully, because it boosts the town.

Every bit of publicity produces direct and indirect results for the man who pays for it; it produces results for every other business and professional man in the town whether or not he evades his responsibility. It produces results for every man, woman and child of the community.

Or, do you think that a few business and professional men should carry their share of the town publicity, while some others evade their responsibility?

The newspaper is a civic asset and a civic responsibility. That burden of responsibility should be borne by the business men of the town as they are the ones who benefit most. And that burden should be divided in strict proportion to the benefit possible of attainment.

STRAWBERRY OUTPUT BREAKS ALL RECORDS HERE THIS NOVEMBER

Fruit of Exceptional Quality and Unusual Size Still Being Gathered by Pennington County Growers—Fruit Makes Ideal Side Line.

Persons who are still picking sweet pea blossoms in their gardens will have to look to their laurels. The strawberry growers are hot on their trail and bid fair to capture the blue ribbon for late crops.

Mrs. A. Hovland, residing southeast of the roundhouse, has a patch of Everbearing strawberries that is proving a very profitable possession. The plot is only about 21x200 feet in extent, and has perhaps any tract of similar size in the county beaten for productiveness. As a matter of fact there is no telling just how great a crop must be credited to the season as Mrs. Hovland is still picking ripe strawberries from the patch. She has sold over 200 quarts and is still marketing considerable quantities. Besides this she has put up enough of the fruit to last her own household until another crop is ready for gathering next spring. The berries now being picked are from plants put down as late as last June, which gives this enterprising lady another record. The berries ripening at present are as fine in flavor and as large as those grown earlier in the season.

E. F. Franklin of Smiley township is another Pennington county citizen who believes this section is peculiarly adapted to the raising of strawberries. He set out a small tract of the Everbearing variety in May and is still gathering the fruit. The plants began bearing in July and have kept it up ever since. Mr. Franklin brought a handful of samples to town with him on Tuesday. One of the berries in the lot measured four and a quarter inches in circumference when picked. And this is the first of November.

Strawberries grown in this locality will make an ideal sideline for anyone who has the time to devote to their care. Coming onto the market at a time when there is not a fresh strawberry to be had from any other source the fruit should command a premium price.

Home Talent Production of Musical Extravaganza

"Fi-fi of the Toy Shop," a well known and popular musical extravaganza, will be presented at the auditorium on or about Nov. 22. The production will be given under the management of the John B. Rogers Producing company of Ohio. Mr. Rogers and his associates are known from coast to coast as successful producers of amateur theatricals. Their offerings are unusual, combining all of the qualifications which distinguish the best attractions on the road. "Fi-fi," which is one of their best productions, has been presented with amateur talent more than 1,200 times. Repetitions have been necessary in many communities because of the enormous demand for seats. It will be given here with a wealth of pretty costumes, special stage equipment and spectacular effects.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Bernard's church will sponsor the production. Committees have been formed and all who are to have anything to do with the coming event are most enthusiastic. Talent drawn from the musical and histrionic ranks of the city is to be selected at once. Many well known people will take part in the cast and choruses, which are quite large.

GUSTAFSON VISITS GRAIN GROWERS OF RED RIVER VALLEY

President of New Organization Will Speak at Crookston on Monday Evening, Nov. 7.

Grain producers of the Red River Valley will hear C. H. Gustafson, president of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., explain this nation-wide co-operative grain marketing organization at a meeting to be held in Crookston on Monday evening, Nov. 7, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Commercial club hall.

Mr. Gustafson is in Minnesota to assist J. S. Jones, organization manager, in starting active organization work. This meeting will give northwest Minnesota farmers an opportunity to get first-hand information about the Grain Growers, Inc., and to meet the man who, as president, is doing much to make it a success.

The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is developing rapidly. Over 20,000 farmers have already signed growers' contracts to market their grain through this organization. Over 600 farmers' elevators have joined this movement. The members to date control over 40,000,000 bshels of grain and it is confidently expected that by the first annual meeting this winter 100,000,000 bushels will be controlled by members. All grain producers in the Red River Valley are being urged to attend this meeting.

Commercial Travelers on Visit.

A large delegation from Minnesota Council, United Commercial Travelers, of this city, will go to Crookston on Friday to assist the council in that town in the initiation of a large class. The secret work will be put on by the degree team from this city. The senior chancellor of the order in Minnesota will also be present for the purpose of delivering an address. Hallowe'en Prank Brings Trouble to School Boys

There is a general disposition on the part of the public and authorities to allow youngsters quite a lot of leeway on Hallowe'en, but they are very apt to take advantage of the leniency and carry things too far. This was the result in Thief River Falls.

A lot of boys with a rather abnormal notion of what constitutes fun took 350 chairs out of the assembly room of the Lincoln high school and carried them up onto the roof. According to their own statement the job took two hours.

The next morning Supt. Simley had little difficulty in discovering who the culprits were and brought them onto the carpet. He gave them a severe talking to and then marched them to the office of Mayor Bratrud, where they were put through a course of severe questioning. Upon promising to replace all chairs and promising not to let their exuberance take such violent form another time, they were permitted to depart. The boys promised to pay for any damage that may have resulted to the furniture.

Lloyd Zeh a Benedict; Is Surprise to Friends

A letter from Lloyd L. Zeh, who is now a resident of Flint, Mich., to friends in this city, conveys the information that the former Thief River Falls boy was married on June 14, to Miss Geraldine Rogers in the Michigan city. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rogers, the former being a member of the firm of Congleton & Rogers, clothing and shoe merchants. Mr Zeh says he is in charge of the clothing department of this store. He has been with the concern for two years and is evidently making good.

While his wedding took place some months ago, it will likely prove news to most of our citizens, many of whom have known the young man since boyhood and who will be glad to hear of his success.

When Can Corn Be Used With Profit For Fuel?

The advisability of burning corn for fuel depends upon so many things that no hard and fast rule can be laid down to meet conditions in all localities. In Iowa, where large quantities of coal are mined and can be delivered without long hauls, state college investigators say that nothing is to be gained by burning corn for fuel.

But Prof. E. A. Stewart, of the agricultural physics section of the University of Minnesota, believes that with the price of corn at 25 cents and less a bushel, and when it requires from 70 to 80 pounds of corn on the cob to make a bushel, some farmers can better afford to burn their corn than market it.

"When corn is used for burning," he says, "it gives between 5,600 and 6,000 British thermal units of heat a pound, while coal gives 10,000 to 13,000 B. T. U. for each pound. According to that it would require two tons of corn on the cob to give as much heat as one ton of coal. Coal prices now range from one-half to one cent a pound. Corn at one-fourth cent a pound might profitably be used for fuel."

Corn, however, Prof. Stewart emphasizes, has some speculative value which may be higher than 20 cents a bushel, whereas coal has none. If corn must be sold because of lack of storage capacity or lack of funds, and coal must be bought, it is better to burn the corn, with its price at 25 cents a bushel or less, than coal at the prevailing price of coal, he says. The cost of hauling the corn to town and taking the coal back must be considered, he explains, in deciding what to do.

"The man who has wood to cut should never burn corn," Prof. Stewart says. "Labor on the farm is too cheap to make this profitable."

"Indian John" seldom fails and it is confidently predicted that he will find the bodies.

An Answer

To the full-page Political Advertisment Appearing on Another Page in This Paper

The present city administration insists that "Paving is an issue" in this campaign. This is a weak statement, not grounded on fact. The paving is practically completed. The controversy is a thing of the past. Let's forget it and set our face to the future.

We defy anyone to prove that any candidate on the Good Government ticket ever advocated or favored in the least a plan that would put the cost of paving on all of the city, instead of the abutting property owners. This claim by our opposition is preposterous and made by them for the express purpose of clouding the issue.

The candidates on the Good Government ticket with their first announcement made a signed declaration against any suggestion to assess cost of paving to the city at large. This everyone knows. Hence, where is their justification for the headline: "A Tardy Declaration."

In the paragraph of their advertisement under the headline, "A Tardy Declaration," the present city administration fully admits the impossibility of anyone making any change in the paving tax.

We now come to the one serious real issue in this campaign, law enforcement.

The present city government has done all it can to suppress bootlegging and other law violations. They say so themselves. Do you think they have done a good job? Don't you think it is possible to elect a mayor and set of men who can accomplish more along this line?

They say: "Seldom is a drunk person seen on our streets." Such a statement is a joke and is disgusting to every decent law-abiding citizen in this city who knows anything at all about the conditions that have prevailed here the last six months.

Certainly few arrests have been made. Don't we all know it?

Of course the police court records are clear. When there are no arrests the police court has nothing to do.

No arrests, no police court records. This is exactly what the citizens are complaining about.

Poor, blind police force. How they are misunderstood!

If re-elected, the present city government promise to continue their best efforts at law enforcement with the same result they have obtained in the past. VOTERS, DOES THIS SATISFY YOU?

Had the $100 reward by the city administration been posted three or four weeks ago, we apprehend there would have been a rush of claimants for this reward. But now, one week before election, certain lines of business will probably be suspended until after election.

Another point: This reward offer demands conviction. We all know that arrest, trial and conviction would be impossible in the limited period between now and election.

Referring to the advertisement signed by the Mayor in another column of this paper, does he mean that in spite of the very high tax rate now prevailing, that he thinks the city ought to be taxed within the next two years for the very great expense of changing our electric light plant from a direct to alternating current? This improvement has been suggested.

FACTS ARE STUBBORN THINGS

The issues in the present city campaign are so clearly defined that any person who will impartially view the contentions of both sides should have no difficulty in coming to a conclusion as to which ticket it is to his interest to support. No amount of misleading statements or ambiguous insinuation can change the records of the two sets of men who are asking for the suffrages of their fellow citizens.

The present city administration, all members of which are candidates for re-election, ask the voters to consider their case alone on its merits, leaving the outcome entirely in their hands.

They ask, however, that they be permitted to present a few facts in connection with the administration of city affairs during the past two years, particularly as the candidates on the so-called Good Government ticket have seen fit to raise the issues.

PAVING "IS" AN ISSUE

The statements given out for publication and circulation by the opposition lays particular stress upon the assertion that "Paving Is Not an Issue." The candidates pledge themselves to carry out the present contract if elected, and further disavow any intention of changing the plan inaugurated by the present council in the slightest detail.

While it may be true that it is NOW the intention of these men to go through with the paving undertaking as begun by the present council, it is certain that a majority of them did not always feel that way. As a matter of fact all but two of the men whose names appear on the Good Government ticket as candidates have been among the most consistent and persistent objectors to the paving of our streets. Now that the matter is settled and no longer a subject for discussion they come forward with the promise that in case of their election they will carry out the present contract—something they canno help doing in any event.

People would, however, have greater faith in the sincerity of their protestations if they now devoted some part of their energies to dropping two cases pending in the courts and aimed at preventing the city from proceeding with this improvement. One of the cases is that of T. P. Hamre against the city and follows closely the arguments for an injunction presented in the Oen and Evenson cases. The other is brought by H. M. Hicks and seeks to enjoin the city from selling its certificates of indebtedness for the purpose of raising money to meet paving expenses. While it is true that these actions will perhaps amount to nothing in the end, yet the fact remains that they are on the court dockets and no one except the parties bringing them can cause their removal therefrom at this time.

A TARDY DECLARATION

The denial of any intention on the part of the candidates on the Good Government ticket to assess the paving against all the property in the city, instead of against the property abutting the paved area only, is timely. It is a well known fact that these same men—or most of them—have at different times asserted that the city as a whole should be assessed to pay for this improvement and that all their objections to going ahead with the work would then be withdrawn. Now that the impossibility of any such proceeding has been made clear, these same men come forward and loudly acclaim that they have no intention of making such distribution of the costs.

One thing in connection with this matter should not be forgotten. The city has been put to a very heavy expense in defending itself in the cases brought in the courts by those opposed to paving. They have spurned every attempt on the part of the city council to adjust the matter by some kind of compromise, preferring a policy of costly and vexations delays to gain their ends. In the interest of harmony the present council has at all times stood ready to meet them better than half way on any proposition they might advance, even offering to largely curtail the original paving program if they would stop wasting their own and the people's money in futile attempts to prevent making an improvement demanded by 95 per cent of the citizens. It seemed, however, as if nothing short of a total abandonment of the project would meet their requirements. To have yielded to their demands meant that the city would be forced to stand costly damage suits for breach of contract, would have advertised to the world that the city of Thief River Falls does not live up to its solemn obligations and would in all likelihood let the taxpayers in for the payment of heavy damages.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

There is but one other issue. The claim is made that intoxicating liquors are being illegally distributed in the city and that "blindpiggers" are doing a flourishing business. The Good Government candidates pledge themselves to see that all such places are closed without delay and the proprietors forced to pay the penalty of the law. In reply to this statement Mayor John Bratrud and the present city council make the folowing offer:

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS WILL BE PAID TO ANY PERSON WHO WILL FURNISH THE COUNTY ATTORNEY OR CITY ATTORNEY WITH INFORMATION LEADING TO THE ARREST AND CONVICTION OF ANY PARTY GUILTY OF ILLEGALLY HANDLING, MANUFACTURING OR SELLING INTOXICATING LIQUORS IN THE CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

There are no strings to this offer and no one is barred from its provisions.

The probabilities are that there is more or less "blindpigging" and bootlegging going on in the city and neighborhood. In this respect Thief River Falls is perhaps neither better nor worse than other sections of the state and country. The facts remain, however, that there is less of this evil encountered here than in any neighboring community. Seldom is a drunken person seen on our streets and but few arrests have been found necessary on this score. The police department is efficient in keeping the traffic checked, so far as it lies in the power of the law officers to do so. In comparison with neighboring communities the city of Thief River Falls is clean, as our police court records will prove. For any man or set of men to claim the contrary not only leaves their sincerity open to question, but it proves them to be poor observers.

When a prohibition enforcement agent appointed for the state of Minnesota resigns after holding the office for six months because he finds it impossible to cope with the problem presented in attempting to prevent the illegal sale of liquor, is it not asking a great deal of a community with two police officers to rid iself entirely of those who profit by the traffic?

We pledge our continued efforts toward making Thief River Falls a clean, law-abiding city. We stand for a sane, progressive administration of the municipality's affairs and will give our best endeavors to seeing that the money of the taxpayers is economically and judiciously employed. No further paving will be undertaken unless demanded by the taxpayers themselves, it being fully realized that they should have the entire say as to how their money should be spent.

We believe that the liberal minded citizens can find nothing in our records as public servants for which apologies need be made. We have endeavored to give the city a clean, progressive, business-like administration and can only promise in case of election to continue along this line. We shall make no promises before election that will be found impossible of fulfillment after election. The people of Thief River Falls know us and their verdict will be satisfactory, no matter what it may be.

The Honor Roll.

The requirements for the honor roll are ten honor points. The number of honor points is determined as follows: An A grade counts three points, a B grade counts two points, a C grade counts one point, and grades below C have no value. To be eligible for the honor roll the student must also have an A or B grade in deportment.

The following are the honor students for the first six weeks period:

Freshmen—Katherine Barton, Bernice Erickson, Maxine Johnson, Sara Martinson, Lena Ristau, Evangeline Umland, Liv Vistaunet.

Sophomores—Norma Babcock, Esther Lunsetter, Margaret Melgaard, Hilda Peterson, Gladys Russel, Albert Stengelson.

Juniors—Ole Helle, Esther Larson.

Post Graduates—Celia Morrissey, Ruth Matthew, Alpha Bishop.

The Report Card Talks.

Hurrah for the Freshmen! In the last six weeks period the Freshman class was ahead of all the other classes in deportment marks. They didn't have a single "E" or "F" and only two "D's" and nine "C's." The Freshman class is the largest class in high school, but not another class can equal them in deportment even figured in numbers.

Freshmen, let's keep our record clean. Let's not have a single red mark in deportment this year. You have made a good start—keep it up.

Although the Freshmen are green, the other classes can learn some lessons from them anyway. "It is right to learn, even from a Freshman."—Emmet Shanahan, President.

Dramatic Art Play.

A one act comedy, "The Florist shop," was given by the dramatic art club at the Lyceum theatre on Tuesday afternoon and evening. Both performances were well attended, and according to reports we feel sure that it was well liked by the majority of the people who saw it.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Mr. Jackson	Gregory Werstlein
Miss Wells	Mildred Loftness
Mr. Slovsky	Lloyd Alness
Maude	Helen Warner
Henry	Kermit Anderson

The characters took their parts well, Gregory Werstlein taking the part of Mr. Jackson with ease. Mildred Loftness in a very pleasing manner took her part as an old maid who had been engaged to Mr. Jackson. Lloyd Alness as Slovsky and Kermit Anderson as the office boy were the life of the play. Helen Warner as Maude, the office girl, with gum 'n everything, made a decided hit.

The proceeds, which amounted to about fifty dollars, will go to the treasury of the dramatic club.

Our Electric Line.

What is known as the Electric Line is a railway running east from Thief River Falls twenty miles. The stations along the line are Mavie and Silverton. Its eastern terminus is the village of Goodridge.

The trains on this road are run by electricity. Carloads of merchandise, grain, hay, potatoes, etc., are hauled back and forth daily. Two trains for passengers are also run each day.

This electric railway is of great benefit to the farmers living east of town as they can now market their grain and other produce at stations along the line instead of having to make a long day's trip with a load into Thief River Falls. The farmers' wives can take the electric car, come into town, do their shopping and get home again in a few hours, thus saving much time that is valuable to every farmer.—Theresa Fuller, 7A

Our Water Power.

Few if any cities in the northwest can boast of better facilities for power than Thief River Falls. The city is situated on the Red Lake river which is fed from the Red lake. The river supplies an abundance of water. At a point in the center of the city a fall of fifteen feet develops over two thousand horsepower. Part of this power is used to furnish the light at night and power during the day. Thus electric power is furnished for every industry. It is used to drive the large pumps of the city water works. The plant's engineering makes it practically free from destrutive floods in the spring or any time of the year.—Margaret Roark, 8B

Dramatic Club Contest.

The Dramatic club held two meetings on Oct. 26 and 27, respectively. A contest was held each evening for the purpose of choosing six girls of the best ability in dramatics. The girls were divided into two groups of about ten each. The girls of the groups each gave a dramatic poem. They were judged by Miss Soule and Mrs. Korstad of the high school faculty. Three girls were chosen from each group. Those chosen in the first group in the order given: Ruth Knutson, Ella Krohn and Nora Lindquist. Those chosen in the second group were Lucile McGinnity, Shirley Anderson and Lillian Knight. Another contest will be held later at which these six girls will compete against each other and the one chosen as the highest will represent the club in the district contests. The boys will soon hold their contest.—M. M. '22.

Dramatic Club Gives Hallowe'en Party.

Last Saturday night the high school was the scene of a Hallowe'en party.

The evening was spent in playing games, diving for apples and other amusements. A mock trial was given which furnished fun and laughter for everyone present.

Miss Stebbins was the only guest outside of the club itself.

At a late hour a delightful chicken dinner was served after which toasts were given. After this the party ended and everybody went away well pleased.—M. M. '23.

Former Editor of Progress Visits.

The high school students and faculty were pleasantly surprised last week when Dreng Bjornaraa, who graduated last spring, visited us to talk over old times. Incidentally he attended a meeting of the High School Progress staff, of which he formerly was editor-in-chief.

He complimented us very highly on the publications of this year, and encouraged the "Prowler" staff to keep up to the old standard.

Dreng took a very active part in high school activities last year. In addition to being editor-in-chief of the High School Progress he was president of the Senior class and editor-in-chief of the "Prowler."

We regret to say that we have had very few visits from members of the Alumni so far this year. Of course we understand that many are not in the city, but we would like to keep in touch with them and if possible devote a column in this paper to them and their affairs.—M. L. '22.

Simley Speaks.

Superintendent Simley addressed the general assembly last Wednesday at the regular chapel period. He spoke of the common interest that all have, namely that Thief River Falls high school be the best possible, and, as such, the best in the Northwest. To realize this common aim, Mr. Simley pointed out the most important points to observe, the first of which was to systematize the work as far as possible so that the least possible amount of time and energy is wasted. Since school opened in September, the factulty have been striving to reach the greatest efficiency, and the results are shown in the classwork which is being accomplished.

The second point Mr. Simley emphasized was environment, and the third the necessity of the right kind of work. Some have the ability of working harder than others, he explained, but, even so, everyone could expend a little more effort than is being done at present. One of the differences between an ordinary and an extraordinary person, between an average man and a genius, is that the latter has the ability of concentrating his whole self on what he is doing. This makes him capable of accomplishing a greater amount of work. It is the same at school: He who does the best work is he who can work hard when he does work, who is not afraid of each day's tasks but meets them with the only defense possible—work, real honest effort to accomplish something.—A. S. '24.

Washington Notes.

The first, second, third and fourth graders had Hallowe'en parties on Friday and Monday afternoons. Entertainment consisted of peanut races, guessing contests, apple and candy eating contests, making Hallowe'en caps and telling Hallowe'en stories. Refreshments were apples, candy and peanuts.

Pupils of the second grade were favored with a Hallowe'en basket from Mrs. Strupp. Each child received a dainty orange package tied with black, containing sandwich and cookies.

The marching pennants for this week went to the second grade on the first floor and to the sixth grade on the second floor.

Northrop News.

The total enrollment of the Northrop is 341.

Elaine Evenson has re-entered school after an absence of several weeks due to illness in the family.

Carolyn Voelz entered the fourth grade on Monday, Oct. 24.

The pennants for marching were won last week by Mrs. Eyde's first grade pupils on the first floor and by Miss Sandum's third grade pupils on the second floor.

Central Notes.

The 7B history classes are preparing an "Indian Corner." This is to be a collection of interesting Indian relics, most of which have been found in this vicinity.

The past week the seventh geography classes have been making a special study of products of the Atlantic States, such as cotton, tobacco, coal and petroleum.

The pupils of the seventh grade arithmetic classes are taking a keen interest in the diagrams which they spend the twenty-four hours of the day.

All pupils have been given health crusade cards on which they are to keep a daily record of their health chores.

Knox News.

Mrs. H. W. Protzeller visited the third grade Friday afternoon.

The Health Crusade cards were handed out on Friday, and the pupils began the fifteen weeks' contest on Sunday. All are anxious to secure an honor score of 78 points a week, so as to earn gold stars.

The pupils of Miss Jorgenson's room had a very pleasant little Hallowe'en party on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. G. W. Nicholson visited the fifth grade on Thursday of last week.

Work on the new Knox building is progressing rapidly. The plastering in the rooms on the second floor has been completed, and work on the first floor rooms has been begun. A cement walk is also being laid on the north side of the school grounds.

Normal Training Notes.

Amanda Skomedal, Thea Gutterud, Constance Klungness, Thora Moe and Helga Ose spent the week-end at their respective homes near Steiner.

Selma Newton spent the week-end at her home near Thief River Falls.

Selma: "I can't."

Miss Stapleton: "You better dissolve partnership with 'can't' and become 'can's' partner."

Miss Stapleton: "Myrtle, give the sounds of 'a.'"

Myrtle, rising: "What, where, oh, I see."

Borghild: "When two vowels are separated by a consonant the first is short and the last long."

Miss Stapleton: "You may pronounce the word as you have marked it."

Borghild: "Pal-lee."

Favorite Expressions.

Miss Perry: "Girls, I want you to be specific, and think!"

Miss Stapleton: "Now, that's the kind of recitation I like. You can't pick a flaw in that."

Jokes and Personals.

Rudy Rice: "Wasn't that the bank that became a State Bank at Philadelphia in 1837? I'm not sure—I can't remember that far back."

Miss Stavig: "Well, now, I'm not quite sure I can remember that far back myself."

Roy Feels Better.

Roy H.: "Say, Steve, I see you've got a new girl you've been flirting with over there."

Steve: "You boob! That's my sister."

Alfred C.: (Translating in Norse) "There are three Mondays in three days—"

Miss Gormley: "Rosseau believed people should go back to nature and lead the simple life."

Bessy: "Back to the farm?"

Friedolph: (Moving to back row) "I believe I must have taken the wrong seat today."

The assembly room had a visitor the fifth period on Friday in the person of Miss Kitty Catt. When her visit had come to an end she told Mr. Rapacz, "Let me-ow," which he very graciously did.

Miss Gormley: (Dictating) "Egyptian calendar made 4241 B. C."

Cleon B.: (Just waking up) "Is that their license number?"

Miss Gormley: (Giving spelling test) "Peninsula of Sinai."

Herbert Keene: (To himself) "That's where we got the ten commandments."

Mr. Harner: (Speaking about attendance). "Some people stay home to weep over it when the old cow dies."

Miss Esther Hudrath of the class of '21 was a visitor at high school Friday.

Gladys Moland visited with her parents at her home at St. Hilaire over Sunday.

There were only two cases of tardiness in high school on Wednesday. This is good work. Keep it up.

Mr. Harner: "How much would you weigh on the moon, Rudy?"

Rudy: "I don't know."

Mr. Harner: "You've never been there, eh?"

Miss Gormley: "Is there anything more about Rosseau, Henry?"

Henry: "Not just now."

At the fire drill last Thursday the building was cleared in one minute.

Administration's Corner

Night School.

In the First Annual Bulletin of the Thief River Falls Public Schools that was published and distributed shortly before the opening of school last fall, announcement was made that a night school for adults would be organized in case there was sufficient call for it. Plans for the undertaking are now being laid. Before the plans can assume definite form, however, it is necessary to know just what kind of courses are wanted as well as the number wanting each course. The superintendent, telephone number 52, will be glad to hear from anyone interested.

By way of suggestion, the following courses, it is thought, ought to be popular: Reading, writing and speaking English for foreigners. Anyone knowing of persons in need of such instruction will confer a favor by speaking to them and by notifying the school authorities. Courses in citizenship ought also to make extensive appeal. Courses in any academic or regular subject of either grade or high school standing can easily be arranged for. There are many, for instance, who would appreciate a good systematic review of arithmetic. Don't hesitate to call for such a course if you wish it. You will not be the only one wanting it! Commercial subjects have always been in big demand by night school patrons. The same is true of courses in home economics. Sewing, cooking, and millinery might be suggested here. A study and understanding of the scientific principles involved in gas engines and automobiles ought to be of interest to gas engine and automobile owners. So on we might enumerate indefinitely.

In one night school with which the writer is well acquainted, many local business and professional men had charge of courses. The manager of a wholesale house gave a course in salesmanship. The window trimmer in one of the large department stores gave a course in window trimming. A course in sign painting was in charge of a person who had actual charge of this work in one of the business houses of the city. This, again, is mentioned by way of suggestion.

If you can think of anything you want, let us therefore know of it. Try to interest some friend. Two evenings a week for three or four months would probably be the most satisfactory time allotment. This is a detail which is yet to be worked out, however.

T. R. F. Loses to Bemidi.

In one of the hardest fought games of the season our football team lost to Bemidji last Friday afternoon. Both teams played on excellent brand of football, but fate decreed that Bemidji should come out the victor. Their team was much heavier than ours. At the end of the first quarter the score was 6-0 in favor of Bemidji. They failed to kick goal.

The second quarter Thief River came back determined to win, Barzen, Anderson and Holmgren playing in their usual good form. The second quarter ended in a score of 12-0 in favor of Bemidi, but this in no way discouraged the boys, who fought even harder than before.

The third quarter ended in a score of 19-0, Bemidji kicking goal at this time.

The fourth quarter the locals held their own and played much better, not letting Bemidji score.

It should be remembered that Bemidji is not in our district and hence the game with them does not in the least affect our district standing. The only team we have lost to in our district so far is Crookston. Having defeated East Grand Forks, however, and they in turn having won over the Crookston aggregation, gives us as much title to district honors as anyone.

Stephen Here Tuesday.

Next Tuesday will probably be the last time the local supporters of our team will have a chance to see them in action. A game with the Stephen high school football team has been scheduled for that date and everyone who is at all interested in football ought to come out and show our team his appreciation of what they have done this fall. We have a very creditable team, one that will do credit to any high school any place. Dope has it that it is going to be another victory for the local team. You can't afford to miss it. Watch for further particulars and in the meantime plan to take time off next Tuesday afternoon to see the game.

OVER 100 WORKERS FROM ONE SCHOOL

The Standard Oil Co., Fargo, N. D., calls on Dakota Business College of that city whenever they need office help. The employment of Edwin Jepson and Melvin Rud, makes well over 100 graduates for this firm alone. Betsey Kittelsen is the 8th Dakota-trained employe for the big Hull Insurance Co.

Would these firms and hundreds of others constantly employ D. B. C. pupils unless convinced that they were exceptionally well taught?

CREAM RECEIPTS 55 PER CENT OVER LAST SEPTEMBER

First Nine Months' Business is Greater Than For Entire Year of 1920.

The tremendous strides being made by dairying in this section as well as the strong bid for the business of the milk and cream producer made by the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery is shown by the surprising figures given out by Secretary Peter Engelstad covering receipts for the month of September. The increase in the amount of cream received at the institution over the corresponding month a year ago was 55 per cent, the best record yet made. During the first nine months of the present year the receipts at the creamery have been 24,000 pounds greater than for the entire year of 1920.

Many contributing factors are responsible for this result. In the first place the price paid for butterfat at the Thief River Falls creamery is very nearly the highest in the state, according to the report of the dairy and food commissioner. Tests are conducted by persons of long experience in the business and the producer invariably given as high a marking as possible. Returns are promptly made and any advance in the market instantly noted in order that the man who does the milking shall at all times have the best service possible. The Thief River Falls creamery is rapidly becoming one of the really big butter-making plants of the state and its circle of patrons is steadily being widened.

Fifty-eight producers received more than $50 for the products of their herds for the month of September, two of these being in the $200 class while eight others received checks for larger amounts than $100. The average for these 58 top-notchers was just a trifle under $72.

Following is a list of those who received more than $50 for their butterfat during the month:

CONSIGNMENT SALE TO BE HELD NOV. 23

Grade Milch Cows, Sheep and Hogs to Be Offered at Crookston Nov. 23.

At a meeting of prominent leaders of the Red River Valley Livestock association held at Crookston last week plans were made to hold a consignment sale of pure bred sheep and hogs and 50 grade milch cows—"springers"—that will freshen soon after the sale. The cows should be from 4 to 9 years old. There is a growing demand through the valley for close springer grade cows. This demand is brought about by reason of the good prices for butter fat and in view of the fact that there is an abundance of cheap feed. Farmers in the valley have come to the right conclusions when they realize that the best money making proposition on the farm this winter will be good milch cows and that the best market for the cheap grain and roughage is in the form of butter fat. This demand for good close springer grade cows is creating a local demand, a demand whereby a farmer who has cows soon to freshen that must be disposed of can realize better values than by shipping to the market. The fact is good milch cows should not be sold on the market this fall.

To bring the best price at a sale of this kind, cows should be in good condition and have evidence of being good milkers. Whenever possible to give, the approximate date of calving will assist in making a good sale. Farmers who desire to consign good grade cows soon to freshen to the Nov. 23 sale are asked immediately to notify O. M. Kiser, secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock association, Crookston, giving number, age, breed and date of calving.

GRAIN GROWERS TO MAKE STATE DRIVE

Co-Operative Marketing Agency to Open Minnesota Office and Sign Up Members.

The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., will open Minnesota headquarters in St. Paul and begin its membership drive early this month.

J. S. Jones, organization director for the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, has accepted the management of the U. S. Grain Growers' organization campaign in this state. The directors of the farm bureau federation authorized him to conduct the membership drive for the national co-operative grain marketing corporation, while retaining his position as director of the farm bureau's organization department.

Mr. Jones planned to conduct a school for organizers in St. Paul this week.

"We are going to start on a small scale and grow as we go along," he said today. "We are going to present the national marketing plan of the Committee of Seventeen absolutely on its merits, and see that every farmer who becomes a member of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., understands the plan thoroughly and knows exactly what the marketing contract he signs means.

"The contracts will be the regular five-year contracts of the U. S. Grain Growers, giving the farmers the choice of three methods of selling their grain through the central marketing agency—direct sale, consignment and pooling."

FREIGHT RATE CUT A FARMER VICTORY

Charges on Grain and Hay Ordered Lowered — Bureau Seeks Reductions.

Organized farmers have won a decisive victory in their fight for lower railroad rates, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation says in a report prepared to inform its members that the Interstate Commerce commission has ordered sweeping reductions in rates on wheat, coarse grains and hay.

Following hearings in Washington, at which Thomas E. Cashman of Owatonna testified as the official representative of the Minnesota farm bureau, the commission ordered the rates reduced not later that Nov. 20. The order directs that rates on wheat and hay be cut half as much as they were increased in August, 1920, and that rates on coarse grains be set 10 per cent below the new rates on wheat. It is estimated that the order means a reduction of 25 per cent on coarse grain, and that the average reduction on all commodities affected amounts to 16 or 18 per cent.

The rate slash came just after the American Farm Bureau federation took legal action to force reductions, by filing a formal petition with the Interstate Commerce commission asking that successive cuts be ordered until the whole rate increase of 1920 is wiped out. The farm bureau will continue its fight for lower rates, officers of both the state and national organizations assert.

Too Few Civil Service Applicants.

The Civil Service commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Thief River Falls and other cities throughout the United States for assistant observer, weather bureau, and matron, Indian service, applicants were not secured in the number desired and that these examinations will again be held on Nov. 16 and Dec. 7, respectively.

Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to the secretary of the U. S. Civil Service board at the local post office for detailed information and application blanks.

A Word of Appreciation.

The members of Minnesota Council No. 521, United Commercial Travelers of America, of Thief River Falls, Minn., hereby extend to the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity their appreciation for the splendid co-operation and patronage at our Annual Benefit Ball on Friday evening, Oct. 28. We are all boosting Thief River Falls.

WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? Thief River Falls people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?

Mrs. Chas. Alexander, 216 Conley Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "I was suddenly taken with a bad attack of kidney complaint. Severe pains across my back kept me from doing my work. My head swam with dizziness, so that I was afraid to walk across the room. My kidneys didn't act as they should and I felt miserable all over. A neighbor suggested that I try Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought a supply at Bottleson's Drug Store. They entirely rid me of the trouble and I have felt well ever since."

The above statement was given Dec. 1, 1917, and on Aug. 8, 1921, Mrs. Alexander added: "I gladly confirm the statement I gave, praising Doan's. I use them occasionally as a preventive and they always give good results."

Concerning Judicial Ditch No. 1.

Editor Times. Dear Sir:

Your paper being extensively read throughout eastern Marshall and western Beltrami counties, I hope that you will be kind enough to give space for a few words in regard to Consolidated Judicial Ditch No. 1 of said counties. A good many people have an idea that this proceeding was dismissed or "killed" at the June hearing. This is not so and the impression is based upon a misunderstanding. The proceeding was simply continued until the fall term of court and will come up again on Nov. 28. Neither was there any order made to confine or limit this proceeding to the Thief Lake territory as some think there was. As I understand it the matter stands just about exactly the same as it did before the hearing last summer. There is nothing decided one way or another.

I am simply calling attention to this so that there may be no misunderstanding or confusion. Of course it is possible that an understanding may be reached before the hearing this fall by the petitioners and objectors and their attorneys. In any event it is up to the people affected to keep in touch with what is going on from now on until the hearing, and unless they find that a definite settlement or understanding has been reached before that time, all interested parties should be present at the hearing in Warren. Now is the time to be present and have your say; not after the matter is all disposed of. It is just as important to be present at the coming hearing as it was last summer, because the matter will likely be decided one way or another this time.

I do not wish to be understood as urging the people of eastern Marshall county to take any particular stand on this proceeding. Personally I am not in favor of this ditch undertaking. I believe it is the wrong time and could better wait for some years. However, the people of eastern Marshall county have lived there as long as I have and understand the conditions and know the needs of the territory. They are fully competent to decide for themselves what is best and what they want. Find out what the assessments are and consider all sides to the question. I do, however, want to urge the people affected to make their wishes known, in order that the court may have all the facts and be fully advised as to the necessity and desirability of the undertaking, as well as the damages and benefits thereof.

Yours very truly,
H. O. BERVE.

LEGION INVITES ALL TO ASSIST IN CELEBRATION

All Business Houses in the City Will Close at 11:11 O'Clock Tomorrow Forenoon.

Big Parade Scheduled to Start From Auditorium Promptly at 1:00 O'Clock.

Football Game and Sports Program at Fair Grounds to Follow Exercises.

All business houses in Thief River Falls will close at 11:11 Friday forenoon and will not reopen until the program at the fair grounds has been completed. The people are urged to do their trading before that hour as merchants and clerks will all be wanting to attend the celebration.

Everything is now in readiness for the Armistice Day celebration on Friday. From 11 minutes after 11 in the forenoon until 4 o'clock in the afternoon the people of the city will join with the American Legion and Auxiliary in observances honoring those who took part in the late war and also a jollification to celebrate the signing of the armistice.

One of the big features of the event will be the parade, which is to start from the auditorium at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and disband at the same point one hour later. Here the observances in honor of those who died in the service of their country will take place, the program being as follows:

March	Thief River Falls Band
"Star Spangled Banner"	Audience
Quartet—"Ring Out Sweet Bells of Peace." Miss Maude L. Johnson, Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, Carl Sundahl, E. M. Bennes.
Requiem	Quartet
Solo—"Mother of Pearl"	Carl Sundahl
Overture	Band
Solo—"Flag of Mine"	Mrs. Fisher
Address	H. O. Chommie
Song—"America Triumphant"	Quartet
"America"	Audience

Fair Ground Exercises.

The sports program at the fair grounds will begin at 2 o'clock. The big feature of this entertainment is expected to be the football game between the local Legion eleven and the team from Cavalier, N. D. The last-named team is one of the best in this section of the country, having defeated the fast Grafton aggregation in a recent game.

Both the auditorium exercises and the fair ground program are free to the public, no charge of any kind being made. Chairman G. L. Sterns of the committee on arrangements hopes that every citizen of Thief River Falls will come out and help the former service men make a success of the undertaking.

Dance in the Evening.

In the evening the famous picture, "Georges Carpentier, the Wonder Man," will be shown at the Lyceum theatre under the auspices of Eklund Post, American Legion. This is an eight-reel film production of the very highest character and shows the famous Frenchman in a four-round bout with an American opponent. An admission charge of 35 cents will be made which it is hoped will cover the actual expenses. This picture has been shown in the larger cities of the country at from one to two dollars per seat.

The day will wind up with a big dance at the auditorium, given by the ladies of the auxiliary. For this the regular charge will be made.

Outsiders Invited.

Eklund Post and the Women's Auxiliary extend a cordial invitation to all service men in the city to take part in these observances. It is also desired that all secret and civic organizations in the city join in the parade, being ready to start at 1 o'clock so as not to delay the proceedings. A large part of the success of this undertaking will depend upon its being carried out according to schedule.

MORE ROAD WORK TO HELP JOBLESS

Highway Department to Continue Operations on Large Scale During Winter.

Gravel surfacing of 18 miles on the Bejou-Waubun section of Minnesota trunk highway No. 30, estimated at $75,000, is part of the big winter program of highway construction announced by Charles M. Babcock, commissioner of highways, following action by congress to provide funds to carry out the "more work—better roads" plan to cut idleness and build needed roads. Five miles of graveling by team is also ordered done on the Holt-Middle River road, at a cost of $12,000.

The first list of 27 winter jobs—25 miles of paving and 274 miles of gravel surfacing estimated to cost $1,687,000—is to be followed soon by others of grading and bridge work, also special team jobs to further relieve unemployed and especially the settlers and farmers of some districts, according to John H. Mullen, assistant commissioner and chief engineer. The tentative plan is to use about $4,500,000 this winter for the dual purpose of reducing idleness and improving roads.

Special efforts are being made to spread the work that many sections may share in the benefits. Several proposed undertakings were postponed until next year because not adapted to cold weather operations. Work is expected to start about Dec. 1. The state law requiring three weeks of advertising, first bids are to be opened Nov. 29 and 30. Then the successful bidders will be made public that job seekers may apply direct to them. The highway department will have no jobs to fill.

THEO. CHITTICK IS ACCIDENT VICTIM

Former Thief River Falls Boy Killed While Hunting Ducks in Vicinity of Duluth.

Theodore Chittick, brother of T. H. Chittick of the local postoffice force, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a gun while he was out hunting with a companion on Sunday evening. The boys, both of whom were about 18 years of age, were after ducks at Rice Lake, 30 miles northwest of Duluth. A flock of birds was sighted and Chittick reached back of him for his gun, pulling the weapon forward by the barrel. The hammer caught and the load struck him in the back, causing almost instant death.

T. H. Chittick left this city for Duluth on Sunday night immediately upon being notified of the accident. Miss Blanche Chittick, a sister, who is now a resident of Oregon, passed through here yesterday and was joined by Mrs. Chittick on her way to Duluth.

Deceased was raised in Thief River Falls and lived here until the family moved to the head of the lakes about three years ago.

The family is well known here, where news of the young man's death will cause general sorrow.

Theo. Quale Chairman of Salvation Army Campaign

The Salvation Army will put on a drive for funds with which to carry on the work in Pennington county during the coming year, the dates for the campaign being Nov. 21 to 28 inclusive. An officer from state headquarters was in the city yesterday for the purpose of perfecting the arrangements.

Theo. Quale has been made chairman of the campaign, and will be assisted by Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant and County Auditor T. P. Anderson. All moneys collected will be spent right here in the county and it is probable that much more than is secured will be needed. Last year the collections here amounted to $700 and an additional $1000 was found necessary in order to maintain the branch. This was taken from the funds of other army units in the state having a surplus.

It is deemed better to make one yearly drive in this way rather than depend upon promiscuous solicitation throughout the season for sufficient funds to carry on the work. The Salvation Army is doing a vast amount of good and asks only that sufficient funds be made available for it to continue its program.

No specific sum has been set as the amount to be raised in the county, everyone being asked to donate according to his or her means.

Noted Norwegian Violinist Appears Here in Concert

The famous Norwegian violinist, Daniel Aakhus, assisted by Madam Aakhus, will give a concert in Trinity church on Tuesday evening, Nov. 15. The program consists of violin, piano and vocal solos and readings.

Mr. Aakhus is a scion of one of the best-known musical families in the Scandinavian countries. His father was a violinist of renown and the younger man is said to have inherited much of his wonderful ability. He has appeared in many European capitals as well as some of the larger cities of this country and has everywhere been hailed as a master.

Gravel at Paving Ends.

The city council has directed the graveling of all streets adjoining the paved area during the coming winter. This is thought to be necessary in order to protect the paving from becoming covered with mud in wet weather. A complete street cleaning outfit is also being considered but it is figured that this will not be greatly needed until spring.

ELKS, TAKE NOTICE

It is desired that all members of Elks lodge No. 1308 take part in the Armistice Day celebration by joining in the parade as a body. All members are requested to meet at the lodge room at 12:30 tomorrow in order that the lodge may be fully represented in the parade, which is to start from the auditorium at 1 o'clock.

CITY MERCHANTS TO OPEN STORES ON EXTRA NIGHT

Will Specialize in Accommodating Outside Trade Every Wednesday Evening.

Plan Goes Into Effect Nov. 16 and Is to Be Continued Until Dec. 21.

Gives Those Residing at a Distance Additional Opportunity to Trade Here.

Beginning on Nov. 16 and continuing up to and including Dec. 21, the merchants of Thief River Falls will keep their stores open every Wednesday evening for the particular accommodation of out-of-town trade. This move has been decided on as necessary in order to efficiently serve the people of the section through the early winter. It will also cover the period of holiday shopping and relieve the rush on Saturday evenings, the only night the stores have been open through the summer.

In deciding to keep open two nights a week instead of one, the merchants of the city are complying with a demand that has become very general. There are many persons who find it next to impossible to do their trading during the day who would be glad to visit the city in the evening, provided their wants could be supplied at that time, but who often find it impossible to wait until Saturday nights for the wares needed. It is to meet this demand that the new plan is being put into practice and from the favor with which it is being received there is no doubt but that a popular move has been hit upon.

Most Conveniently Arranged.

With any kind of good luck it should be possible to run autos for another month at least and for those so situated that this class of transportation can be employed the new plan only means another shopping opportunity in the evening. Anyone who must take the trains, however, will be particularly benefited. Those residing at points south on the Soo will be enabled to come up on the local, arriving here at 6:30 and thus be given an hour and a half for their shopping. The night will have to be spent here and the return trip started at 6 o'clock the next morning unless they can finish their business in time to catch the 9:50 train back home. This would mean a minimum loss of time. The same schedule practically would hold good for residents along the Wheat line of the Soo, the only difference being that they would not start for home until TWENTY—8:15 the next day. Passengers coming over the Duluth line will get here at 8 o'clock and leave at 7 the next morning.

Fare Easily Saved.

Thief River Falls merchants intend to make special inducements in order to get the people into the habit of coming to the city Wednesday nights. It is no part of the plan to attempt taking legitimate business away from the country merchant, but there is a large amount of trade now going to mail order houses or to merchandising establishments in the larger cities and it is this business merchants here are going after. Circulars and catalogues announcing special bargains will frequently be sent out, the aim being to convince people living at a distance that they can save time and money as well as secure better service by coming to this city for such of their necessities as cannot be supplied by the home merchant.

Stocks Most Complete.

The merchants of Thief River Falls were never better prepared to meet the demands of the early winter and holiday trade. New goods of every description are arriving daily and a large quantity has already been unpacked and placed on the shelves. One visit to the city by persons who have never inspected these stocks will convince them that they can do better by trading here.

3 MORE CREAMERY UNITS ORGANIZED

Plants Producing Half of State Co-operative Output Join New Association.

Creameries controlling more than half of all the co-operative creamery butter produced in Minnesota have joined the new statewide service organization, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation announces.

The annual output of co-operative creameries which have joined the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, backed by the bureau, amounts to more than 50,000,000 lbs. of butter. The central association, organized to assist the co-operative creameries in improving, shipping, advertising and selling their product and buying their supplies at wholesale prices, now includes 250 creameries, according to A. J. McGuire, organization manager.

Co-operative creameries in two districts already are completely organized for marketing in carlots. Three more districts are ready to organize. These are Districts No. 10, covering Brown, Faribault, Watonwan and Martin counties; District No. 11, Otter Tail, Wadena and Becker counties, and District No. 14, Polk, Norman, Clearwater, Clay, Mahnomen, Red Lake, Pennington, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties.

Granted a Divorce.

Judge Andrew Grindeland held a special term of court here on Monday evening, hearing the evidence in the divorce suit brought by Louis Lund against his wife, Ruth M. The plaintiff claimed that the wife deserted him for no valid reason while they were living together at Bayn Falls, Idaho, and is now living at Battle Creek, Mich., under another name. No answer to the complaint was submitted and the decree was ordered entered.

WELFARE BOARDS' REGIONAL MEETINGS

Some time during the latter part of this month, the exact date to be announced later, there will be a regional conference of child welfare boards held in Thief River Falls. These conferences will be held in different parts of the state at about the same time and are for the purpose of discussing plans for carrying on the work in behalf of the state's children. Red Lake, Roseau and Marshall counties will be represented at the meeting and members of the committee on arrangements have already been appointed, as follows: Roseau, Mrs. Geo. M. Stebbins; Marshall, Rev. A. T. Tollefsen; Pennington, Mrs. L. G. Larsen; Red Lake, L. E. Healy.

These regional conferences were decided upon by the officials in charge of the enforcement of laws relating to children. Five women in the state were appointed to look after the details by the state board of control, Mrs. J. M. Bishop of Thief River Falls being the chairman for this district. The meeting here will be one of the first to be held and it is expected that attendance will be large and the interest keen.

Besides Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. Larsen, the members of the Pennington county board are County Commissioner O. J. Peterson and Peter C. Wold.

There will be two sessions daily during the conference. At the morning meeting only board members, probate judges and county attorneys will be present. Evening sessions will be open to the general public. William Hodgson, director of children's bureaus, will be here, and it is expected that one member of the board of control and one from the state university will attend the meetings to give instructions on child welfare.

Federal Veterinarian to Make Headquarters Here

Dr. O. B. Peterson of St. Paul, a member of the Federal Livestock Sanitary board, will arrive in Thief River Falls in a day or two for the purpose of making his headquarters here. Dr. Peterson will have charge of the testing of cattle for tuberculosis, his district extending from the southern boundary of Pennington county northward to the Canadian line and including the western section of Beltrami county. Office space will be provided for the new department with the farm bureau.

Farmers may now make applications for tests at any time and the same will be conducted without delay. The service is free to farm bureau members and there is constant demand for tests of this kind. It has been proven that tuberculosis will spread to human beings using the milk of infected cows and this cattle testing campaign is to a certain extent a part of the program of tuberculosis control now being carried on by state and nation.

Pennington county already has the greatest number of tested and accredited herds in the country and with a resident veterinarian within easy reach it is thought that all danger from infection through this source will have been removed within a short time.

Attending Reunion.

T. J. Rowan leaves for St. Paul tonight to be present at a reunion of of members of the Russian Railway Service corps which served in Siberia and Manchuria during the war. Friday, also being Armistice Day, will mark the fourth anniversary of the date upon which the corps left St. Paul on their long journey across the Pacific. G. P. Hinton, train dispatcher, and A. G. Greenseth, roundhouse foreman, also members of the Siberian expedition, are not yet certain as to their ability to get to the reunion.

ATTENTION, ODD FELLOWS

Members of Young Pine lodge, I. O. O. F., are requested to meet at the lodge rooms at 12:30 on Friday for the purpose of taking part in the Armistice Day parade. It is earnestly desired that every member be present as a mark of respect for the men who gave their lives for their country in the great war.

MAYOR BRATRUD RE-ELECTED; ALL MEMBERS OF OLD COUNCIL RETURNED BY BIG MAJORITIES

People Indicate Approval of Present Administration by Most Decisive Vote in City's History—Ed. M. Evenson For Treasurer Only Successful Opposition Candidate—More Ballots Cast Than at Presidential Election a Year Ago—Women's Vote Large Factor in Result—Outcome in Neighboring Cities.

Mayor John Bratrud and members of the present city council were re-elected on Tuesday, Mr. Bratrud's vote being nearly three times that of his opponent, W. W. Prichard, Jr., candidate on the Good Government ticket. The councilmen running with him on a city development issue were all returned by substantial majorities. Ed. M. Evenson, present treasurer, was re-elected, being the only man not on the ticket headed by Mr. Prichard to make the grade.

Mrs. Beatrice Hieber, who was brought out by the city development people at the close of the campaign as an opponent to Mr. Evenson, made a good run but could not quite keep up to her team mates. It was the first time a woman was presented as a candidate in a municipal election in this city.

Councilmen Easy Winners.

The victory was even more complete than the most sanguine among the supporters of the city development advocates hoped for. A sharp campaign had been made against the men now in charge of municipal affairs and alleged laxity in the enforcement of law was made a leading issue. That the voters did not consider the claims put forth by the opposition as particularly valid is evidenced by the result.

"It has been generally understood that the result of this election would indicate whether or not the people as a whole approved the council's action in undertaking the paving of the city streets at this time. The council has been under fire from certain quarters for not postponing or abandoning this improvement and the verdict of Tuesday was regarded as a sort of test as to the popularity of their action. If such was the case there can no doubt remain but that the steps taken to insure paving at once was most popular.

Following is the vote on mayor by wards:

	Bratrud	Prichard
First ward	357	154
Second ward	325	138
Third ward	241	71
Fourth ward	372	111
Total	1295	474

The largest vote was cast in the First ward, where Carl Froseth is returned by a majority of 205 over Olaf Tessum, who was placed upon the ticket upon the withdrawal of M. V. Evenson after the latter had filed his petition. John Dahl in the Second leads C. D. Gustafson by considerably better than two to one. Practically the same ratio holds good in the Third, where H. A. Brumund received a majority of 77 out of 291 ballots cast. Andrew Ness had no opposition in the Fourth.

Ihle and Brandon Win.

The two councilmen-at-large, O. L. Ihle and Severn Brandon, made exceptional runs, the former getting 1031 votes and the latter 973, as compared with 576 and 573 for F. F. Haynes and F. C Dablow respectively.

Following is the vote by wards for the four candidates, two of whom were to be chosen:

	Brandon	Ihle	Haynes	Dablow
First	275	300	162	171
Second	237	117	187	185
Third	166	204	91	76
Fourth	298	290	136	141
Total	976	1031	576	578

The vote for councilmen in the different wards was as follows:

First ward:
Carl Froseth	352
Olaf Tessum	147
Second ward:
John Dahl	313
C. D. Gustafson	136
Third ward:
H. A. Brumund	184
C. W. Vornchek	107
Fourth ward:
Andrew Ness (unopposed)	427

Heavy Vote Cast.

The total vote cast on Tuesday was the heaviest in the history of the city. There was a large woman's vote but even with this deducted the showing would have been exceptional. Two years ago, with only the men voting, there was a total of 665 votes cast for the two mayoralty candidates as compared with 1770 on Tuesday. In the presidential election last year, when women voted for the first time, the total vote cast was 1702, or 68 less than on Tuesday.

Booth Winner at Crookston.

Charles P. Booth was elected mayor of Crookston on Tuesday, receiving 971 votes to 819 for his opponent, F. A. Grady, present mayor. Other officers elected were as follows: Municipal judge, J. A. Hendricks; city clerk, Miss Bergetta Loken; treasurer, E. E. Rossberg; assessor, S. L. Collins; alderman-at-large, O. Merell, Jr.; justices of the peace, S. K. Sorenson, J. D. Ball; aldermen—First ward, Wm. Kohler; Third ward, J. J. Padden; Fifth ward, C. R. Decker; Seventh ward, John Saugstad; constable, John Carter.

Result at Red Lake Falls.

G. J. Marchildon was elected mayor of Red Lake Falls, defeating L. E. Healy by about 100 votes. Mrs. Anna Jensen was elected treasurer over Gilbert Huot by a very narrow margin.

Aldermen were elected as follows: Third ward, Dan Guerin over S. C. Shockley; First ward, J. S. Draeger, without opposition Second ward, Leo Steinert, without opposition; at large, Fred E. Cyr and E. A. Nelson, without opposition. W. H. Fisher was elected assessor over Franz Freund by about 25 votes. About 500 votes were cast in the election.

MAYOR THANKS VOTERS

To the Voters:

I want to thank the voters of the city for the splendid support and vote that was given me in the election which has just been brought to a close.

I regard the result of the election as an endorsement, not so much of myself personally, as of the administraiton of the affairs of the city for the past years.

I appreciate keenly the honor that the public has again conferred upon me and desire to say that I shall be proud and glad to serve the community to the best of my ability. I bespeak the wholehearted co-operation of every citizen to the end that the entire community may prosper in its endeavors and that the city of Thief River Falls may in earnest step out on the road of progress which is now open before it.

Respectfully,
JOHN BRATRUD.

VICTORS APPRECIATIVE

The undersigned wish to voice their deep appreciation for the confidence in them indicated by the voters on Tuesday last. We do not regard the result in the light of a personal triumph but rather as an endorsement of the policies we have endeavored to carry through.

We wish to assure the people of the city that we shall continue to serve them to the best of our ability, having at all times in mind the greatest good to the greatest number. We shall always be thankful for any suggestion or assistance that will help us to better serve the people who have again honored us with their confidence.

CARL FROSETH,
JOHN DAHL,
H. A. BRUMUND,
ANDREW NESS,
O. L. IHLE,
SEVERN BRANDON.

Former Plummer Merchant Engages in Business Here

Alcid Morrisette, for many years engaged in the general merchandise business at Plummer, has rented the Halseth building, 221 Second street east, and will within a few days open with a full line of staple and fancy groceries. Mr. Morrisette has had many years experience in the business and will put in a high grade stock.

The building has been remodeled and repainted throughout. The partition formerly extending through the center has been removed, providing a floor space 20x40 feet.

The new store will be conducted strictly on the cash-and-carry plan, Mr. Morrisette believing that this will prove the most satisfactory to all concerned, permitting close selling because of lower overhead.

Tax Payment Better Than At Same Period a Year Ago

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud has just completed the work of tabulating the tax receipts for the last day on which the payment of taxes was allowed without penalty—Oct. 31. He finds that the total amount paid in at his office on that day was $87,360.34, divided as follows:

Currnet tax	$67,210.67
Interest and penalty	308.29
Delinquent taxes	443.42
Private redemption	253.21
Mort. Reg. tax	89.90
Misc. road collections	19,041.85
Inheritance tax	3.00

The collections for the half year ending on March 31 were considerably higher, totaling $103,693.96, it always being the case that the first half-year payment is the largest. The receipts on Oct. 31 a year ago were $59,324.21.

Numerous Attractions for Market Day at Goodridge

A market day, patterned after those inaugurated by the merchants of Thief River Falls, will be an event at Goodridge on Saturday, Nov. 12. The business men of the [illegible] part of the county have joined hands in an attempt to stimulate trading and are making some particularly interesting offers. The Thief River Falls plan of free merchandise donations will be followed and the day will be made a general outing event for the entire neighborhood. The excellent Goodridge band will furnish music all day and everything possible will be done for the entertainment of the visitors.

President Will Be Heard By 3 Audiences at Once

Thousands of people gathered together in two vast audiences, one at New York and the other at San Francisco, will hear President Harding's address and the fuenral service over the body of an unknown American soldier at Arlington National cemetery, Washington, D. C., on Armistice Day, Friday. Telephone equipment will be installed in front of the president's stand in the huge Arlington amphitheatre, which will carry the president's voice over wires to New York and San Francisco, where it will be transmitted to audiences through loud speaking devices recently perfected by the engineers of the Bell System. Through "loud speakers" installed at Arlington, the president's words will be carried to the thousands of United States troops and civilians assembled about him on the hillsides who otherwise would not be able to hear.

Councilman Improving.

Councilman Severn Brandon, who has been confined to his home with a severe attack of blood poisoning during the past ten days, is slowly recovering and the doctors now consider him out of danger.

MAYOR'S ARMISTICE DAY PROCLAMATION

TO THE CITIZENS OF THIEF RIVER FALLS:

Friday, the 11th day of November, being the third anniversary of the cessation of hostilities in the World war and also the day on which will be gathered in conference at Washington representatives of the leading powers of the world in an endeavor to supplant the instruments and burdens of war with the privileges and blessings of peace, I, as Mayor of the City of Thief River Falls, call upon the people of this city in recognition of the serenity and world-wide importance of the occasion, to refrain during said day after 11:11 o'clock A. M. from all business activities and to assemble at the Auditorium at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon of said day to partake of the general Armistice day program given under the auspices of the American Legion and which will be the general public meeting of the day, and upon each and all to implore the blessings of the Supreme Being on the deliberations of all conferences whose conclusions at Washington will be fraught with the greatest of all consequences to all people for all time and over all the earth.

And especially do I call on all citizens of our city to stand in response to the request of the president of the United States in due observance of the sacredness of the ceremony in reverential prayer for the full time of two minutes from and after the hour of 2:00 o'clock P. M. on that day, while there shall be laid to rest in our national cemetery the mortal remains of the unknown soldier who gave the last and fullest measure of devotion to his country and to his God.

Also, all those who can, fly at half mast the American flag during the entire day.

Given under my hand and seal this 7th day of November, 1921.

JOHN BRATRUD, Mayor.

THE CITY ELECTION.

The result was pretty generally expected long before the ballots were counted, yet it is doubtful if anyone thought that the verdict would be quite so emphatic. The people by their votes have emphatically indicated that they are satisfied with the manner in which the city has been run during the past two years—or at least sufficiently so to cause them to hesitate in making a change.

Mayor John Bratrud has been reelected by one of the largest votes ever given a candidate for office in this city and he will have as working partners the same councilmen who have made such excellent records in the past.

The defeat of the so-called "Good Government" candidates is not to be taken as a reflection on their worth as citizens nor on their ability to creditably administer the affairs of the different offices to which they aspired. The people simply could not see any great difference between the aims and policies of the two sets of men and voted for those who in the past have proven themselves both willing and able to give of the best there is in them toward the community's welfare.

It is as well that the verdict was decisive. The administration can now go ahead with the plans on hand for further improvement of the city with full knowledge that the citizens are behind them. A part of their program was stated in detail before the votes were cast and it must have met with general approval. These men can now proceed almost under orders to carry out their ideas, and this must be a source of great satisfaction to them.

Being mayor or councilman in a city like Thief River Falls is no sinecure. The official is liable to be caught between those who are unable to understand that in order to prosper the city must show a progressive spirit, and those who lose sight of the circumstances in which we are placed and want to travel forward too fast. It takes nice balancing to do the right thing at all times. The present council has managed to maintain the equilibrium in a decidedly creditable manner.

The Times believes that it is for the best interests of all concerned that things turned out as they did. There are so many things with which the men on the present council have had to do that it would be a mistake not to allow them to finish up. This fact was reason enough for their retention—and there were others.

A number of the things said and intimated during the campaign had now better be forgotten. There is work enough ahead of us all even if we pull together, while we certainly will never get anywhere by hauling in different directions.

The result of the election doesn't indicate anything except that the majority of our people are satisfied with the record made by Mayor Bratrud and his present council and want them to continue along the same line.

ARMISTICE DAY.

When in the afternoon of Nov. 11, three years ago, the news reached the people of this land that an armistice had been signed, practically ending a war of more than four years, [illegible]. Here was great [illegible] joined [illegible] country had played a very [illegible] role in bringing about the [illegible] quit [illegible] in a [illegible] of pride to the [illegible] of every true American. Many [illegible] the [illegible] they had rendered [illegible] never be forgotten.

Tomorrow you will have an opportunity to prove that you mean it all. You are asked to lay aside your work or business for the day, beginning at 11 minutes after 11, and join the American Legion and Woman's Auxiliary in a celebration lasting until 6 o'clock.

This anniversary celebration will be of a dual nature. There will be solemn ceremonies in honor of those who laid down their lives in the great struggle and a program of amusements to celebrate the signing of the armistice. It will be a great day in Thief River Falls and every citizen should have a share in making it a success.

As a mark of respect for those who died in the service you are asked to devote two minutes to silent devotion while standing, this being done in every place in the country where Armistice Day is being observed. It is merely a tribute to those who did so much for you and represents your part in the ceremonies at Arlington cemetery, where an unknown soldier of the United States will be laid to rest at about the same time.

Come to Thief River Falls tomorrow if there is no Armistice Day celebration in your community. The Legion and Auxiliary invite all people residing in the neighborhood to join in this observance.

TOO MUCH HERO STUFF.

It is probable that a certain amount of hero worship is necessary to our general well-being, but it must seem to many as if singling out some certain soldier in the late A. E. F. as the subject of general and continued adulation is not going to serve any particularly good purpose. People became just a little tired of the fuss that was made over Alvin York even though willing to admit that he was entitled to all the notice he received. Now there is another super-hero brought forth and placed on exhibition.

All this is well enough so far as the general public is concerned, but one cannot help wondering just how the ordinary run of returned doughboy, leatherneck or gob looks upon the proceeding. Is there not a possibility he may feel that too much notice is being bestowed upon an individual and not enough given to the mass?

Picking out the greatest hero in an army of three million men, all doing the very best they know how and willing to make whatever sacrifices are necessary in order that the organization to which they are attached may carry out its alloted work to the credit of the entire army, is something of an undertaking. The man or men making the selection cannot possibly know they are hitting upon the right party, no matter how careful they may have been in gathering their data. The probabilities are that the ex-soldier fully realizes this and rather regards the whole proceeding as a farce.

The greatest hero is not always the most spectacular performer. It is not at all necessary that he should be one of those who went over the top first or whose fearlessness in the face of fire was particularly conspicuous. Perhaps the man entitled to as much credit as any was a member of an engineering corps far in advance of the actual firing line. Perhaps the plum should go to some nurse who daily risked her life by bullet or disease in one of our hospitals. Again it may have been one of those wonderful women who braved death in the typhus-infected districts of Serbia and never came near the battle lines at all to whom this honor should go. Heroic performances all, the more so as those who faced these dangers fully realized the risk they ran, yet never hesitated. They were not buoyed up by the excitement of battle but forced themselves to undertake the most repugnant tasks without any thought of other reward than the consciousness of duty well performed.

There were a lot of heroes and heroines attached to the American army in one capacity or another and it is a mistake to make so much fuss over the exploits of any one of them. The others can hardly be blamed if they feel somewhat slighted.

THE FIFTH ROLL CALL.

You probably have a place for every dollar in your possession, in which respect you are no different from the rest of us. There is one enterprise for which we will all have to raise a single simoleon, however, and that is our Red Cross membership. You are going to be asked to continue as a member if you already are one, and to join the organization if you have not already done so. It is going to cost you a dollar but you or no one else ever spent a similar sum for a more worthy purpose.

In another part of The Times today is given a short account of some of the things being done by the Red Cross at home. Next week this paper will have something on the work now carried on in foreign lands. The reports give but a faint idea of the scope of Red Cross activities, but are sufficient to show the importance of maintaining the organization and providing the funds necessary in order that the good work may proceed without interruption.

It may seem strange, but the fact is that the peace-time work of the Red Cross is even of greater importance than its war activities. The plans being carried out for helping disabled soldiers alone takes a greater amount of cash than was secured altogether through the roll call a year ago. Large donations from people of wealth have made it possible to continue operations on the vast scale necessary in order to even partially meet the requirements. And soldier relief is only one item in a long and steadily growing list.

There is no question about the necessity for raising this money and doing it quickly. We are all aware that there is not a surplus of cash among the people at this time, but the sum required is so small that it can certainly be spared in a cause of this kind.

Pennington county must not fall down on this proposition. We have always met the Red Cross requirements in the past and must somehow do it again.

SOUNDS SENSIBLE.

An attempt will be made at the next session of the legislature to have enacted a law compelling automobile drivers to carry insurance against accidents. This protection would doubtless be in the form of an indemnity policy and would protect the driver as well as the person who might be injured. Such insurance could even be made compulsory, in which case it would do much to cut down the number of accidents due to careless driving. A person injured by being struck by an auto now has no redress unless it be the bringing of a damage suit against the driver, and this has proven a most unsatisfactory proceeding.

Under the present law a reckless autoist can be put in jail or fined, but this is small satisfaction to the fellow who is in the hospital with a few broken bones and generally bruised up as a result of the driver's carelessness. Insurance would prove a protection to both and the expense would be very light.

DANGEROUS SYMPTOMS.

(Western Christian Advocate.)

A contemporary gives the following advice to its delinquent subscribers: "If you have frequent fainting spells, accompanied by chills, cramps, corns, bunions, chilblains, epilepsy, and jaundice, it is a sign that you are not well and liable to die any minute. Pay your subscription in advance, and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice." We pass the advice along for any of our subscribers who may have observed these symptoms, or any of them, in themselves.

Break colds with vapors
The favored treatment now is a salve rubbed on, that gives off penetrating, healing fumes.

Try the vaporizing treatment for colds—Vicks VapoRub.

At the first sign of a cold, apply Vicks over throat and chest. Rub well in. Lay on a flannel cloth. Apply again at night and arrange the bedclothes like a funnel, so that the vapors, released by the body heat, will be freely inhaled.

This is the treatment favored today by doctors and nurses for colds, bronchitis, tonsilitis, spasmodic croup, sore throat and, in modified form, for catarrh and asthma.

Vicks contains the old, time-tested remedies—Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, etc.—combined by special process, so that while they penetrate and stimulate the skin, the ingredients are also released as vapors by the body heat and are breathed right into the lungs.

American Legion Corner

Commander Oscar R. Smith of Eklund Post, American Legion, Thief River Falls, returned last week from Kansas City, where he attended the national convention of the organization. He says that the boys were given a rousing welcome by the people of the Missouri city and that everything possible had been done to insure their comfort while there. Many of the men who played important roles in the late war were present, including Gen. Foch, Gen. Diaz of the Italian army, and a whole army of American military men.

All over Kansas City were booths in which "Ask Me" girls furnished convention visitors with such information as they might desire. One gay Legionaire inquired the names and locations of the theatres. None of the names recommended suited him until the "Ask Me" girl mentioned "The Globe," whereupon he exclaimed, "Well, I'm a globe trotter! Guess I'll go there!"

Boy Scouts on duty at the convention hall as couriers and ushers won the affection and admiration of all who saw them. These khaki-clad youngsters worked efficiently and courteously with a maximum of results. They were always "on the job" to perform any service for delegates and visitors. Newspaper writers said they could not have gone through the convention without their help as couriers. The convention thanked their "little buddies" and urged every American Legion post to adopt and help train and finance a local Boy Scout troop.

Among those who enjoyed the doughnuts and coffee dispensed at half a dozen street corner "dugouts" by the Salvation Army lassies, was a former doughboy proudly holding his two-year-old baby in his arms. The baby was enjoying the treat as much as her father was in France.

Hundreds of thousands of doughnuts and cups of coffee were distributed.

Three tons of candy and 200,000 cigarettes were brought to Kansas City by the Knights of Columbus and distributed to the Legionaires. The K. C. club rooms bore a "Welcome" sign for all the boys who wore their country's uniform.

In the big Legion parade, Private Joseph Semtich, minus one leg, walked the entire distance of seven miles at the head of his regiment. He lost his leg in the Argonne and get around with the aid of a crutch. His home is in Shelbina, Mo.

Duluth's Legion band, the official band of the American Legion of Minnesota, did itself proud. Some idea of the snap, appearance and musical ability of the Duluth boys may be gained by considering that out of 56 Legion bands from all over America which marched in the parade, Minnesota's official Legion band, leading 1,200 Minnesota Legionaires, won the first prize of $1,000 and all the honor that the title implies. With this band leading, with more post colors than any other state except Illinois, with a "Gopher" badge pinned on every man's shoulder, the impression left by Minnesota's delegation was second to that of no other delegation in the parade.

"HIGHWAY SAFETY" IS CONTEST TOPIC

Local Teachers and Pupils to Try For Valuable National and State Prizes.

Thief River Falls girls and boys and their teachers may win cash prizes, free trips to Washington, and gold and silver loving cups and medals in new contests announced by the Highway and Highway Transport Educational committee, Washington.

Charles M. Babcock, state commissioner of highways, indorsed the plan to promote safety on public highways and the school features have been approved by J. M. McConnell, Minnesota commissioner of education.

All girls and boys under 14 years old in Minnesota schools may try for the grand national awards and eleven are sure to share in the state prizes for the best essays of about 500 words on "How I Can Make the Highways More Safe." The three national prizes are: First, a gold watch and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid; second, a gold loving cup; third, a silver loving cup. In addition there are eleven Minnesota prizes: First, a gold medal and $15 in cash; second, a silver medal and $10 in cash; third, nine awards, bronze medals and $5 in cash with each.

School teachers submitting the three best model lessons teaching children safe behavior on the highways will receive the following prizes: $500 in cash and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid; second, $300 in cash; third, $200 in cash.

Circulars giving the rules for each contest and other details are being mailed to all local school superintendents and they and the principals will give full particulars, the committee announces. Inquiries about the contest should be addressed to the Highway Transport Educational committee, Willard Building, Washington, D. C. Essays should be in the hands of school principals by Dec. 10 and announcement of the winners is to be sent to state and local superintendents of education and to The Times.

BANKERS MEET TO STUDY CREDIT LAW

No Red Tape About It, War Finance Official Tells Farm Loan Conference.

The billion dollar farm credit law authorizing the United States government's War Finance corporation to loan money for agricultural purposes was passed "to relieve country bankers of the necessity of compelling farmers to sell their products at prices which will not even pay their debts, and to permit farmers to buy young livestock."

That was the explanation of the new federal credit law, made by the members of the War Finance corporation northwest agricultural committee, to country bankers at a conference in Minneapolis last week called to study methods of obtaining loans under the new law.

The speakers at the conference emphasized the fact that the federal loan does not mean "easy money." It does not provide for additional credit to farmers except upon adequate security; and speakers indicated that the War Finance corporation will be more liberal with loans to permit the purchase of livestock to consume the cheap feed now on farms in the northwest, than with loans for most other purposes.

The greatest benefit of the agricultural credit act to the farmers, it was said, will come as result of the financial relief to country banks, by enabling them to renew loans instead of being compelled to insist on liquidation. Loans amounting to $300,000 have been approved for Minnesota and the Dakotas by the Washington

MUST GIVE BONDS FOR STORED GRAIN

Millers Demand That Absolute Ownership of Grain Bought Be Guaranteed.

Orders were sent on Saturday by the railroad and warehouse commission to all warehouses and grain dealers in the state, first, forbidding the storage of grain unless a bond in the amount of about the value of the grain is filed with the commission; and, second, the request that warehouses and elevators which are not bonded reduce the amount of grain stored as rapidly as possible.

A serious situation in regard to the marketing of grain in this state has arisen, according to Henry C. Flannery, assistant attorney general in charge of the commission's legal affairs.

The Washburn-Crosby and Pillsbury Milling companies of Minneapolis have refused to buy grain from commission firms and agents unless absolute ownership of the grain is guaranteed. In some cases shipments of grain have been made from warehouses and later it developed the shippers and salesmen did not have the ownership, and the farmers, by proving ownership and lien rights, were entitled to payment.

Armistice Day
NOVEMBER 11

AMERICA'S ANSWER.

Rest ye in peace, ye Flanders' dead!
The fight that ye so bravely led
We've taken up! And we will keep
True faith with you who lie asleep,
With each a cross to mark his bed,
And poppies blowing overhead
Where once his own life blood ran red!
So let your rest be sweet and deep
In Flanders' fields.
Fear not that ye have died for naught,
The torch ye threw to us we caught!
Ten million hands will hold it high,
And Freedom's light shall never die!
We've learned the lesson that ye taught
In Flanders' fields.

League of Women Voters

The League of Women Voters in every community in the state is being urged by Miss Marguerite Wells, state president, to heed the proclamation of Governor Preus in regard to the observance of Armistice Day with the reverent appreciation of the sacrifices of the past and hopes for the future which the day symbolizes. Particularly are the various league groups of the state being urged to see that the churches are open on Armistice Day, as this feature was incorporated in the governor's message at the request of the league.

Leagues everywhere will join with other organizations in appropriate celebrations. In Winona 42 organizations are joining in the project of a great community mass meeting to be held on the afternoon of Armistice Day.

In Minneapolis, civic and social organizations are working together in the production of the beautiful pageant, "Shadows," to be presented at the auditorium. In other cities plans for community meetings of various kinds are reported under way.

There is one special thing League of Women Voters members are being urged to do without fail on Armistice Day. It is to see that some message of confidence and encouragement goes on that day to the three American commissioners at the Washington conference: Hon. Elihu Root, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Hon. Oscar E. Underwood, and to Secretary Hughes.

During the months or weeks of the conference it is stated at league headquarters that every effort will be made to keep all members in touch with the progress and problems of the conference at Washington. The business of the conference will be carefully and simply reported, and statistics, references and suggestions for study will be included in all bulletins issued by the league.

Miss Gladys Harrison, executive secretary of the league, is also offering the fullest assistance to league groups in the state in arranging lectures or intensive schools of two or three days on international relations, with the best speakers the state offers on these subjects. In this offer the extension department of the university is working with the league.

In short, intelligent co-operation with the president in his desire to make the Washington conference the foundation of permanent peace for the world is to be the aim of the State League of Women Voters for the coming months.

Minnesota Stands First Among States for Laws Protecting Its Children

By MRS. L. G. LARSEN
Secretary Pennington County Welfare Board.

Minnesota stands first among the states of the union in its laws for the protection of children, a fact of which every citizen should be justly proud. A study of legislation along these lines shows that measures have been passed periodically, but lacked uniformity of purpose with no idea in mind of correlating the subject in a clear, comprehensive manner.

In 1916 Gov. Burnquist appointed a commission headed by Judge E. F. Waite to revise and formulate new measures as he thought best. This commission submitted 41 bills to the legislative session of 1917, which enacted 35 of these measures into sound, liberal laws, which touch morally, mentally and physically the life of every child in the state.

In order that these laws may be efficiently interpreted and intelligently applied where necessary, the state board of control has established under its jurisdiction county welfare boards. Pennington county's Child Welfare board finds that the great amount of work it has to do might be lessened were many of these laws made more public, and for this reason decided that from time to time important laws might be made known through the county papers.

During the era of the saloon many laws were passed pertaining thereto, as well as those of pool rooms and public dance halls. All minors under the age of 21 are prohibited from playing pool or billiards in any restaurant or public place of amusement in which tobacco, confectionery or drinks of any kind, except water, are in any manner disposed of. Every keeper of such place is subject to fine or imprisonment. This also applies to persons under 18 years of age or who is a minor, in any school, college or university. In this case the party guilty of the misdemeanor being punishable by fine as well as the keeper of such place.

By public dance hall is meant any room, place or space open to public patronage in which dancing is carried on, and to which admission may be had by the public by payment either directly or indirectly, of an admission fee or price for dancing. Strict regulations are made regarding location of such places, manner of lighting same, proper passage ways or stairways. No license shall be issued for any such place unless health commissioners have certified that said place complies with all requirements and regulations as to ventilation, toilet conveniences and all other questions relating to public health. No person in charge of such hall shall permit immodest dancing, boisterous conduct or permit to be or remain therein any unmarried person under 18 year of age. Such proprietor or keeper in charge may be punished by a fine not to exceed $100 or 90 days imprisonment.

"Ideas Are the Precious Jewels of Business"

Back in the Spring of 1902, at Kemmerer, Wyoming, an idea was born! It was strong, healthy, courageous! It was destined to grow; to become Nation-wide in all the things that combined, go to make the shoppers' store superior.

It was the idea—the precious jewel of business—from wh[illegible] was to develop the long line of 312 J. C. Penney Company [illegible] stores, located here and there in 26 States.

That idea of nearly 20 years ago introduced a merchandi[illegible] and selling policy of quality, service, economy—a policy that ha[illegible] weathered the storms and attracted hundreds of thousands of admirers. It is the policy that is carrying on to even greater, more remarkable achievements!

Through this great system of stores—a purchasing power of tremendous proportions—savings created and given to the public—store service that really serves—is afforded buying advantages every man, woman and child regards both a profit and a pleasure.

League of Women Voters

The League of Women Voters in every community in the state is being urged by Miss Marguerite Wells, state president, to heed the proclamation of Governor Preus in regard to the observance of Armistice Day with the reverent appreciation of the sacrifices of the past and hopes for the future which the day symbolizes. Particularly are the various league groups of the state being urged to see that the churches are open on Armistice Day, as this feature was incorporated in the governor's message at the request of the league.

Leagues everywhere will join with other organizations in appropriate celebrations. In Winona 42 organizations are joining in the project of a great community mass meeting to be held on the afternoon of Armistice Day.

In Minneapolis, civic and social organizations are working together in the production of the beautiful pageant, "Shadows," to be presented at the auditorium. In other cities plans for community meetings of various kinds are reported under way.

There is one special thing League of Women Voters members are being urged to do without fail on Armistice Day. It is to see that some message of confidence and encouragement goes on that day to the three American commissioners at the Washington conference: Hon. Elihu Root, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Hon. Oscar E. Underwood, and to Secretary Hughes.

During the months or weeks of the conference it is stated at league headquarters that every effort will be made to keep all members in touch with the progress and problems of the conference at Washington. The business of the conference will be carefully and simply reported, and statistics, references and suggestions for study will be included in all bulletins issued by the league.

Miss Gladys Harrison, executive secretary of the league, is also offering the fullest assistance to league groups in the state in arranging lectures or intensive schools of two or three days on international relations, with the best speakers the state offers on these subjects. In this offer the extension department of the university is working with the league.

In short, intelligent co-operation with the president in his desire to make the Washington conference the foundation of permanent peace for the world is to be the aim of the State League of Women Voters for the coming months.

Minnesota Stands First Among States for Laws Protecting Its Children

By MRS. L. G. LARSEN

Secretary Pennington County Welfare Board.

Minnesota stands first among the states of the union in its laws for the protection of children, a fact of which every citizen should be justly proud. A study of legislation along these lines shows that measures have been passed periodically, but lacked uniformity of purpose with no idea in mind of correlating the subject in a clear, comprehensive manner.

In 1916 Gov. Burnquist appointed a commission headed by Judge E. F. Waite to revise and formulate new measures as he thought best. This commission submitted 41 bills to the legislative session of 1917, which enacted 35 of these measures into sound, liberal laws, which touch morally, mentally and physically the life of every child in the state.

In order that these laws may be efficiently interpreted and intelligently applied where necessary, the state board of control has established under its jurisdiction county welfare boards. Pennington county's Child Welfare board finds that the great amount of work it has to do might be lessened were many of these laws made more public, and for this reason decided that from time to time important laws might be made known through the county papers.

During the era of the saloon many laws were passed pertaining thereto, as well as those of pool rooms and public dance halls. All minors under the age of 21 are prohibited from playing pool or billiards in any restuarant or public place of amusement in which tobacco, confectionery or drinks of any kind, except water, are in any manner disposed of. Every keeper of such place is subject to fine or imprisonment. This also applies to persons under 18 years of age or who is a minor, in any school, college or university. In this case the party guilty of the misdemeanor being punishable by fine as well as the keeper of such place.

By public dance hall is meant any room, place or space open to public patronage in which dancing is carried on, and to which admission may be had by the public by payment either directly or indirectly, of an admission fee or price for dancing. Strict regulations are made regarding location of such places, manner of lighting same, proper passage ways or stairways. No license shall be issued for any such place unless health commissioners have certified that said place complies with all requirements and regulations as to ventilation, toilet conveniences and all other questions relating to public health. No person in charge of such hall shall permit immodest dancing, boisterous conduct or permit to be or remain therein any unmarried person under 18 year of age. Such proprietor or keeper in charge may be punished by a fine not to exceed $100 or 90 days imprisonment.

Local Talent to Present "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop"

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Bernard's Catholic church has arranged to stage the famous musical fantasy, "Fi-fi of the Toy Shop," at the auditorium on the evening of Friday, Nov. 25.

The performance will be given under the management of the John B. Rogers Producing company of Ohio, who make a specialty of rehearsing and staging high class amateur productions.

The production has been given throughout the East with marked success. It is built along the lines of "Babes in Toyland," "La Copelia," and "The Love Tales of Hoffman," in that the leading characters in the extravaganza represent toys and dolls. The principals will be drawn from the leading musical and dramatic talent of the city. More than 90 will participate in the chorus and interpretative dances.

Miss Elizabeth Giefer is chairman of the committee in charge and Mrs. W. R. Patterson is talent chairman.

"Ideas Are the Precious Jewels of Business"

Back in the Spring of 1902, at Kemmerer, Wyoming, an idea was born! It was strong, healthy, courageous! It was destined to grow; to become Nation-wide in all the things that combined, go to make the shoppers' store superior.

It was the Idea—the precious jewel of business—from which was to develop the long line of 312 J. C. Penney Company stores, located here and there in 26 States.

That idea of nearly 20 years ago introduced a merchandising and selling policy of quality, service, economy—a policy that has weathered the storms and attracted hundreds of thousands of admirers. It is the policy that is carrying on to even greater, more remarkable achievements!

Through this great system of stores—a purchasing power of tremendous proportions—savings created and given to the public—store service that really serves—is afforded buying advantages every man, woman and child regards both a profit and a pleasure.

What do you know that you don't know?

Here are some of the answers the South high school students gave recently to a series of questions asked in a test of current affairs. The questions were of the "who is" and "what is" type.

Samuel Gompers? Secretary of Labor.

Lloyd George? King of England. Premier of England.

Charles Evans Hughes? Unknown.

DeValera? King of Ireland. King of France.

Parliament? Where congress makes laws.

London? The place where English and Irish delegates are conferring. Also, the United States government.

More knew the right answers as to Sinn Fein, Lloyd George and Herbert Hoover than to other questions.—Minneapolis Journal.

An Oversight.

In publishing the names of the honor students in the last issue of The Progress, the report card of Clara Olen was inadvertently overlooked. Her name should be added to the list of honor students for the first six weeks period. This gives the Junior class one more honor student.

Sundahl Sings.

Owing to the absence of Miss Johnson, our music teacher, a special music program was arranged for the regular singing period last Friday. Mr. S. Carl Sundahl was prevailed upon to favor the high school with several vocal selections, which were thoroughly enjoyed as shown by the hearty applause after each number.

This is not the first time that Mr. Sundahl has appeared before the pupils, and he is to be highly complimented upon the splendid attitude he is showing toward the school. In the popular mind, this is a place for books and studies, but each year it becomes more evident that education is a thing which cannot come entirely from books, and that outside sources must be called upon to supplement the school work. Speakers and entertainers are always welcome, especially if they have something as much worth while as Mr. Sundahl.

Choosing Class Ring.

A matter of great interest to the Senior class has been the choosing of a suitable class ring. It is a custom among the Senior classes of the high schools to have a class ring or pin. These serve as a souvenir of school days. Each ring is the same, with the initials of the school and the year engraved upon it. The pin is made to match the ring and a student may take either.

This year the class decided to get the rings as soon as possible, each one being anxious to have his ring. Samples were sent for and voted on by the members of the class. Our local jewelers displayed several samples and finally the class decided upon two rings. One was a black Onyx stone costing about ten dollars and the other a gold initial ring costing six dollars and a quarter. When it came to choosing one of these rings it was impossible to decide the matter. The class was divided into two groups and in each case it was declared they would not have the other ring. The points considered were style, beauty, durability, cost and value.

All realized that if the class divided they would not be getting a true class ring, so it has been decided to drop both rings. At a class meeting held on Friday, Nov. 4, the president of the class nominated a committee of three students to select two rings. These will be voted on and the one carrying the most votes will be the senior class ring. No objections were raised to this plan and as the matter is considered nearly settled. Those chosen for the committee were Nora Lindquist, Sybil McGinn and Lloyd Alness. No more trouble is expected as the students are now willing to compromise so as not to cause a further delay.

Bread Club Reception.

Last Friday evening, Nov. 4, the Bread Club held their annual reception for the new members. At eight o'clock a short program was given, consisting of an address by the president, Myrtle Helgeland; piano solo, Maxine Johnson; comic poems, Shirley Anderson; piano solo, Ruth Melby; reading, Miss Chamberlain; Hawaiian guitar selection, Myrtle Williams.

We next ducked for apples and played games. At ten o'clock a delicious luncheon was served, after which Mr. Rapacz gave a short talk. We all left with a feeling that our first Bread Club gathering had proved a success.

The new members are: Ruth Melby, Beryle Anderson, Rose Flynn, Esther Rennes, Ariel Kingham, Esther Granum, Marjorie Hayes, Mac-

The Chief Industry of Our Town.

The chief industry of our community is agriculture. This industry is carried on extensively and the chief products are wheat, oats, barley, flax, potatoes, garden vegetables and some corn and sugar beets. These products find a ready market through our four elevators and flour and feed mill. Also the produce house where the farmers dispose of their eggs, potatoes and garden vegetables. The farmers' co-operative creamery is about the largest asset of the community, doing an annual business of about half a million dollars. The three foremost breeds of stock are the Guernsey, Shorthorn and Holstein. Poultry, hogs and cattle are also shipped to large cities from here.—E. V. 8B

Our Soo Railroad.

By far the most important industry of this city is railroading. The city being a center or division point for the Winnipeg line, which is the most important, the Duluth line, or Superior division, and the Wheat line, a minor branch, the former extending from this city to Duluth and the latter from this city to Kenmare, N. D. The shops, which are in the northeast part of the city, employ about 250 men. Near the center of the city is the freight depot, where freight is loaded and unloaded. On the east side of the river is the land known as the mill grounds, which has been purchased by this company for the purpose of building a new and better shop some time in the future.—T. W. 8B.

Latin Clubs Organize.

Latin clubs are being organized under the leadership of Miss Stebbins, in which all Latin students who get a mark above D may become members. The purpose of the clubs is to study the practical side of Latin and to stimulate interest in the subject. Latin games will be played and some of these may be staged and presented to the public.

The first meetings were held Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. For the boys' section the following officers were elected: Consuls, Thomas Melgaard and Herbert Keene; censors, Robert Halvorson and Emmett Shanahan; quaestors, Orrin Storholm and Orden Ihle; aediles, Albert Stengelson and Ole Helle. The girls' section will be officered by Katherine Barzen and Evelyn Buringrud, consuls; Muriel Loken and Birdie Pierson, censors; Elizabeth Keating and Hilda Ness, quaestors; Lily Gran and Annie Amun, aediles.

The consuls are alternately in charge of the club. Censors keep roll and attendance and appoint committees for social gatherings. Quaestors collect dues and fines, pay bills, etc. The aediles are secretaries and reporters.

The name of the clubs, which will undoubtedly be Latin, has not yet been determined. A fine of ten cents will be imposed for each absence and one cent a minute for tardiness.

M. E. A.

According to reports brought back from the Minnesota Educational association some of the most important problems that confront the schools today are proper attention to physical training and the equalization of educational opportunities by giving boys and girls of the rural districts the same chance as boys and girls of the city. Dr. Maroney, physical director of the schools of Trenton, N. J., gave some powerful addresses on the importance of proper physical development. Nearly all the speakers discussed the second problem referred to, Commissioner McConnell in particular. Dr. Lovejoy Elliott pleaded for more specific attention to the moral and ethical development of the child. The average child of today, he said, has not he proper respect for authority, nor does he realize and appreciate the true purpose of life—service. Among other notable speakers were Dr. Arthur H. Chamberlain, executive secretary of the California State Teachers' association, and Miss Chari Williams, president of the National Educational association.

Central Notes.

Miss Dodge is attending the M. E. A. this week. Mrs. Lacey is substituting for her.

The members of the seventh arithmetic class have been putting their work into practical use by making out inventories of their propery.

Knox Notes.

The next change of sessions occurs Monday, Nov. 7.

Rich, black smoke poured out of our new building Thursday afternoon thereby assuring us that the building will soon be livable.

Palmer Method manuals were purchased by the children of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, and work in that direction will be carried on in full force.

The teachers of the Knox school were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Larsen. A bounteous chicken dinner was served at six o'clock. The balance of the evening was spent in music and playing cards.

Washington News.

turned Monday morning, having spent Sunday with relatives at Paynesville.

Mrs. Froehlich did substitute work in the first grade on Thursday and Friday.

The Washington football boys played the Northrop boys Thursday afternoon. Neither wished to claim a defeat so they settled on a tie to be played off later.

Normal Notes.

The normal rooms were closed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week due to the absence of Miss Perry and Miss Stapleton, who were attending the Minnesota Educational association convention held at Minneapolis at that time. The school work went on just the same, the normal girls doing their practice teaching at the several buildings.

Lois Struble and August Beiswinger are not attending school this week due to illness.

Clara Orzechowski spent the week-end at her home near Mavie.

The Misses Thea Gutterud, Thora Moe, Constance Klungness, Helga Ose and Amanda Skomedal spent Saturday and Sunday at their respective homes.

Jokes and Personals.

Miss Gormley: "Tell us something about George III, Helen."

Helen L.: "Well, George II was brought up by his mother."

Bright Boy.

Miss Stavig had just finished reading an account of the early railroads to her American History class.

Friedolph: "They must have used calendars instead of watches in the trains in those days."

Lorrayne C.: "Owen Moore was a leader of Socialism in England at that time."

Mr. Rapacz: (In Political Economy) "Ella, answer the next question."

The question: "Is your country dry or wet?"

Ella: "It is supposed to be dry."

Mr. Rapacz: "The question has reference to the amount of rainfall."

Ella: (With a deep sigh) "Oh!"

Miss Stavig left last Tuesday evening for Minneapolis, where she attended the M. E. A. Mrs. Ed. Battenfeld very ably took her place as American History and Botany instructor.

The Norse classes have for the past three days been conducted by Clara Oine, Naome Peterson and Rudolph Sjerstad, respectively.

Mr. Simley and Miss Maude Johnson, music instructor, left Tuesday for Minneapolis to attend the Minnesota Educational association. They returned the first of the week.

Student: (In English IV) "The peasants walked along the road leading, by a rope, a cow or a horse and their wives!"

Rusty Anderson came to school Friday morning with his hair combed.

After the tardy bell had rung, the students in botany class were unusually noisy, when Miss Stavig exclaimed: "Let's have it quiet; the zeros begin about now."

Miss Stavig: "Where is the midrib of a leaf found?"

Emma R.: "On the top of a tree."

Miss Stavig: "How do leaf hairs protect the leaves?"

Sidney S.: "The leaf hairs protect the leaves because the hairs probably tickle the bugs and scare them away."

Signs of spring: Pearl Weeks has taken off her storm windows.

To stimulate interest in the Prowler, the Juniors are offering annuals to the two people submitting the best literary and artistic productions.

Mrs. Battenfeld substituted for Miss Stavig during the latter's attendance at the M. E. A. in Minneapolis last week.

Mrs. Rapacz substituted for Mr. Stenhoff in General Science during the latter's absence on account of the M. E. A.

Mr. Rapacz: "Mrs. Battenfeld, how did your classes behave?"

Mrs. Battenfeld: "Fine, except that the botany class ate up the specimens."

The basket ball boys have been reminded by Mr. Rapacz that their work must be strictly up to grade in order to be eligible when the season opens.

The eligibility axe cut down one of our star performers for the Stephen game.

Some of the upper classmen who were permitted to enroll for extra work at the beginning of the year have had their programs reduced to four subjects because of poor work. The same fate awaits several other students unless they show a marked improvement in their work during the present period. The Seniors who have no credits to spare should particularly be studious.

Friday, November 11, will be Armistice Day. It is a legal holiday in Minnesota so the schools will be closed.

Carrying more than four subjects of doing extra work and whenever a student shows lack of ability to do this extra work he loses that privilege.

Judging from the sentence imposed upon one of our classmates it does not pay to appropriate the property of others for our own use.

Mr. Rapacz has made a check of all students who are delinquent in their studies. Each assembly room teacher has been given a list of the delinquent students with instructions to see that those students use all their time profitably while in the assembly.

Administration's Corner

Survey Discloses Necessity of Co-operation Between Parents and School Authorities.

A few weeks ago a survey was made to determine the chief causes of delinquency and inefficiency in the high schools of Minneapolis. It was the general opinion of high school principals that the high school students of today were less efficient than the high school students of 15 or 20 years ago. The survey showed that lax discipline in the average home and the habits of irresponsibility acquired there was the greatest single cause affecting the capability of the students. Parents failed to interest themselves in the students' recreational activities with the result that those activities infringed upon the time for study.

Some of the other causes as disclosed by the survey were:

1. Parents too deeply engrossed with their own pleasures to be interested in their children's welfare.
2. Too many mothers engaged in welfare work, thus neglecting their own children at home.
3. Too much going to movies.
4. Too free use of the automobile.
5. No guidance in the home.
6. Failure of parents to make their boys and girls account for the time between school hours and the time to retire for the night.
7. Lack of co-operation on the part of the parents.

Absences for trivial reasons, one of the most serious problems in the high school, is regarded essentially a home problem. It is the greatest contributing factor to inefficiency and failures.

The following table shows how the chances of failure are increased by each day of absence:

Days absent.	Chance of Failing
1	1 out of 16
2	1 out of 14
3	1 out of 12
4	1 out of 11
5	1 out of 7
6-10	1 out of 8

Investigations also invariably showed that breaches of discipline, truancy and other difficulties were generally traceable to home conditions. Some parents not only failed to co-operate, but actually manufactured excuses for the students. It was the general agreement that the incentive to study must come from within, its foundation being found in the habits acquired in the home. At least two hours of study in the home was suggested as the minimum to be required by the parents.

Crowded conditions was given as the next most important contributing factor to inefficiency.

A survey of the high school grades in our own high school for the first six weeks disclosed that 87 out of 860 students are delinquent in one or more subjects. This means that approximately 25 per cent of our boys and girls are not doing the grade of work that is expected of high school students.

In many instances the failures are due to the irregular attendance of the student. Our problem is much the same here as it is in Minneapolis. What are we going to do to remedy the situation?—M. P. R.

STEPS TAKEN FOR IMPROVED POTATO MARKET PRACTICE

More Efficient Grading, Frost Proof Warehouses Among Recommendations Made.

An active campaign looking forward to the improvement of potato marketing practices in the Red River valley was agreed upon as imperative by representative potato growers and shippers who met at Grand Forks Nov. 5, at the call of O. K. Borget, Crookston, secretary of the Red River Valley Certified Seed Growers association.

Intelligent interpretation of market statistics and crop reports, organization of local co-operative associations to provide efficient grading and handling facilites, the erection of frost proof warehouses throughout the valley, and the inauguration of an extensive campaign to develop the use of better marketing practices, were the essentials decided upon as necessary to provide means for more efficiently and economically handling the crop, which is increasing rapidly in acreage and importance, and thus insuring the most satisfactory financial returns to the grower.

The active prosecution of the program was commended to the attention of the county farm bureaus and the state federations serving the territory interested.

"Ole and the Newsboy."

What promises to be one of the best shows of the season is coming to the auditorium next Wednesday, Nov. 16, in the offering of Jack La Box's big scenic production, "Ole and the Newsboy," a Swede comedy-drama in four acts, with music. Special vaudeville will be introduced between the acts and prices have been reduced to 25c and 55c for any seat, including tax. This attraction comes well recommended and should be greeted with a big house. This is not a picture, but a road production.

In the old days when a drunken man took two sidewalks wobbling home the people used to pity him. Now they try to find out where he got it.

After soaking up the chilly weather on several duck hunting trips we can't decide whether we're sportsmen or whether we don't know enough to come in out of the cold.

An expert has written an article on the best duck hunting shot he ever saw. From our experience with duck hunters we would say that the best shot is a shot of Scotch.

MILLION DOLLARS TAKEN BY FARMERS OF FOUR STATES

Pledges to Equity Grain Growers Pool For That Amount of Government Loan.

More than one million bushels of grain have already been pledged by the farmers of four states and about one million dollars of the War Finance Corporation loan to the Equity Co-operative Exchange is already taken up. As the farmers learn that they do not have to sell their grain on the present disastrously low market, the demand for information and for a share of the loan is steadily increasing. Thirty-seven field men are at work in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana and can hardly keep up with the requests for literature and contracts.

A representative of the pool working at Veblen, S. D., pledged over 8,000 bushels in two days from individual farmers. Work has just started in Cavalier county, where the first farmer to pool his grain with E. L. Haaven, who pledged 7,500 bushels.

From Raymond, Mont., a field man secured pledges from seven farmers totaling 6,500 bushels on Oct. 29. Charles Sheals of LaMoure county has pledged his entire 1920-21 crop—over 20,000 bushels. Of 13 farmers called on at Minneota, Minn., in Yellow Medicine county, 12 pledged their total wheat crop of 2,650 bushels. The small Minnesota farms have produced a large amount of wheat and it is expected that most of it will go into the pool to help the Northwestern farmer, who must have immediate action or sell his grain at a loss.

Business Men Back Pool.

Bankers and business men of the Northwest are fully alive to the marketing crisis that faces the farmers who must have money to pay their obligations and are helping the farmers to meet this crisis by co-operating with them in pooling their grain. The sentiment is expressed in a letter from C. F. Peterson, cashier of the Farmers Bank at Ray, who wrote:

"The farmers here are holding their grain and would welcome an opportunity to join the pool."

This is one of a score of such letters received by the organization office of the Equity at Fargo, according to B. H. Critchfield, field manager of the pool. Business men have awakened to the fact that the pool will bring a big amount of government money into the territory, and at the same time protect the farmer from being forced to sell at present prices. With the farmer they have learned, says Mr. Critchfield, that the Equity-Grain Growers pool affords a genuine storage, prevents dumping the wheat on the market and keeps within the state and in the farmers' hands the money his crop should bring.

County Agents Help.

Surveys are now being made by many of the county agents in the four states to ascertain the amount of grain in the hands of the farmers and information is being sent to every farmer so that he may take advantage of this orderly method of marketing, made possible through the government loan.

FARMERS DECIDE SALES POLICIES OF NEW AGENCY

Local Selling Facilities of Equity Will Be Made Satisfactory to Membership.

Producers All Have Opportunity to Express Preference as to Handling Method.

Organization Has 22,000 Members and 45,000,000 Bushels of Grain Contracted.

Farmers of Minnesota who become members of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., will determine the question of permanent sales facilities as well as other matters of policy relative to local problems, declared C. H. Gustafson, president of the farmers' national co-operative grain marketing company in six addresses in this state, the last of which was delivered at Fergus Falls on Tuesday.

Special significance was attached to Mr. Gustafson's address in view of the many difficulties that have been encountered in getting the Minnesota drive under way. Mr. Gustafson, Secretary Frank M. Myers and Treasurer Wm. G. Eckhardt are now in direct charge of the Minnesota campaign. J. S. Jones, organization director for the state, is working entirely under their direction.

"The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc.," said Mr. Gustafson, "is purely democratic. Our membership will hold local, sectional and finally a national convention, this last to meet in Chicago in March, before another crop begins to move. At that time, every producer who signs one of our contracts will have the right and the opportunity to express his preference as to the channels through which his grain shall pass."

Plan For Minnesota.

"We farmers have been disorganized for too long and the time is now at hand when we must combine our efforts, forget our local differences and go along together," Mr. Gustafson said. "When farmer organizations in any local county, district or state have differences or even an actual fight and one of them comes out the victor, about the only result that can be shown in the long run is personal satisfaction on the part of the leaders who came out ahead.

"But what about the man on the farm—has he gained anything? Can he show any more profits at the end of the year? If only all of these little parades can be combined into one, we farmers can put on a show that will be well worth the effort."

With particular reference to the situation in Minnesota, Mr. Gustafson declared that the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., would set up sales connection in the Twin Cities that would be satisfactory to the farmer membership of the national grain marketing company. "It would be presumptious for me or any other officer of this farmers' company to dictate to the farmers of Minnesota what they shall do and what they shall not do with reference to local arrangements," Mr. Gustafson said. "This is a farmer-owned and farmer-controlled company and every grain grower who becomes a member will assist in determining our policies and the course which we will pursue.

Carry Out Drive First.

"One of the first principles adopted by the Committee of Seventeen was that the management of the local farmers elevator and the perfecting of local arrangements in each community for handling grain from that shipping point would not be disturbed by the national association. The same policy must be applied with reference to district sales connections and especially is this true where there is a wide difference of opinion relative to terminal agencies.

"The only thing which we can do is to proceed with our membership drive and then allow the grain growers themselves to solve the local problems for each district. When the farmers of Minnesota do make their decision, I hope that they will not allow anything to stand in the way and prevent them from making the decision that will be the best for all Minnesota farmers.

"Most of all, farmers should not lose sight of the fact that this movement must go far beyond district sales agencies or terminal elevator associations if it is to accomplish the purposes which the Committee of Seventeen outlined as our national marketing plan. We have farmers' terminal marketing associations at several points which have been quite successful—at Cleveland, O., Hutchinson, Kans., Kansas City, Mo., Omaha, Nebr., and at your own market, St. Paul. They have been successful in a degree but to obtain the results that all farmers are demanding we must go much further.

Build For Permanency.

"It was the idea of the Committee of Seventeen to use these agencies already established as a foundation for their ultimate development and that policy will be pursued so far as the existing agencies are willing to work and fit into the national marketing program. We want to cooperate with all existing farmers' marketing agencies. We plead in the name of co-operation that we may be the big brother of them all. That is the policy which we must pursue because if we take the broader view of what is best for all farmers, that is the only logical policy.

"Permanency is the one big thing which we, as your servants in starting off this national farmers' company, are keeping continually in our minds. Some of our very best friends have criticized us most severely for being too slow. We have been making haste—slowly. We have been trying not to take a step or determine a policy until we could be sure it was right. We did not want to go back and build over again. Furthermore, when it comes to the first annual meeting, we want the structure to be in such shape that we can say, 'Here it is. It has been built solid and safe. You won't have to waste time in tearing down a part and rebuilding.'

50,000 Members By March.

"There have been many differences of opinion in some states. It has been our aim to find out what the wishes of the grain growers really are before we decide what should be done in any such case. Whenever we are sure what the rank and file of grain growers want, then we know what to do. We believe it is better to go slow in those cases than to act too hastily and make a serious mistake. Our efforts have been rewarded and it is with considerable pleasure to me that I am able to tell you that in the states of Oklahoma, Colorado, Nebraska, South Dakota, Missouri and Indiana, every farmers' organization is out in the field and giving active support to organization work of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc.

"We are just getting started in our organization work. So far we have just learned how to go about it and [illegible] we have more than 22,000 members and something like 45,000,000 bushels of grain under contract. When our first annual meeting is called in March we are certain to have a membership of more than 50,000 and more than 100,000,000 bushels of grain to market in 1922. And if Minnesota farmers give this organization the support which I believe they will, we will have a great deal more than that.

Is Practical Farmer.

"Our organization work in Minnesota will be conducted under the direction of the president, secretary and treasurer of the U. S. Grain Growers. We wish to be friendly with every farmers' organization in the state as well as in the nation and we trust that they will recognize that our policy of what is best for all farmers' organizations will induce all of them to give us their active support."

President Gustafson is a Nebraska farmer who has attained national prominence as a farmer leader and who has gained the name among farm paper editors of "a co-operator who is willing to co-operate." He organized, was elected president of and developed the Farmers' Union co-operatives in Nebraska, including the Farmers' Livestock Commission company of Omaha, which is now doing more than $40,000,000 business annually and returning more than 80 per cent of the commission charges to its patrons. He stated that he believes in a gospel of co-operation as between co-operative organizations and declared that the test of a co-operative was; first, does it help farmers? second, will it work with other farmers' organizations who are trying to do the same thing? third, is it built on a safe and sane foundation?

Health Is Worth Saving, and Some Thief River Falls People Know How to Save It.

Many Thief River Falls people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Thief River Falls citizen's recommendation.

Ed. Stokke, prop. of shoe repair shop, First St., E., Thief River Falls, says: "My kidneys weren't acting just right, due to sitting for such long spells at my work. There was a dull, steady pain across my back and I tired easily. My kidneys were disordered and I was troubled by their weakness. The timely use of Doan's Kidney Pills checked the trouble and made me feel fine again, so I gladly recommend Doan's."

COST OF PAVING CITY'S STREETS TOTALS $261,305

Final Figures of Engineers Submitted This Week and Apportionment Made.

Cost For Full-Width in Business Section is $411.26 For Each 25 Foot Lot.

Hearing on Assessments Will Be Held at 8 O'clock Friday Evening, Nov. 25.

The total cost of paving twenty-two blocks in the business section of Thief River Falls is $261,305.62, according to the final figures submitted by M. L. Lawton, engineer directly in charge of the work, and R. A. Borrowman of the Bradley Engineering Service, St. Cloud, the firm having general supervision. This is an average cost of $11,877.53 per block when taking the job as a whole, but does not represent the figures actually charged against each property owner, these varying according to the width of the pavement. These figures include everything—excavating, paving, storm sewer assessment, curbs, gutters and the removal of crosswalks.

Cost Per 25 Foot Lot

On LaBree avenue from First street north to Fourth, Second street from Knight to Horace, Third street from the Soo tracks to Knight, First street from Knight to the bridge, and Main avenue from the Great Northern tracks to Fourth are all paved with bitulithic to a width of 48 feet, which, with the concrete gutters, makes a paved surface 52 feet wide. The cost in this district is $411.26 for each 25 foot lot. On LaBree avenue between First street and the Great Northern tracks the bitulithic pavement is 28 feet wide and the cost $271.34 for each 25 foot lot. On Main avenue from Fourth to Fifth streets each lot is assessed $257.32, and from Fifth to Sixth $218.69. The difference in the assessment is accounted for by the fact that no storm sewer charge is placed against the lots in the last named block. Horace avenue lots carry the storm sewer assessment, bringing the cost against these up to $355.30, the bitulithic paving being here 40 feet wide.

Notice of these assessments are this week being sent out from the office of City Clerk A. H. Akre and the time for hearing objections set for Friday evening, November 25th, at 8 o'clock in the council room.

City's Share Considerable

It is to be expected that there will be a number of demands for changes in the figures submitted. For instance, the engineers have assessed the city's share of the costs at about $62,000, or practically one-fifth of the entire contract price. This is for street and alley intersections, engineering work and storm sewers. The council's original estimate of the amount to be charged to general taxation against the entire city was about $30,000 and the matter will have to be threshed out. In this estimate of the city's share is not included the cost of paving the streets on which the auditorium and library are situated, covering a frontage of 430 feet of full-width pavement, which will increase the total by $6,664.76.

Nearing Completion

The paving crew completed the surfacing of Third street yesterday and now have only six blocks left in order to finish the contract. With good weather for another ten days the contractors expect to have the job off their hands. They have made remarkable progress since getting under way, there being slight hope in any quarter when work was begun that they would get through this fall.

Is Excellent Job

Those in charge of the work say that Thief River Falls will have one of the best paving jobs on which they ever engaged. M. D. McLarty, representing Warren Brothers of Boston, owners of the patented process employed here, has been in the city during the past week for the purpose of inspecting the work, while R. R. Collard, general superintendent for the Bitulithic and Contracting people has been steadily on the job since it was first started. Theodore Shoemaker of the Warren Brothers force of inspectors, has been looking after operations at the heating plant, this latter adjunct being in charge of J. R. Brown, and has passed upon every load of mixture before it was applied to the streets. J. B. Mathews superintended the laying of concrete, giving way to Linn Nesmith, who is "top foreman" and has charge of the pavement layers. Another man who has been on the job steadily since work was begun is H. R. Boyle, cashier for the those mentioned is a specialist in his line, has had long experience in paving matters and has given the job here his most careful attention.

Local Labor Employed

The work of excavating and concrete pouring required a considerable force of men and teams. These were secured locally wherever possible, a large amount of money having thereby been distributed among the people of the city. A crew of negroes was imported by the company when it came time to apply the "hot stuff," but nearly all these have now been turned off by Mr. Nesmith and their places given to men residing here in the city.

Warrenite Formula Used

The pavement has been laid according to Warren Brothers specifications, which require that three different grades of asphalt be used in the mixture. This is placed on top of a six inch concrete base, composed of limestone dust, secured at Minneapolis, crushed granite from the St. Cloud quarries, and native sand.

More Paving In Prospect

The entire mixing and heating equipment of the contractors will remain in Thief River Falls over the winter, the principal reason for this being that a demand for more paving is expected in the spring. Residents along Bridge street and La Bree avenue north have the matter under consideration and it would not be surprising to find that they have filed a request before it is again time to engage upon work of this kind.

PARENTS-TEACHERS FORM ORGANIZATION

Elect Officers and Prepare For Active Work During Coming Winter Season.

A meeting was held in the assembly room of the Lincoln high school last evening for the purpose of organizing a Parent-Teachers association in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Cardury, representing the National Congress of Mothers and an organizer of parent-teachers' associations, delivered an address calling attention to the importance and value of the work being carried on. Mayor John Bratrud, Supt. I. T. Simley, Mrs. T. L. Melgaard and others, expressed themselves as greatly in favor of the organization as it would bring into co-operation the homes, churches and schools in the campaign for child betterment.

The constitution and by-laws of the National Parent-Teachers' association were adopted and the following officers elected: Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, president; M. P. Rapacz, first vice president; Mrs. C. A. Nason, second vice president; Mrs. E. J. Richards, secretary; W. A. Jardine, treasurer.

Another meeting will be held in the near future and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance present.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR HOME TOWN PAPER

The Minnesota Farm Bureau federation observed "Home Town Paper Week" last week by urging county farm bureaus and their 1,200 township units throughout the state to co-operate with the newspapers in their communities.

"It is only fair to say that the kind of support given to the farm bureau movement by the country newspapers of Minnesota merits real support for the 'home town paper' by the farmers," the Farm Bureau News service says in a letter received by the county farm bureau.

"Farm news is printed because it's news, and of interest to readers. It doesn't mean charity. But it does mean that the home papers, in almost every case, are giving their farmer readers accurate news of the big farmers' organization in Minnesota—the farm bureau federation with its 73,000 members.

"It means, too, that through this support the home town papers are making it easier for the farm bureau to do work of real benefit to agriculture and therefore to the state as a whole."

Weed Inspection Meeting at Court House on Friday

A meeting of town and village officials will be held at the court room in this city on Friday, Nov. 18, at 4 o'clock. R. L. Boyd, state weed inspector, will be present for the purpose of explaining the workings of the state weed law to these officials as well as instruct them as to the manner in which it is to be enforced. Mr. Boyd will conduct a questionaire, his aim being to have his hearers ask for information concerning the matters they do not understand rather than make a lengthy explaination of the entire matter, the general purpose of which is already understood. It is very much desired that township and village officials attend this meeting.

A tour of all northwestern counties is being made by Mr. Boyd, with meetings at all central points. He will be at Greenbush on Nov. 17 at 2 o'clock, and at Plummer on Nov. 19th.

Move to Rainy River.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hanson will leave next week for Rainy River, Ont., where they will make their home with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Frazier. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson are pioneer residents of this vicinity, having farmed southeast of St. Hilaire for forty years. They have rented their farm to Otto Johnson.

PAY TRIBUTE TO HEROES OF WAR, LIVING OR DEAD

Large Crowds Attend Armistice Day Observances in This City on Friday.

Entire Audience Stands in Silen Prayer For Space of Two Minutes.

Hope Expressed That Disarmament May Result From Conference of Statesmen.

The weather on Armistice day was not ideal for a celebration, being cold and raw. For this reason the parade was not as large as expected but nevertheless an excellent showing was made. The remainder of the program for the day was carried out most successfully, although the cold had the effect of cutting down the attendance at the fair ground entertainment in the afternoon.

The meeting at the auditorium after the parade was the big event of the day. Seldom has a larger crowd gathered in the big assembly room for any purpose, a part of the audience being forced to stand during the rendition of the program.

Gold Star Mothers Honored

The invocation was delivered by Rev. J. B. Smith of the Methodist church, after which Chairman Sterns invited the gold star mothers in the audience to a seat of honor on the platform. He then requested that as a special mark of respect to the dead soldiers the audience stand in silent prayer for two minutes, at the end of which time the choir sang a requiem. Miss Maud Johnson lead the audience in singing the "Star Spangled Banner" and Mr. Stearns took the opportunity to call attention to the Red Cross drive opening on that day. This was followed by a selection by a quartet composed of Miss Johnson, Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, Carl Sundahl and E. M. Bennes.

Mayor Speaks Briefly

Mayor John Bratrud was then called upon for a few remarks. He said that for Americans the day held a three-fold significance. Reverence for the dead and respect for the living were no doubt the subjects uppermost in the minds of the millions gathered at different points throughout the land, but sharing these was without question the hope that the disarmament congress meeting for the first time in Washington on that day might find a way to forever prevent a recurrence of the misery and suffering incident to the conduct of a war. "This is not an occasion for sorrow," said the mayor, "but rather one of hope and thankfulness that there now appears some probability of the world hereafter being spared the horors of war."

Chommie Principal Speaker

After a song, "Flag of Mine," feelingly rendered by Mrs. Fisher, Chairman Sterns introduced Hans O. Chommie as speaker of the day. Although under the handicap of a heavy cold, Mr. Chommie delivered an excellent address, not only paying a fine tribute to the men who offered themselves without hesitation when the call came, but emphasizing the fact that the cause for which they fought is in a large measure still to be won. While the observances of Armistice Day were being held for the purpose of honoring the men who went out to battle, said the speaker, it seemed as if the country at large, perhaps unconsciously, is forgetting the services they rendered and the sacrifices they made. It was fitting, therefore, he maintained, that the people should pause and contemplate these things.

Cause Not Yet Won

Referring to the unknown soldiers buried that day at Arlington, Mr. Chommie said: "These young men died for a cause which is still to be won. In them and the sacrifice they made we see the connecting link between the old idea of settling controversies by war and the meeting of the disarmament conference at Washington. That conference must result in something of a tangible nature looking toward the ending of all wars or the sacrifice of these young men will have been in vain," continued the speaker.

Only the Beginning.

Mr. Chommie stated that he doubted very much if anything of a concrete nature would result from the deliberations of the men around the council table at Washington, but the meeting will help crystalize the opinion of the world on the necessity for nations to finally get together on some plan of procedure that will forever banish wars.

"Men no longer fight duels to vindicate their honor," said the speaker, "but nations still continue the practice. This is as indefensible in one case as the other—in fact more so on the part of the nation."

The trouble with all governments is that they are too jealous of their soverignty and honor, he continued, and as long as this attitude prevails, with all the openings it leaves for misunderstandings and quarrels, it will be next to useless to expect that a disarmament program will be successful.

Mr. Chommie's address was listened to with the closest attention and at its termination the large audience gave unmistakable evidence of its approval.

Another song by the quartet and the singing of "America" by the audience closed the exercises.

Afternoon and Evening.

Those who witnessed the sports at the fair grounds were well pleased with the program, which lasted until 6 o'clock. In the evening there was a feature film presented at the Lyceum under legion auspices, the house being packed for both shows. A well-attended dance by the Women's auxiliary of the legion closed the day.

$27,000 IS COUNTY SHARE OF SPECIAL STATE SCHOOL AID

Total Distribution Amounts to $3,387,129, Largest Sum in History of State.

R. P. Chase, state auditor, this week distributed $3,387,129.75, the largest amount of special public school aid ever appropriated by a Minnesota legislature. The distribution is in accordance with Chapter 473 of the laws enacted by the last legislature.

The money is in aid of the various public schools and is distributed on certification of the state board of education under provision of Chapter 467, Laws 1921. Every county in the state is participating, 242 high schools and special departments receiving $1,334,566, while 269 graded schools receive $440,301, consolidated school districts $756,294, and rural schools $855,968.75.

Pennington county's share of this money is $26,941, and the apportionment among our several public school units is:

High schools, $10,204; consolidated schools, $6,969; graded schools, $4,122; class "A" rural schools, $3,846; class "B" rural schools, $1800.

In the distribution of this special legislative aid, St. Louis county heads the list, with $153,580. Itasca county is second with a total of $99,311, and Hennepin third with $96,292. Ramsey county's allotment is $34,025.50. Cook county receives the smallest amount, $6,036.

Amounts received by neighboring counties under the distribution are as follows: Beltrami, $71,621; Clearwater, $19,962; Mahnomen, $19,508; Marshall, $47,747; Polk, $82,802; Red Lake, $13,240; Roseau, $31,459.

Arranging For Regional Child Welfare Meetings

A meeting of chairmen of Child Welfare boards for the counties of Roseau, Marshall and Red Lake was held at the commercial club room last Thursday evening. The meeting was called by Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Pennington county chairman and head of the work in the Ninth district, for the purpose of making arrangements and planning the program for the regional conference of welfare boards to be held in this city later in the month. A communication was received from the Thief River Falls Woman's club endorsing the plan and a letter from Mayor John Bratrud invited the delegates to meet here.

It has been suggested by Commercial club officers that the meetings be so arranged as to include Thursday in order that an address by one of the delegates or local officer may be delivered at the week-day luncheon on that day.

Washington Conference of Drainage Commission

Representatives of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district, and E. V. Willard, commissioner of drainage and waters, will confer with the U. S. Bureau of Indian affairs and members of the U. S. war department at Washington, relative to drainage problems in the Red Lake district, Tuesday.

Specific problems relating to the fixing of lake levels and control of the outflow of the lakes, and improving Red Lake and Clearwater rivers, will be discussed at the conference, Mr. Willard said. The work of drainage is carried on by the district with the co-operation of the Bureau of Indian affairs and the war department.

Samples of City Water Are Taken For Analysis

A representative of the state board of health was in the city the first of the week for the purpose of taking samples of the water now being secured from the deep well at the power house. In order to make certain of the condition of the mains the samples were taken at different points in the city. One was secured at the Lincoln school, one at the Kiewel Products company's plant and one at the Evelyn hotel. These were taken to the university laboratory for analysis and a report promised at the earliest possible date. Samples of the river water were also taken and will be analyzed.

Full details of this remarkable offer will be found on the "Latch String" page of The Times next week. It may be stated at this time, however, that all necessary in order to become a contender for the ownership of this automobile is that a cash purchase amounting to one dollar be made at one of the stores in the city indicated by the "Latch String" page. A coupon showing that the sale has been made will be presented to the purchaser, who will then deposit it either at the First National or First and Peoples State bank. The machine will be given away at 5:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 3. There are no strings or conditions. The coupon holder does not necessarily have to be present when the award is made. He or she will be notified in case the car should be alloted to them.

Next week The Times will contain the announcements of these different merchants. The offerings cover everything from the materials necessary to build a house to a paper of pins.

This will be the last big Market Day announcement of the present season. The preceding five have proved successful far beyond expectaitons, a fact which goes to show that people will take advantage of bargain offerings when these are presented in the proper way.

Do not miss reading every line in The Times next week. Every word will be of interest to those who are anxious to make their dollars go as far as possible. All records for price-cutting will be smashed and no limit will be placed upon the amount of goods anyone may secure at the figures quoted.

Make your arrangements now for coming to Thief River Falls at least for one day during the week beginning Nov. 28.

Big Sale at Mogensen's Opens Saturday Morning

As will be seen by the page advertisment in another part of The Times today, there is going to be an unusual sale of clothing, hats, caps and furnishing goods at the E. O. Mogensen store beginning Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Twenty thousand dollars worth of goods will be offered at greatly reduced prices. The stock is one of the very best in this part of the country, comprising many of the leading lines in every department. The price reductions are most attractive and should make an appeal to the buyer who is anxious to make his dollars go as far as possible. It will pay anyone to read the announcement carefully.

Brink Elected Judge

While no formal filing for the office of special municipal judge was made at the city election, it seems that no one was to have been chosen. The names of several citizens were written on ballots, Charles A. Brink receiving a total of fifteen in this manner, which elects him. Herman Ohm received eight votes and Senator O. A. Naplin six, while others trailed along as follows: S. T. Johnson, three; Milton Forder, two; G. Howard Smith, one; E. M. Stanton, one; Mrs. E. Bakke, two.

Montevideo Dentist Buys Dr. Crandall's Practice

Dr. R. Arnold, D. D. S., formerly of Montevideo, Minn., has purchased the office equipment and practice of Dr. C. R. Crandall and will continue the business carried on by the latter in this city for many years. Dr. Arnold is a man of long experience in the profession, as will be noted from the following from the Montevideo News:

"Dr. and Mrs. Arnold and children will leave Monday for Thief River Falls, where they will make their home. Dr. Arnold will practice dentistry there. He engaged in the practice of his profession here for a number of years and was also prominent in financial affairs, having been connected with the telephone company when it was a local concern and also an officer of the Farmers and Merchants State bank. For several years he served as a member of the city council. Mrs. Arnold has been a worker in women's organizations of the city and her ability as a reader has been of enjoyment to Montevideo audiences on many occasions."

The Crandall home on the East Side is also included in the deal and Dr. Arnold and family have already moved in. Dr. and Mrs. Crandall and children are residing for the present in the Sharp flats on Atlantic avenue. It is understood their intention is to locate on the Pacific coast later.

STOP ADVERTISIG MERELY TO DONATE

Merchants Opposed to Publicity Offered Through Premium Lists and Programs.

The members of Thief River Falls Merchants Association enjoyed an excellently served banquet at the commercial club rooms on Tuesday evening. Turkey and all the things that help make up a banquet in which this bird forms the chief topic of interest were there in abundance. Following the banquet matters of interest to the association were discussed, particular attention being given to the arrangements for the Market Week which opens on Monday, November 28.

Those present also went on record as opposed to any member purchasing advertising space in programs of any kind, premium lists or the "feature" matter at times foisted on the public by itinerants. They were asked to steer clear of all such things until after the censor board of the association had given them approval. It developed during the discussion that a large sum of money was every year being paid out for a class of advertising serving no good purpose and the unanimous opinion was that a halt should be called in the interest of economy and good business. Rather than cheapen their places of business by having announcements appear under these conditions it was the general verdict that they might better make a donation outright.

GOING SOUTHWARD ON WINTER CRUISE OVER SCENIC ROAD

Many Letters From Northern Mayors to Those in South Will Be Carried.

According to word received in Thief River Falls from Truman Pierson of Minneapolis, founder and general manager of the Mississippi River Scenic Highway system, "Port Arthur to Port Arthur" and "Winnipeg to Florida Routes, started his annual winter cruise from Port Arthur, Ontario, to Port Arthur, Texas, New Orleans, Houston, Galveston and Florida points Armistice Day. This time he will travel in Scout Car No. "13" and will be accompanied by Dr. Herman Bryan, Canadian vice president of the organization and also president of the Ft. William-Port Arthur Kiwanis club. The trip from Thunder Bay on Lake Superior to Sabine Lake on the Gulf of Mexico will be made in record time, according to plans. Stops will be made at various cities and the program includes visits to 36 Kiwanis clubs, to all of whom Dr. Bryan will present a miniature Canadian flag and a message of good will from Kiwanis in Canada.

Account of the actual running time will be kept and after deducting time for official calls on Kiwanis, Rotary and commercial clubs, chambers of comerce, mayors, etc., it is expected by the time that Scout Car No. 13 arrives at Port Arthur Texas, it will have made a speed record.

Letters to Mayor John Bratrud of Thief River Falls, Mayor Andrew J. McShane of New Orleans, Mayor Oscar Holcomb of Houston, Mayor C. E. Keenan of Galveston, and Mayor John P. Logan of Port Arthur Tex., from Mayor C. I. Mathews of Port Arthur, Canada, Mayor C. W. Snively of Duluth, Mayor L. C. Hodgson of St. Paul, and Mayor George Leach of Minneapolis, will be carried.

On his up trip from the Gulf of Mexico in Scout Car No. 1, Mr. Pierson carried a letter from every Rotary Club from Texas to Canada to Dr. Crawford C. McCullough, president of the International Rotary at Ft. William. Replies to these letters will be carried on the down trip.

The "hoodoo" 13 does not bother Dr. Bryan or Mr. Pierson. Both are "hoodoo" proof, but just the same Scout, the regular Scenic highway mascot, who has traveled some 44,000 miles with Mr. and Mrs. Pierson since he first saw the light of day in Montrose, Iowa, two years ago, will have an assistant mascot in the shape of an Airdale pup named "Prince Arthur," in honor of the Canadian city of Port Arthur.

15-MILL BOOST IS APPLIED TO CITY TAX RATE

Total For Present Year is 104.1 Mills as Compared With 89.2 Mills in 1920.

State Reduced Tax While Levy For County Purposes is Slightly Increased.

Schools Responsible For Higher Rate, Getting All But 3.8 Mills of Advance.

The tax rate for the city of Thief River Falls will be 14.9 mills higher than in 1921, the total being 104.1, as against 89.2 a year ago, according to figures given out at the office of County Auditor T. P. Anderson.

There is a reduction of 1.19 mills in the state tax, which has moved downward from 5.42 to 4.23 mills. Last year the levy for county purposes was 11.58 mills, which has been increased to 12.17, or fifty-nine one-hundredths of a mill.

School Tax Responsible.

The school tax for District No. 18, in which Thief River Falls is located, has increased from 40.6 mills a year ago to 51.7 mills at the present time. This accounts for 11.1 mills of the total tax increase for the city, leaving an advance of only 3.8 mills for all other purposes. The general impression has been that the increase would be considerably greater than this, even the school tax being somewhat lower than was expected.

Rate in the Villages.

St. Hilaire village has a tax rate of 111.7, of which 70.4 mills is represented by the levy for school purposes. A year ago the total for that municipality was 97 mills, the increase being 14.7 mills, or just two-tenths of a mill less than in Thief River Falls.

Goodridge advanced from 92.3 mills a year ago to 120.1 mills at this time, a raise of 36.8 mills—perhaps the heaviest increase in the county. Both in the case of St. Hilaire and Goodridge the advance is caused by increased school expenses, the former municipality having just completed a new consolidated building.

Throughout the townships but little change from a year ago is noted. Where new school houses have been constructed the fact shows up on the tax records, but outside of this nothing of a particular nature has transpired to bring taxes up.

Ex-Soldier to Study Law; Among First to Enlist

Fred T. Scanlan left on Tuesday evening to begin a four-year course of study in the St. Paul College of Law. Mr. Scanlan was assigned to this school under the provisions of the soldiers' vocational training act, his health having been impaired while in the service overseas.

This young man was one of the four who enlisted immediately following the declaration of war and he staid with the army until after the armistice was signed. After putting in the required time training in camp he was promoted to corporal and ordered to the front. In his first engagement he was badly gassed and had to abandon active participation in actual field work. He was given a post with the army administration forces at Paris and remained in that service until sent home.

WARNING AGAINST USE OF STRAW AS LINING FOR CARS

Practice Tends to Spread Sow Thistle and Other Noxious Weeds Broadcast.

Attention has been called to the fact that potato shippers are using straw to line cars in which potatoes are bing shipped, by C. P. Bull, state weed inspector. This does not seem to be worth public mention, but owing to the fact that straw thus shipped from the Red River Valley is quite likely to contain sow thistle seeds, the matter is of importance. The result is obvious. These cars are billed to various parts of Minnesota and to parts in other states. The straw is scattered from the car at the unloading points and the burlap bags are likely to harbor thistle seeds. The thistle seeds become scattered and produce plants for new infestations.

This practice should not continue. The potato shippers should use marsh hay, which is usually about 100 per cent free from weed seeds.

The state is now trying to control the spread of noxious weeds. The work necessarily incurs expense. Let us not enhance the spread of weeds and add to the expense by thoughtless methods. The county agents, school teachers, bankers and all others interested or who shall be interested should call attention to this practice and advise shippers against the use of straw and urge the use of hay.

American Legion Corner

Our Flag.

Back of the rocking cradle
Back of each mother's dreams
Back of the brawny arms of men,
And of boyish youth that beams.
Back of our factories, fields and schools,
Back of our laws and creeds and rules
Back of our Nation's freedom true;
Stars and Stripes, Red, White and Blue.

"The foundation of every state is the education of its youth." That is why the American Legion and the National Educational association have joined together to hold an American Education Week, Dec. 4-10, 1921. Eleven thousand Legion posts thruout America will urge ministers of all denominations to preach upon Education on Sunday, Dec. 4. Merchants will be asked to contribute advertising space and window displays appropriately featuring American Education Week. Newspapers and motion picture theatres will be urged to drive home to the people the value and necessity of education to the individual, the community, the state, and the nation. Thousands of Legion speakers will do their part.

"The School and the Nation," "Immigration and the Nation," "The Value of Education," will form some of the subjects which Legion speakers will discuss during American Education Week. Kindred subjects will be dealt with too, such as "Our Flag," "American Ideals," "American Patriotism." American Patriotism, for which so many of our comrades died; the wearing of the Flag in our hearts as well as in our buttonholes; being good citizens from day to day; always striving as citizens to reflect honor and respect upon the Nation.

THAT DULL ACHING

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and achy backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Ed. Aga, 803 Horace Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I had a spell of kidney trouble that put me in a bad way. My kidneys were weak and caused me all sorts of misery. I got very little rest and mornings I felt all tired out. During the day if I stood for any length of time, my limbs would swell and pain me. I had such a dull, bearing-down feeling, too, and a dull, steady ache across the small of my back. My back gave out before my work was half finished. I had to go to bed finally and not until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills was I rid of the trouble. Two boxes of Doan's completely cured me and I have had no return of it."

DOLL CHARACTERS ARE PRINCIPALS IN HOME TALENT PLAY

Beautiful Musical Extravaganza to Be Presented By Young Ladies' Sodality.

"Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop," a musical extravaganza, is to be staged at the auditorium Friday, Nov. 25, at 8:30, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality. This is a strictly home talent production with a cast of 100 people, many of whom have taken part in former home talent plays in the city.

The story in brief is that of Bonnie, the toymakers daughter, who wanders into the woods at the close of day and is overtaken by the Sandman, who casts her into a magic sleep. She dreams a wonderful dream wherein the bisque and wooden creatures of her father's shop come to life and indulge in a night of revelry. Strange things befall the toys and dolls transplanted into the world of life and motion for the first time, until Bonnie awakens from her sleep at break of day with the strains of fairy music ringing in her ears.

The following is an extract from a write-up of the production: "There is a plot which moves consistently to a happy ending. The situations which arise when the dolls find themselves for the first time in the world of life and motion are ludicrous in the extreme. An evening of such diversified amusement is, in fact, so well supplied that the audience wonders that one production can contain so many good features and can be so ably handled by amateurs. The elaborate costuming and scenic equipment give a finish and tone to the production that places it in the professional class."

St. Thomas Defeats St. Olaf

The St. Thomas college won over St. Olaf in the football game played on the St. Thomas field on Saturday, the score being 7 to 2. The first quarter of the game was played in a blinding snowstorm which left the field in very bad condition for the remainder of the set-to, and a successful attack of any kind of play was made impossible.

Dennis McGinn of this city played left end for the victorious team, this being the third major engagement in which the Thief River Falls boy has taken part since entering college. More than the usual interest was also taken in this game here by reason of the fact that a number of students at St. Olaf are from this city.

HIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Independent Legal Weekly Newsaper Published Every Thursday at Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

H. ROSS - - - - - President

tered as second-class matter at the stoffice at Thief River Falls, Minn.

A PROMISING START.

The disarmament conference at ashington has already arrived at point not expected to be reached til after long and tedious deliberan. The proposal of Secretary ughes that a halt be called in naval nstruction for a period of ten years ems to have met with unexpected proval on the part of the delegates England and Japan, the two wers besides the United States ost directly interested in the subct. The plan is accepted by them spirit, only the details remaining be worked out.

This country is deliberately assig g to itself the larger share in this rapping program, thus proving the ncerity of its intentions. Of the resent war fleet only enough ships ill be retained to properly police its aters and no more will be built for n years at least. Should England d Japan finally agree to this prosal there is nothing left for other tions to do but fall in line.

It is abundantly evident that the eoples of the different countries reresented at Washington are deterined to throw off the enormous urden with which they are now ddled by reason of the competition the building of warships and that ese delegates are only voicing the esires of those who in the last nalysis must pay the bills. Seldom ever has public opinion throughout e world been so united on any one roposal, and when to this fact is dded the evident desire on the part f the delegates themselves to reach n agreement on the subject, someing of value should result.

The action of Secretary Hughes in resenting without unnecessary delay concrete plan for consideration was dmittedly a masterstroke. It eliminated the possibility of a long-drawn ut discussion and hit squarely at the eart of the subject. Instead of pending much valuable time in trying to reach an agreement as to the best method of procedure, giving everyone interested an opportunity to voice diverging opinions, a complete nd carefully worked out program was presented, which, if accepted by Great Britain and Japan, leaves only minor matters to be adjusted. The action was so sudden that it jarred he staid and steady diplomat from across the water for a time, but they have most enthusiastically endorsed t as the plan promising the most effective and immediate relief.

The press and public opinion in England and Japan are overwhelmingly in favor of accepting the American government's proposition and it is not likely that statesmen will long hold out against this pressure, even though they might wish to do so.

Ten years may not seem like a very long time, but it is certain that if naval construction can be halted for that period of time it will never again be resumed on any such scale as at present. People have come to realize that there must be a curtailment in naval and military expenditures or the world will be bankrupt. In the United States it is claimed that 94 cents out of every dollar collected as federal taxes goes to meet costs incurred in past wars or in making preparations for wars of the future. In many countries the situation is even worse. It cannot continue. The disarmament conference must find a way to relieve the world of this intolerable and unnecessary burden.

THE LAST MARKET DAY.

The last three days of November and the first three days of December will mark the wind-up of a series of monthly market days held under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Merchants association. This final event is scheduled to eclipse anything and everything previously attempted in the way of a trade-boosting campaign and if it does not prove an unequaled success it will certainly not be the fault of the merchants.

It has been decided to make someone an outright present of a Ford touring car, the idea being to make this the most interesting event of the series. In addition there will be still greater cuts made in the price of commodities.

This will be the greatest selling campaign ever launched in this section and next week The Times will tell all about it. The customary Market Day edition will be printed setting forth just what each merchant has to offer. The aim is for every business house to offer some one thing at a great reduction, care being taken to avoid duplications. In this manner purchasers can, by visiting a sufficient number of stores, supply their every want at a cost very much below that which they would otherwise have to stand. In fact that has been the idea of the whole campaign—getting people to visit the different stores in order that they might become convinced of the ability of Thief River Falls merchants to supply their needs at all times.

The Market Days have been a success so far as their original intention is concerned. People have come to the city on these days from points many miles away and have found that our business men stand ready to meet their requirements at all times, while the prices have convinced the most skeptical that the era of deflation has not only set in but has progressed farther in this city than at other points.

Be sure to secure a copy of The Times next week. There will be money-saving opportunities presented by every line in its columns.

IS HOLDING ITS OWN.

For some reason there seems to be an impression prevalent that the region to the north and east of Thief River Falls, comprising parts of Pennington, Marshall and Beltrami counties, has not kept pace with the development in other parts of the Northwest. Were this a fact it would be a matter of considerable importance to business interests here, the region being in this city's trading territory.

Census figures, however, show that there has been a steady if not rapid growth in the population of these townships. It must be remembered that during the past six years there has been no great movement of settlers toward unoccupied lands, the war and events subsequent thereto having had a depressing effect on land settlement in general, this condition being no more noted in northwestern Minnesota than elsewhere. When the figures of the census report are compared it will be seen that instead of going backward the section drained by the Red Lake and Thief Rivers has increased in population in a highly satisfactory manner. The total increase in the townships referred to during the decade was 2,277. Of this number 1,055 settled in eastern Pennington, 605 in southeastern Marshall, and 517 in western Beltrami counties. In the first-named county Hickory and Star townships make the best showing, having gained 163 and 217 inhabitants respectively. In Beltrami county, Lee township with a gain of 99 and Spruce Grove with 116 increase over ten years ago are the leaders. In Marshall county Mayton with 122 increase and Mud Lake with 127 head the list.

It must be remembered that these localities for the most part are as yet cut off from direct railroad communication and that the highways are not always of the best. These defects will soon be remedied and then a regular influx can be looked for. The territory is highly productive and possesses every requisite except transportation for becoming a prosperous agricultural region. The fact that it has been able to better than hold its own in times like the recent past in spite of the transportation handicap is evidence that it possesses attractions that make a strong appeal.

THE SEASON'S BIG SHOW.

It is none too early to begin reminding folks that the biggest chicken show to be held in Minnesota this year is scheduled for Dec. 6, 7, 8 and 9 at the auditorium in Thief River Falls. On these four days members of the Pennington County Poultry association will exhibit the prize specimens of their flocks—and there are none finer.

Poultry raising has become something more than a minor industry and sideline in this section, and particularly in this county. There are numbers of fanciers who are in the specialist class and their stock not only carries off the highest award at neighboring shows, but there is a steadily growing demand from other parts of the state for young birds and eggs for hatching. When poultry raising arrives at this stage it ceases to be a fad and becomes an established business of recognized importance.

Prospective exhibitors should begin getting their entries into the best possible shape right now. It takes very little in the way of a defect to lower the scoring percentage of an otherwise perfect bird and too much care cannot be exercised in getting them into prime condition. This extra conditioning will pay big dividends when an expert comes to look over the results.

While chickens are the big feature of the show they are by no means the only things of interest or value to be exhibited. There will be turkeys, of which there are many fine flocks in the neighborhood, geese, ducks, guinea and pea fowl—an array of which any section in the country might well be proud. From present indications the show will be the largest yet held, which means that there will be at least 500 coops on the floor, each coop containing three birds.

Experts have stated that the Pennington county poultry show is better than that at the state fair. If such has been the case in years past the association should be crowding toward the top of the national honor list before long.

Good Will for the Red Cross

MESSAGES FROM EVERYWHERE

From Cardinal Dougherty

His Excellency, the President of the United States, having declared by proclamation that the annual membership roll call of the American Red Cross shall begin on Armistice Day and continue until Nov. 24th, I deem it a duty to exhort all our citizens to enroll themselves in this admirable organization, which, for many years past, and especially during the World War, has rendered to mankind such noble services and benefactions.

In times of peace, it has come to the rescue of the victims of pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other great calamities; and it strives to devise and carry on measures for preventing the causes of suffering.

In war, it has been a medium of communication between the American people and their army and navy; and it has cared for the sick and wounded throughout the world, irrespective of race and creed.

I bespeak for it a wide membership.

D. CARD. DOUGHERTY.

The Presiding Bishop

"Words to commend the Red Cross are not needed. Deeds more than suffice to spread the story of its achievement. Where there are war and wounds, fire and flood, famine, disaster and need there look for the Red Cross and you do not look in vain!

"May God guide, guard and bless the Red Cross and its workers always!"

DANIEL S. TUTTLE.

The Secretary of Labor

It is a pleasure for me to endorse the work and appeal of the American Red Cross. During the war it was my privilege to observe personally the wonderful accomplishments of your organization. The work that it did on the battlefields and behind the lines was certainly an inspiration to me. I have since observed the great relief which it has undertaken from time to time.

You can count on me for always advancing the cause of this noble patriotic organization for the relief of distress among mankind.

JAMES J. DAVIS.

OBSERVATIONS.

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

"The best way to spend money," begins a newspaper article, and we stopped right there.

Better hide the youngsters' skates for a few more days.

The undertakers are predicting a very successful hunting season.

The hunting season opened yesterday and will continue all winter in the Rex lobby.

"Bachelors are fools," says a woman lecturer. We admit it, but they are not reminded of it as often as the married lads are.

The timber situation is all right these days except for two minor details. The price is low, and there is no market for it.

Don't get too chesty. Take a look at the turkey strutting around and then think of what will happen to him the day before Thanksgiving.

You can't keep a good man down, but in these times his creditors can keep him hustling like the dickens.

The average homesteader in Northern Minnesota is a peaceful lad, but he could be arrested for what he thinks of city hunters.

Minnesota is the most prosperous state in the Union right now. As a bank account fattener the dairy cow is in a class by herself.

A lot of Baudette loafers want a living but evidently they don't want it bad enough to work for it.

Wear red coats, you big game hunters, if you don't want your insurance companies to get sore at you.

Pound Social and Dance.

A pound social and dance will be given on Saturday evening, Nov. 19, at the school house in District No. 76 of Marshall county, Miss Lillian Hineck, teacher. Ladies are requested to bring lunch for two. Everybody made welcome. n-7-p

Opinions of Other Editors

THEIR COMPARATIVE VALUES.

Ely Miner: Prospective murderers will please take notice. An editor was murdered in Arkansas the other day and the murderer was sentenced to ninety-nine years in prison, while a fellow that killed a lawyer got off with seven years.

ALWAYS SOMETHING TO BLAME.

Wadena Pioneer Journal: If moving pictures cause all the trouble, asked a Wadena man yesterday, what caused it before we had moving pictures?

PROVIDE ANOTHER OUTLET.

Dassel Dispatch: We cannot blame the boys much for Hallowe'en pranks when they do more or less damage and a perverted sense of humor leads them into "roughneck" ways, when there is absolutely nothing provided either in the home or in public to occupy their time and attention. A nice party at home or a Hallowe'en event of some kind of a public nature will prevent many an act of vandalism perpetrated under the guise of a Hallowe'en "joke."

IT SHOULD BE READ.

It is said that the Congressional Record is not decent. Anyway Congressman Blanton of Texas was nearly expelled by the house of representatives for putting into the Congressional Record material which was declared to be obscene and indecent. As a matter of fact, the Congressional Record isn't decent anyhow. It isn't a record of what is said on the floor of congress; it is what somebody in congress desires to have put in for the benefit of his constituents or the future generations which will never read what he said. The practice of "extending remarks" into the Record is one which is useless and wasteful. When we receive excerpts from the Congressional Record stating what our congressmen or senators said, we like to know that they really said it. The Congressional Record should be a real record of what has actually been stated on the floor of congress.

A BAD COMBINATION.

Dawson Sentinel: Jazz, moonshine and a fast automobile are a combination that spells ruin to many promising young people. Folks can go to the devil much faster since the advent of the benzine buggy.

ONE REDEEMING FEATURE.

Ivanhoe Times: Every time we try to lay up something for a rainy day a premature rain comes along and washes it all away. This business of continually starting all over again [illegible] merits, though. It prevents us good men from contracting those vicious habits of the idle rich.

MORE GOOD ADVICE.

Wabasha Herald: Don't worry. There never was a tide went out but what it went back again. The hard times will as sure be replaced by the good old times as the tide will come back that has gone out.

SEASONABLE EXCHANGE.

Redwood Gazette: These are the days when a fellow begins to wonder if he can't pawn his electric fan for enough cash to buy himself a ton of coal.

KINDNESS NOT APPRECIATED.

Glencoe Enterprise: Some people don't appreciate real kindness. A man tried to kill another fellow because he sold him a bottle of water for moonshine.

GETS PLENTY OF ADVICE.

Shakopee Argus: When Congressman Sidney Anderson declares that "farming is 30 years behind other American industries" in modern methods, he probably voices the belief of a majority of town folk who give rural life a hasty once over. To the casual visitor from the city, agricultural undertakings seem inefficiently and ineffectively carried on. The most uninventive of store clerks or office employes or school teachers watching the crop grower for a few hours, will insist that his work could be done better by the use of other equipment.

HAVE SOMETHING COMING.

Lake City Graphic: Somebody with a head for figures has it doped out that the American housewife earns $4,001 a year. And what is more, most of them collect it with the exception of the $4,000.

TOO MANY NEW FLAVORS.

Staples World: Most of us are glad that we lived in the old days when you could kiss a girl and not taste anything but the girl.

IT'S THE ONLY WAY.

Redwood Falls Gazette: Forget low prices for awhile and think about putting folks back to work, about getting goods to moving and about getting fair prices for everybody. The U. S. treasury contains as much money now as it ever has in the history of the country, according to the statement of officials. Hard work and a return to normal processes of buying and selling is the only thing in the world that will ever get that money started again in a good healthy circulation. Let's go!

Attributes Success to Advertising.

Aaron Lutz of Mitchell, S. D., attributes his financial success as a grower of vegetables on a large scale to newspaper advertising. He went to Mitchell four years ago with $250 which he used to rent a farm and start in a small way. Today he is transacting business over an area of thousands of miles, making frequent use of the telegraph and telephone, as well as the mails. This year he raised 12,000 bushels of potatoes from certified seed planted on 53 acres, 4,000 celery plants, of high quality, 50 acres of melons, 25 acres of navy beans, 10,000 sweet potato plants and a large quantity of cabbage. "I have been able to sell my vegetables simply because I have advertised," says Mr. Lutz.

Help Your Local Paper.

(Southland Farmer.)

Don't make fun of your local paper. It has possibilities of being as good as any in the country—and remember that it reflects the community in which it is published, and it is the one product that goes to far places bearing the town trade mark. It deserves the best you can give of active support and sympathetic understanding.

Give the editor news, whether it benefits you or not.

Don't ask him to print it on the front page and just the exact way you handed it to him.

Don't worry lest the editor makes too much money. If he's prosperous, he'll be foolish enough to give his community a better paper; that's an editor's ambition—that's why he engages in the publicity business.

Tell him when he has a good paper. You are willing to congratulate your preacher on a good sermon, and your merchant on an attractive window display. The editor is no less grateful for a word of praise.

Make it a point to visit the print shop and learn of its difficulties and complexities. At least that will give you a more charitable attitude. The paper should not be the product of the editor solely, but of all those who are interested in it as friends, contributors, readers or advertisers.

Be a Times reader—it pays.

We Will Not Forget!

As Americans we can never forget the favor of Providence so abundantly poured out upon this, our country, since our forefathers celebrated the first Thanksgiving three hundred years ago.

The prayers of the first Thanksgiving uttered by them for the preservation of their lives will re-echo from generation to generation even to the end of time!

We cannot forget! We will not forget! We will keep faith with them that the structure whose cornerstone they laid will never crumble or fall!

In honor of Thanksgiving Day, November 24th, this institution will not be open.

WINTON-NICHOLS LUMBER COMPANY

Getting Acquainted

In the issue of October 27, Mr. Ed. F. Summers, of the Advocate-Democrat of Marysville, Kans., says:

> HAVE MADE FRIENDS
>
> About three years ago the Standard Oil Company began a campaign of publicity which covered the whole country. No attempt was made to pay any attention to what had been charged up against the organization in that distant past, but a plain statement was sent out showing the attitude of the company, the diversity of its ownership and its policy in dealing with the public. And that campaign has been effective. No longer do you hear Rockefeller and the Standard Oil continuously roasted by the general public. Other "goats" have been picked up and in every section you will hear the admission made that the Standard Oil Co. gives service and piles up profit by being content to work on a small margin and develop a bigger business.
>
> The experience is well worth thinking over for it goes to show what we have always contended and that is that the average man is fair and only wants to be shown. Take him into your confidence if your business is legitimate and you silence knocking. The Standard Oil has won favor by its policy of publicity and the favor is deserved.

THE spontaneous response which the announcements of this Company have received from many of the newspapers of the country has been most gratifying. That such a response has come from a better understanding of the Company, its purposes and its policies goes without saying. It is purely a matter of getting acquainted.

Those we do not not know we are apt to suspect. Those we do know we respect if respect is deserved.

The Board of Directors intend that this Company shall deserve the respect of its customers, its employes, its stockholders and its competitors by maintaining a policy of fair dealing.

The operations of this Company are carried on with a straightforward directness, and with the deep conviction that bigness is possible only through service; that through service comes volume, and through volume come profits.

The Slacker Student.

In the Sunday Journal several Minneapolis educators recently gave expression to their feelings concerning a problem of school administration—the problem of the slacker student. For the most part these educators pointed out failure of parents to instill in their sons and daughters a proper sense of responsibility, although they dwelt as well upon the effort of teachers to cope with student inefficiency.

The Board of Education has now adopted a rule directed at this problem. It seeks to inculcate fundamentals of personal responsibility in the high school boys and girls over sixteen—those boys and girls, increasing alarmingly in numbers of late, who shirk every school obligation, consuming more than their share of teacher attention, to the disadvantage of the whole school body.

Though it is an economic evil, in that it draws unnecessarily upon the tax revenue which supports the schools, it is of far greater moment in its bearing upon the individual character, both of the slacker and the honest student. High school principals say there are students in the high schools who are content to "pass" in one or two subjects, and even see a joke in complete failure. And they have been going on thus, from year to year, from semester to semester, acquiring habits of slackerism and irresponsibility; enjoying, meanwhile, the pleasures of the social side of school life.

Now the principals and the Board of Education propose to call a halt on this kind of imposition on the public. A rule has been adopted, intended to compel these loafers to do their work or quit school. "Their room is better than their company," if they persist wilfully in inattention. Henceforth they must work—and not only work in school, but put in reasonable hours in study at home, thus bringing parental responsibility into the situation.

The Board and the principals have taken an interesting step—one which should, if applied with due consideration of the individual, work out to the distinct gain of all concerned—the slackers, their fellow students, the parents and taxpayers, and the teaching force. Administered with judgment and discretion, the rule should redound to the credit of the Board and the school administration, and gain the hearty support of all who are constructively interested in the welfare of the city's high schools.—Minneapolis Journal.

Armistice Day, 1921.

Armistice Day, 1921! What does it mean to us? To all humanity it means a milestone in the course of civilization as the world goes ever onward: "The old order changeth, giving place to new." One phase of the observance of Armistice Day this year was the reverence to those who died in the faith that their death would help in ending forever that greatest curse upon mankind, human warfare. The other memorable event was the opening of the disarmament conference, which marks a distinct change in the ideas of men from a recognition of war as the right method of settling national disputes to an attempt to substitute something more in keeping with civilized standards.

But to us, the students of today, it has a special significance. We hope to live to enjoy the fruits of the sacrifices of those who died for humanity in the great war and the efforts of our far-seeing statesmen to bring about a more desirable state of world affairs. But alongside of this privilege and advantage will come added responsibility to us who are receiving our education today. We will be the national, yes, the international, leaders of tomorrow, and we must carry on the work which our fathers are now so nobly advancing. For the change must be gradual; we can not hope for a sudden abolishment of human warfare as a direct result of the Washington conference. The change must come through the minds of the people. From experience of the past we realize obstacles, seemingly unconquerable, at times must be overcome before any definite advance in civilization can take place.

Are we willing to accept this responsibility? It will come to us when those who are now giving their best to it have passed on. We will either have to accept the opportunity to be of lasting service to humanity or let the movement for universal peace receive a mortal set-back because of our negligence. We can not, we must not fail in the task so unmistakably set before us. Let us show the world at the same time as we are preparing ourselves for the part we are to take by our application and accomplishments in school that we can be depended upon to make effective the efforts and sacrifices of our predecessors.—O. H. '23.

Mr. Chommie Speaks.

H. O. Chommie addressed the high school pupils last Wednesday at to start on the day following Armistice day. Mr. Chommie showed the reason for the conference and what has led up to it. He showed how, a long time ago, people went about their business armed and ready to fight on the slightest pretext to settle any real or imagined injury. But, as he explained, such conditions have passed. People have learned that disputes cannot be settled satisfactorily by personal encounter, but nations have not yet learned any other method of settling their quarrels.

The Disarmament Conference is what the name implies, a conference to discuss the possibility of getting rid of some of this vast load that is such a burden to the world. Mr. Chommie gave some startling figures on the cost of armaments here in the United States. Ninety-two per cent, he said, of the federal income goes to pay for our armies and navies of the past, present and future. This leaves eight per cent for other purposes, and of this only one per cent is spent for education.

He explained how, in our army, one man out of four could not read or write, and the great educational facilities that could be established by stopping the flow of money into armaments. He appealed to the high school pupils to do all in their power in influencing public opinion for world disarmament, for public opinion is a very great power. "It is the fact that public opinion rules," said Mr. Chommie, "that makes a democracy. If world opinion demands disarmament, we'll have it. If we are asleep, those who have reasons for arms will have them."

We Are Proud of Our Football Team.

By defeating the powerful Cavalier, North Dakota, team on Armistice Day the local boys surprised the football fans of Thief River Falls and other schools in our district. By decisively defeating a team which has just nosed out of the district championship of the Northeastern district of North Dakota, which is a strong contender for state honors in that state, our boys proved that they have a machine capable of taking into camp any team in our district. The Cavalier team won all its games except the one with Grafton. Grand Forks went down to defeat at their hands by a score of 51 to 0.

We have a right to be proud for two reasons. First, our team has made a good record. Second, our team has made a clean record. To start with it was felt the team suffered a hard blow through the strict enforcement of the eligibility rules, a strong contender for quarter-back position being lost to the team for the entire season in this way. During the remainder of the season members of the team were occasionally ineligible because of scholastic difficulties, but the boys kept right on doing their level best. The results of their efforts as well as the work of their coach were ably demonstrated last Friday.

More than once pressure was brought to bear to permit this or that player to enter a game regardless of eligibility. This was particularly true in regard to Friday's game. However, a firm stand was taken to allow no one but eligible players on our athletic teams. It often seems hard on the boys, but just think of the pleasure of a victory like the one Friday. Now, boys, are you not glad that this stand was taken? Is it not better to give the good, honest, hard working student the first chance on the team? It is that class of atheletes who make our powerful college teams nowadays. Why won't the same thing hold true in regard to high school athletics?

Hoping that both students and parents can look upon athletics from our point of view, there is now asked your hearty co-operation during the basketball season.—M. P. R.

Football Prospects For Next Year.

Last Friday's game with Cavalier closed the football season for the Thief River Falls high school team. Now let us see what prospects we have for next year.

Our entire backfield, composed of Ernest Barzen at the fullback position, Robert McGinn at quarter, and Russel Anderson and Stanley Sorenson at the half back positions will be back. Craig Halvorson, Charles Herbst, Roy Holmgren, Milford LaBree, Henry Verlicky, Mark Barzen and John Sether will be back to bid for the line positions. This will give us a team composed entirely of veterans of this season. Besides, there are a number of second string men who can lay strong claim to berths on the eleven next year.

The only active members of this year's team who will be lost through graduation are Bernard Bischoff, John Hendry and Fred Paulson. The prospects for next year are therefore indeed bright. Of course, much depends upon the attitude of the boys towards their school work. However, the boys realizing that work comes before play, all will put forth their best efforts in their studies in order to be ready to take their place when the first whistle blows in the fall of 1922.

Having given the boys due credit for their part, the excellent work of Mr. Stenhoff, our able coach, must also be remembered. He has spared neither time nor effort in whipping the team into its present excellent shape. The good will and gratitude of players, school and city is extended him. A word of thanks is also due Mr. Perry Johnson for his will-

T. R. F. H. S. Has Large Non-Resident Enrollment.

Out of 369 students enrolled up to date, 123 are non-resident students. Exactly one-third of the students are boys and girls who have come to Thief River Falls to obtain the advantages offered by an up-to-date high school.

The girls seem to be more desirous of obtaining a high school education than the boys, for out of the 123 non-resident students, only 19 are boys and 104 are girls. Many of the boys and girls have been able to find work to help them along financially. In fact, every high school girl who wished to work for her room or board has succeeded in finding a desirable place.

The Tardy Student.

We all know that accidents will happen and that is why some high school students are tardy. However, only a small percentage of tardiness is due to unavoidable causes. We do not wish to criticise the people who are tardy for good reasons. Their excuses are accepted with good grace and they are forgiven with a smile. But how about the student who is tardy several times during the month? There is no such thing as a good excuse for each such tardiness. The fault is with the student. It is a sign of laziness, slovenliness, and irresponsibility. When you are out in the business world you will have to learn to be prompt. Why not get the habit now? Come on now, especially you upper classmen, and show that you have some spunk and pride.

Last Thursday noon Henry Arneson and his sister Eileen entertained the Comercial Club with music. We hope to have them favor us with their musical program soon.

Miss Stavig: "Not quite, one year more."

Morris: "1620?"

Gladys Maland visited at her home in St. Hilaire over Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Stavig: "I don't like the action of this class, you must study! This is an important part in history so prepare yourself for slavery."

Central Notes.

The marching penants were awarded by Miss Johnson to the pupils in Miss Tanberg's room in the eighth grade and to the pupils in Mrs. Hill's room in the seventh grade.

The teachers and pupils of the Central school enjoyed a very instructive program last Wednesday at 11:15. Mrs. Halmberg accompanied by Miss Theone Walker rendered several violin selections.

Dr. Milan delivered an instructive address on the importance of the "Red Cross Roll Call Drive" which is being conducted from Novemver 11th to November 24, 1922.

A piano solo was played by Elsie Vorseth, an eighth grade pupil.

Knox Noes.

Robert Mattison and Linnea Backlund are being given a trial in the third grade.

Thelma Qualey has left school to work at one of our stores.

The following children were transferred from the Knox school to the Washington because of crowded conditions: Roy Lonson, Marion Gray, Mae Rausch, Glen Brokke, Justus Larson.

Clara Klungness has left our schools. She departs for Madison, Minnesota this week.

Our health crusade work is progressing rapidly. We hope to boast the most perfect citizen of the future.

The pupils and teachers of the Knox are eagerly watching the progress of the new school. Old Jack Frost and Father North Wind are none too welcome.

The Modern Health Crusade.

The attempt to teach hygene fails as many a teacher can testify because children as a rule are not interested in health or in its future health rules, but they take no interest in putting them into practice. Their will to do has not been aroused.

The Modern Health Crusade is the most successful method yet devised of arousing children to a real interest in health and the actual formation of health habits.

"Learning by doing" is the principle on which the Modern Health Crusade is based. It introduces the play element into the practice of hygene. It transfers the romance of the medieval crusade to a vital present-day quest. It holds up to children the chivalry of health. The results of the Modern Health Crusade are physical and moral improvements of children and the prevention of disease.

Cleanliness is a Life Preserver. Dirty streets and garbage filth breed flies and disease carriers. Streets should be sprinkled and swept nearly every day. Garbage should be kept in covered cans and removed frequently.

We want healthy and respectful citizens in the United States. "The strength of a nation depends upon the health of its people."

Health.

Health is one of the really great assets of life. It is the very basis of practically all that makes for happiness and success. Without it all the activities of life are handicapped while after it follow innumerable blessings. Good conduct is influenced by its presence or absence and we are beginning to see and appreciate that many people who sin against the laws of society ought to be treated as sick instead of as criminals.

The body is not an isolated and thousand ways upon nature around it. If it fails at any point in a very serious way, the health and maybe the life of the entire body is in danger. Health is therefore possible only in the good observance of all laws that affect life.

The human body is made of very small cells. The cells are alive but when the cells are in health, the body is in health, and when the cells are dead the body is dead. The cells must have food and oxigen, and must not be injured or poisoned or they will die. Disease germs cause sickness and death by poisoning the cells.

To prevent disease the government should quarantine all epidemic diseases. It should build hospitals and sanitoriums where victims of infectious disease may be cared for. It should collect vital statistics. It should carry out such other measures as may be necessary to protect its citizens from preventable diseases. "Health is wealth," whether in the life of a single individual or in the life of the entire community.

The School's Health Obligations.

If all parents were wise in regard to health matters, it would not be necessary for the schools to make a special study of the physical condition of the children entrusted to their care. All that could then be fairly required would be the guaranty of a healthy school environment including such things as good ventilation, correct methods of lighting and heating, sanitary plumbing, the control of contagious diseases, frequent recesses and sufficient physical training.

It is indeed a deplorable fact that all parents do not have the special knowledge which is very necessary for caring for the physical and mental good of their children. Even intelligent parents may be unable to detect the early symptoms of physical disorder just as they may be unable to decide upon the methods of correcting them. They do not see the defects of their own children because they are used to their children. Many are so superstitious as to prefer to treat adenoids by suggestion. Plainly, therefore, it becomes the duty of the school to furnish not only a healthful school environment but also a healthful guardianship over its pupils.

John Mostue—Central School

On Wednesday evening, November 9th, the boys of the Dramatic Club held their oratorial contest. About eight boys took part. Each gave a short dramatic poem. The two boys chosen were Herschel Hanson and John Hendry. The judges were Mrs. Korstad and Miss Soule. These two boys will have a tryout later and the one showing the best ability will represent the school in oratory. Miss Chamberlain, the advisor of the Dramatic Club, will coach the boys and girls in oratory and dramatics and soon these people will be working hard on the pieces they will select.

Northrop Notes.

Miss Nordvi has resumed her school work after a week's siege of tonsilitis. Mrs. Skeg substituted during her absence.

The following pupils have enrolled within the past two weeks: John Myhrer, Oscar Krogstad, Arnold and Ernest Cork and Harriet Engebretson.

William Froelich has re-entered school after several day's absence due to illness.

Miss Tanberg with an enrollment of forty pupils would have had perfect attendance during the past week had it not been for Wilmar Hoyum's absence.

The marching penants were won by Mrs. Eyde's first grade pupils, and by Miss Sandum's third grade pupils.

Washington News.

The Washington children were exceedingly delighted when they succeeded in winning the marching pennant from the other schools.

The marching has become so uniform in the Washington school that the downstairs pennant was given to Miss Payne's pupils for a half week and to Miss Smith's for a half week. The upstairs pennant was shared by Miss Larson's and Mrs. Karwand's pupils.

Miss Payne and Miss Ryd spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hall of St. Hilaire.

Mrs. Karwand is to give a demonstration lesson of the socialized recitation for the fifth grade teachers Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wilfi Alme substituted on Tuesday for Miss Smith who was ill.

The Northwestern Teachers' convention held in Crookston was attended by the nurse.

A nurses' conference was included in their program for the first time and all public health nurses representing this district were present.

The need of a more ample but nourishing diet for the school child; the serving of hot lunches to school children in the school, and correct posture of the child were the principal subjects discussed and emphasized.

All those present read a paper to the chairman of the convention that the next annual meeting of the convention include a physician who will speak on "Health Problems."

CONFERENCE SEEKS MORE RELIEF FOR FARMERS OF STATE

State Convention Studies Ways to Give Individual Farmer Greater Influence.

How to give the man and woman on the most distant Minnesota farm a real voice and increasing influence in agricultural and public affairs was the problem studied by county representatives who met at St. Paul last week in the ninth annual state extension and farm bureau conference.

"Strengthen the township unit—foundation stone of the farm bureau movement—and make it a real factor in the life of every rural community," was the convention's answer to the problem.

Every county in the state was invited by F. W. Peck, director of agricultural extension at University farm, to have representatives at the conference. Agricultural and home demonstration agents, the president and secretary-treasurer of county farm bureaus and county commissioners were especially invited. In addition to studying methods of bettering farm conditions by economic measures, carried out by the organized farmers themselves, the conference took up production and marketing, livestock feeding, land clearing, soil improvement, boys' and girls' club work, and the business problems of the farm and the farm home.

Representatives from various counties, who were on the program as leaders in the discussions, included many county agents: L. E. McMillan, Blue Earth county; W. E. Watson, Dakota; Mark Abbott, Koochiching; B. R. Houser, Marshall; C. L. McNelly, Dodge; W. K. Dyer, Renville; P. W. Huntemer, Stearns; A. A. McPheeters, Rice; William Dietrich, Fillmore; L. M. Bond, Red Lake; J. B. McNulty, Winona; J. J. McCann, Pennington; C. C. Turner, Houston; R. F. Crim, Cottonwood; W. V. Longley, Kittson; E. M. Torblan, Chippewa; August Nebauer, St. Louis; D. C. Dvorneck, Beltrami; O. G. Shaefer, Steele; Fred Idste, Pine; L. O. Jacob, Anoka, and W. A. Peterh, Wadena.

John August Blomberg.

John August Blomberg, one of the oldest settlers in Numedal township, passed away on Nov. 5. Mr. Blomberg was born in Sweden Jan. 14, 1853, and came to the United States in 1882. He spent one year at Lansing, Mich., and then came to Warren, where he resided on a farm until April, 1900, when he moved with his family to Numedal and lived there until the time of his death. Mr. Blomberg had suffered with rheumatism for the past 18 years. Funeral services were held from the home and interment made in the family lot at Viking cemetery. Rev. Werner Drotts conducted the services.

Mr. Blomberg is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. E. O. Peterson and Svea, also five sons, Herman, Hjalmer, Thure, Elmer and Edward. His children were all present at the funeral. Deceased was a good citizen and neighbor and well liked by all who knew him.

HEIGHT OF CATTLE CLEANUP IS NOW ON

Largest Run of Year to Date, Estimated at 15,000, Arrived on Monday.

With snow and colder weather general throughout territory tributary to the St. Paul market, the annual fall cleanup of cattle on farms is at its height, the largest run of the year to date estimated at 15,500 arriving for Monday's trade.

The supply of cattle proved somewhat in excess of the demand and the market was for the most part around 25c lower, although good and choice stockers and feeders selling from $5.25 to $6 were about steady. Receipts included one load of fed Angus yearlings averaging around 800 lbs. and these had bids up to $9.50 but were shipped on to Chicago. Some shortfed Herefords weighing around 1,100 lbs. brought $7.50. Best grass beeves here brought $6, packers paying the price for some 1,250 lb. Montanas. Bulk of the grass beeves sold from $4.50 to $5.50. Butcher cows and heifers went largely from $3 to $4.50, with a few of the best young cows and heifers of handy and light weights up to $5.50. Practically no fed she stock was included. Canners and cutters were weak to 25c lower, selling at $2 to $2.75. Bologna bulls brought $2.50 to $3 for the most part, a few $3.25. Practical packer top for best light vealers was $7.50, a few extra choice ones up to $8. Bulk of stockers and feeders sold from $4 to $5, commonest kinds from $3.25 to $3.50.

Hogs opened 10c to 25c lower, the range being $5.75 to $6.75, bulk $6.25 to $6.65. About 5,000 pigs here, bulk good kinds $7.50 to $7.75. Bulk good fat lambs $8 to $8.25, good fat ewes $3 to $3.50, feeding lambs $5.75 to $7.25.

Basket Social.

A basket social will be held in the Groven school, District No. 121, on Saturday, Nov. 19. A general invitation to the public is extended.

Moonshine in Marshall.
(Warren Sheaf.)

Deputy Sheriff J. P. Bordewick has rounded up three more moonshiners in the county. Last Saturday Elling Ellingson, of Moose River, was arrested. A still, some mash and some moonshine whiskey was found in his possession. The same day Erick Knutson, of Thief Lake, was caught. He also had a still, some mash and some booze. A man named Lier, of East Park, was arrested Monday, a still, mash and some booze being found on his premises. The violators of the dry law were brought to Warren, where they will appear before the court in due time to make answer to the charges brought against them.

A new way to treat croup
Spasmodic croup relieved or warded off by rubbing on a vaporizing salve.

The old method of treating spasmodic croup with nauseating drugs is out of date. So is the vapor-lamp scheme that required the bedroom windows to be kept closed. Now mother rubs the little one's chest and throat with Vicks, arranges the bedding so that the arising vapors will be inhaled all night long, opens the windows to let in the blessed fresh air, and retires—confident of a good sleep.

Vicks has come to be the almost universal treatment for children's cold troubles, because it does away with dosing. Vicks contains the old, time-tested remedies—Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, etc.—combined by special process, so that while they penetrate and stimulate the skin, the ingredients are also released as vapors by the body heat and are breathed right into the lungs.

Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors

VALUE OF POULTRY.

Canby News: We do not appreciate the value of the poultry business on the farm they way we ought to. A recent Department of Agriculture bulletin said that the value of poultry products in 1920 brought farmers twice as much as did cotton, three times as much as did potatoes, five times as much as did tobacco and twelve times as much as did wool. This did not take into account the value of the products consumed on the farm. Do not overlook the hens. They are money makers.

AS A GENERAL RULE.

Mahnomen Pioneer: Down at Northfield, where they raise so many Holstein cattle, one breeder lost two large barns, and is now short of room. Consequently he is advertising a "fire sale of bulls." There is a lot of that about any big fire sale.

President Harding's Armistice Day Address at Arlington Cemetery

President Harding's Address at the Arlington National Cemetery on Armistice Day, Friday, Nov. 11, in honor of the Unknown Soldier, is herewith given in full.

We are met today to pay the impersonal tribute. The name of him whose body lies before us took flight with his imperishable soul. We know not whence he came, but only that his death marks him with the everlasting glory of an American dying for his country.

He might have come from any one of millions of American homes. Some mother gave him in her love and tenderness, and with him her most cherished hopes. Hundreds of mothers are wondering today, finding a touch of solace in the possibility that the nation bows in grief over the body of one she bore to live and die, if need be, for the republic. If we give rein to fancy, a score of sympathetic cords are touched for in this body there once glowed the soul of an American, with the aspirations and ambitions of a citizen who cherished life and its opportunities. He may have been a native or an adopted son; that matters little, because they glorified the same loyalty. They sacrificed alike.

We do not know his station in life, because from every station came the patriotic response of the five millions. I recall the days of creating armies, and the departing of caravels which braved the murderous seas to reach the battle lines for maintained nationality and preserved civilization. The service flag marked mansion and cottage alike, and riches were common to all homes in the consciousness of service to country.

We do not know the eminence of his birth, but we do know the glory of his death. He died for his country, and greater devotion hath no man than this. He died unquestioning, uncomplaining, with faith in his heart and hope on his lips, that this country should triumph and its civilization survive. As a typical soldier of this representative democracy, he fought and died, believing in the indisputable justice of his country's cause. Conscious of the world's upheaval, appraising the magnitude of a war the like of which had never horrified humanity before, perhaps he believed his to be a service destined to change the tide of human affairs.

In the death gloom of gas, the bursting of shells and rain of bullets, men face more intently the great God over all. Their souls are aflame and consciousness expands and hearts are searched. With the din of battle, the glow of conflict and the supreme trial of courage, come involuntarily the hurried appraisal of life and the contemplation of death's great mystery. On the threshold of eternity many a soldier, I can well believe, wondered how his ebbing blood would color the stream of human life, flowing on after his sacrifice. His patriotism was none less if he craved more than triumph of country; rather, it was greater if he hoped for victory for all human kind. Indeed, I revere that citizen whose confidence in the righteousness of his country inspired belief that its triumph is the victory of humanity.

This American soldier went forth to battle with no hatred for any people in the world, but hating war and hating the purpose of every war for conquest. He cherished our national rights, and abhorred the threat of armed domination; and in the maelstrom of destruction and suffering and death he fired his shot for liberation of the captive conscience of the world. In advancing toward his objective was somewhere a thought of a world awakened; and we are here to testify undying gratitude and reverence for that thought of a wider freedom.

On such an occasion as this, amid such a scene, our thoughts alternate between defenders living and defenders dead. A grateful republic will be worthy of them both. Our part is to atone for the losses of heroic dead by making a better republic for the living.

Sleeping in these hallowed grounds are thousands of Americans who have given their blood for the baptism of freedom and its maintenance, armed exponents of the nation's conscience. It is better and nobler for their deeds. Burial here is rather more than a sign of the government's favor, it is a suggestion of a tomb in the heart of the nation, sorrowing for its noble dead.

Today's ceremonies proclaim that the hero unknown is not unhonored. We gather him to the nation's breast, within the shadow of the capital, of the towering shaft that honors Washington, the great father, and of the exquisite monument to Lincoln, the martyred savior. Here the inspirations of yesterday and the conscience of today forever unite to make the republic worthy of his death for flag and country.

Ours are lofty resolutions today, as with tribute to the dead we consecrate ourselves to a better order for the living. With all my heart I wish we might say to the defenders who survive, to mothers who sorrow, to widows and children who mourn, that no such sacrifice shall be asked again.

It was my fortune recently to see a demonstration of modern war. It is no longer a conflict in chivalry; no more a test of militant manhood. It is only cruel, deliberate, scientific destruction. There was no contending enemy, only the theoretical defense of a hypothetic objective. But the attack was made with all the relentless methods of modern destruction. There was the rain of ruin from the aircraft, the thunder of artillery, followed by the unspeakable devastation wrought by bursting shells; there were mortars belching their bombs of desolation; machine guns concentrating their leaden storms; there was the infantry, advancing, firing and falling like men with souls sacrificing for the decision.

The flying missiles were revealed by illuminating tracers so that we could note their flight and appraise their deadliness. The air was streaked with tiny flames marking the flight of massed destruction, while the effectiveness of the theoretical defense was impressed by the simulation of dead and wounded among those going forward, undaunted and unheeding. As this panorama of unutterable destruction visualized the horrors of modern conflict, there grew on me the sense of the failure of a civilization which can leave its problems to such cruel arbitrament. Surely no one in authority, with human attributes and a full appraisal of the patriotic loyalty of his countrymen, could ask the manhood of kingdom, empire or republic to make such sacrifice until all reason had failed, until appeal to justice through understanding had been denied, until every effort of love and consideration for fellow men had been exhausted, until freedom itself and inviolate honor had been brutally threatened.

I speak not as a pacifist fearing war, but as one who loves justice and hates war. I speak as one who believes the highest function of government is to give its citizens the security of peace; the opportunity to achieve and the pursuit of happiness.

The loftiest tribute we can bestow today—the heroically earned tribute—fashioned in deliberate conviction, out of unclouded thought, neither shadowed by remorse nor made vain by fancies, is the commitment of this republic to an advancement never made before. If American achievement is cherished pride at home; if our unselfishness among nations is all we wish it to be, and ours is a helpful example in the world, then let us give of our influence and our strength; yea, of our aspirations and convictions to put mankind on a little higher plane, exulting and exalting; with wars, distressing and depressing tragedies barred from the stage of righteous civilization.

There have been a thousand defenses justly and patriotically made; a thousand offenses which reason and righteousness ought to have stayed. Let us beseech all men to join us in seeking the rule under which reason and righteousness shall prevail.

Standing today on hallowed ground, conscious that all America has halted to share in the tribute of heart and mind and soul to this fellow American, and knowing that the world is noting this expression of the republic's mindfulness, it is fitting to say that his sacrifice and that of the million dead, shall not be in vain. There must be, there shall be, the commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare.

As we return this poor clay to its mother soil, garlanded by love and covered with the decorations that only nations can bestow, I can sense the prayers of our people, of all peoples, that this Armistice day shall mark the beginning of a new and lasting era of peace on earth, good will among men. Let me join in that prayer—

Our Father who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name; Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us, and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

Letters to The Times

Pleads For the Farmer.

Editor Times:

Our attention has been called to the fact that one of your prominent citizens has taken upon himself the burden to present to congress a petition or resolution demanding congress to set the price on wheat or all farm products, a thing that we advocated over a year ago and which no doubt in the end will be the only way to protect the producer and agricultural interests. In our write-up a year ago we said, "There is no earthly reason why the farmers should not have the same assurance of protection as all other industries of business. The farmer should know in the spring what his products should net him after harvest. Let it be by the establishment of a set schedule or by a method of cost plus a reasonable profit. The farmer has a right to receive, upon the basis of justice, a fair return for his labor."

The farmers must be protected if our country is to prosper, as they are the main spokes in the wheel. Yet the farmer is most neglected and abused human creature in existence today. He is without protection or sympathy—no one cares whether he lives or can provide for himself and family. He is cursed and damned for not being able to pay his bills, and he is looked upon as a dead-beat in the business world, just because someone else under cover of law has been cute enough to rob him of the fruits of his labor.

Yes, the farmer surely needs protection—and not only that, but he needs both sympathy and and encouragement at this very time if he is going to be able to perform his task of keeping the bread basket of the world supplied.

It is high time that the business man begins to realize the position the farmers are in today. The average farmer is having a hard time of it. Every dollar that he hands over at this time to apply on old debts, taxes or interest, is sacrifice money. It represents what should have been used for little shoes and stockings, dresses and family clothing, and for life sustenance for the oncoming winter. That is the kind of money the average farmer is called upon to part with just now. Yet he complies as long as his limited means hold out.

It perhaps would not be out of place if our bankers would bear this in mind when they send out their full invitation to call at the bank and settle up. From present indication of things, it appears to us that it would be a more justifiable policy for them to adopt a "new form" of invitation to the farmers in reminding them of their obligations and apply the salve of sympathy and brotherhood instead of "planting a thorn into a bruised heart" by reminding the poor, helpless people of all the terrible things that are going to happen if they can't come in and pay up. Such a method should not be resorted to in a time like this, as neither can profit by it. The thing to do is to try and adjust matters so that the farmers can exist and be given another chance to plant next year's crop. This, under normal conditions, would assure all concerned a more hopeful future.

Let us be guided by the vision of a better day coming.

Dr. Kirby Writes.

The following letter has been received by Peter Engelstad of this city, from Dr. S. R. Kirby, now located at Northwood, N. D.:

"Dear Mr. Engelstad: After reading your letter in the paper I wish to say that in my travels and while settled near Thief River Falls I received much kindness from both men and women to whom I shall never have any opportunity of making the least direct return, and I have also received numberless mercies from God, who is infinitely above being benefited by my services. Therefore, since I can not return the kindness to those I have received it from, I can only show my gratitude to God and my fellow men by my readiness to help others of God's children who are my brethren, for I don't think that thanks and compliments, though repeated weekly, can discharge our obligations to our Creator nor to each other.

"You will see by this my opinion of good works, that I am far from expecting to merit heaven by them. By 'heaven' I understand a state of happiness infinite in degree and eternal in duration. I can do nothing to merit such a reward. He that for giving a draught of cold water to a thirsty person expects to be rewarded with a good plantation, would be modest in his expectations compared to those who, for the little good they do in this life, think they deserve heaven for it. Even the mixed, imperfect pleasures we enjoy in this world are from God's goodness rather than from our merit; how much more such happiness from heaven. I have not the vanity to think I deserve heaven, the folly to expect it, nor the ambition to desire it, but I submit myself to the will of God who made me and who has hitherto preserved and blessed me, and in whose fatherly care and goodness I can well confide, being assured that He will never make me miserable, and even the afflictions I may at any time suffer shall tend to my benefit.

"I tell you, Peter, I am working hard every day, including Sundays, doing all I can for those who need my services, and my office is packed to its limit. Since I came here the Northwood hotels have been overloaded so we have had to send many to private homes where the owners seem willing to receive them. Thief River Falls people who have been here can tell you it is so.

"Delegates, besides letters, have been sent from other places trying to induce me to move to their town.

"Wishing you everything that is for your good, I am, very respectfully,

Your friend,

GIFT GRAIN BEING TRANSPORTED FREE

Minnesota Farm Bureau Relief Corn Saving Hundreds of Lives in Russia.

Free transportation is guaranteed for every bushel of grain given by Pennington county farmers to save the lives of children now starving in southern Russia.

The Near East Relief, which is appealing to farmers of this county for 487 bushels of grain for the famine sufferers, sent this announcement to the county farm bureau this week.

"All the food made from the farmers' gift grain is being hauled from the mills to the seaports free of charge by the railroads," the letter says. "In addition to this service, equal to tens of thousands of dollars, many railroads have offered to haul the corn and wheat, without one cent of pay, from the country elevators to the mills. Even where free transportation has not been arranged, friends of the Near East famine victims have guaranteed to pay the freight. This means that every bushel of wheat or corn given by farmers in your county, or its full equivalent in corn or wheat products, will reach the starving women and children.

"Food milled from the corn donated by Minnesota farmers through the farm bureau last spring has already saved hundreds of lives. It is being eaten today by villagers in Transcaucasia and Armenia who would have died if it had not arrived."

University Plans 100 Farm Business Schools

The university, co-operating with many farm bureaus, is planning a series of about 100 "farm business schools" in country districts of Minnesota the coming winter. The university will be represented by W. L. Cavert, farm management specialist, and C. G. Worsham of the farm management department. Not more than three schools will be allowed any county until all the counties have had opportunity to secure the work.

More than ever, in view of prevailing low prices, farmers need to study their business. Costs of production must be trimmed and the farm business in general adjusted to meet prevailing conditions. Studies to be taken up at these schools will concern the costs of production of wheat, corn, butterfat, potatoes, hogs, cattle, etc., and the means by which the farmer may increase his net return.

New Auto School Opens at Northwestern Garage

The school in automotive engineering for the winter months was opened at the Northwestern Auto company's garage on Tuesday, there being about 20 members in the class enrolled. A complete course in gas engineering is offered, competent instructors for each branch being secured. The course includes instruction in automobile, truck and tractor building and repairing and a department devoted exclusively to battery work and electrical accessories. The large office room has been converted into a workshop for those who take up this last named study, while the rear end of the present general garage building will be devoted to instructions in automobile and tractor running and repairing.

Considerable interest has been shown in this school, which is the first of its kind in this section, and it is the intention to make it a regular feature of the Northwestern's business during the winter months hereafter.

There is still opportunity for enrollment and anyone interested should address K. A. Sundahl, general manager.

TO INAUGURATE SOLID WEEK OF PRICE SLASHING

Most Remarkable Sales Campaign Ever Announced by Business Men Anywhere.

Public Will Save Thousands of Dollars by Making Purchases at This Time.

Automobile to be Given Away as Added Inducement to Purchasers For Cash.

When the idea of a monthly Market Day to be carried on over a period of half a year first presented itself to the merchants of Thief River Falls the subject was looked upon as a dubious undertaking by a few, although they were willing to take a chance on the outcome. Now all are glad they did so. As the last market day of the series approaches every one is satisfied that the purpose of the plan has been achieved, and that was all expected of it.

The public has been the gainer by many thousands of dollars because of the action taken by the merchants. The market days were not intended to be money-making events—and they certainly have not been, for the merchants at least. While the volume of business transacted on these days has been gratifyingly large, the prices quoted were such as to preclude any possibility of profit for the retailer, while sales have very often represented an actual loss. This he has been willing to stand, however, in order that the fame of his store and city might be more widely scattered. For this reason the market days have been a success. The merchant made his store and his home town known far and wide while the buyer secured goods of the highest quality at prices such as could not have been duplicated any place in the country.

The Biggest and Best.

Instead of one market day for November an entire week will be given over to the purpose. Beginning next Monday and continuing until Saturday night practically every store in Thief River Falls will make inducements such as have never before been equaled, even on previous market days. A glance through the columns of The Times today will convince the most skeptical of this fact. And not only in the Market Day section will announcements of these bargains be found, but they are scattered all through the paper. Every need is met and at prices that defy competition and fear no comparison, no matter to what test they may be put.

An Automobile Free.

While the bargains themselves are such as to bring to the city during the week everyone who is anxious to save money on his purchases, the merchants have decided to add another inducement. A Ford auto will be given away absolutely free of charge to some person who has made a purchase amounting to one dollar at a Thief River Falls store during the week. The presentation will be made on Saturday afternoon and it will not be necessary for the purchaser to be present. The plan is so arranged that due notice will be given the person to whom the auto goes whether he is present or not. This will add interest to this last great bargain demonstration of the series.

Stores All Ready.

Seldom have all the merchants in a community the size of Thief River Falls united on a campaign of this magnitude and never have they been more entitled to success. Every pricecut has been genuine and deep. Persons who have visited the city on these occasions in the past will gladly verify this statement. Every advertisement has been carefully censored and the merchant held strictly to the letter of his advertising. Not that any have attempted to evade complying with his word, but simply to make certain that there should be no cause for complaint afterwards, every safeguard has been thrown around the buyer. This action has made many friends for the merchants, even though the precaution was not necessary. There has not been a single attempt to do otherwise than agreed.

A market week at this time of year presents an exceptional opportunity to the shopper. The holidays are approaching and many things will be needed. There will be no other such opportunity to secure them.

Be wise and take advantage of the Market Week offerings by Thief River Falls merchants.

Fewer Licenses But More Deer Than in Past Years

According to County Auditor T. P. Anderson there were 114 big game licenses issued to Pennington county hunters this year. This is considerably below last year's record, the added cost of $1.25 for each permit issued undoubtedly having something to do with the slump.

A large number of deer has been brought in by the hunters, their success having seemingly been greater than for many years past. One moose was also among the victims, the brute falling before the prowess of Julien Provencher and Leonard DuChamp, who did their hunting in the region of Schilling in the early part of the season.

Fifth Roll Call Closes Tonight; No Reports Yet

The fifth annual roll call of the Red Cross closes this evening. So far as Thief River Falls in concerned, the drive is reported to have been very successful, although no figures will be available until after all the workers have sent in their finals. But little has been heard as to the progress of the work in the outlying districts, but it is felt that the result will be fully up to last year. It is certain that the city will far exceed its previous record. A check for $25 was last week sent to Chairman W. A. Barnard by the local Elks lodge and it is probable that other organizations have taken similar steps. Members of the Girls' Community club have been very thorough in soliciting dollar memberships and there has been quite a sale at the hotels and in the post office lobby.

Anyone who has been overlooked in the campaign just closing still has time to join this great organization. Send your name and one dollar to W. A. Barnard, chairman, Thief River Falls, and he will see that you are given proper credit.

BASKETBALL TEAM READY FOR SEASON OF ADDED LAURELS

With Carlson Back and Plummer Added the Outfit Should Prove Invincible.

Thief River Falls is going to have a basketball team of championship calibre this winter. Most of the players composing the invincible Legion quintet of last season are on the ground ready for practice and there will be at least one valuable addition. G. W. Connell will again have charge of the outfit and promises something in the way of indoor sport that will bring the folks up standing.

The city council on Tuesday night voted unanimously to grant the use of the auditorium floor for games at a price that will just about cover the cost of the lights. A committee composed of F. J. Stebbins, G. C. Streeter and H. C. Johnson waited on the council with the request that the boys be given the use of the hall at the lowest possible cost, explaining that the expense would this year be considerably greater than last as it would be necessary to provide new uniforms and other paraphernalia.
